TOWN MEETING

Citizens Ready For Hub Change

By M. STREET BROOKS

San Anselmo tapped its grass roots Saturday and sprung a wealth of ideas for change.

Change is inevitable, about 200 residents who met at Sir Francis Drake High School were told at the start of the sixth annual town meeting by chairman Martin G. Blinder.

And the 14 discussion groups proved they were prepared to call for changes.

They recommended changes in city government, suggested ways to solve environmental and drug problems, called for stricter zoning enforcement to retain the beauty of their community, and even discussed their dogs' habits.

Young and old, hip and straight worked together formulating problems and hammering out solutions to city problems. Two fourth graders worked with those old enough to be their grandparents for improved recreation programs and a pony-tailed young man in levis discussed the drug problem with Lt. G. Albert Howenstein, the latter in his blue blazer with the patch of the San Anselmo Police Department.

They were planning for the future. Not just for the coming year, but for the day Blinder described — perhaps 30 years from now — when San Anselmo might have about 17,000 more residents, eight times as many cars using several hundred more miles of streets, stingily shaded by several hundred less trees, and about five times as many students.

Jack H. Olive, who with Barbara Skerpan led a group to preserve San Anselmo's unique character, reported at a summary session following the two-hour discussions that his group will recommend to the city zoning commission the strict enforcement of zoning for the city's scenic slopes and insurance that new structures "correspond to the city as it is."

Some of the new apartment projects being constructed are not in character, Olive said.

San Anselmo is unique, the group reported, because of diversities in housing, age, and income groups and because the city still has some wide open spaces.

Olive said his group also decided that "communes should not be discouraged," and welcomed them — sans noise and with a couple of other minor adjustments — as an alternative way of life.

Other group actions included:

TRANSPORTATION

The transportation group's recommendations called for a freely interchangeable transportation ticket which would allow travel around the county and throughout the Bay area on more than one mode of transportation.

Getting closer to home, the group recommended that no parking be allowed during the morning and evening rush

Another Judge Is Ousted By Magee

Lindsay Rules Convict Incapable Of Defense

By MARY LEYDECKER

The latest judge in the Angela Davis-Ruchell Magee case stepped down from the bench today when the 31-year-old San Quentin convict was allowed to use his one peremptory challenge.

Before leaving the bench, Judge Alan A. Lindsay of Alameda County also agreed with all the previous judges in the case that Magee, who wants to act as his own attorney, is not competent to do so.

Magee had said last week he "would spend anything" to get rid of Lindsay when asked by the judge if he wanted to use his one peremptory challenge at that time.

His latest court-appointed lawyer, Ernest L. Graves of Los Angeles, reluctantly presented the challenge for Magee and agreed that he and Magee had used their one challenge. He added, however, that as counsel, he would not have used it at this stage in the proceedings.

Magee and Miss Davis, charged with murder, kidnapping and conspiracy stemming from the August shoot-out at the Civic Center in which Judge Harold J. Haley was killed, are still awaiting hearings on pretrial motions.

Miss Davis's attorneys, who unsuccessfully challenged Judge Lindsay for cause, have been trying for weeks to have her motions, including one that she be released on bail, ruled on.

Magee has repeatedly stalled the case through his refusal to cooperate with his court-appointed lawyers and by challenging judges.

Today, Judge Lindsay said that he "would have withdrawn at the earliest opportunity" if he had had any bias toward either defendant.

He went on to say, however, that the law provides for a peremptory challenge of judges, "which I interpret as meaning a challenge to . . . intellectual integrity."

He said that "it provides for automatic disqualification without any proof of cause."

Even after he had withdrawn from the case, the judge was interrupted by Magee as he was announcing that the case was recessed until the state Judicial Council sends another judge. (This took about two weeks last time.)

"I am the attorney," Magee shouted when Judge Lindsay mentioned Graves.

Lindsay had earlier said that "the record discloses ample basis in fact for the conclusion . . . that Magee is not capable of representing himself."

"Nearly all the documents presented by him are confused, ineffective and do not present any tangible showing in support of his various motions . . ." Lindsay said.

He added that Magee "in all probability . . . would harm his own defense if he were allowed to proceed as his own counsel."

The judge also ruled today that the oft-presented petitions filed by Magee in attempts to get the case transferred to federal court have not deprived the state court of jurisdiction.

He said furthermore, that Magee's challenge of Marin Judge E. Warren McGuire last December did not count as his one peremptory challenge because the convict did not have an attorney at that time.

Another visiting judge, John P. McMurray of Inyo County, withdrew from the case when challenged for cause by Magee.

Left undecided today was whether Miss Davis still has a peremptory challenge or whether Magee has used their only one. The courts have held that there is only one challenge to a side unless a decided conflict between the defendants is shown.

Hoover In Vow To Stay At FBI

WASHINGTON (UPI) —J. Edgar Hoover observed his 47th anniversary as FBI director today, with a vow to stay on as long as wanted.

In the Senate, Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana said Hoover "has done an outstanding job" in running the FBI since taking over a weak organization in 1924 and turning it into a tough, 8,000-man crime fighting force.

One of Hoover's chief critics, Sen. George S. McGovern, D-S. D., marked the beginning of the director's 48th year on the job with a new attack accusing him of violating individual rights.

McGovern and some other critics have been demanding that Hoover resign. But Hoover told UPI he has no intention of doing so, and plans to remain on the job "as long as I can be of service to the country and my health permits."

President Nixon has indicated he wants Hoover to stay on, and Hoover's health apparently is excellent.

As for his leadership of the FBI, Mansfield said of Hoover that he had made mistakes "but Mr. Hoover has done an outstanding job." He said if there are those who have complaints" they should make them to appropriate congressional committees and ask that they be investigated.

McGovern claimed today to have uncovered documentary evidence that Hoover violated the U.S. Constitution by trying to discredit an airline pilot who criticized the FBI's handling of a hijacking case.

McGovern, the only announced Democratic presidential candidate, said he sent the evidence to Sam J. Ervin Jr., D-N.C., with a request that Ervin's subcommittee on Constitutional Rights investigate the incident.

The TWA pilot, Donald C. Cook Jr., had criticized the way the FBI handled a hijacking in which he was involved in New York in November, saying it was "a prescription for getting the entire crew killed and the plane destroyed."

McGovern, D-S.D., previously had accused Hoover of writing to Cook's boss, TWA Board Chairman Charles C. Tillinghast Jr., complaining about Cook and including confidential information from Cook's Air Force file in the letter.

McGovern said Tillinghast now has confirmed receipt of Hoover's letter, telling McGovern "following the incident in question, we received a communication from Hoover

Would Vote To Impeach Nixon

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Rep. Ronald V. Dellums, D-Calif., said today he would vote to impeach President Nixon because of his Vietnam war policies and that he will decide soon whether to introduce an impeachment resolution in the House.

Dellums thus becomes the first member of Congress to say publicly he would vote to impeach the President.

However, he said that because of the seriousness of the step he will consult other members of Congress before introducing an impeachment resolution.

Dollar Falls On Money Markets But Panicky Selling Has Halted

BONN (UPI)—The U.S. dollar fell in value when the European money markets reopened today after a five-day emergency closure to cope with the world monetary crisis. Dollars in Austria were at their lowest value since World War II, but the panicky selling of dollars halted.

The West German mark, freed to float to its true value, rose about 3 3-4 per cent above its official dollar rate in Frankfurt today. This meant a devaluation of the dollar amounting to 3.7 per cent and an upward revaluation of the mark by 3.85 per cent. Speculation in financial circles was that the mark might rise as much as 5 per cent eventually.

The Netherlands and Belgium allowed their currencies to float in the German manner. Switzerland revalued its franc 7.07 per cent upward and Austria revalued its schilling upward 5.05 per cent, taking the dollar to the lowest point since the war. Britain, France and Italy made no changes.

The range over which the dollar dropped was from 3.7 per cent in West Germany to 7.07 per cent in Switzerland. However the dollar price in Zurich settled down to a level slightly above the value established by Sunday's revaluation of the Swiss franc. A national bank official said market demands had established a level of 4.09 to 4.10 francs to the dollar by afternoon; the official rate was 4.08.

The dollar was steady on the Paris and London markets where the government still supported it.

Frankfurt's official foreign exchange market set the day's rate at 3.5250 marks per dollar compared to an official rate of 3.66, and a price of 3.63 when the Central Bank stopped buying dollars and closed the markets on Wednesday.

West German Central Bank officials refused to intervene today in the trading, disappointing speculators who had hoped the bank might sell limited amounts of dollars for less than it bought them during last week's dollar rush.

The U. S. Treasury issued a three-sentence statement which said conditions appeared to be improving and that the United States planned no immediate action.

"The markets appear to be adjusting in orderly fashion to the various decisions of several European countries with respect to their exchange rate policies," the Washington statement said.

"No immediate action by the United States is called for," it continued. "The Treasury will continue to review with foreign authorities their investment needs arising out of recent dollar inflows."

Here is the situation on some of the markets:

Austria, which revalued the schilling upward by 5.05 per cent to keep inflationary American dollars out of the country, resumed the exchange of foreign currencies with the dollar traded at its lowest postwar rate. The official rate had been 26 schillings but it was traded last week at 25.82. Today it nosedived to 24.75.

—The dollar dropped in value against the floating guilder on the Amsterdam exchange market and in private dealings in Belgium but there was little eagerness to buy dollars. The Amsterdam market said small quantities of dollars were changing hands at a rate of 3.51 to 3.53 guilders compared with the earlier official parity of 3.5925 guilders. In Belgium dollars were at a rate of 48 or 49 francs, 2 to 4 per cent down.

—Major Swiss banks resumed currency tradings following a 7.07 revaluation upward of the Swiss franc—and a corresponding devaluation of the dollar. Major banks posted provisional buying rates of 4.00 and selling rates of 4.20 francs to the dollar.

—In London the West German mark fluctuated slightly and there was speculation in financial circles that it might eventually find its level at 5 per cent higher instead of the current rise of about 3.5 per cent. U.S. tourists found the pound sterling slightly lower in relation to the dollar and the rate which reached $2.43 on Friday dropped to $2.4185 today.

—On the Scandinavian foreign currency markets the West German mark floated upwards one to 3 per cent, but the U.S. dollar, which played a key role in the crisis, was unchanged both in Sweden and Denmark.

The crisis began early last week when speculators began selling billions of dollars on the European money markets to buy what they considered more "solid" currencies — mainly the West German mark, the Swiss franc, the Dutch guilder and even the French franc.

There will be little immediate effect for most Americans. In the long run, it will mean higher prices for imported German, Swiss , Dutch and Austrian goods. It also will cost more for Americans touring Europe to visit those countries since the exchange rate for local currency to dollars is less favorable.

For example, a Swiss watch that used to cost $50 now will cost $53.50, and a hotel room in Austria that cost $20 a night

Judge Denied A Hoffa Motion

CHICAGO (UPI) — U.S.District Court Judge Richard B. Austin today denied a motion by attorneys for James R. Hoffa, to allow him to serve a five-year sentence for mail fraud concurrently with the eight-year term he now is serving on a charge of jury tampering. Austin in 1967 resentenced Hoffa, the imprisoned Teamsters Union president, to these terms, and ruled that they were to run consecutively.

Britain To Support Lockheed Project

LONDON (UPI)—The government said today it is putting up $240 million to finance completion of Rolls-Royce's RB211 jet engine for the Lockheed Tristar jetliner.

It said it will keep the project going in expectation of a satisfactory agreement with Lockheed and the U.S. government.

Sharp Critique Of U.S. By Civil Rights Group

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The chairman of the U.S. Civil Rights Commission said today America will degenerate into a "divided nation with all kinds of civil disorder" unless there is a new commitment to civil rights from everyone including President Nixon.

The Rev. Theodore M. Hesburgh made the statement in making public a commission report accusing the Nixon administration of failure to make any major civil rights improvements in the eight months since the commission first accused the government of inertia and hostility that threatened to nullify civil rights laws.

The commission said the administration had frustrated the hopes of minority groups with "the mere palliative of tinkering and promises" instead of aggressive action. It said only "strong executive leadership" from the White House could help.

Hesburgh and other commissioners refused at a news conference to put all the blame on Nixon or any other of the past four Presidents because the "lack of moral commitment is with the American people, the government, and the total bureaucracy."

Summarizing the situation, Hesburgh said: "I see happening a divided nation. I see happening all kinds of civil disorder, hypocrisy because we say one thing and do another, frustration because the government doesn't follow the law.

"We're not talking about just a dream but laws that exist."

Commissioner Frankie M. Freeman, the only woman and only Negro member, said, "This country as a people is in pretty bad shape. There is a gap between what we say and what we do."

The commission report said: "Many have lost faith that government has the will or the capacity to redeem its pledge as contained in the laws it has enacted to fulfill the provisions of our Constitution and Bill of Rights. It is too late for promises."

From the failure of the White House to set any "goals, timetables and priorities" on down, the commission said it found little change from the dangers it cited on Oct. 12, 1970, "that the great effort made by public and private groups to obtain the civil rights laws now will be nullified through ineffective enforcement."

It was particularly harsh on the department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) which the commission said, "appears to have regressed in the vigor with which it approaches its fair housing responsibilities."

It also accused the Justice Department of failing to initiate any suits protesting zoning or other land use controls by suburban communities trying to keep lower-income families, minority families in particular, from moving in.

The commission, is an independent, bipartisan agency established by Congress in 1957 to investigate discrimination complaints and appraise federal laws and policies.

The report today covered equal employment, in and out of government and in government-contracted jobs and federally financed housing projects. It also dealt with the overall civil rights policy of the White House.

Last year's report did not blame policy makers or any particular administration but said civil rights laws never had been effectively enforced by the "federal bureaucracy." Forty agencies were examined originally and 27 of them reviewed.

While the White House staff has engaged in "a large number of worthwhile ad hoc activities," the commission said, "nonetheless, no specific program of civil rights, timetables and priorities has been adopted by the White House."

HUD said seven months ago that its fair housing activities were governed by an "open

Mitchell Hits Antiwar Group

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— Attorney General John N. Mitchell today called last week's violent antiwar demonstrations in the nation's capital "an organized attempt by thousands of lawbreakers to deny other Americans their civil rights."

Mitchell said "the extremist practice of running roughshod over the rights of others" will end if other cities follow Washington's example of "decisive opposition to mob force."

"Robbing the rights of others should not be permitted under any circumstances," Mitchell said in remarks prepared for the 51st annual conference of the California Peace Officers' Association.

Hoffa, to allow him to serve a five-year sentence for mail fraud concurrently with the eight-year term he now is serving on a charge of jury tampering. Austin in 1967 resentenced Hoffa, the imprisoned Teamsters Union president, to these terms, and ruled that they were to run consecutively.

Britain To Support Lockheed Project

LONDON (UPI)—The government said today it is putting up $240 million to finance completion of Rolls-Royce's RB211 jet engine for the Lockheed Tristar jetliner.

It said it will keep the project going in expectation of a satisfactory agreement with Lockheed and the U.S. government.

Sharp Critique Of U.S. By Civil Rights Group

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The chairman of the U.S. Civil Rights Commission said today America will degenerate into a "divided nation with all kinds of civil disorder" unless there is a new commitment to civil rights from everyone including President Nixon.

The Rev. Theodore M. Hesburgh made the statement in making public a commission report accusing the Nixon administration of failure to make any major civil rights improvements in the eight months since the commission first accused the government of inertia and hostility that threatened to nullify civil rights laws.

The commission said the administration had frustrated the hopes of minority groups with "the mere palliative of tinkering and promises" instead of aggressive action. It said only "strong executive leadership" from the White House could help.

Hesburgh and other commissioners refused at a news conference to put all the blame on Nixon or any other of the past four Presidents because the "lack of moral commitment is with the American people, the government, and the total bureaucracy."

Summarizing the situation, Hesburgh said: "I see happening a divided nation. I see happening all kinds of civil disorder, hypocrisy because we say one thing and do another, frustration because the government doesn't follow the law.

"We're not talking about just a dream but laws that exist."

Commissioner Frankie M. Freeman, the only woman and only Negro member, said, "This country as a people is in pretty bad shape. There is a gap between what we say and what we do."

The commission report said: "Many have lost faith that government has the will or the capacity to redeem its pledge as contained in the laws it has enacted to fulfill the provisions of our Constitution and Bill of Rights. It is too late for promises."

From the failure of the White House to set any "goals, timetables and priorities" on down, the commission said it found little change from the dangers it cited on Oct. 12, 1970, "that the great effort made by public and private groups to obtain the civil rights laws now will be nullified through ineffective enforcement."

It was particularly harsh on the department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) which the commission said, "appears to have regressed in the vigor with which it approaches its fair housing responsibilities."

It also accused the Justice Department of failing to initiate any suits protesting zoning or other land use controls by suburban communities trying to keep lower-income families, minority families in particular, from moving in.

The commission, is an independent, bipartisan agency established by Congress in 1957 to investigate discrimination complaints and appraise federal laws and policies.

The report today covered equal employment, in and out of government and in government-contracted jobs and federally financed housing projects. It also dealt with the overall civil rights policy of the White House.

Last year's report did not blame policy makers or any particular administration but said civil rights laws never had been effectively enforced by the "federal bureaucracy." Forty agencies were examined originally and 27 of them reviewed.

While the White House staff has engaged in "a large number of worthwhile ad hoc activities," the commission said, "nonetheless, no specific program of civil rights, timetables and priorities has been adopted by the White House."

HUD said seven months ago that its fair housing activities were governed by an "open

Mitchell Hits Antiwar Group

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— Attorney General John N. Mitchell today called last week's violent antiwar demonstrations in the nation's capital "an organized attempt by thousands of lawbreakers to deny other Americans their civil rights."

Mitchell said "the extremist practice of running roughshod over the rights of others" will end if other cities follow Washington's example of "decisive opposition to mob force."

"Robbing the rights of others should not be permitted under any circumstances," Mitchell said in remarks prepared for the 51st annual conference of the California Peace Officers' Association.

Fighting Resumes

SAIGON (UPI)—U.S. and Communist forces resumed fighting today following a weekend cease-fire to mark Buddha's birthday. B52s dumped 1,000 tons of bombs along the Demilitarized Zone and North Vietnamese ambushed an American patrol in the A Shau Valley.

American and South Vietnamese officals charged the Communists violated the cease-fire a number of times. The 24-hour stand-down observed by allied fgrces ended at noon Sunday while the Communist truce lasted another 24 hours.

U.S. headquarters in Saigon said today there were "21 enemy-initiated actions reported against U.S. forces" during the 24-hour truce. Two Americans were killed and six wounded during that period, it said.

Rocket Fault Probe

CAPE KENNEDY (UPI)—While engineers readied a second Mariner Mars television scout for launch May 18, rocket specialists across the country raced the clock today to pinpoint the flaw that ruined America's first attempt to orbit the Red Planet.

The problem must be solved before the substitute Mariner spacecraft can be launched in an attempt to salvage part of the unprecedented $153.6 million Martian reconnaissance mission.

Mars will move out of range for a shot from earth June 16 and the United States will not have another opportunity to explore the puzzling planet until 1976.

The cause of Saturday night's launch failure was quickly narrowed to some electrical component in the autopilot control system of the Centaur upper stage rocket. Engineers here, at the Lewis Research Center at Cleveland, Ohio, and at the General Dynamics Corp., plant at San Diego, Calif., today sought to pinpoint that fault.

Mills Attacks Sharing Plan

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (UPI) — Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., said today President Nixon's revenue sharing plan has the potential for destroying the federal system, and he predicted Congress will not pass it.

Mills

In his strongest speech yet on Nixon's plan to give states and localities $5 billion without strings, Mills said in remarks prepared for a joint session of the Tennessee Legislature:

"It is very bad in principle. It would be capricious in its results. It assumes existence of a nonexistent surplus of revenues. It has a dangerous potential — indeed, probability . . . for destroying rather than strengthening our federal system and independence of state and local governments," Mills said.

Mills plans to hold hearings of his House Ways and Means Committee on revenue sharing with the purpose of killing the legislation, and said it will not be approved by the "committee or the Congress."

Buddhist Deaths

HUE, South Vietnam (UPI)—U.S. military police manned roadblocks near American base camps today in hopes of preventing any incidents stemming from the suicides of a young Buddhist nun and a monk who burned themselves to death in peace demonstrations.

U.S. authorities ordered American soldiers off the streets of this old imperial capital Sunday night and set up the roadblocks, turning back civilians without passes.

Nguyen Thi Co, 17, a Buddhist nun, burned herself to death in a pagoda in the village of Cam Lo, eight miles south of the Demilitarized Zone (DMZ) early Sunday after dousing herself with gasoline. She left letters to her parents and other nuns saying her suicide was for the cause of peace, police said.

Negotiator Returns

Officials said Smith might stay as long as a week. They said there probably would be no full SALT sessions until he returns, although Soviet and American experts will continued to meet daily in lower-level technical groups.

Diplomatic sources had said last week Smith would leave soon for Washington, but his actual departure was not announced by the U.S. delegation until he was in the air.

Radio Captured

NEW DELHI (UPI)—The Pakistan government said today its troops in East Pakistan have captured a radio transmitter used to direct "Indian armed infiltrators" in their operations to assist East Pakistani rebels.

Radio Pakistan broadcast an official statement from Dacca saying army troops captured the transmitter during mopping up operations in the Khulna area, 100 miles southwest of Dacca, East Pakistan. The statement said the set was operated by Indians.

Seizure of the transmitter, which was linked to 24 substations, brought the cessation of activities by "infiltrators and saboteurs" in the Khulna area, Radio Pakistan said.

Scientist Warns Of Bay Poison

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—A deadly layer of mercury washed down from Sierra mining operations may lurk under the floor of San Francisco Bay.

Prof. Fred H. Tarp, biology department chairman at Contra Costa College, told a symposium on the effects of wastes on the marine environment that the extent of any such mercury residue should be investigated before large-scale dredging begins for the proposed Baldwin ship channel and the central bay water sewer outfall.

Tarp said the Baldwin channel, which would enlarge the present channel from the Golden Gate to Stockton, would cut through some of the estimated 1.1 billion cubic yards of sediments containing substantial amounts of mercury washed into the bay from hydraulic gold mining operations in the Sierra.

A huge, unspecified amount of mercury was used in the gold mining process, Tarp said, then poured into the rivers that flow into the bay.

He said if the mercury were disturbed, bacteria living on the bottom of the bay would go to work on it, turning it into methyl mercury, the compound that has contaminated swordfish and tuna.

Tarp said creating a massive sewer channel to carry wastes out the Golden Gate could accelerate such harmful mercury reactions.

He said the wastes stimulate anerobic bacteria, causing them to change less harmful forms of mercury into the more toxic variety.

Donald W. Aitken, chairman of the environmental studies department at San Jose State College, told the Saturday symposium that the idea of the oceans providing an unlimited supply of food is a myth.

He said it will never be possible for man to secure more than a fraction of his food from the seas.

Ninety per cent of the world's marine resources are taken from the 10 per cent of the oceans' surface which is biologically productive, he said.

These areas lie along the coast where phyto-plankton — the key to 90 per cent of marine life —can bask in sunlight and at the same time derive food from the upwelling of nutrients from the continental shelves.

Aitken was also pessimistic about the economics of recovering dissolved minerals from the ocean.

"The present market value of the dissolved minerals in a cubic mile of ocean water is less than $1 million, while the cost of processing it is considerably greater and will probably remain so," he said.

Retailers say about 70 per cent of all men's clothing is purchased by women.

Business Leaders Expect Steel Strike In Summer

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Nixon administration and many of the nation's business leaders expect a steel strike this summer but they doubt it will do much damage to the economy.

In contrast to the General Motors strike which probably delayed for at least six months the recovery from last year's recession, a steel strike is considered to be little more than a minor inconvenience for persons not directly involved.

The steel situation was discussed with interest —but without alarm —by both business and Nixon administration officials during the weekend meeting of the business council, a semi-official organization of many of the nation's top corporate officials, at Hot Springs, Va.

R.V. Hansberger, president of Bois e-Cascade Corp. and chairman of the council's economic committee, said the organization's economic consultants were convinced a steel strike "wouldn't make very much of a difference" unless it was an extremely long one.

Hansberger, said most steel users have stockpiled the metal in anticipation of a strike when the United Steelworkers Union contract with the major producers expires this summer.

He said steel customers will use up those inventories later this year whether there is a strike or not. He said if the workers are not on the picket line many of them will face layoffs anyway as orders decline sharply for a while.

Best Time To Buy Home, Expert Says

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The government's top mortgage money man today said now is the time to buy a home, since interest rates have bottomed out from their record highs of a year ago and are not likely to drop further.

Martin, whose agency supervises some 4,500 savings and loan institutions which supply much of the home mortgage money for consumers, said a nationwide survey showed mortgage rates are about 7 1-4 per cent for a house, varying a half-point or so on either side depending on the section of the country.

A year ago, home mortgage loans carried record interest rates of 8 1-2 per cent or more.

Martin said in an interview the interest rates will remain at the present level for awhile. He withheld a prediction as to how long.

But he did not think the rates would rise in the near future because of the tremendous inflow of money into savings institutions between January and March of this year.

During that period, he said, savings and loans received a record $7.4 billion gain in their accounts.

"They've got money to lend," Martin said. "That's one reason why we feel rates won't go up."

Martin said many people have been waiting for money costs to drop before buying a home. He said that period has arrived and "now's the time to buy."

He said the Home Loan Bank Board intends to keep pumping money into savings and loans to keep money rates low. The board makes money available through various loan mechanisms.

Fussy Waitress Delays Martha's Filet Mignon

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Regardless whether Martha Mitchell is a "newsmaker" or a cabinet member's wife, a hotel waitress demanded a ticket before serving her at the White House Correspondents Association dinner.

Mrs. Mitchell attended the Saturday night function, making her the first cabinet wife in the association's 57-year history to qualify as a guest. The club's rules say only women who are working reporters, news executives or personalities prominent in the news are eligible for invitations.

Despite the breakthrough, a waitress refused the serve Mrs. Mitchell and the UPI reporter who invited her because neither had the required dinner tickets. The two missing tickets were in the pocket of an FBI agent, assigned to guard Mrs. Mitchell and her husband, Attorney General John N. Mitchell.

In a whisper, the Sheraton-Park Hotel waitress was told "The attorney general's FBI agent has the tickets. Just serve dinner and we'll get them later".

"I can't serve dinner without a ticket," she answered loudly.

After discussions verging on argument, a hotel captain appeared, looked at Mrs. Mitchell and declared: "No ticket, No dinner."

The problem was again explained. The same answer was given.

"The funny thing is I know the people who own this place," Mrs. Mitchell laughed. "I wonder if the President could get me dinner."

The FBI agent eventually was found, the tickets recovered and the two filet mignon dinners served.

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The government's top mortgage money man today said now is the time to buy a home, since interest rates have bottomed out from their record highs of a year ago and are not likely to drop further.

Martin, whose agency supervises some 4,500 savings and loan institutions which supply much of the home mortgage money for consumers, said a nationwide survey showed mortgage rates are about 7 1-4 per cent for a house, varying a half-point or so on either side depending on the section of the country.

A year ago, home mortgage loans carried record interest rates of 8 1-2 per cent or more.

Martin said in an interview the interest rates will remain at the present level for awhile. He withheld a prediction as to how long.

But he did not think the rates would rise in the near future because of the tremendous inflow of money into savings institutions between January and March of this year.

During that period, he said, savings and loans received a record $7.4 billion gain in their accounts.

"They've got money to lend," Martin said. "That's one reason why we feel rates won't go up."

Martin said many people have been waiting for money costs to drop before buying a home. He said that period has arrived and "now's the time to buy."

He said the Home Loan Bank Board intends to keep pumping money into savings and loans to keep money rates low. The board makes money available through various loan mechanisms.

Fussy Waitress Delays Martha's Filet Mignon

Mrs. Mitchell attended the Saturday night function, making her the first cabinet wife in the association's 57-year history to qualify as a guest. The club's rules say only women who are working reporters, news executives or personalities prominent in the news are eligible for invitations.

Despite the breakthrough, a waitress refused the serve Mrs. Mitchell and the UPI reporter who invited her because neither had the required dinner tickets. The two missing tickets were in the pocket of an FBI agent, assigned to guard Mrs. Mitchell and her husband, Attorney General John N. Mitchell.

In a whisper, the Sheraton-Park Hotel waitress was told "The attorney general's FBI agent has the tickets. Just serve dinner and we'll get them later".

"I can't serve dinner without a ticket," she answered loudly.

The problem was again explained. The same answer was given.

"The funny thing is I know the people who own this place," Mrs. Mitchell laughed. "I wonder if the President could get me dinner."

The FBI agent eventually was found, the tickets recovered and the two filet mignon dinners served.

Miracle Coating Replaces House Paint for 15 Years

Los Angeles, Calif.

Another boon of the space age has been accomplished for the home owner . . . an exterior wall coating so tough and durable that it is guaranteed to totally eliminate exterior house painting for over 15 years. This remarkable textured coating is asbestos KENITEX.

The Atomic Energy Commission has used KENITEX texture Coating for several years at Los Alamos, New Mexico, atomic plant. Thousands of gallons of this remarkable exterior surfacing have been applied to provide weatherproofing and beauty, far outlasting ordinary paint.

Over 1,000,000 KENITEX applications on homes, commercial and industrial buildings throughout the world, 10,000 in Southern California alone, remain in perfect condition after more than 15 years exposure in all weather extremes.

The Veterans' Administration, Sawtelle, in Los Angeles, has applied KENITEX to the exteriors of their buildings. The Kenitex coating is applied in one quick spray application without muss, fuss or odor — at a thickness 20 times that of ordinary paint. It fills holes, cracks and hides building defects, yet does not conceal the original architectural lines.

Homes and Guided Missiles
Unique among KENITEX applications is the use on guided missiles where its insulating properties shield the missile from extreme temperatures. KENITEX obtains these qualities from its basic components of asbestos, mica and perlite, which are noted for their insulation and durability.

Shot From a Gun
KENITEX is guaranteed for 15 years against chipping, flaking or peeling . . . it is extremely flexible and withstands all normal building expansion and contraction. Actually, "Shot from a Gun" KENITEX fuses to the sidewalls in a variety of beautiful decorator colors.

Sausalitan Arrested In Dope Smuggling

PHOENIX, Ariz. (UPI)—Two men were arrested Sunday night by sheriff's deputies and charged with smuggling 1,000 pounds of marijuana into the United States from Mexico.

They identified themselves as Thomas Bishop Wheeler, 34, Sun Valley, Idaho, and Don Joseph Brooks, 33, Sausalito, Calif. They were booked on charges of possession of marijuana for sale and import transport (smuggling).

Capt. Ralph McMillan of the sheriff's office said the marijuana had a potential value on the illicit market of $160,000.

"We got about a thousand pounds of grass, a bunch of property —maps and stuff — that we have to sort through," said McMillan.

McMillan said Wheeler and Brooks rented a Piper Cherokee 6 in the Phoenix area Friday and flew to Culiacan, Sinaloa, Mexico.

The plane landed Sunday at a deserted air strip east of Falcon Field near Mesa, Ariz., where the marijuana was transferred to a pickup-camper, said McMillan.

Wheeler took off in the plane and Brooks drove to Phoenix Harbor International Airport, where he was later joined by Wheeler at a motel room.

McMillan said Wheeler was arrested as he prepared to board a commercial airliner bound for Twin Falls, Idaho.

McMillan said the arrests climaxed an investigation that had lasted about two weeks.

Sausalitan Arrested In Dope Smuggling

PHOENIX, Ariz. (UPI)—Two men were arrested Sunday night by sheriff's deputies and charged with smuggling 1,000 pounds of marijuana into the United States from Mexico.

They identified themselves as Thomas Bishop Wheeler, 34, Sun Valley, Idaho, and Don Joseph Brooks, 33, Sausalito, Calif. They were booked on charges of possession of marijuana for sale and import transport (smuggling).

Capt. Ralph McMillan of the sheriff's office said the marijuana had a potential value on the illicit market of $160,000.

"We got about a thousand pounds of grass, a bunch of property —maps and stuff — that we have to sort through," said McMillan.

McMillan said Wheeler and Brooks rented a Piper Cherokee 6 in the Phoenix area Friday and flew to Culiacan, Sinaloa, Mexico.

The plane landed Sunday at a deserted air strip east of Falcon Field near Mesa, Ariz., where the marijuana was transferred to a pickup-camper, said McMillan.

Wheeler took off in the plane and Brooks drove to Phoenix Harbor International Airport, where he was later joined by Wheeler at a motel room.

McMillan said Wheeler was arrested as he prepared to board a commercial airliner bound for Twin Falls, Idaho.

McMillan said the arrests climaxed an investigation that had lasted about two weeks.

Apocryphal Tale Of Woman Driver

CHICAGO (UPI)—It's all in how you define the terms.

hours on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard between the Redhill Shopping Center and Fairfax. And, to "preserve the rural atmosphere which exists here now," the group opposed Highway 17 going through the Ross Valley.

DRUGS

"Give me a place where I don't have to be secretive — where I can be in the open and look at why I do what I do," a member of the drug problem task force asked during work session in behalf of drug users. The group named John Ryan to set up neighborhood meetings toward that goal and also decided to write to the major manufacturer of drugs and the legislature asking stricter controls on the amount of legal drugs produced in the United States.

GOVERNMENT PARTICIPATION

If councilmen were elected by districts, a committee for more participation in government reported, they would be able to answer directly to the area they represented. Group leader Gerald A. DeVore also reported the group recommended open meetings be held with councilmen every two months for discussion rather than action.

ENVIRONMENT

The environmental control group, leader Thomas J. Peacock reported, recommended city council take a leadership position in determining how to best handle problems of pesticides, garbage disposal, product packaging and elimination of human waste.

In their discussions, the group decided that although San Anselmo cannot compete with anti-environmentalist forces lobbying in Washington, the city can give local guidelines. These include encouragement and education toward such things as purchase of returnable containers, reuse of paper and plastic bags, and conservation of water by putting bricks in toilets or bending the flush rod.

SCHOOLS

Let students go to schools which can best meet their needs, urged a group studying more efficient use of school dollars. The group, headed by Keith McPherson and Mary Jane Chetelat, recommended the school board set up a committee to study education on different high school campuses to determine what programs are being offered.

Stolen Auto In Car Crash

Investigating a one-car, non-injury accident at Hazel Court and Irwin Street, San Rafael, at 1:30 a.m. yesterday, police found that the car had been stolen.

Robert Carl Maier, 18, no known address, was held in Marin County Jail in lieu of $1,200 bail, on suspicion of car theft. He was scheduled to appear this afternoon in Marin Municipal Court.

The 1971 Porsche belonged to Sherman Ellison of 120 Miramar Avenue, San Rafael, according to police. Ellison was unaware that his car had been stolen, police reported.

DAY CARE

A group studying day care facilities recommended seeking funds for a one-year experimental program at the Fairfax-San Anselmo Day Care Center. The federally funded program would operate with 35 children from six-months to six-years-old. Such a proposal is now being discussed by county officials.

ANIMALS

Sterility programs to curb the growing number of stray dogs were discussed in work session by a group working to control animals. The group also considered a dog park setup such as is being used in Chicago where dogs have their own place for their morning constitutional and what goes with it. However, some of the group members indicated they didn't believe there should be any control over dogs in residential areas.

The group recommended the mayor appoint a committee "to determine if there is an overpopulation of dogs."

Following their day of civic thought, residents were welcomed to the town meeting, because, as Blinder put it: "It is not over, it has just begun."

communities" policy aimed at increasing housing options for low income and minority families, the commission said.

"Since that time, the department appears to have narrowed the scope of this policy to rule out any activity aimed at facilitating economic integration," it said.

"In view of the fact that minority families are disproportionately represented among the nation's lower income families, HUD's adherence to a policy against economic integration will severely limit the scope of its activities and is likely to result in even greater reliance on the processing of individual complaints," it said.

Minority groups remain under-represented in government professional jobs, the commission found; construction industry compliance with equal employment plans such as were developed in Philadelphia and Washington, D.C. "has been ineffective and limited;" and the Office of Federal Contract Compliance has failed to impose sanctions against the non complying government contractors.

Housing Units Ground Broken

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— Ground has been broken for the first 101 units of a low to moderate income housing project at Hunters Point, near Candlestick Park.

When completed the 631-unit project will cost $2 million and will replace "temporary" structures built by the government during World War II.

The first units in the city Redevelopment Agency's program are sponsored by the Ridgepoint United Methodist Church and a non-profit corporation.

Studio apartments are to rent from $41 to $121 depending on the tenants' ability to pay. Four bedroom units will rent from $59 to $224.

goes up to $21.10 under the revaluation.

Just what the increase for German and Dutch goods will be remains to be seen since it may take some time —even months —for the mark and the guilder to find their level on a money market determined mostly by supply and demand.

The reason for the lack of faith in the once-almighty dollar — the standards against which all European currencies are measured — appeared to be the outlay for the Vietnam War and the increasingly bad balance of payments in the United States.

West Germany closed down its money markets Wednesday until today and a number of other nations followed suit to give the various governments time to decide what action to take.

On Sunday German Chancellor Willy Brandt and Economics minister Karl Schiller decided to allow the mark to "float" — findits parity with the dollar by means of supply and demand. The official rate currently is 3.66 marks to a dollar, but the tremendous buying of marks in exchange for dollars has pushed the mark's price up. The government hoped the decision to "float" the mark would reverse the flow of dollars and they were determined to allow the action to continue for months if necessary.

McGovern said Hoover's action in the Cook case "constitutes a violation of the Civil Rights Act, the First Amendment right of free speech and the Ninth Amendment right to privacy," and he asked Erwin for an investigation.

Hoover is 76. His 47th anniversary on the job was today but UPI wrote him on April 27 requesting an interview and asking specifically that he give his side of the recent wiretap controversy and talk about his plans for the future. On April 29 he replied in a personal note saying:

"I regret that the pressure of official business precludes me from complying with these requests. Also, I have no thought of leaving my present position and intend to remain as director of the FBI as long as I can be of service to the country and my health permits."

Hoover has stayed on past the mandatory federal retirement age because of the intervention of several presidents.

Rent Argument Leads To Arrest

Richard Haskell Miller Jr., 27, of 316 South McDowell Boulevard, Petaluma, was arrested yesterday on suspicion of assault with a deadly weapon after an argument over rent payment.

Lola Olaeta, 841 Schuman Lane, Petaluma, told police she went to see Miller at 10:15 a.m. to collect rent on her home. She said Miller pointed a .22 caliber revolver at her and said he'd blow her head off if she didn't leave. He was released to appear today in Southern Sonoma Municipal Court for arraignment.

McGovern said Hoover's action in the Cook case "constitutes a violation of the Civil Rights Act, the First Amendment right of free speech and the Ninth Amendment right to privacy," and he asked Erwin for an investigation.

Hoover is 76. His 47th anniversary on the job was today but UPI wrote him on April 27 requesting an interview and asking specifically that he give his side of the recent wiretap controversy and talk about his plans for the future. On April 29 he replied in a personal note saying:

"I regret that the pressure of official business precludes me from complying with these requests. Also, I have no thought of leaving my present position and intend to remain as director of the FBI as long as I can be of service to the country and my health permits."

Hoover has stayed on past the mandatory federal retirement age because of the intervention of several presidents.

Rogers 'Satisfied' With Mission

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Secretary of State William P. Rogers, "quite satisfied" with a two-week Mideast peace mission, said Sunday night the prospects for peace between Egypt and Israel have improved.

His trip to Saudi Arabia, Jordan, Lebanon, Egypt and Israel was the first Middle East tour by a U.S. secretary of state since John Foster Dulles visited the area in 1953.

Rogers also disclosed at a planeside news conference following his landing Sunday night at Andrews Air Force base that a top aide had just reported "useful" meetings with Egyptian President Anwar Sadat.

Rogers said he would tell President Nixon the 18,000 mile, eight-nation tour was "worthwhile" when he briefs Nixon in a private meeting late today.

Rogers also visited Italy, Turkey and France. He left Rome Sunday after asking Pope Paul VI to help secure the release of American prisoners of war in Indochina.

The secretary concentrated on the Middle East in the tour, trying to promote an interim settlement between Egypt and Israel with regard to reopening the blocked Suez Canal. He said Sunday night that gaining the agreement would still be difficult.

"But I think the differences have been narrowed," Rogers said. "I think the prospect for peace is somewhat better."

Rogers sent Assistant Secretary of State Joseph J. Sisco back to Cairo Saturday to clarify with Sadat new positions discussed with Israeli leaders during a two-day stay at Tel Aviv.

Rogers said Sisco reported Sunday night that Sadat was carefully studying the views of the United States and Israel as provided by Sisco.

The secretary and other officials declined to identify any areas of possible agreement, but there appeared to be progress towards a compromise on a first stage Israeli withdrawal across the occupied Sinai Peninsula, followed by an Egyptian "presence" on the East Bank of the canal.

Rogers said there was general agreement between Egypt and Israel the waterway should be reopened, that Egypt should administer it and that fighting between both sides should not resume.

U.S. diplomats assessed Rogers' tour as useful in keeping up momentum toward a final peace settlement, but they conceded that great difficulties still divide Egypt and Israel.

U.S. Sees Mideast Progress, But Israel, Egypt Skeptical

By U. P. INTERNATIONAL

U. S. Assistant Secretary of State Jospeh J. Sisco said today progress had been made in his talks with Egyptian leaders but that more difficulties must be resolved before an agreement is reached to reopen the Suez Canal. Israel voiced skepticism.

Sisco spoke to newsmen in London en route to Washington from Cairo where he conferred for four hours Sunday with Egyptian President Anwar Sadat. He had accompanied Secretary of State William P. Rogers on his missions to Cairo and Tel Aviv and flew to Cairo after talks with the Israelis.

Rogers said Sunday night he was "quite satisfied", with his two-week Mideast peace mission and that prospects for peace between Egypt and Israel have improved. But Israeli leaders were far less optimistic and Prime Minister Golda Meir called in her closest advisers today to study the situation.

Sisco, who delivered Israel's lastest proposal to the Egyptians, described his talks with Sadat as "useful," but added that no interim settlement over the canal issue is imminent.

"In our judgment," Sisco said, "both sides are interested in finding an answer to an interim settlement."

However Egyptian Foreign Minister Mahomoud Riad said after the Sisco-Sadat meeting there are still large gaps between Egypt and Israel on the Middle East conflict and that there had been no change in the situation following the Rogers' and Sisco visits.

Israeli Foreign Minister Abba Eban told a television audience: "Our American friends say that despite these differences, there should be no despair. I would say that the bridging of the gap is not so near."

Eban said reopening of the canal "is not a lost prospect, but it is not a matter of a day or two."

The Israeli leadership's initial enthusiasm following the Rogers visit faded after Sunday's regular cabinet meeting in Jerusalem, where the sessions with the American officials were discussed.

Scott Wins Television's Emmy; His 'Andersonville Trial' Cited

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—George C. Scott won—and accepted—television's Emmy for best single performance by an actor Sunday night as the Hallmark Hall of Fame series captured top honors with eight awards.

Actor Jack Cassidy accepted the Emmy for Scott, who last month refused to recognize the Oscar he was awarded for his role in "Patton."

Lee Grant won the Emmy for best actress in a single performance in "The Neon Ceiling," a movie made for NBC.

Outstanding single program of the season was "The Andersonville Trial," broadcast over the Public Broadcasting System and directed by Scott.

"The Senator," which won a total of five Emmys, was cancelled.

"All in the Family," the CBS satire on American bigotry, was named best comedy series of the season, and Jean Stapleton, costar of the program, won the Emmy for best comedy actress. The show also was named outstanding new television series in preliminary awards Friday night.

It introduced to television certain blunt, slang expressions of prejudice and dealt earthily with the sex life of a young couple living with their in-laws.

Best actor in a comedy series went to Jack Klugman of ABC's "The Odd Couple."

"The Mary Tyler Moore Show," on CBS, edged by "All in the Family" for top comedy honors, took four awards including best comedy actor and actress in supporting roles for Edward Asner and Valerie Harper.

Emmys for supporting roles in dramas went to the late David Burns for "The Price" and Margaret Leighton for "Hamlet."

The eight Hallmark Hall of Fame awards came for two NBC shows: "Hamlet" with five and "The Price" with three.

Household safety: four things you should do. And a couple you shouldn't.

1. Have your gas appliances thoroughly checked once a year by your appliance or furnace man or your plumber. While he's there ask him to make sure safety pilots are operating properly, air openings on burners are clean and set for a blue flame.

2. Get rid of any rusted or loose-fitting vent and flue pipes. Have them checked annually. If you ever should smell a gas leak call PG&E immediately.

3. Make sure that burners and controls on your gas furnace, wall or floor heater are clean at all times. And be sure to clean or replace dirty furnace filters periodically.

4. When you disconnect appliances, pull plug first from the outlet. Also make sure electric tools are properly grounded, and frayed or broken electric cords are replaced.

Never connect too many appliances to one outlet or circuit. And never let youngsters tamper with cords or outlets.

Don't place furniture or drapes over or close to any heater. Or let gas accumulate before lighting a gas pilot. Be sure that gas range burners are off completely when not in use.

And remember, too, that we're always ready to help. If you call for a PG&E service man to check-out any gas leak or gas service problem, ask him to show you where your gas pilots are located and how to go about relighting them. If repairs or parts are needed, call an appliance or furnace service man or your plumber.

Household safety: four things you should do. And a couple you shouldn't.

1. Have your gas appliances thoroughly checked once a year by your appliance or furnace man or your plumber. While he's there ask him to make sure safety pilots are operating properly, air openings on burners are clean and set for a blue flame.

2. Get rid of any rusted or loose-fitting vent and flue pipes. Have them checked annually. If you ever should smell a gas leak call PG&E immediately.

3. Make sure that burners and controls on your gas furnace, wall or floor heater are clean at all times. And be sure to clean or replace dirty furnace filters periodically.

4. When you disconnect appliances, pull plug first from the outlet. Also make sure electric tools are properly grounded, and frayed or broken electric cords are replaced.

Never connect too many appliances to one outlet or circuit. And never let youngsters tamper with cords or outlets.

Don't place furniture or drapes over or close to any heater. Or let gas accumulate before lighting a gas pilot. Be sure that gas range burners are off completely when not in use.

And remember, too, that we're always ready to help. If you call for a PG&E service man to check-out any gas leak or gas service problem, ask him to show you where your gas pilots are located and how to go about relighting them. If repairs or parts are needed, call an appliance or furnace service man or your plumber.

Supervisors Will Funding Problems To Sacramento

Marin County Board of Supervisors will zip through tomorrow's agenda in a half day, then head for Sacramento in the afternoon to urge the state officials to assist Marin with the cost of San Quentin trials and increased cost of welfare and Medi-Cal.

Supervisors will meet at 3 p.m. in the state capitol with Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, and State Sen. Peter H. Behr, R-San Rafael.

Supervisors will meet at 9 a.m. with the Marin County Planning Commission to discuss the future of the county's rural areas, the relationship of the county with the Bay Conservation and Development Commission and planning in general.

Other agenda items include:

COURTROOM REPAIR — Bids will be submitted for repair of a courtroom damaged by a bomb last October. Low bid is $85,300 as compared with an estimate of $140,000. Other bids will be presented for completion of an adjoining courtroom that is unfinished and for the acoustical shell and an air conditioning unit for the new auditorium.

FIRE CHIEF — Chief Louis J. Bloom will reach mandatory retirement age of 60 on June 1 and the county administrator has recommended that a successor be picked from among the nine men in the county fire department who are eligible for the top job.

WELFARE — Betty L. Presley, director of public social services, will report that the county may be able to save $11,000 because the state has agreed to raise its contribution to the Aid to Families With Dependent Children.

AGRICULTURE PRESERVE — Several landowners in West Marin will ask for agricultural preserve contracts that will give them reduced taxes in exchange for keeping their properties undeveloped for 10 years.

The reaper was invented in 1831 by Cyrus Hall McCormick.

Hearing On Health Education

A public hearing on the San Anselmo School District's soon-to-be-completed health education program — including controversial sex education elements — has been tentatively set for 7:30 p.m. June 8 at Red Hill School.

The public hearing arises out of a difference in views between the district superintendent and a trustee.

That difference, Trustee Eugene E. Jacks says, is over the way in which the new program will be reviewed before adoption. He charged the superintendent with attempting to slip the program by the public.

However, Supt. W. Kenneth Lowry maintains the conflict between Jacks and him is due to the trustee's attempt to bog down the program at the urging of those opposed to sex education.

Under the review procedures established by the board, a three-member parents committee is working with the district staff in developing the health program.

The program, due for completion the end of this month, was to be presented to the board June 1 for adoption.

Jacks charged this procedure bypasses "the community" since the parents' committee does not represent a cross-section of opinion.

With such a short time between completion and adoption, he said, other parents would not have had time to review the program.

And those opposing it, he continued, have repeatedly been promised they would have an opportunity to review program material before action by the board.

"The superintendent was proposing not to give them their day in court," he continued, adding the parents' committee is made up of members who "want an aggressive sex education program."

Lowry said he does not disagree with the idea of a public hearing.

"My argument with Jacks came about because this is the third time he has changed the board's direction 180 degrees," he said, adding he felt Jacks "was serving his own ends and not those of the district."

Lowry was referring to Tuesday's meeting when the disagreement flared as Jacks and five residents — including Sarah Nome and Judith Emis, both outspoken critics of sex education — called for the public hearing.

"He (Jacks) has had the procedures schedule (calling for adoption June 1) since March 15," he continued. "Why didn't he say something earlier; why did he wait until Tuesday?"

The superintendent answered his own questions by saying it appeared to be simply a move to provide a public platform for those opposed to sex education.

"I don't disagree with the idea of a public hearing," he said, "just the timing he (Jacks) used."

He charged Jacks, supported by Trustee Marv H. Olive, has frustrated the board "to a point where the board is not functioning as a board."

He accused Jacks of bogging down the board on matters such as the budget and the summer school program.

The public hearing was approved by Jacks and Mrs. Olive when Trustees Basil Hugh Scalabrini and Franklin C. Latcham were absent. Board president Elmer A. Weden Jr. did not vote.

Fairfax, Friend Silent 2 Weeks

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Two weeks ago today British adventurer John Fairfax and his girl friend, Sylvia Cook, rowed out of San Francisco Bay for Australia. They have not been heard from since.

"I'm naturally worried," said Ivan Sharpe, the couple's shoreside radio contact, "but I don't think he's in any danger."

The Coast Guard sent a message for all ships to report any sighting of Fairfax's 35-foot orange rowboat, "Britannia II." It was thought to be about 100 miles west of Los Angeles.

A RETURN TO THE SEA

Cowboy, a 300 pound sea lion drydocked since October 24 by a kidney and urinary tract disease which killed about 300 of his friends and relatives at Bolinas and along the peninsula coast, was a little impatient Friday as volunteers and workers from the Louis A. Boyd Museum took him back to sea at Bolinas. Thanks to care given him at the home of curator Lloyd B. Smalley Jr. and at laboratories at Stanford University, Cowboy was ready for his first good swim in more than six months, although he did hesitate a bit (right) as though pondering the water temperature.

MUSIC REVIEW

Virtuoso Concert By Young People

By MAYBELLE SPECKMANN

The Marin Youth Orchestra and pianist Carol Ann Miller, an 18-year-old black girl, who despite superb musical talent plans to become a criminal lawyer, shared honors yesterday afternoon at San Rafael High School in a virtuoso concert that closed the orchestra's 17th season.

Through some kind of magic — actually excellent musicianship and a gift for dealing with children — director Hugo Rinaldi manages every year to weld some 75 young people from 16 schools in Marin into a ensemble that is no mere high school orchestra but a finely-honed symphonic instrument.

Though he manages this every year despite the loss of many of the most experienced musicians through graduation, I think this was a banner year with an unusual number of highly gifted performers in each of the choirs of the orchestra, especially the strings. Their precision would match that of many an adult group. Though the woodwinds, brasses and percussion were all very good, the unusual strength of the strings upset slightly the balance of the whole occasionally.

Nor was the high level of performance due to programming of works without too much challenge, for even the first number, "Meditation on Orpheus," by Alan Hovhaness required subtle handling of all orchestral colors to recreate the mood of the famous Orpheus myth.

The major work of the afternoon for orchestra, Dvorak's symphony No. 5 in E Minor (From The New World) was a symphonic tour de force. The familiar English horn theme in the largo movement was beautifully played, and climaxes were built to a spine-tingling sonority.

Playing the first movement of Beethoven's Concerto No. 1 in C Major — from the period in which the composer was displaying his own stature as a virtuoso pianist — Carol Ann Miller revealed a major talent. Totally involved in the music, she played with great technical facility and a firm assurance and power that was far from what expects from a young girl. Yet she had a fine feeling for lyrical values and sensitivity of phrasing. It was in true Beethoven style.

On graduation from San Domenico School this year she plans to attend Mills College with the intention of becoming a criminal lawyer. It will be a loss to music.

The concert opened with a demonstration under the direction of Robert Jacobson by the workshop for strings, a group of about 38 youngsters who form the training section for the youth orchestra's string section. This is perhaps part of the explanation of the unusual strength of the orchestra's strings. Some of the young people have played with the orchestra for six years.

The youngsters in the workshop for strings played creditably — concentrating on pitch, smooth rhythm and clean attacks and releases — not mere exercises but a Rondeau by Purchell and Concerto Grosso by Handel.

The concert was taped by station KKHI for broadcast May 29.

Bill Seeks Funds For Bridge Area

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — The Golden Gate Bridge District could pick up several hundred thousands of dollars a year for transit under a sales tax on gasoline.

The original version of AB 544 by Assemblyman Wadie P. Deddeh, D-Chula Vista, did not include the bridge district among its beneficiaries, but it was amended Friday to do so at the request of Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael.

The bill would remove the existing exemption of gasoline from the 5 per cent sales tax to raise new money, most of it for transit purposes. One per cent of the sales tax still would go to local government for general fund purposes, but 4 per cent would be for transit.

The bridge district has six counties, but Sacramento sources said that only that new revenue going to Marin — and possibly Sonoma — could be expected to be available to the bridge district. San Francisco's own needs were too great to leave money for the district, and other counties in the district would not benefit directly from its transit operations.

Marin would get about $1.4 million a year and Sonoma would get about $1.3 million for transit, according to estimates by legislative staff. The bill is awaiting hearing in the ways and means committee.

Proposed Vessel Dumping Ban Worries Shippers

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — A proposed ban of all sewage discharges from vessels in San Francisco Bay could drive out the shipping industry, according to the American Institute of Merchant Shipping.

The ban was proposed in a plan due to be adopted this month by the Regional Water Quality Control Board. The institute's objections came in a statement to be presented at the board's first hearing on the plan at 9:30 a.m. tomorrow in Kaiser Center Auditorium, Oakland.

Philip Steinberg, regional vice president of the institute, warned in the statement that the ban would mean "serious doubts as the ability of all vessels to carry out unimpeded interstate or foreign commerce" in the bay. He declared "it would be uneconomical to operate vessels in this water region" if the ban were imposed.

The ban would require vessels to remain hooked up to an umbilical sewage line to shoreside treatment facilities while in port. Steinberg said this would interfere with the need to shift berths to take on cargo and fuel while also providing for ships' sewage wastes.

The plan, to be enforced by $6,000-a-day fines and bans on new construction, calls for $847 million in new sewage facilities in the next five years, including $87 million in Marin and Southern Sonoma.

The Institute assured the regonal board it would do what it could, but urged "a balanced view" and "the preservation of all vital uses of water resources without the erosion of any one use," such as maritime commerce.

Steinberg objected also to the plan's assumption that shipboard sewage treatment would not work. Such equipment in use for over two years had proven satisfactory, he said.

A 1970 federal law probably preempted the regional board and state from regulating sewage discharges from vessels, he added. The Environmental Protection Agency is drafting regulations to require either shipborad treatment or facilities to tie into shoreside treatment plants, he noted.

(The law, however, allows states to petition the federal government to waive federal standards in favor of stricter state standards.)

Steinberg also took exception to the plan's proposed limit on coliform bacteria. The plan's limit of 23 parts per 100 milliliters, he said, could not be met and was unnecessarily low.

Ocean commerce provides over $1 billion a year to Californians in jobs, payrolls and revenues, Steinberg said, and provides "the life line for the transportation of goods, people and ideas."

Supervisors Will Funding Problems To Sacramento

Marin County Board of Supervisors will zip through tomorrow's agenda in a half day, then head for Sacramento in the afternoon to urge the state officials to assist Marin with the cost of San Quentin trials and increased cost of welfare and Medi-Cal.

Supervisors will meet at 3 p.m. in the state capitol with Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, and State Sen. Peter H. Behr, R-San Rafael.

Supervisors will meet at 9 a.m. with the Marin County Planning Commission to discuss the future of the county's rural areas, the relationship of the county with the Bay Conservation and Development Commission and planning in general.

Other agenda items include:

COURTROOM REPAIR — Bids will be submitted for repair of a courtroom damaged by a bomb last October. Low bid is $85,300 as compared with an estimate of $140,000. Other bids will be presented for completion of an adjoining courtroom that is unfinished and for the acoustical shell and an air conditioning unit for the new auditorium.

FIRE CHIEF — Chief Louis J. Bloom will reach mandatory retirement age of 60 on June 1 and the county administrator has recommended that a successor be picked from among the nine men in the county fire department who are eligible for the top job.

WELFARE — Betty L. Presley, director of public social services, will report that the county may be able to save $11,000 because the state has agreed to raise its contribution to the Aid to Families With Dependent Children.

AGRICULTURE PRESERVE — Several landowners in West Marin will ask for agricultural preserve contracts that will give them reduced taxes in exchange for keeping their properties undeveloped for 10 years.

The reaper was invented in 1831 by Cyrus Hall McCormick.

Hearing On Health Education

A public hearing on the San Anselmo School District's soon-to-be-completed health education program — including controversial sex education elements — has been tentatively set for 7:30 p.m. June 8 at Red Hill School.

The public hearing arises out of a difference in views between the district superintendent and a trustee.

That difference, Trustee Eugene E. Jacks says, is over the way in which the new program will be reviewed before adoption. He charged the superintendent with attempting to slip the program by the public.

However, Supt. W. Kenneth Lowry maintains the conflict between Jacks and him is due to the trustee's attempt to bog down the program at the urging of those opposed to sex education.

Under the review procedures established by the board, a three-member parents committee is working with the district staff in developing the health program.

The program, due for completion the end of this month, was to be presented to the board June 1 for adoption.

With such a short time between completion and adoption, he said, other parents would not have had time to review the program.

And those opposing it, he continued, have repeatedly been promised they would have an opportunity to review program material before action by the board.

"The superintendent was proposing not to give them their day in court," he continued, adding the parents' committee is made up of members who "want an aggressive sex education program."

Lowry said he does not disagree with the idea of a public hearing.

"My argument with Jacks came about because this is the third time he has changed the board's direction 180 degrees," he said, adding he felt Jacks "was serving his own ends and — not those of the district."

Lowry was referring to Tuesday's meeting when the disagreement flared as Jacks and five residents — including Sarah Nome and Judith Emis, both outspoken critics of sex education — called for the public hearing.

"He (Jacks) has had the procedures schedule (calling for adoption June 1) since March 15," he continued. "Why didn't he say something earlier; why did he wait until Tuesday?"

The superintendent answered his own questions by saying it appeared to be simply a move to provide a public platform for those opposed to sex education.

"I don't disagree with the idea of a public hearing," he said, "just the timing he (Jacks) used."

He charged Jacks, supported by Trustee Marv H. Olive, has frustrated the board "to a point where the board is not functioning as a board."

He accused Jacks of bogging down the board on matters such as the budget and the summer school program.

The public hearing was approved by Jacks and Mrs. Olive when Trustees Basil Hugh Scalabrini and Franklin C. Latcham were absent. Board president Elmer A. Weden Jr. did not vote.

Fairfax, Friend Silent 2 Weeks

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— Two weeks ago today British adventurer John Fairfax and his girl friend, Sylvia Cook, rowed out of San Francisco Bay for Australia. They have not been heard from since.

"I'm naturally worried," said Ivan Sharpe, the couple's shoreside radio contact, "but I don't think he's in any danger."

The Coast Guard sent a message for all ships to report any sighting of Fairfax's 35-foot orange rowboat, "Britannia II." It was thought to be about 100 miles west of Los Angeles.

Walkers Net $8,000 To Fight Hunger

More than 250 persons trudged 20 miles yesterday to raise about $8,000 as Marin's contribution to the international Walk Against Hunger.

According to Robert Morgan, a junior at Sir Francis Drake High School and coordinator of Marin's walk, the turnout was considerably less than expected.

He said about 1,000 persons had been expected to join the march from Redwood High School in Larkspur through the communities of Greenbrae, San Rafael, San Anselmo, Fairfax and Ross.

Morgan said the walk's contribution, raised from sponsors who pledged to pay a certain amount for each mile walked by participant, should be sent to the Crocker Citizens Bank in San Anselmo before May 21.

Fifteen per cent of the money will go to the American Freedom From Hunger Foundation, a national organization which promotes the walks. The Marin Economic Opportunity Council and the Meals for Millions will split the remaining 85 per cent.

The Marin EOC money has been designated for school lunch programs and the Meals for Millions will go for a "self help" project in Ecuador to aid starving families in the growing of high protein foods.

Morgan said the largest amount in pledges, which was raised by Drake High School teacher, Jackie Moskowitz, grossed nearly $200 walking the 20 miles.

Morgan blamed the lack of advance publicity for this year's light turnout of 260 marchers.

Marin's 260 were part of a nationwide total of 639,000, accoridng to United Press International.

About $5 million was raised during the weekend, the American Freedom from Hunger Committee said in Washington.

The estimated total is about five times that announced as a goal.

Half-Acre Minimum Lots Voted

Marin County planning commissioners today refused to set a two-acre minimum lot size for agricultural and settled instead for a half-acre minimum lot.

The recommendation for half-acre minimum came on a motion by George P. Leonard and a second by Eugene P. Trombley. They were backed by Walter F. Freitas and Edward Hageman.

Margaret B. Azevedo and Jack G. Nixon voted "no" holding out for a two-acre minimum. John F. West, who had stepped out for a few minutes, missed the voting, but he, too, had earlier held out for the two-acre minimum.

Under the present zoning code, agricultural land in Marin can be divided into 7,500 square foot lots. The half-acre minimum boosts that to 21,780 square feet. Two acres contain 87,120 square feet.

County planning director Werner Von Gundell argued that without the two-acre minimum, the county would be unprotected against developers chopping up the open lands in West Marin into small lots.

He acknowledged that the two-acre minimum would work a hardship on about 10 or 20 per cent of the agricultural areas adjacent to urban communities. But these inequities would be corrected by subsequent rezoning, said Von Gundell.

Summer Rec Plan Wins Wide Support

A questionnaire distributed to 2,500 parents in the Reed School District has indicated overwhelming support for a joint Tiburon-school district summer recreation program.

Tiburon Assistant City Mgr. Robert L. Kleinert said about 500 of the questionnaires were returned, with all but eight voicing support for a formal recreation program.

The city and school district have cooperated on such activities in the past, Kleinert said, but not in recent years because of a lack of interest. The questionnaire appears to indicate a reversal of feeling.

Kleinert said the city parks and recreation commission will ask the city council to consider entering a joint program but may not have time to establish one for this summer.

In other business Thursday the parks and recreation commission called for citizens to serve on a committee planning the third annual Ayala Day, to be held Sept. 25 on Angel Island.

Sewerage Plan On Petaluma Agenda

David A. Young, Petaluma city engineer, will speak on expansion of sewerage facilities at the Petaluma Valley Homeowners Association meeting at 8 p.m. today in the multi-use room of Tercera School.

Young will explain expansion plans and next month's $2 million bond election to finance construction.

MUSIC REVIEW

Virtuoso Concert By Young People

By MAYBELLE SPECKMANN

The Marin Youth Orchestra and pianist Carol Ann Miller, an 18-year-old black girl, who despite superb musical talent plans to become a criminal lawyer, shared honors yesterday afternoon at San Rafael High School in a virtuoso concert that closed the orchestra's 17th season.

Through some kind of magic — actually excellent musicianship and a gift for dealing with children — director Hugo Rinaldi manages every year to weld some 75 young people from 16 schools in Marin into a ensemble that is no mere high school orchestra but a finely-honed symphonic instrument.

Though he manages this every year despite the loss of many of the most experienced musicians through graduation, I think this was a banner year with an unusual number of highly gifted performers in each of the choirs of the orchestra, especially the strings. Their precision would match that of many an adult group. Though the woodwinds, brasses and percussion were all very good, the unusual strength of the strings upset slightly the balance of the whole occasionally.

Nor was the high level of performance due to programming of works without too much challenge, for even the first number, "Meditation on Orpheus," by Alan Hovhaness required subtle handling of all orchestral colors to recreate the mood of the famous Orpheus myth.

The major work of the afternoon for orchestra, Dvorak's symphony No. 5 in E Minor (From The New World) was a symphonic tour de force. The familiar English horn theme in the largo movement was beautifully played, and climaxes were built to a spine-tingling sonority.

Playing the first movement of Beethoven's Concerto No. 1 in C Major — from the period in which the composer was displaying his own stature as a virtuoso pianist — Carol Ann Miller revealed a major talent. Totally involved in the music, she played with great technical facility and a firm assurance and power that was far from what expects from a young girl. Yet she had a fine feeling for lyrical values and sensitivity of phrasing. It was in true Beethoven style.

On graduation from San Domenico School this year she plans to attend Mills College with the intention of becoming a criminal lawyer. It will be a loss to music.

The concert opened with a demonstration under the direction of Robert Jacobson by the workshop for strings, a group of about 38 youngsters who form the training section for the youth orchestra's string section. This is perhaps part of the explanation of the unusual strength of the orchestra's strings. Some of the young people have played with the orchestra for six years.

The youngsters in the workshop for strings played creditably — concentrating on pitch, smooth rhythm and clean attacks and releases — not mere exercises but a Rondeau by Purchell and Concerto Grosso by Handel.

The concert was taped by station KKHI for broadcast May 29.

Bill Seeks Funds For Bridge Area

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — The Golden Gate Bridge District could pick up several hundred thousands of dollars a year for transit under a sales tax on gasoline.

The original version of AB 544 by Assemblyman Wadie P. Deddeh, D-Chula Vista, did not include the bridge district among its beneficiaries, but it was amended Friday to do so at the request of Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael.

The bill would remove the existing exemption of gasoline from the 5 per cent sales tax to raise new money, most of it for transit purposes. One per cent of the sales tax still would go to local government for general fund purposes, but 4 per cent would be for transit.

The bridge district has six counties, but Sacramento sources said that only that new revenue going to Marin — and possibly Sonoma — could be expected to be available to the bridge district. San Francisco's own needs were too great to leave money for the district, and other counties in the district would not benefit directly from its transit operations.

Marin would get about $1.4 million a year and Sonoma would get about $1.3 million for transit, according to estimates by legislative staff. The bill is awaiting hearing in the ways and means committee.

Proposed Vessel Dumping Ban Worries Shippers

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — A proposed ban of all sewage discharges from vessels in San Francisco Bay could drive out the shipping industry, according to the American Institute of Merchant Shipping.

The ban was proposed in a plan due to be adopted this month by the Regional Water Quality Control Board. The institute's objections came in a statement to be presented at the board's first hearing on the plan at 9:30 a.m. tomorrow in Kaiser Center Auditorium, Oakland.

Philip Steinberg, regional vice president of the institute, warned in the statement that the ban would mean "serious doubts as the ability of all vessels to carry out unimpeded interstate or foreign commerce" in the bay. He declared "it would be uneconomical to operate vessels in this water region" if the ban were imposed.

The ban would require vessels to remain hooked up to an umbilical sewage line to shoreside treatment facilities while in port. Steinberg said this would interfere with the need to shift berths to take on cargo and fuel while also providing for ships' sewage wastes.

The plan, to be enforced by $6,000-a-day fines and bans on new construction, calls for $847 million in new sewage facilities in the next five years, including $87 million in Marin and Southern Sonoma.

The Institute assured the regional board it would do what it could, but urged "a balanced view" and "the preservation of all vital uses of water resources without the erosion of any one use," such as maritime commerce.

Steinberg objected also to the plan's assumption that shipboard sewage treatment would not work. Such equipment in use for over two years had proven satisfactory, he said.

A 1970 federal law probably preempted the regional board and state from regulating sewage discharges from vessels, he added. The Environmental Protection Agency is drafting regulations to require either shipborad treatment or facilities to tie into shoreside treatment plants, he noted.

(The law, however, allows states to petition the federal government to waive federal standards in favor of stricter state standards.)

Steinberg also took exception to the plan's proposed limit on coliform bacteria. The plan's limit of 23 parts per 100 milliliters, he said, could not be met and was unnecessarily low.

Ocean commerce provides over $1 billion a year to Californians in jobs, payrolls and revenues, Steinberg said, and provides "the life line for the transportation of goods, people and ideas."

Two-Way Financial Disclosure Law Needed

Is the public entitled to know the sources of income of those who aspire to public office? Is the public entitled to know if these candidates are in fact insolvent?

Majorities in both houses of the California Legislature answered "yes" to the first question two years ago by passing a bill by then — Assemblyman Jesse M. Unruh which required office holders and candidates for public office to file disclosures of all their investments exceeding $10,000.

UNRUH'S POSITION — concurred in by a majority of legislators — was that this should be public information to help guard against conflicts of interest on the part of elective officials. For instance, if a person receives a major share of his income from rentals of slum property, he might have a personal interest in any measure for slum clearance. Or if oil stocks keep him wealthy, he might for personal reasons be averse to legislation to reduce the oil depletion allowance.

Unruh's financial disclosure act, however, produced a storm of outrage from elected public officials. The cities of Chico and Carmel challenged its constitutionality. And last March, before the first deadline for filing statements under the law, the California Supreme Court declared it unconstitutional.

The Independent-Journal's position on the law was stated on this page at the height of the controversy: "If there's nothing to hide, why balk at disclosure?"

The legislature has never come to grips with the second question: Is the public entitled to know if candidates are in fact insolvent?

Perhaps it should.

IT HAS BEEN LEARNED reliably that the wife of a candidate for San Rafael city office was drawing welfare from the county at the same time her husband was campaigning for office prior to the April 20 municipal election.

There should be no onus to being on welfare, any more than there should be an onus to owning oil stocks. But should not the public be entitled to know when a candidate for public office — which involves management of money collected by taxation — is unable to support his family?

We think it should.

There may be as much potential conflict of interest involved in drawing welfare as there is in owning slum property, oil stocks, or whatever.

AS THE LAW stands, not only is the public denied information of the financial status of candidates, but, in the case of welfare, its very disclosure is against the law.

When the California Supreme Court by 5-2 vote declared Unruh's financial disclosure law unconstitutional, it said:

"Nothing we say here should be deemed to preclude the legislature in a properly drawn statute from providing for a broad disclosure of assets, income or receipts relevant to public officer or employe."

That being the case, the legislature should get busy on drawing up a new financial disclosure law for public officials and candidates — one which covers impecuniosity as well as wealth.

How Misinformation Gets Broadcast: A Case in Point

By PAUL E. PETERZELL

The painless birth of misinformation is a wonder to behold.

And the San Francisco Chronicle proved again last week that it is the Bay Area's leading midwife in such births.

The victim this time was the truth about air pollution. The Chronicle version faithfully followed the gospel as related by the staff of the Bay Area Air Pollution Control District — utterly missing the correct story, which was completely contrary to the staff gospel.

The staff presented its annual self-congratulatory state-of-the-air report late Wednesday morning at the monthly meeting of district directors. The report glowingly cited a 17 per cent cut in emmissions from all sources of air contamination in the district.

A LUNCH BREAK, however, came before the directors had time to react to the report, so anyone leaving the meeting at that point could have swallowed the staff's claims. The Chronicle reporter left and did not return.

When the directors returned after a quick lunch, the picture changed. The directors spent most of the afternoon session shredding the claims and concluding they did not believe them.

The quality of the air simply did not reflect any such generous claim, the disbelieving directors agreed.

The Chronicle's reporter may have been assigned elsewhere in the afternoon. Or perhaps he had had his fill by lunch.

This reporter and one for the San Jose Mercury stayed for the afternoon, and consequently wrote stories for their Thursday editions about the directors' challenge to the staff report.

But the Chronicle came out first with its version — repeating the staff claims without a hint of dissent — and quickly was picked up by Associated Press and United Press International, feeding news clients throughout the region. All day Thursday the good news was on radio and television and in other newspapers relying on the wires — the air was "getting cleaner."

Many persons presumably greeted this "news" with disbelief, a response that erodes confidence in media. Not that confidence was deserved in this case. Unfortunately, it was not an isolated case.

RELATIONS BETWEEN Marin's two state legislators never have warmed. Sen. Peter H. Behr, R-San Rafael, will hold a fund-raising dinner this month, but Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, is not on the dinner committee of 56 prominent citizens.

"I didn't want to get in the middle of a prospective conflict between two friends," Bagley told us. He explained he had in mind his long acquaintance in the Legislature with Sen. Milton Marks, R-San Francisco, who may face Behr for reelection next year because of reapportionment.

Bagley was the only person to refuse to be on the dinner committee, according to Behr's staff.

Welfare Plan Effect On County Questioned

The Independent-Journal would perform a needed public service by printing an in-depth, factual analysis, showing how Governor Reagon's so-called "welfare reform" proposals will increase local property taxes substantially, because of the transfer of costs from the state to county government.

In this article, omit the pros and cons ot the welfare problem per se, and focus strictly on who will pick up the tab that the state will drop under Reagan's proposals.

I believe your subscribers deserve and will appreciate this non-partisan report.

North Bay Yacht Club Missing From Edition

On April 24, you did an excellent job in your magazine on boating —except for one glaring mistake, and one minor one. Being a past commodore of the North Bay Yacht Club, I was dumbfounded, when reading your article on the various yacht clubs located in Marin that were going to compete on opening day, to find that North Bay Yacht Club was not mentioned.

In past years, we have won first place; we three times won the most attendance trophy; and many times won second or third place, or honorable mention. To top them all, this year we not only won first place, but it was the first time that a sailboat has ever won it —and this boat, as you now know, flew the North Bay Yacht Club burgee.

. . . I might also add that under the listings of yacht club, you showed the commodore of North Bay Yacht Club as S. E. Behrens. We do not have any member by that name; our present commodore is Matt Savasta.

Let's hope you don't forget us next year.

Destruction Breeds Further Destruction

To the group or groups responsible for the bombings and consequent destruction of schools, banks and public buildings:

I as an individual cannot condone these destructive acts on the "establishment," nor can I condemn the principle of thought behind your actions.

However, I should like to point out something so obvious that it's incredible that it could be overlooked, and that is — violence breeds violence, and in turn begets anarchy. The ultimate end is the death of individual freedom. I am not suggesting that dissent should be stifled, for without dissent, politicians become fat and complaisant, and the nation suffers as it has in my generation. The seed of destruction you sow now will surely be inherited by the succeeding generation, just as the complaisancy of my generation was inherited.

The power of the people, all of the people, is brought about not by explosive destruction, but rather by the voice of the people through concerted and concentrated efforts at the polls, through telegrams, phone calls and letters to our elected representatives. For in this way you truly have dissent that is productive and meaningful.

Earth Day Propaganda Shocking To Parent

I strongly resent my schools being used to advertise the killing of babies, the use of contraceptives, sterilization, abortion counseling etc. all of which information we are told is strictly confidential to anyone under the age of 18. I am sure you know I am referring to the paper my little girls brought home from Yolandsdale School last week advertising Earth Day at Isabel Cook School May 1.

Between the Planned Parenthood and Population Zero's propaganda that was passed out it looks as though they are trying to make young people feel guilty for having any children . . .

One piece of literature which was handed out indiscriminately to young and old alike had a picture of a new-born baby the caption reading, "Every 7½ seconds a new American is born. He is a disarming little thing, but he begins to scream loudly in a voice that can be heard for seventy years. He is screaming for 26,000,000 tons of water, 21,000 gallons of gasoline, 10,150 pounds of meat, 28,000 pounds of milk and cream, 9,000 pounds of wheat and great storehouses of all other foods, drinks, and tobaccos. These are his lifetime demands of his country and its economy."

A young child of 9 or 10 reading this might believe that this baby is a threat to his very existence . . .

Our superintendent was genuinely shocked at this and has assured us this will never happen again in our elementary schools.

Facts On Results Of Marijuana Use

In your series of "Rap Sessions" on April 30 attorney Michael Metzger made a statement that is untrue and grossly misleading. I quote: "Marijuana, which has been used for 5,000 years, is a harmless weed." The present facts are quite the contrary.

1. Dr. Vincent De Paul of St. John's University has proven that the equivalent of one marijuana cigarette a day given to pregnant rats for 10 days produced serious genetic defects in the offspring.

2. The World Health Organization states that prolonged usage causes brain lesions which may be responsible for the problems of apathy, loss of ambition, and abulia found in marijuana users. The National Institute of Mental Health has also made similar statements.

3. Dr. Harold Kolansky of the Philadelphia Association of Psychoanalysis tested 38 patients all of whom had used no other drug than marijuana and found that four of the patients attempted suicide, eight became psychotic, and the remainder showed severe distrubances ranging from paranoid delusions of grandeur to excessive sexual promiscuity . . .

4. Marijuana is possibly the only drug out of approximately 600 drugs currently used in medical practice that shows the property of "reverse" tolerance. In other words, the more you smoke of it — the less it takes to produce an effect . . .

5. Marijuana causes dilation of the blood vessels . . .

6. Dilation of the brain vessels causes headaches, often severe . . .

7. There are numerous cases in the medical literature of Far East countries (India, Egypt, etc.), where marijuana has been used for long periods of time, of complete personality breakdowns directly attributable to marijuana use . . .

'China Lobby' Loses Its Power Because of Changed Circumstances

And the handouts from the "Committee of One Million," once a powerful voice of public opinion against admitting mainland China into the United Nations, now usually fall into the wastebasket.

But there are Americans who still believe deeply that it is as wrong and unwise and dangerous as ever to put the People's Republic of China into the United Nations.

Their view needs to be understood if for no other reason than to insure that we don't expect too much to be written on that "new page" of improved United States- China relations which Prime Minister Chou En-lai talked about.

My own conviction is that circumstances have radically changed since the Communists successfully seized power on the mainland and drove Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek to Taiwan. It is because of these changes that President Nixon's initiative to normalize relations seems to me timely and well-conceived.

CRITICS HOLD that closer United States-China relations and membership in the United Nations would give Peking a forum which its past record shows it would use destructively.

The record to which the critics refer is this:

The Chinese Communists came to power at the "barrel of a gun." They gave the people no more opportunity to decide whether they wanted Communist rule than did Castro.

The Mao government joined in North Korea's aggression against South Korea and was branded the aggressor by the United Nations. It concluded the Korean war with a truce which was supposed to be a prelude to a peace treaty and has refused to accept any settlement of the Korean war.

The Chinese army liquidated the independence of Tibet and seized by force many thousands of square miles of Indian territory after having assured Prime Minister Nehru that Peking had "no territorial dispute" with India.

China has provided much of the arms to help North Vietnam in its efforts to conquer South Vietnam.

DOES THIS RECORD, the critics ask, indicate that Communist China is likely to be a force for peace in the United Nations or anywhere else?

If not, why is President Nixon moving in that direction? The reasons:

In the early years it was uncertain whether the Mao regime would be able to rule China for long.

By now two things are evident. The Communist regime is in secure control. The Chinese Nationalists on Taiwan have no prospect whatsoever of overthrowing the regime.

Isolation does not make a nation more peaceful. It is better that the rulers of the Chinese participate in the deliberations of the world at the United Nations than to act outside it.

Mr. Nixon believes that no long-term, stable peace can be achieved without China's participation. And from our own standpoint he believes that it is well to have closer and continuous contact with both of the principal Communist powers, not with Moscow alone.

IT IS IN LIGHT of these conditions that Henry Cabot Lodge, who fought against Peking's entry into the United Nations, now favors inviting mainland China to become a member as long as this does not mean the expulsion of Taiwan.

On this point it seems to me Communist China and Taiwan can make their own decision. If Peking wants to accept China's seat on the Security Council with Taiwan remaining in the General Assembly, it can do so or keep itself out by rejecting it. If Taiwan does not wish to remain in the United Nations with Peking on the Security Council, it is free to make that choice. There is, however, no basis whatsoever for expelling Taiwan.

BY NO MEANS NEUTRAL

'California Strategy' Just Part Of Nixon's Grand Plan

By ERNEST B. FURGURSON

WASHINGTON — Sargent Shriver combined foresight and hindsight when he predicted Mr. Nixon was going to move to scrap the controversial OEO legal services department because it offended Ronald Reagan — and called it part of a "California strategy" for his 1972 re-election.

The move itself came through on schedule, confirming Shriver's foresight. As he said at Stanford University, the President asked Congress to replace the OEO section with an independent legal services corporation. Mr. Nixon maintained the change would make the operation "immune to political pressures," which is a laugh, considering that the whole switch was forced by pressure from Reagan.

As Shriver put it, the bill the President sent to Congress would "under the seemingly neutral guise of a reorganization to achieve better administration. . . make a mockery of everything that has made poor people believe they could secure redress of grievance through the legal system." Of course, Shriver has some paternal interest in the OEO as it used to be, which might give him more cause for complaint than even your normally partisan Democrat. But let him proceed:

"JUST AS WE HAVE SEEN evidence in the last two years of a 'southern strategy,' by which the administration was willing to pack the Supreme Court, so too there is a 'California strategy' emerging which is all the more sinister to observe. It is a strategy in which the legal rights and lives of poor people of this state are being compromised in return for crass political deals."

That's where his hindsight comes in.

There is nothing new about the California strategy. It has not replaced the southern strategy. It has been there all along, along with the Texas strategy. The fact that the whole thing is so widespread is what lent a modicum of truth to the protestations by Agnew and others that by trying to pack the Supreme Court and otherwise out-Wallace George Wallace the administration was not either exercising any southern strategy. Right. It was bigger than that, coast-to-coast in fact.

It just so happens that California will be the heaviest single delegation at next year's Republican national convention, and its members will be fingerprinted friends of Reagan. It also happens that California has more electoral votes — 45 — than any other state, and retaining them is key to any Nixon ambitions to stay in office another four years. And the repeatedly demonstrated fact is that most elections in California are won south of the Tehachapi Mountains, where Reagan is most popular.

THUS, WHEN REAGAN is in a fight with the OEO legal services department over the activist young lawyers' pro-poor initiatives in California, a President who wants the support of the California delegation at next year's convention and wants after that to be re-elected is not likely to get into that fight against Reagan. Not if the President is named Nixon. What he does instead is take just the step Reagan has been urging for months to get the OEO-supported legal aid outfit out of his hair.

What he does also is make frequent visits to his western White House in Southern California, sometimes taking the whole operation across the country and back just for the week end. What he does in addition to that is volunteer for a second press conference in less than three days to make sure his cheery economic analyses are issued there in recession-groggy Southern California. And beyond that what he does is support a quarter-billion-dollar federal loan guarantee to bail out Lockheed Aircraft Corp., paving the way for that move by stating at San Clemente: "We need a strong airframe producer like Lockheed in Southern California. And if we can save the company, and frankly help it toward better management, we will do so."

Of course there's a California strategy. But putting activist lawyers out of business is going to raise cheers throughout the South, too. Keeping Lockheed alive with public monies is just as popular in Georgia as it is in California. Giving John Connally room to operate at the Treasury Department and stir rumors that he will be your vice presidential colleague on next year's ticket goes down as palatably as medium-hot Jalapena sauce in Austin. So does winging down to pretend to pay homage to L.B.J. at the dedication of his library at the University of Texas later this month. Texas has 26 electoral votes, after all.

So there is a California strategy, a southern strategy, a Texas strategy — and so on. You're dealing with a politician, and any politician ambitious to survive has a strategy for every precinct in his district. Some precincts are just bigger than others.

Walkers Net $8,000 To Fight Hunger

More than 250 persons trudged 20 miles yesterday to raise about $8,000 as Marin's contribution to the international Walk Against Hunger.

According to Robert Morgan, a junior at Sir Francis Drake High School and coordinator of Marin's walk, the turnout was considerably less than expected.

He said about 1,000 persons had been expected to join the march from Redwood High School in Larkspur through the communities of Greenbrae, San Rafael, San Anselmo, Fairfax and Ross.

Morgan said the walk's contribution, raised from sponsors who pledged to pay a certain amount for each mile walked by participant, should be sent to the Crocker Citizens Bank in San Anselmo before May 21.

Fifteen per cent of the money will go to the American Freedom From Hunger Foundation, a national organization which promotes the walks. The Marin Economic Opportunity Council and the Meals for Millions will split the remaining 85 per cent.

The Marin EOC money has been designated for school lunch programs and the Meals for Millions will go for a "self help" project in Ecuador to aid starving families in the growing of high protein foods.

Morgan said the largest amount in pledges, which was raised by Drake High School teacher, Jackie Moskowitz, grossed nearly $200 walking the 20 miles.

Morgan blamed the lack of advance publicity for this year's light turnout of 260 marchers.

Marin's 260 were part of a nationwide total of 639,000, accoridng to United Press International.

About $5 million was raised during the weekend, the American Freedom from Hunger Committee said in Washington.

The estimated total is about five times that announced as a goal.

Half-Acre Minimum Lots Voted

Marin County planning commissioners today refused to set a two-acre minimum lot size for agricultural and settled instead for a half-acre minimum lot.

The recommendation for half-acre minimum came on a motion by George P. Leonard and a second by Eugene P. Trombley. They were backed by Walter F. Freitas and Edward Hageman.

Margaret B. Azevedo and Jack G. Nixon voted "no" holding out for a two-acre minimum. John F. West, who had stepped out for a few minutes, missed the voting, but he, too, had earlier held out for the two-acre minimum.

Under the present zoning code, agricultural land in Marin can be divided into 7,500 square foot lots. The half-acre minimum boosts that to 21,780 square feet. Two acres contain 87,120 square feet.

County planning director Werner Von Gundell argued that without the two-acre minimum, the county would be unprotected against developers chopping up the open lands in West Marin into small lots.

He acknowledged that the two-acre minimum would work a hardship on about 10 or 20 per cent of the agricultural areas adjacent to urban communities. But these inequities would be corrected by subsequent rezoning, said Von Gundell.

Summer Rec Plan Wins Wide Support

A questionnaire distributed to 2,500 parents in the Reed School District has indicated overwhelming support for a joint Tiburon-school district summer recreation program.

Tiburon Assistant City Mgr. Robert L. Kleinert said about 500 of the questionnaires were returned, with all but eight voicing support for a formal recreation program.

The city and school district have cooperated on such activities in the past, Kleinert said, but not in recent years because of a lack of interest. The questionnaire appears to indicate a reversal of feeling.

Kleinert said the city parks and recreation commission will ask the city council to consider entering a joint program but may not have time to establish one for this summer.

In other business Thursday the parks and recreation commission called for citizens to serve on a committee planning the third annual Ayala Day, to be held Sept. 25 on Angel Island.

Angela Now 'Forgotten Defendant' As Case Winds Its Weary Way

San Quentin convict Ruchell Magee has been termed "the forgotten man" or "the other defendant" by some reporters writing about the Angela Davis case.

The wiry convict, however, a black man from Louisiana with a grade school education, has managed to bog down the state's judicial system as well as boggle six attorneys who represent Miss Davis, three from the attorney general's office, and all six who have been appointed to represent him.

Far from being forgotten or just the other person, Magee has so upstaged Miss Davis (who has not spoken aloud since pleading innocent several months ago) that the judge appeared last week to have forgotten her name.

Judge Alan A. Lindsay, an Alameda County jurist assigned to the case, referred to her as "Miss Moore" early in Wednesday's proceedings. Her chief counsel, Howard Moore, smiled the first time this happened, but when the judge a half-hour later called her "Miss Moore" again, the lawyer rose to his feet.

"It's Miss Davis," he said firmly.

An attorney who represented two other attorneys (the case is full of things like that) said that his clients were appointed for Magee at a time when they were out of the county on a case involving "that San Rafael newspaper — the News-Call-Bulletin."

Judge Lindsay, a resident of the East Bay who could scarcely be expected to be an I-J reader, had done his homework on the Marin scene, however, and quickly told the lawyer, "It's the Independent-Journal."

The first court appearances of the two were marked by a feeling of tension that was highly dramatic. The militant supporters of the pair who shouted out slogans like "Power to the people" crowded the courtroom.

It was news when Miss Davis walked regally into the courtroom and raised her clenched fist in salute to her followers.

The sessions now, however, have slipped into a kindergarten atmosphere in which one expects the judge to announce that milk and graham crackers will be served during the recess.

The only non-nursery school feature about the whole thing is the lack of restroom facilities.

For awhile, man were permitted to use the restroom near the courtroom set aside for their sex. Women (both reporters and militants) were totally out of luck since the ladies' room nearest the courtroom has been out of commission since the October bombing.

Apparently, some sort of a women's lib triumph was reached recently when the men's room was also declared out of bounds and was locked during Davis-Magee proceedings.

All we can hope for is that if we raise our hands nicely, the judge will give permission for trips to the bathroom.

Atlanta Newspaper On Reagan: Phooey

ATLANTA (UPI) —The Atlanta Journal-Constitution Sunday denounced California Gov. Ronald Reagan's claim that his privacy was violated because it was reported he did not pay a state income tax last year.

"Phooey," said an editorial in metropolitan Atlanta's only Sunday newspaper. "The price of public service is no privacy."

WASHINGTON WINDOW

Congress Isn't Stalled, It's Just Moving Slowly

BY FRANK ELEAZER

WASHINGTON (UPI) —When war protesters threatened to close down the Congress this week Rep. Edward I. Koch, D-N.Y., predicted correctly they couldn't do it.

"It's hard to bring to a grinding halt a machine that isn't moving," Koch told the House.

This is not to deny all the other unkind things you have heard about Congress. It is to concede most of them and to say that some other week's Washington Window will be adding more to the list.

But at the risk of standing accused of spreading good news, we feel compelled to report that what Koch said isn't fair. Actually the 92nd Congress to date has been plodding right along with its work.

YOU MAY HAVE read that the Democratic House leaders aren't the best pals in the world and don't always consult with each other; that the Senate sill prefers talking to acting; that the House doesn't talk much but still likes to work only three days a week.

Okay. And anybody can see furthermore that House and Senate come December will be rushing as usual to try to get done with their work.

But the record shows that since Jan. 21, when it got off to a late start due to the late windup of the 91st Congress, a lot has been done by the 92nd. Most of what has been done won't hurt anybody and some of it may actually help.

SOCIAL SECURITY benefits, for instance, have been raised 10 per cent, retroactive to Jan. 1. Now the House Ways and Means committee has in the works another increase for next year.

A constitutional amendment was passed and sent to the states to let 18-year-olds vote in state and local elections (as they already can in election of federal officials).

The House passed a bill to continue the draft, end automatic college deferments, and raise pay and allowances of the military by $2.7 billion a year in the hope that nobody much will have to be drafted. A similar bill is under debate in the Senate.

Ways and Means has drafted a bill to reform welfare, catch chiselers and put loafers to work, while assuring the needy at least $200 a month for a family of four. Both liberals and conservatives so far seem pleased about this.

THE SENATE HAS approved a $1.75 billion two-year program of federal subsidies to create 150,000 new public service jobs in schools, hospitals, police and fire forces, and other overworked and understaffed places. A similar bill is ready for House action next week.

The House has approved another job-building bill, a $5.5 billion measure to speed up public works projects. That bill is in conference now with the Senate, which approved a narrower version.

Both House and Senate faced up to the supersonic transport issue again, and decided finally we can get along without a plane that will get us from New York to London in three hours instead of the six hours and 40 minutes now needed.

Standby wage and price controls were extended a year although President Nixon insists he won't use them.

Naturally, along with all this, the national debt limit has been raised once again, this time from $395 billion to $430 billion. Maybe if the Congress doesn't work too hard the rest of the year, we can make that one stick for awhile.

Tricia Chooses China, Silver

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Tricia Nixon has selected American-made china and silver ware for her wedding but she reverted to her Irish ancestors for her crystal pattern, it was learned today.

The president's 25-year-old daughter chose the dainty "Blue Tree" pattern in Lenox China and Lunt sterling silver in the ornate "Eloquence" pattern. Her goblets and wine glasses were chosen from Ireland's Waterford crystal in the blown diamond cut "Lismore" design.

Tricia and her mother went on several shopping tours before she made up her mind.

$130 Million Expansion Plan Set By Kaiser

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The Kaiser medical care program is undertaking a $130 million expansion program over the next four years.

New hospitals in San Jose, West Los Angeles, San Diego and Portland, Ore., are tentatively included in the expansion program announced Sunday.

Major addition are plans for Kaiser medical centers at Oakland, Walnut Creek, San Rafael, Los Angeles, Bellflower, Harbor City, Panorama City and Fontana, Calif., and Parma and Cleveland, Ohio.

The Kaiser Foundation, with 2.2 million members is the largest non-governmental health care organization in the United States.

To carry out the four-year program, Kaiser will borrow $80 million from a group of insurance companies.

It will be preceded by a social hour at 7:30. Marjorie Casebier of the Festival Theater will be featured in the play and will conduct a group discussion afterward.

Two-Way Financial Disclosure Law Needed

Is the public entitled to know the sources of income of those who aspire to public office? Is the public entitled to know if these candidates are in fact insolvent?

Majorities in both houses of the California Legislature answered "yes" to the first question two years ago by passing a bill by then — Assemblyman Jesse M. Unruh which required office holders and candidates for public office to file disclosures of all their investments exceeding $10,000.

UNRUH'S POSITION — concurred in by a majority of legislators — was that this should be public information to help guard against conflicts of interest on the part of elective officials. For instance, if a person receives a major share of his income from rentals of slum property, he might have a personal interest in any measure for slum clearance. Or if oil stocks keep him wealthy, he might for personal reasons be averse to legislation to reduce the oil depletion allowance.

Unruh's financial disclosure act, however, produced a storm of outrage from elected public officials. The cities of Chico and Carmel challenged its constitutionality. And last March, before the first deadline for filing statements under the law, the California Supreme Court declared it unconstitutional.

The Independent-Journal's position on the law was stated on this page at the height of the controversy: "If there's nothing to hide, why balk at disclosure?"

The legislature has never come to grips with the second question: Is the public entitled to know if candidates are in fact insolvent?

Perhaps it should.

IT HAS BEEN LEARNED reliably that the wife of a candidate for San Rafael city office was drawing welfare from the county at the same time her husband was campaigning for office prior to the April 20 municipal election.

There should be no onus to being on welfare, any more than there should be an onus to owning oil stocks. But should not the public be entitled to know when a candidate for public office — which involves management of money collected by taxation — is unable to support his family?

We think it should.

There may be as much potential conflict of interest involved in drawing welfare as there is in owning slum property, oil stocks, or whatever.

AS THE LAW stands, not only is the public denied information of the financial status of candidates, but, in the case of welfare, its very disclosure is against the law.

When the California Supreme Court by 5-2 vote declared Unruh's financial disclosure law unconstitutional, it said:

"Nothing we say here should be deemed to preclude the legislature in a properly drawn statute from providing for a broad disclosure of assets, income or receipts relevant to public officer or employe."

That being the case, the legislature should get busy on drawing up a new financial disclosure law for public officials and candidates — one which covers impecuniosity as well as wealth.

By PAUL E. PETERZELL

And the San Francisco Chronicle proved again last week that it is the Bay Area's leading midwife in such births.

The victim this time was the truth about air pollution. The Chronicle version faithfully followed the gospel as related by the staff of the Bay Area Air Pollution Control District — utterly missing the correct story, which was completely contrary to the staff gospel.

The staff presented its annual self-congratulatory state-of-the-air report late Wednesday morning at the monthly meeting of district directors. The report glowingly cited a 17 per cent cut in emmissions from all sources of air contamination in the district.

A LUNCH BREAK, however, came before the directors had time to react to the report, so anyone leaving the meeting at that point could have swallowed the staff's claims. The Chronicle reporter left and did not return.

When the directors returned after a quick lunch, the picture changed. The directors spent most of the afternoon session shredding the claims and concluding they did not believe them.

The quality of the air simply did not reflect any such generous claim, the disbelieving directors agreed.

The Chronicle's reporter may have been assigned elsewhere in the afternoon. Or perhaps he had had his fill by lunch.

This reporter and one for the San Jose Mercury stayed for the afternoon, and consequently wrote stories for their Thursday editions about the directors' challenge to the staff report.

But the Chronicle came out first with its version — repeating the staff claims without a hint of dissent — and quickly was picked up by Associated Press and United Press International, feeding news clients throughout the region. All day Thursday the good news was on radio and television and in other newspapers relying on the wires — the air was "getting cleaner."

Many persons presumably greeted this "news" with disbelief, a response that erodes confidence in media. Not that confidence was deserved in this case. Unfortunately, it was not an isolated case.

RELATIONS BETWEEN Marin's two state legislators never have warmed. Sen. Peter H. Behr, R-San Rafael, will hold a fund-raising dinner this month, but Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, is not on the dinner committee of 56 prominent citizens.

"I didn't want to get in the middle of a prospective conflict between two friends," Bagley told us. He explained he had in mind his long acquaintance in the Legislature with Sen. Milton Marks, R-San Francisco, who may face Behr for reelection next year because of reapportionment.

Bagley was the only person to refuse to be on the dinner committee, according to Behr's staff.

Welfare Plan Effect On County Questioned

The Independent-Journal would perform a needed public service by printing an in-depth, factual analysis, showing how Governor Reagon's so-called "welfare reform" proposals will increase local property taxes substantially, because of the transfer of costs from the state to county government.

In this article, omit the pros and cons of the welfare problem per se, and focus strictly on who will pick up the tab that the state will drop under Reagan's proposals.

I believe your subscribers deserve and will appreciate this non-partisan report.

(According to the figures in a cost analysis prepared by the governor's office, the SAVING to Marin County through Reagan's welfare reform would be $679,454, for next fiscal year. However, these figures have been challenged. — Editor.

North Bay Yacht Club Missing From Edition

On April 24, you did an excellent job in your magazine on boating —except for one glaring mistake, and one minor one. Being a past commodore of the North Bay Yacht Club, I was dumbfounded, when reading your article on the various yacht clubs located in Marin that were going to compete on opening day, to find that North Bay Yacht Club was not mentioned.

In past years, we have won first place; we three times won the most attendance trophy; and many times won second or third place, or honorable mention. To top them all, this year we not only won first place, but it was the first time that a sailboat has ever won it —and this boat, as you now know, flew the North Bay Yacht Club burgee.

. . . I might also add that under the listings of yacht club, you showed the commodore of North Bay Yacht Club as S. E. Behrens. We do not have any member by that name; our present commodore is Matt Savasta.

Let's hope you don't forget us next year.

Destruction Breeds Further Destruction

To the group or groups responsible for the bombings and consequent destruction of schools, banks and public buildings:

I as an individual cannot condone these destructive acts on the "establishment," nor can I condemn the principle of thought behind your actions.

However, I should like to point out something so obvious that it's incredible that it could be overlooked, and that is — violence breeds violence, and in turn begets anarchy. The ultimate end is the death of individual freedom. I am not suggesting that dissent should be stifled, for without dissent, politicians become fat and complaisant, and the nation suffers as it has in my generation. The seed of destruction you sow now will surely be inherited by the succeeding generation, just as the complaisancy of my generation was inherited.

The power of the people, all of the people, is brought about not by explosive destruction, but rather by the voice of the people through concerted and concentrated efforts at the polls, through telegrams, phone calls and letters to our elected representatives. For in this way you truly have dissent that is productive and meaningful.

Earth Day Propaganda Shocking To Parent

I strongly resent my schools being used to advertise the killing of babies, the use of contraceptives, sterilization, abortion counseling etc. all of which information we are told is strictly confidential to anyone under the age of 18. I am sure you know I am referring to the paper my little girls brought home from Yolandsdale School last week advertising Earth Day at Isabel Cook School May 1.

Between the Planned Parenthood and Population Zero's propaganda that was passed out it looks as though they are trying to make young people feel guilty for having any children . . .

One piece of literature which was handed out indiscriminately to young and old alike had a picture of a new-born baby the caption reading, "Every 7½ seconds a new American is born. He is a disarming little thing, but he begins to scream loudly in a voice that can be heard for seventy years. He is screaming for 26,000,000 tons of water, 21,000 gallons of gasoline, 10,150 pounds of meat, 28,000 pounds of milk and cream, 9,000 pounds of wheat and great storehouses of all other foods, drinks, and tobaccos. These are his lifetime demands of his country and its economy."

A young child of 9 or 10 reading this might believe that this baby is a threat to his very existence . . .

Our superintendent was genuinely shocked at this and has assured us this will never happen again in our elementary schools.

Facts On Results Of Marijuana Use

In your series of "Rap Sessions" on April 30 attorney Michael Metzger made a statement that is untrue and grossly misleading. I quote: "Marijuana, which has been used for 5,000 years, is a harmless weed." The present facts are quite the contrary.

1. Dr. Vincent De Paul of St. John's University has proven that the equivalent of one marijuana cigarette a day given to pregnant rats for 10 days produced serious genetic defects in the offspring.

2. The World Health Organization states that prolonged usage causes brain lesions which may be responsible for the problems of apathy, loss of ambition, and abulia found in marijuana users. The National Institute of Mental Health has also made similar statements.

3. Dr. Harold Kolansky of the Philadelphia Association of Psychoanalysis tested 38 patients all of whom had used no other drug than marijuana and found that four of the patients attempted suicide, eight became psychotic, and the remainder showed severe distrubances ranging from paranoid delusions of grandeur to excessive sexual promiscuity . . .

4. Marijuana is possibly the only drug out of approximately 600 drugs currently used in medical practice that shows the property of "reverse" tolerance. In other words, the more you smoke of it — the less it takes to produce an effect . . .

5. Marijuana causes dilation of the blood vessels . . .

6. Dilation of the brain vessels causes headaches, often severe . . .

7. There are numerous cases in the medical literature of Far East countries (India, Egypt, etc.), where marijuana has been used for long periods of time, of complete personality breakdowns directly attributable to marijuana use . . .

'China Lobby' Loses Its Power Because of Changed Circumstances

And the handouts from the "Committee of One Million," once a powerful voice of public opinion against admitting mainland China into the United Nations, now usually fall into the wastebasket.

But there are Americans who still believe deeply that it is as wrong and unwise and dangerous as ever to put the People's Republic of China into the United Nations.

Their view needs to be understood if for no other reason than to insure that we don't expect too much to be written on that "new page" of improved United States- China relations which Prime Minister Chou En-lai talked about.

My own conviction is that circumstances have radically changed since the Communists successfully seized power on the mainland and drove Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek to Taiwan. It is because of these changes that President Nixon's initiative to normalize relations seems to me timely and well-conceived.

CRITICS HOLD that closer United States-China relations and membership in the United Nations would give Peking a forum which its past record shows it would use destructively.

The record to which the critics refer is this:

The Chinese Communists came to power at the "barrel of a gun." They gave the people no more opportunity to decide whether they wanted Communist rule than did Castro.

The Mao government joined in North Korea's aggression against South Korea and was branded the aggressor by the United Nations. It concluded the Korean war with a truce which was supposed to be a prelude to a peace treaty and has refused to accept any settlement of the Korean war.

The Chinese army liquidated the independence of Tibet and seized by force many thousands of square miles of Indian territory after having assured Prime Minister Nehru that Peking had "no territorial dispute" with India.

China has provided much of the arms to help North Vietnam in its efforts to conquer South Vietnam.

DOES THIS RECORD, the critics ask, indicate that Communist China is likely to be a force for peace in the United Nations or anywhere else?

If not, why is President Nixon moving in that direction? The reasons:

In the early years it was uncertain whether the Mao regime would be able to rule China for long.

By now two things are evident. The Communist regime is in secure control. The Chinese Nationalists on Taiwan have no prospect whatsoever of overthrowing the regime.

Isolation does not make a nation more peaceful. It is better that the rulers of the Chinese participate in the deliberations of the world at the United Nations than to act outside it.

Mr. Nixon believes that no long-term, stable peace can be achieved without China's participation. And from our own standpoint he believes that it is well to have closer and continuous contact with both of the principal Communist powers, not with Moscow alone.

IT IS IN LIGHT of these conditions that Henry Cabot Lodge, who fought against Peking's entry into the United Nations, now favors inviting mainland China to become a member as long as this does not mean the expulsion of Taiwan.

On this point it seems to me Communist China and Taiwan can make their own decision. If Peking wants to accept China's seat on the Security Council with Taiwan remaining in the General Assembly, it can do so or keep itself out by rejecting it. If Taiwan does not wish to remain in the United Nations with Peking on the Security Council, it is free to make that choice. There is, however, no basis whatsoever for expelling Taiwan.

BY NO MEANS NEUTRAL

'California Strategy' Just Part Of Nixon's Grand Plan

By ERNEST B. FURGURSON

WASHINGTON — Sargent Shriver combined foresight and hindsight when he predicted Mr. Nixon was going to move to scrap the controversial OEO legal services department because it offended Ronald Reagan — and called it part of a "California strategy" for his 1972 re-election.

The move itself came through on schedule, confirming Shriver's foresight. As he said at Stanford University, the President asked Congress to replace the OEO section with an independent legal services corporation. Mr. Nixon maintained the change would make the operation "immune to political pressures," which is a laugh, considering that the whole switch was forced by pressure from Reagan.

As Shriver put it, the bill the President sent to Congress would "under the seemingly neutral guise of a reorganization to achieve better administration. . . make a mockery of everything that has made poor people believe they could secure redress of grievance through the legal system." Of course, Shriver has some paternal interest in the OEO as it used to be, which might give him more cause for complaint than even your normally partisan Democrat. But let him proceed:

"JUST AS WE HAVE SEEN evidence in the last two years of a 'southern strategy,' by which the administration was willing to pack the Supreme Court, so too there is a 'California strategy' emerging which is all the more sinister to observe. It is a strategy in which the legal rights and lives of poor people of this state are being compromised in return for crass political deals."

That's where his hindsight comes in.

There is nothing new about the California strategy. It has not replaced the southern strategy. It has been there all along, along with the Texas strategy. The fact that the whole thing is so widespread is what lent a modicum of truth to the protestations by Agnew and others that by trying to pack the Supreme Court and otherwise out-Wallace George Wallace the administration was not either exercising any southern strategy. Right. It was bigger than that, coast-to-coast in fact.

It just so happens that California will be the heaviest single delegation at next year's Republican national convention, and its members will be fingerprinted friends of Reagan. It also happens that California has more electoral votes — 45 — than any other state, and retaining them is key to any Nixon ambitions to stay in office another four years. And the repeatedly demonstrated fact is that most elections in California are won south of the Tehachapi Mountains, where Reagan is most popular.

THUS, WHEN REAGAN is in a fight with the OEO legal services department over the activist young lawyers' pro-poor initiatives in California, a President who wants the support of the California delegation at next year's convention and wants after that to be re-elected is not likely to get into that fight against Reagan. Not if the President is named Nixon. What he does instead is take just the step Reagan has been urging for months to get the OEO-supported legal aid outfit out of his hair.

What he does also is make frequent visits to his western White House in Southern California, sometimes taking the whole operation across the country and back just for the week end. What he does in addition to that is volunteer for a second press conference in less than three days to make sure his cheery economic analyses are issued there in recession-groggy Southern California. And beyond that what he does is support a quarter-billion-dollar federal loan guarantee to bail out Lockheed Aircraft Corp., paving the way for that move by stating at San Clemente: "We need a strong airframe producer like Lockheed in Southern California. And if we can save the company, and frankly help it toward better management, we will do so."

Of course there's a California strategy. But putting activist lawyers out of business is going to raise cheers throughout the South, too. Keeping Lockheed alive with public monies is just as popular in Georgia as it is in California. Giving John Connally room to operate at the Treasury Department and stir rumors that he will be your vice presidential colleague on next year's ticket goes down as palatably as medium-hot Jalapena sauce in Austin. So does winging down to pretend to pay homage to L.B.J. at the dedication of his library at the University of Texas later this month. Texas has 26 electoral votes, after all.

So there is a California strategy, a southern strategy, a Texas strategy — and so on. You're dealing with a politician, and any politician ambitious to survive has a strategy for every precinct in his district. Some precincts are just bigger than others.

I-J REPORTER'S NOTEBOOK

By MARY LEYDECKER

Angela Now 'Forgotten Defendant' As Case Winds Its Weary Way

San Quentin convict Ruchell Magee has been termed "the forgotten man" or "the other defendant" by some reporters writing about the Angela Davis case.

The wiry convict, however, a black man from Louisiana with a grade school education, has managed to bog down the state's judicial system as well as boggle six attorneys who represent Miss Davis, three from the attorney general's office, and all six who have been appointed to represent him.

Far from being forgotten or just the other person, Magee has so upstaged Miss Davis (who has not spoken aloud since pleading innocent several months ago) that the judge appeared last week to have forgotten her name.

Judge Alan A. Lindsay, an Alameda County jurist assigned to the case, referred to her as "Miss Moore" early in Wednesday's proceedings. Her chief counsel, Howard Moore, smiled the first time this happened, but when the judge a half-hour later called her "Miss Moore" again, the lawyer rose to his feet.

"It's Miss Davis," he said firmly.

An attorney who represented two other attorneys (the case is full of things like that) said that his clients were appointed for Magee at a time when they were out of the county on a case involving "that San Rafael newspaper — the News-Call-Bulletin."

Judge Lindsay, a resident of the East Bay who could scarcely be expected to be an I-J reader, had done his homework on the Marin scene, however, and quickly told the lawyer, "It's the Independent-Journal."

The first court appearances of the two were marked by a feeling of tension that was highly dramatic. The militant supporters of the pair who shouted out slogans like "Power to the people" crowded the courtroom.

It was news when Miss Davis walked regally into the courtroom and raised her clenched fist in salute to her followers.

The sessions now, however, have slipped into a kindergarten atmosphere in which one expects the judge to announce that milk and graham crackers will be served during the recess.

The only non-nursery school feature about the whole thing is the lack of restroom facilities.

For awhile, man were permitted to use the restroom near the courtroom set aside for their sex. Women (both reporters and militants) were totally out of luck since the ladies' room nearest the courtroom has been out of commission since the October bombing.

Apparently, some sort of a women's lib triumph was reached recently when the men's room was also declared out of bounds and was locked during Davis-Magee proceedings.

All we can hope for is that if we raise our hands nicely, the judge will give permission for trips to the bathroom.

Atlanta Newspaper On Reagan: Phooey

ATLANTA (UPI) —The Atlanta Journal-Constitution Sunday denounced California Gov. Ronald Reagan's claim that his privacy was violated because it was reported he did not pay a state income tax last year.

"Phooey," said an editorial in metropolitan Atlanta's only Sunday newspaper. "The price of public service is no privacy."

WASHINGTON WINDOW

Congress Isn't Stalled, It's Just Moving Slowly

BY FRANK ELEAZER

WASHINGTON (UPI) —When war protesters threatened to close down the Congress this week Rep. Edward I. Koch, D-N.Y., predicted correctly they couldn't do it.

"It's hard to bring to a grinding halt a machine that isn't moving," Koch told the House.

This is not to deny all the other unkind things you have heard about Congress. It is to concede most of them and to say that some other week's Washington Window will be adding more to the list.

But at the risk of standing accused of spreading good news, we feel compelled to report that what Koch said isn't fair. Actually the 92nd Congress to date has been plodding right along with its work.

YOU MAY HAVE read that the Democratic House leaders aren't the best pals in the world and don't always consult with each other; that the Senate sill prefers talking to acting; that the House doesn't talk much but still likes to work only three days a week.

Okay. And anybody can see furthermore that House and Senate come December will be rushing as usual to try to get done with their work.

But the record shows that since Jan. 21, when it got off to a late start due to the late windup of the 91st Congress, a lot has been done by the 92nd. Most of what has been done won't hurt anybody and some of it may actually help.

SOCIAL SECURITY benefits, for instance, have been raised 10 per cent, retroactive to Jan. 1. Now the House Ways and Means committee has in the works another increase for next year.

A constitutional amendment was passed and sent to the states to let 18-year-olds vote in state and local elections (as they already can in election of federal officials).

The House passed a bill to continue the draft, end automatic college deferments, and raise pay and allowances of the military by $2.7 billion a year in the hope that nobody much will have to be drafted. A similar bill is under debate in the Senate.

Ways and Means has drafted a bill to reform welfare, catch chiselers and put loafers to work, while assuring the needy at least $200 a month for a family of four. Both liberals and conservatives so far seem pleased about this.

THE SENATE HAS approved a $1.75 billion two-year program of federal subsidies to create 150,000 new public service jobs in schools, hospitals, police and fire forces, and other overworked and understaffed places. A similar bill is ready for House action next week.

The House has approved another job-building bill, a $5.5 billion measure to speed up public works projects. That bill is in conference now with the Senate, which approved a narrower version.

Both House and Senate faced up to the supersonic transport issue again, and decided finally we can get along without a plane that will get us from New York to London in three hours instead of the six hours and 40 minutes now needed.

Standby wage and price controls were extended a year although President Nixon insists he won't use them.

Naturally, along with all this, the national debt limit has been raised once again, this time from $395 billion to $430 billion. Maybe if the Congress doesn't work too hard the rest of the year, we can make that one stick for awhile.

Tricia Chooses China, Silver

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Tricia Nixon has selected American-made china and silver ware for her wedding but she reverted to her Irish ancestors for her crystal pattern, it was learned today.

The president's 25-year-old daughter chose the dainty "Blue Tree" pattern in Lenox China and Lunt sterling silver in the ornate "Eloquence" pattern. Her goblets and wine glasses were chosen from Ireland's Waterford crystal in the blown diamond cut "Lismore" design.

Tricia and her mother went on several shopping tours before she made up her mind.

$130 Million Expansion Plan Set By Kaiser

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The Kaiser medical care program is undertaking a $130 million expansion program over the next four years.

New hospitals in San Jose, West Los Angeles, San Diego and Portland, Ore., are tentatively included in the expansion program announced Sunday.

Major addition are plans for Kaiser medical centers at Oakland, Walnut Creek, San Rafael, Los Angeles, Bellflower, Harbor City, Panorama City and Fontana, Calif., and Parma and Cleveland, Ohio.

The Kaiser Foundation, with 2.2 million members is the largest non-governmental health care organization in the United States.

To carry out the four-year program, Kaiser will borrow $80 million from a group of insurance companies.

Marin Women

HAPPY over the completion of "Ecological Hangups" are Mrs. Charles Cutting, left, chairman of the project for the conservation section of the Mill Valley Branch of the American Association Women, and Mrs. James Schock, one of the committee. The Hangups will be distributed in some schools on May 17.

'THE HANGUP'

A Household Ecological Guide

By MAYBELLE SPECKMANN

Ready for distribution in schools are 3,000 copies of the "Ecological Hangup," the result of many hours of work by the conservation section of the Mill Valley Branch of the American Association of University Women.

The Hangup — so called because the 14" x 8½" sheet is readily hung on a cupboard door or any other convenient place for quick reference — lists on the front many specific ways in which a family can contribute to the improvement of the environment through general and household practices. On the back is a similar list for gardens, with locations, hours and telephone numbers for collection and recycling centers and information sources.

The front page gives tips on such things as recycling; saving water and electricity; changing of cooking habits; how to handle junk mail and excess coat hangers and magazines; methods of travel; and avoidance of no-pest strips and aerosol containers.

On the back of the Hangup garden tips are given, such as the use of beer, vaseline and ashes and planting of garlic and chives to deter insects, together with a list of the worst pesticides to avoid, and timing of watering with a kitchen timer.

THE HANGUP will be distributed free next week in the fourth through eighth grades in the Mill Valley, Sausalito and Reed School Districts.

If there is a large public demand by other school districts and organizations, more of the Hangups will be printed and sold at a cost of $10 per hundred in bulk lots, with proceeds going to the Mill Valley Branch's fellowships program.

Mrs. Charles Cutting, chairman for the project, explained how it developed.

"The section wanted to do something in ecology," she said, "and after hearing that branches elsewhere in the country had done something of the sort, we made up a committee to work on the project.

"Believing that pamplets and booklets just get tossed in drawers, the group selected a hangup format that would be attractive and sturdy enough to keep and consult easily without too much effort.

"We didn't want it to be just another throwaway," Jane said.

CONSERVATION SECTION members suggested the topics to be included and did the research on them. Editing, composition and distribution were done by Jane and Mrs. James Schock, assisted by Mmes. Theodore Knight, Kreig Vezie and Walter Stoeckenius.

"The project would not have been possible financially," Jane noted, "without the Tamalpais High School print shop doing the printing for just the cost of the paper."

Any schools or organizations wishing to purchase the Hangups in bulk lots may order them by calling Mrs. Cutting, who lives at 24 Midhill Drive, Mill Valley.

By MOLLY MARIN

Following her performance with the Ballet West Company from Salt Lake City Friday evening at the Stanford Memorial Auditorium, Nancy Taverna spent the weekend with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Caesar Taverna of San Rafael.

Her performance in Palo Alto included the West Coast premiere of "Le Cour d'Azur," a new ballet by William Christensen, diector of Ballet West; "Firebird" to the Stravinsky score, and "Cone Amore." It is the conclusion of a tour of Western states.

New P-TA Leader Says Marin Cares

MRS. KENNETH L. POOL
Calls for parent aid

Mrs. Kenneth L. Pool, new president of Hill Junior High School Parent-Teacher Association, says "we moved here (Novato) from Maryland five years ago. We all have fallen in love with Marin County and I have enjoyed working in the P-TA. I have found most parents really care what is going on in the community.

"I feel that even though we, as parents, have many problems to face, such as drugs, we must keep the lines of communication open and we will be able to solve the problems. I have found there are many of our educators who really care and will help, but they can not do it if we parents don't follow through and take the time to help."

Irene and her husband, a captain in the public health service, milk and food branch, are the parents of Janet, 18, Katherine, 13, Richard, 10, and Christopher, 4 years old. She enjoys sewing, cooking and camping with the family.

She served as president of Lu Sutton P-TA for two years and as vice president of Hill last year. She is also a member of the Presbyterian Church of Novato.

Serving with Mrs. Pool are Mrs. E. C. Leigon, first vice president; Harry J. Moore, second vice president; Mrs. David Matson, secretary; Mrs. William George, treasurer; Mrs. Le Roy Bouchey, historian; and Duane Moeller, auditor.

Reason For Aging Some Cuts Of Beef

High Quality beef ribs and loins are aged to develop additional tenderness and characteristic flavor. There are several ways to age beef and this is done before beef is offered for sale in food stores.

When the dry aging method is used for beef, it is held at a constant temperature of 34 to 36 degrees with controlled humidy for a period of three to six weeks.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

New, Rich Widow Doesn't Need Retiring Spinster To Boss Her

DEAR HELEN:

My friend, a young 60, lost her husband two months ago. She is lonely and unsettled. My husband and I had her as a house guest for a while but she wanted to move into an apartment, which was fine — except that another friend, a very domineering spinster has decided she should not be alone.

This second woman will soon retire from an executive position. Her income will drop, therefore she's looking for cheap rent. She has never been a housekeeper or a cook, is the type to leave a trail of cigarette ashes, clothes, coffee cups and cocktail glasses behind her. In other words, she is sloppy, whereas my widowed friend is meticulous, a great cook and a real homemaker. You can guess who will do most of the work, while being bossed to distraction. Also she'll assume the greater financial burden, as she is well-off.

Now you'd think the widow could see this combination won't work, but she is easily swayed. She sees the spinster as "salvation" — someone who will take over, for she was always very dependent on her husband. And she has this self-effacing hero worship of career women, so she's ripe for browbeating. Once moved in, "Miss Bossy" won't be eradicated without more gumption than "Mrs. Softy" has.

DEAR CON:

Why not suggest a long cruise or a European tour? Several months on her own should convince your friend that she isn't limited to "bossy spinsters" the rest of her life. — H.

DEAR HELEN:

My 17-year-old daughter lies, then accuses me of spying on her. How could I spy when she has her room so boobytrapped that I'm almost afraid to walk in the door? I never know what might jump out at me from a drawer, or go off with a bang when I open a box (if I ever did, that is).

She runs with a rowdy crowd of girls who have been sent home after curfew many times. She saves her lunch money to buy beer on weekends — I've heard her plans on the telephone.

She was picked up by the police for possession of alcoholic beverages and, of course, she cried and denied, so got off with a warning, but I know she drinks to excess. I've tried to keep this from her father. I've covered up for her but now I'm sick inside, for she won't confide in me, calls me dirty names and, if I try to help her, gets hysterical, then won't speak for days.

The last straw was when a highway man I know asked me, "How's your daughter, she must be stiff and sore?" He was shocked to learn I knew nothing of the accident. Seems she and another girl had rolled a pickup truck into a ravine, and the road crew pulled them out. She told me she was babysitting!

Is this all my fault for overprotecting and lying for her? I was married — quite disastrously — very young, and had my family before I was 18. My husband and I have separated several times, are now together but not happy. I feel alone and helpless. I want to be a well-loved mother of a GOOD daughter, but I've turned into what she calls a "nosey witch," with no control. Is there any hope? — BEWILDERED AND HURT

DEAR B AND H:

If your daughter reads HHU every day, then maybe she'll see this request: Dear Daughter of B and H: Send me YOUR version together with a stamped envelope addressed to BOTH of you. When I hear each side (it might be good to get your father's viewpoint here, too) I can at least make an educated guess about what's wrong and how to right it.

Meanwhile, Mrs. B and H: Make an appointment with your family service agency — for the whole family! — H.

This column is dedicated to family living, so if you're having kid trouble or just plain trouble, let Helen help you. She will also welcome your own amusing experiences. Address Helen Bottel in care of the Independent-Journal.

Gobbleygook Is Agency's Byword

By ARTHUR E. ROWSE

WASHINGTON—The late great James Thurber must have had the U.S. Department of Agriculture in mind when he wrote that delightful little fable, "The Weaver and the Worm."

"Where do you get that stuff?" asked the weaver as he spotted a silkworm spinning a cocoon. "Do you want to make something of it?" replied the worm. Whereupon, said Thurber, each went his own way, thinking the other had insulted him.

The point, said Thurber, is that much of what we say and hear is gobbledygook. He wound up his story with a moral:

"A word to the wise is not sufficient if it doesn't make any sense."

THE TROUBLE is that Thurber's message has not penetrated many of the walls and craniums at the Department of Agriculture. That sprawling monstrosity produces more tons of gobbledygook per capita each year than any other government division except Congress.

Americans have learned to expect plenty of nonsense along with advertising messages. But they may not realize the full amount of marshmellow fluff that comes from the USDA. Citizens deserve the truth about food from their government, but they don't always get it.

For example, take the recent speech themes of USDA Secretary Clifford M. Hardin. He has been stressing figures showing that average food prices went up 22 per cent in the past decade while the average for all living costs rose 30 per cent.

HE CALLS this "one of the great success stories of the age — the fact that food is a better buy than ever before in this or any other country." He then compares the proportion of income spent on food — 16.5 per cent — with higher figures in other developing countries.

What he doesn't say is how little such averages and comparisons mean. There is a limit on what people will eat each day but no limit on income, so the portion of income spent on food is likely to decline even if food prices rise just as fast as income and total expenditures do.

These figures also don't tell much about the great variations between income and age groups. Many people with limited incomes spend as much as half of their total incomes on food. Price increases hurt them most.

THE FIGURES also don't tell much about the great differences in conditions between this country and others, differences so huge that valid comparisons are virtually impossible to make.

The figures also don't tell much about what the USDA has been doing about food prices. Its policies and programs are chiefly designed to raise prices by limiting supplies through import and crop restrictions. Yet farmers generally have been getting a declining share of retail prices.

If this is a great success story, then gobbledygook has taken over, and it may be more than a coincidence that the latest Home and Garden Bulletin (No. 176) of the USDA is entitled: "Nuts in Family Meals: A Guide for Consumers."

Not everything the USDA does is so nutty, but the proportion of it seems to be rising at least as fast as food prices are.

'The Alumnae,' A New Cartoon, Characterizes Suburban Wife

Mary Flanigan Gauerke, whose cartoon "The Alumnae" begins today in the Independent-Journal Women's Section, didn't realize that cartooning was a man's field when she began putting brush to India ink in 1947.

Since that time the career cartoonist and housewife has sold her humor panels to top national magazines and newspapers including the New York Times, Chicago Tribune, Wall Street Journal and the National Observer.

AFTER MORE than 20 years of depicting humor for the magazines she created her six-a-week panel "The Alumnae" with its four stereotype characters, Magda, Helen, DeEtte and Myra. Magda, she says, is avant-garde and keeps her ear to the ground for current fads in the arts, politics and social problems. Helen is the "calico-kitchen housewife" engaged in a losing battle with a self-indulgent appetite, while DeEtte is a caricature of youthful frivolity, living only to be dressed up. Myra, on the other hand, is the club woman, organizer and leader of the group.

"The theme of the panel," explains Mary, "revolves around the diverse activities of the four women with contrasting personalities." She believes it has a contemporary flavor and has its greatest appeal to suburban housewives, although the humor is universal, she hopes.

Ideas for her cartoons are "exclusively mine," says Mary, who skims magazines and newspapers to see what's new in the world and then draws the panels, three or four months prior to publication. Her husband, Carl, "picks the ones he thinks are best," and then the syndicate gives them a final test for their humor.

Mary studied art at Stephens College in Columbia, Mo., before her marriage, and it has assisted her into the almost-exclusively male world of cartooning.

Aside from her career, she puts in time on her daily "addiction," — the crossword puzzle and is reputed to be one of the few able to complete the New York Times crossword puzzle.

CARTOONIST MARY Flanigan Gauerke of New Jersey draws a panel for her syndicated "The Alumnae," which begins today in the I-J Women's Section. The daily panel features four stereotyped women whose contrasting personalities keep in situations of sophisticated humor.

Richard Condit To Wed Elizabeth Swan

Dr. and Mrs. H.J.C. Swan of Beverly Hills have announced the engagement of their daughter Elizabeth Pamela Swan of Santa Cruz to Richard Carr Condit of San Anselmo.

Richard is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul C. Condit of San Anselmo and the brother of Paul B. Condit of Rochester, N.Y.

A graduate of Sir Francis Drake High School, he received the bachelor of arts degree from U.C. Santa Cruz and is a graduate student in molecular biology at Yale University.

Short-Shorts

The revival of short-shorts, this time for street as well as sportswear, has expanded the whole vocabulary of the fashion industry. So far, these terms have appeared: shortipants, smartipants, minipants, hot pants, short cuts and city pants.

Bra-Burning Myth Is Put Down

STANFORD (BW) — Bra-Burning, long associated with women's liberation, is a myth that "never happened anywhere," Aileen Hernandez, President of the National Organization for Women, told a Stanford audience.

Several years ago, protesters at a Miss America Pageant in Atlantic City threatened such an act. But when fire officials said it would be a hazard to the Boardwalk, they called it off.

The symbol stuck, though the event never happened.

"We're nothing if not law abiding," Miss Hernandez said Thursday.

NOW has lodged complaints of sex discrimination in employment against 1,300 business firms through the office of federal contract compliance, she reported.

And women who serve as the door-to-door collectors for United Fund and other charities are starting to take a local look at where the gifts finally go — often finding that boys' and men's groups are heavily favored over those of the opposite sex.

Recently asked if the drive for equal treatment should extend to the draft, she said "yes," opposing the drafting of young fathers just as strongly as young mothers.

"War is not in the public interest," she explained.

Changes in the job market and child rearing both point toward a major redefinition of individual roles in society, she said.

The fastest growing segment of employment is in service and clerical work traditionally performed by women, she explained. Moreover, as desired family size diminishes, women no longer will spend as much time rearing children at home.

Expanded and improved child care is one of several "vast areas for new employment" which could be realized in a more humanistically oriented society, she added.

"I don't want to denigrate anyone's idea of what she wants to be, so long as it's her free choice," Miss Hernandez said.

Ecological Hangup

HAPPY over the completion of "Ecological Hangups" are Mrs. Charles Cutting, left, chairman of the project for the conservation section of the Mill Valley Branch of the American Association Women, and Mrs. James Schock, one of the committee. The Hangups will be distributed in some schools on May 17.

(Independent-Journal photo)

A Household Ecological Guide

By MAYBELLE SPECKMANN

Ready for distribution in schools are 3,000 copies of the "Ecological Hangup," the result of many hours of work by the conservation section of the Mill Valley Branch of the American Association of University Women.

The Hangup — so called because the 14" x 8½" sheet is readily hung on a cupboard door or any other convenient place for quick reference — lists on the front many specific ways in which a family can contribute to the improvement of the environment through general and household practices. On the back is a similar list for gardens, with locations, hours and telephone numbers for collection and recycling centers and information sources.

The front page gives tips on such things as recycling; saving water and electricity; changing of cooking habits; how to handle junk mail and excess coat hangers and magazines; methods of travel; and avoidance of no-pest strips and aerosol containers.

On the back of the Hangup garden tips are given, such as the use of beer, vaseline and ashes and planting of garlic and chives to deter insects, together with a list of the worst pesticides to avoid, and timing of watering with a kitchen timer.

THE HANGUP will be distributed free next week in the fourth through eighth grades in the Mill Valley, Sausalito and Reed School Districts.

If there is a large public demand by other school districts and organizations, more of the Hangups will be printed and sold at a cost of $10 per hundred in bulk lots, with proceeds going to the Mill Valley Branch's fellowships program.

Mrs. Charles Cutting, chairman for the project, explained how it developed.

"The section wanted to do something in ecology," she said, "and after hearing that branches elsewhere in the country had done something of the sort, we made up a committee to work on the project.

"Believing that pamplets and booklets just get tossed in drawers, the group selected a hangup format that would be attractive and sturdy enough to keep and consult easily without too much effort.

"We didn't want it to be just another throwaway," Jane said.

CONSERVATION SECTION members suggested the topics to be included and did the research on them. Editing, composition and distribution were done by Jane and Mrs. James Schock, assisted by Mmes. Theodore Knight, Kreig Vezie and Walter Stoeckenius.

"The project would not have been possible financially," Jane noted, "without the Tamalpais High School print shop doing the printing for just the cost of the paper."

Any schools or organizations wishing to purchase the Hangups in bulk lots may order them by calling Mrs. Cutting, who lives at 24 Midhill Drive, Mill Valley.

Nancy has returned to Salt Lake City to rehearse for a tour which will begin in Aspen, Colo., in June, and then takes the company to Athens for the Greek Arts Festival and the beginning of a six-week's tour of Europe.

The ballerina, a graduate of San Rafael High School, is a former leading dancer with the Marin Civic Ballet Company and the recipient of the first ballet scholarship given by the Marin Music Chest in 1968.

She is the sister of Mrs. Alan Gizzi of San Rafael.

Calls for parent aid

Mrs. Kenneth L. Pool, new president of Hill Junior High School Parent-Teacher Association, says "we moved here (Novato) from Maryland five years ago. We all have fallen in love with Marin County and I have enjoyed working in the P-TA. I have found most parents really care what is going on in the community.

"I feel that even though we, as parents, have many problems to face, such as drugs, we must keep the lines of communication open and we will be able to solve the problems. I have found there are many of our educators who really care and will help, but they can not do it if we parents don't follow through and take the time to help."

Irene and her husband, a captain in the public health service, milk and food branch, are the parents of Janet, 18, Katherine, 13, Richard, 10, and Christopher, 4 years old. She enjoys sewing, cooking and camping with the family.

The new president was born in Spokane, Wash., and attended Eastern Washington College of Education at Cheney, Wash., and the University of Minnesota. She served as president of Lu Sutton P-TA for two years and as vice president of Hill last year. She is also a member of the Presbyterian Church of Novato.

Serving with Mrs. Pool are Mrs. E. C. Leigon, first vice president; Harry J. Moore, second vice president; Mrs. David Matson, secretary; Mrs. William George, treasurer; Mrs. Le Roy Bouchey, historian; and Duane Moeller, auditor.

Reason For Aging Some Cuts Of Beef

High Quality beef ribs and loins are aged to develop additional tenderness and characteristic flavor. There are several ways to age beef and this is done before beef is offered for sale in food stores.

When the dry aging method is used for beef, it is held at a constant temperature of 34 to 36 degrees with controlled humidy for a period of three to six weeks.

Sportswear Is A City Fashion

Sportswear is now a city fashion. Women have opted for the more casual look. Stovepipe pants, straighter and with less flare, are wardrobe necessities.

Skirts split either on the side or in front — and can be worn with just a blouse, or with a long vest to create a total look. Sportswear has been "citified" — and can be seen in every place from the park to the office.

Breakfast Beef

Beef up your breakfast with a ground beef patty — broiled or pan fried to your taste. Serve with fruit, milk and toast for a nutritionally balanced meal for young or not so young.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

New, Rich Widow Doesn't Need Retiring Spinster To Boss Her

DEAR HELEN:

My friend, a young 60, lost her husband two months ago. She is lonely and unsettled. My husband and I had her as a house guest for a while but she wanted to move into an apartment, which was fine — except that another friend, a very domineering spinster has decided she should not be alone.

This second woman will soon retire from an executive position. Her income will drop, therefore she's looking for cheap rent. She has never been a housekeeper or a cook, is the type to leave a trail of cigarette ashes, clothes, coffee cups and cocktail glasses behind her. In other words, she is sloppy, whereas my widowed friend is meticulous, a great cook and a real homemaker. You can guess who will do most of the work, while being bossed to distraction. Also she'll assume the greater financial burden, as she is well-off.

Now you'd think the widow could see this combination won't work, but she is easily swayed. She sees the spinster as "salvation" — someone who will take over, for she was always very dependent on her husband. And she has this self-effacing hero worship of career women, so she's ripe for browbeating. Once moved in, "Miss Bossy" won't be eradicated without more gumption than "Mrs. Softy" has.

DEAR CON:

Why not suggest a long cruise or a European tour? Several months on her own should convince your friend that she isn't limited to "bossy spinsters" the rest of her life. — H.

DEAR HELEN:

My 17-year-old daughter lies, then accuses me of spying on her. How could I spy when she has her room so boobytrapped that I'm almost afraid to walk in the door? I never know what might jump out at me from a drawer, or go off with a bang when I open a box (if I ever did, that is).

She runs with a rowdy crowd of girls who have been sent home after curfew many times. She saves her lunch money to buy beer on weekends — I've heard her plans on the telephone.

She was picked up by the police for possession of alcoholic beverages and, of course, she cried and denied, so got off with a warning, but I know she drinks to excess. I've tried to keep this from her father. I've covered up for her but now I'm sick inside, for she won't confide in me, calls me dirty names and, if I try to help her, gets hysterical, then won't speak for days.

The last straw was when a highway man I know asked me, "How's your daughter, she must be stiff and sore?" He was shocked to learn I knew nothing of the accident. Seems she and another girl had rolled a pickup truck into a ravine, and the road crew pulled them out. She told me she was babysitting!

Is this all my fault for overprotecting and lying for her? I was married — quite disastrously — very young, and had my family before I was 18. My husband and I have separated several times, are now together but not happy. I feel alone and helpless. I want to be a well-loved mother of a GOOD daughter, but I've turned into what she calls a "nosey witch," with no control. Is there any hope? — BEWILDERED AND HURT

DEAR B AND H:

If your daughter reads HHU every day, then maybe she'll see this request: Dear Daughter of B and H: Send me YOUR version together with a stamped envelope addressed to BOTH of you. When I hear each side (it might be good to get your father's viewpoint here, too) I can at least make an educated guess about what's wrong and how to right it.

Meanwhile, Mrs. B and H: Make an appointment with your family service agency — for the whole family! — H.

This column is dedicated to family living, so if you're having kid trouble or just plain trouble, let Helen help you. She will also welcome your own amusing experiences. Address Helen Bottel in care of the Independent-Journal.

Gobbleygook Is Agency's Byword

By ARTHUR E. ROWSE

WASHINGTON—The late great James Thurber must have had the U.S. Department of Agriculture in mind when he wrote that delightful little fable, "The Weaver and the Worm."

"Where do you get that stuff?" asked the weaver as he spotted a silkworm spinning a cocoon. "Do you want to make something of it?" replied the worm. Whereupon, said Thurber, each went his own way, thinking the other had insulted him.

The point, said Thurber, is that much of what we say and hear is gobbledygook. He wound up his story with a moral:

"A word to the wise is not sufficient if it doesn't make any sense."

THE TROUBLE is that Thurber's message has not penetrated many of the walls and craniums at the Department of Agriculture. That sprawling monstrosity produces more tons of gobbledygook per capita each year than any other government division except Congress.

Americans have learned to expect plenty of nonsense along with advertising messages. But they may not realize the full amount of marshmellow fluff that comes from the USDA. Citizens deserve the truth about food from their government, but they don't always get it.

For example, take the recent speech themes of USDA Secretary Clifford M. Hardin. He has been stressing figures showing that average food prices went up 22 per cent in the past decade while the average for all living costs rose 30 per cent.

HE CALLS this "one of the great success stories of the age — the fact that food is a better buy than ever before in this or any other country." He then compares the proportion of income spent on food — 16.5 per cent — with higher figures in other developing countries.

What he doesn't say is how little such averages and comparisons mean. There is a limit on what people will eat each day but no limit on income, so the portion of income spent on food is likely to decline even if food prices rise just as fast as income and total expenditures do.

These figures also don't tell much about the great variations between income and age groups. Many people with limited incomes spend as much as half of their total incomes on food. Price increases hurt them most.

THE FIGURES also don't tell much about the great differences in conditions between this country and others, differences so huge that valid comparisons are virtually impossible to make.

The figures also don't tell much about what the USDA has been doing about food prices. Its policies and programs are chiefly designed to raise prices by limiting supplies through import and crop restrictions. Yet farmers generally have been getting a declining share of retail prices.

If this is a great success story, then gobbledygook has taken over, and it may be more than a coincidence that the latest Home and Garden Bulletin (No. 176) of the USDA is entitled: "Nuts in Family Meals: A Guide for Consumers."

Not everything the USDA does is so nutty, but the proportion of it seems to be rising at least as fast as food prices are.

'The Alumnae,' A New Cartoon, Characterizes Suburban Wife

Mary Flanigan Gauerke, whose cartoon "The Alumnae" begins today in the Independent-Journal Women's Section, didn't realize that cartooning was a man's field when she began putting brush to India ink in 1947.

Since that time the career cartoonist and housewife has sold her humor panels to top national magazines and newspapers including the New York Times, Chicago Tribune, Wall Street Journal and the National Observer.

AFTER MORE than 20 years of depicting humor for the magazines she created her six-a-week panel "The Alumnae" with its four stereotype characters, Magda, Helen, DeEtte and Myra. Magda, she says, is avant-garde and keeps her ear to the ground for current fads in the arts, politics and social problems. Helen is the "calico-kitchen housewife" engaged in a losing battle with a self-indulgent appetite, while DeEtte is a caricature of youthful frivolity, living only to be dressed up. Myra, on the other hand, is the club woman, organizer and leader of the group.

"The theme of the panel," explains Mary, "revolves around the diverse activities of the four women with contrasting personalities." She believes it has a contemporary flavor and has its greatest appeal to suburban housewives, although the humor is universal, she hopes.

Ideas for her cartoons are "exclusively mine," says Mary, who skims magazines and newspapers to see what's new in the world and then draws the panels, three or four months prior to publication. Her husband, Carl, "picks the ones he thinks are best," and then the syndicate gives them a final test for their humor.

Mary studied art at Stephens College in Columbia, Mo., before her marriage, and it has assisted her into the almost-exclusively male world of cartooning.

Aside from her career, she puts in time on her daily "addiction," — the crossword puzzle and is reputed to be one of the few able to complete the New York Times crossword puzzle.

CARTOONIST MARY Flanigan Gauerke of New Jersey draws a panel for her syndicated "The Alumnae," which begins today in the I-J Women's Section. The daily panel features four stereotyped women whose contrasting personalities keep in situations of sophisticated humor.

Richard Condit To Wed Elizabeth Swan

Dr. and Mrs. H.J.C. Swan of Beverly Hills have announced the engagement of their daughter Elizabeth Pamela Swan of Santa Cruz to Richard Carr Condit of San Anselmo.

Richard is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul C. Condit of San Anselmo and the brother of Paul B. Condit of Rochester, N.Y.

A graduate of Sir Francis Drake High School, he received the bachelor of arts degree from U.C. Santa Cruz and is a graduate student in molecular biology at Yale University.

Short-Shorts

The revival of short-shorts, this time for street as well as sportswear, has expanded the whole vocabulary of the fashion industry. So far, these terms have appeared: shortipants, smartipants, minipants, hot pants, short cuts and city pants.

Bra-Burning Myth Is Put Down

STANFORD (BW) — Bra-Burning, long associated with women's liberation, is a myth that "never happened anywhere," Aileen Hernandez, President of the National Organization for Women, told a Stanford audience.

Several years ago, protesters at a Miss America Pageant in Atlantic City threatened such an act. But when fire officials said it would be a hazard to the Boardwalk, they called it off.

The symbol stuck, though the event never happened.

"We're nothing if not law abiding," Miss Hernandez said Thursday.

NOW has lodged complaints of sex discrimination in employment against 1,300 business firms through the office of federal contract compliance, she reported.

And women who serve as the door-to-door collectors for United Fund and other charities are starting to take a local look at where the gifts finally go — often finding that boys' and men's groups are heavily favored over those of the opposite sex.

Recently asked if the drive for equal treatment should extend to the draft, she said "yes," opposing the drafting of young fathers just as strongly as young mothers.

"War is not in the public interest," she explained.

Changes in the job market and child rearing both point toward a major redefinition of individual roles in society, she said.

The fastest growing segment of employment is in service and clerical work traditionally performed by women, she explained. Moreover, as desired family size diminishes, women no longer will spend as much time rearing children at home.

Expanded and improved child care is one of several "vast areas for new employment" which could be realized in a more humanistically oriented society, she added.

"I don't want to denigrate anyone's idea of what she wants to be, so long as it's her free choice," Miss Hernandez said.

The CHILD (Childhood Help in Learning and Development) Center in Kentfield is a facility to provide help for children with problems in learning and development.

Peruvian Trip Set For Marin Youth

The YMCA of Marin, in cooperation with the Pacific Region YMCA and California Partners of the Americas, will offer a Peruvian Work Camp for students, 16 through 21 years of age, July 30-Sept. 2, James Looney, executive director, announced today.

Sportswear Is A City Fashion

Sportswear is now a city fashion. Women have opted for the more casual look. Stovepipe pants, straighter and with less flare, are wardrobe necessities.

Skirts split either on the side or in front — and can be worn with just a blouse, or with a long vest to create a total look. Sportswear has been "citified" — and can be seen in every place from the park to the office.

Breakfast Beef

Beef up your breakfast with a ground beef patty — broiled or pan fried to your taste. Serve with fruit, milk and toast for a nutritionally balanced meal for young or not so young.

Stick-Roasted Beef For Fun

Roasting beef on a long stick is great fun for children. Place bit size pieces of boneless chuck on the end of a long stick or roasting fork.

Each one cooks his own over the barbecue coals to his personal liking. Beef is soon ready to eat from the stock or to pop into a bun. Dress with the trimmings that go with hot dogs or hamburgers.

Park: 10 To 20 Years More Turmoil In U.S.

By FRANK FARRARA

The U.S. "is in a period of severe turmoil" connected with change which began about 10 years ago and probably will continue another 10 to 20 years.

This is the view of James W. L. Park, 48-year-old associate warden at San Quentin Prison, formerly a clinical psychologist with the State Department of Corrections.

Change is uncomfortable for "those over 30" because they "see the accepted way of doing things upset," and uncomfortable for younger people because "things are not so structured" as they once were. "Where they (young people) plug in, is not so clear," he said.

The turmoil contains the potential for a "really fine society," but there is a danger that the turmoil will be so upsetting that "it will come down clamped in a rigid mold, right or left," Park said.

He hoped that the "good parts" of American society are retained and the "bad points" eliminated during the period of change. "I tend to be optimistic in the long range, and pessimistic on the short haul," he commented.

Of changing morals, Park felt some changes were "in a favorable direction," such as the "view that sex is a normal function; a great advantage over our generation."

Trial marriages in many cases have saved couples "from getting into a real bad situation," he said. However, the people living together should "have a real relationship and care about each other," not live together as a purely sexual arrangement, he said.

Yet, at some point, there has to be a "degree of stability," and the couple should think before having children, he said. "Kids need to be raised by families."

Park said he hoped future generations would be "devoted to the concept of a healthy family," which he felt was a mainstay of society.

"The basic moral fiber is okay," he said, but there are things such as pornographic movies, which he described as "sick and exploitive." These films would perish in a "healthy sexual climate," he contended.

Concerning education, Park said: "I think schools will have to change radically where they are less of a sentence for 16 years, and become a place where people can develop their potential."

This generation, which has grown up with television, "is much better informed than we were at that age," and "the schools are going to have to cope with it. Schools can't do business as usual."

Park felt youth should "insofar as possible" be free to follow its creative bent and interest. He said he would like to see young people have enough time to explore until they find themselves.

The question is whether society can provide the basic economic security that would allow them to develop their interests, he said. "I think we'll have to come to some version of the guaranteed annual income or negative income tax as the only way to allow them to do this."

Less and less labor is needed to produce necessities and the assumption that "everybody has to work like a beaver to make this country go, is not so now," he said.

Many youths reject the idea of working just for the sake of making money, but will "work like beavers on something they feel is relevant," Park said.

However, he commented, the young overlook the fact that not all people will be able to "do their own thing," and that not everyone "has the motivation or the makeup for creative work."

On religion, Park agreed that the church should be relevant to life today, and felt "it doesn't need to follow a rigid pattern."

On criticism of religion by youth, Parks remarked: "Young people tend to be more intolerant than older people. The young have a hard time accepting the fact that people aren't perfect, and that a church isn't perfect."

"To me the basic ethic is noninterference with the rights of others," Park said.

On racial turmoil, he said the problem is not going to end "until there is truly equal opportunity for everyone to do the things he is capable of doing."

He took issue with people who describe the United States as "the most violent country in the world," saying there is hardly a country in the world that hasn't been violent at some time or other in its history. "There is criticism, but they don't really look at history," he said.

On young people, he said he hoped they become aware they aren't self-sufficient, or as smart or as much in control of their destiny as they would like to think.

"I would like to see them become cognizant of the vastness of creation, and, in whatever form, of certain power beyond ours."

Two Youths Injured On Bicycles

Two youths, ages 12 and 16, were injured yesterday in separate bicycle-car accidents, according to the California Highway Patrol.

Officers said Jared L. McFerrin, 16, of 330 Shoreline Highway, Tamalpais Valley, was treated at Marin General Hospital for multiple scrapes and bruises suffered when his bicycle ran into the rear of a parked car on College Avenue near the College of Marin.

The patrol said McFerrin told them he was northbound on College Avenue at 9:45 a.m. when his attention was diverted, causing him to strike a car owned by Gloria Guevara of San Francisco.

Officers reported his bicycle collided with a car driven by George J. Vlahakis, 26, of San Francisco, on Bear Valley Road one-half mile north of Shoreline Highway in Point Reyes National Seashore.

The patrol said Vlahakis told them he was attempting to pass Dutro at 3 p.m. when the youth's bicycle swerved into his path.

Team Teaching Plan Due Kentfield Airing

A program reorganization plan for seventh and eighth grades at Adaline E. Kent School in Kentfield will be outlined tonight for the district board.

The plan, drafted during the last six months by staff and faculty, calls for grouping teachers in four teaching teams.

Three teams would handle the basic education courses such as math and English while the fourth would handle special classes such as shop, art and music.

According to Supt. Anthony G. Bacich, the move will provide greater coordination between subjects being taught.

The team teaching special classes as well as one team teaching basic courses will have mixed seventh and eighth grade classes while the other two will teach on a single class level.

Currently the school's 16 junior high teachers teach a single subject for both grade levels.

Meeting at 8 o'clock at Wolfe Grade School, the board also will receive a 6 per cent salary increase request from non-teaching employees and will study maintenance and capital outlay costs over the last 10 years.

Fairfax Council Session Postponed

The Fairfax City Council has postponed tonight's regular meeting to next Monday, because councilmen Robert R. Sousa and Lee Nelder will be in Sacramento for a legislative seminar.

The councilmen will attend the League of California Cities seminar at their own expense, the city council have refused to subsidize attendance.

Lusinchi Heads Retired Group

Marcel Lusinchi of San Rafael has been elected president of the Marin County Retired Employees Association.

Mansfield Lewis of San Rafael, was elected vice president; Mae Lusinchi of San Rafael, secretary; and Teresa Ronan of San Rafael, treasurer.

The group meets the first Monday of each month at 1 p.m. at the Pepperwood restaurant, San Anselmo, and is open to all retired Marin County personnel.

Federal Funds Set For Hilarita Housing

Long-awaited federal funding of 112 moderate income units at the Hilarita Housing Project in Tiburon has been approved by the Department of Housing and Urban Development.

Approval of the first $8,000 seed money loan was "almost tantamount to approval of the entire project," according to E. G. Weed, president of the Tiburon Ecumenical Association. The association is planning the $2.5 million project.

Rep. William S. Mailliard, R-Sixth District, announced approval of the first increment of the seed money. The total federal loan for architectural and engineering work will be $50,000, and an additional $20,000 must be raised locally by the association to complete the work.

Weed said that the approval could move the groundbreaking date to Oct. 1. The original date had been Sept. 15, but was set back to Jan. 15 next year when the loan was delayed early this year.

The 88 units of existing housing are scheduled to be demolished by October, 1972, under state law. The County Housing Authority asked Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, to introduce legislation keeping the units open until 1975.

Bagley, however, said state law allows the county supervisors to keep the units open until 1975, and new legislation is unnecessary.

The existing housing was built in 1943.

Weed said that the rest of the $50,000 loan would probably come in five more increments, and that the association had "almost total assurance" from HUD that no more delays would occur.

The project would be financed privately, but the federal government would subsidize its interest costs by paying the lending institution the difference between 1 per cent and 8 per cent interest.

Construction would take 12 to 18 months, Weed said.

Tip Leads To Dope Arrest

Robert Wayne Fraser, 19, of 1136 Adrienne Court, Santa Rosa, was arrested by Novato police yesterday on suspicion of possession of dangerous drugs and narcotics paraphernalia following a tip from a customer at a service station.

Officers said a customer at the station at 7300 Redwood Highway told the attendant to call police because two men appeared to be taking narcotics in the rest room at 1:35 a.m.

There was narcotics paraphernalia in Fraser's car and half a balloon with powder in it in the restroom, and a search of Fraser revealed he was carrying two hypodermic needles and syringes, police reported.

Fraser's companion, Peter Michael Scornaienche, 19, of Middle Rincon Road, Santa Rosa, was questioned and released.

Fraser posted $625 bail and was scheduled to appear in Marin Municipal Court Wednesday.

Novato Police Plan Open House

The Novato Police Department will have open house Thursday and Friday in observance of National Police Week.

Aside from a tour of police facilities there will be films shown in the parks and recreation building, adjacent to the police station, Chief Allen V. Klemme reported.

The films scheduled: 7:30 p.m., "Every Hour, Every Day;" 8 p.m., "Speed Scene;" 8:30 p.m., "Marijuana;" and 9 p.m., "Every Hour, Every Day."

Patrol Car Hurts Hand Of Woman

Hilda M. Surles, 56, of 66 Shell Road, was treated at Marin General Hospital for a bruised right hand suffered in the mishap at 10:31 p.m.

Police said officer Martin Nielsen, .23, was patroling downtown Mill Valley in his squad car when he thought he spotted a lost 5-year-old boy.

He backed his car into a parking place in front of 75 Throckmorton Avenue, police said, and the rear of the vehicle grazed Mrs. Surle's hand.

Her companion, Elsie M. Texiera, 30, of 78 Buena Vista Avenue, Mill Valley, was uninjured. The child, who had been missing two hours, was found unharmed minutes later on Ethel Avenue.

Dissolution Of Brindel Marriage

The 26-year marriage of Paul F. and Mabel Marie Brindel has been ended in Marin Superior Court.

Judge Henry J. Broderick granted an interlocutory judgment of dissolution Friday.

Brindel 76, now living in Rome, is a writer for Roman Catholic publications and a former subdivider and builder. He retired from the Hearst newspapers in 1945 and after that built homes in Novato and wrote for several magazines.

Mrs. Brindel still lives in Novato.

According to the petition for dissolution the couple was married in San Rafael in 1945 and separated last year. They have no children.

HOW TO PLAY

WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Sometimes Thinking Is Curse Of The Best Of Bridge Players

Bridge columnists are always telling you to think before you play, and readers of bridge columns spend their waking hours shivering with terror because they're afraid they don't think enough. Relax. Deliverance is at hand. In a certain common situation, you're not supposed to think. Play first and think later.

LOW SPADE

West opens the seven of spades and declarer shrewdly plays low from both hands. East wins the first trick with the jack of spades and returns the five of spades to dummy's ace.

Now declarer leads a low diamond from dummy and tries a finesse with the queen. This is where West must play his lowest diamond without thinking. South must be convinced that his finesse has succeeded, and he won't be convinced of this if West goes into a long trance before playing a low diamond.

We all know that South should lead the ace of diamonds next — if the game is rubber bridge, or if his heart is pure. But if the game is tournament bridge, or if South is just a little greedy, South will lead a club and try a finesse with dummy's queen.

WINS AT ONCE

East wins at once and returns his last spade to declarer's king. When the clubs fail to break favorably, declarer must try another diamond finesse. This time West wins with the king of diamonds and defeats the contract with the rest of the spades.

Whenever declarer has a finesse that he can repeat, don't be in a hurry to win your defensive trick at your first opportunity. Play a low card without thinking. If you give declarer enough rope, he may hang himself.

Why doesn't this new rule apply to East's king of clubs as well as to West's king of diamonds? There are exceptions to all rules. You have to think carefully about when you're not going to think.

Flight From Farm Up In W. Germany

From April 1969 to April 1970, the latest period for which figures are complete, the number of men and women employed in agriculture, forestry, animal husbandry and fishing was reduced by 6.9 per cent although the total number of employed persons rose by 0.8 per cent, the Federal Statistical Office reported.

ALMANAC

Today is Monday, May 10, the 130th day of 1971.

The moon is full. The morning stars are Venus, Mars, Jupiter and Mercury. The evening star is Saturn.

Those born on this day are under the sign of Taurus.

American actor-dancer Fred Astaire was born May 10, 1899.

On this day in history:

In 1865 Confederate President Jefferson Davis was captured as he fled Irwinville, Ga. He spent the next two years in prison.

In 1940 Nazi Germany invaded the Lowlands Belgium, Luxembourg, and the Netherlands with 89 army divisions.

In 1963 Pope John XXVIII received the Balzan Peace Prize, the first pontiff to be so honored.

In 1970 Walter Reuther, president of the United Auto Workers, was killed in a Michigan plane crash.

A thought for today: Writer Henry L. Mencken said, "It is the dull man who is always sure: and the sure man who is always dull."

Thieves Tie Up Phone Operation

DJAKARTA (UPI)—Thieves who make off with about 100,000 pounds of copper wire a year are partly responsible for the shortage of telephones in Indonesia, says Sutanggar Tengker, director of the government communications company.

There are only 190,000 operable telephones in this nation of 120 million people. Djakarta, the capital, has 35,000 operating telephone sets and needs at least 200,000 more.

Park: 10 To 20 Years More Turmoil In U.S.

By FRANK FARRARA

The U.S. "is in a period of severe turmoil" connected with change which began about 10 years ago and probably will continue another 10 to 20 years.

This is the view of James W. L. Park, 48-year-old associate warden at San Quentin Prison, formerly a clinical psychologist with the State Department of Corrections.

Change is uncomfortable for "those over 30" because they "see the accepted way of doing things upset," and uncomfortable for younger people because "things are not so structured" as they once were. "Where they (young people) plug in, is not so clear," he said.

The turmoil contains the potential for a "really fine society," but there is a danger that the turmoil will be so upsetting that "it will come down clamped in a rigid mold, right or left," Park said.

He hoped that the ''good parts" of American society are retained and the "bad points" eliminated during the period of change. "I tend to be optimistic in the long range, and pessimistic on the short haul," he commented.

Of changing morals, Park felt some changes were "in a favorable direction," such as the ''view that sex is a normal function; a great advantage over our generation."

Trial marriages in many cases have saved couples "from getting into a real bad situation," he said. However, the people living together should "have a real relationship and care about each other," not live together as a purely sexual arrangement, he said.

Yet, at some point, there has to be a "degree of stability," and the couple should think before having children, he said. "Kids need to be raised by families."

Park said he hoped future generations would be "devoted to the concept of a healthy family," which he felt was a mainstay of society.

''The basic moral fiber is okay," he said, but there are things such as pornographic movies, which he described as "sick and exploitive." These films would perish in a "healthy sexual climate," he contended.

Concerning education, Park said: "I think schools will have to change radically where they are less of a sentence for 16 years, and become a place where people can develop their potential."

This generation, which has grown up with television, "is much better informed than we were at that age," and "the schools are going to have to cope with it. Schools can't do business as usual."

Park felt youth should "insofar as possible" be free to follow its creative bent and interest. He said he would like to see young people have enough time to explore until they find themselves.

The question is whether society can provide the basic economic security that would allow them to develop their interests, he said. "I think we'll have to come to some version of the guaranteed annual income or negative income tax as the only way to allow them to do this."

Less and less labor is needed to produce necessities and the assumption that "everybody has to work like a beaver to make this country go, is not so now," he said.

Many youths reject the idea of working just for the sake of making money, but will "work like beavers on something they feel is relevant," Park said.

However, he commented, the young overlook the fact that not all people will be able to "do their own thing," and that not everyone "has the motivation or the makeup for creative work."

On religion, Park agreed that the church should be relevant to life today, and felt "it doesn't need to follow a rigid pattern."

On criticism of religion by youth, Parks remarked: "Young people tend to be more intolerant than older people. The young have a hard time accepting the fact that people aren't perfect, and that a church isn't perfect."

"To me the basic ethic is non-interference with the rights of others," Park said.

On racial turmoil, he said the problem is not going to end "until there is truly equal opportunity for everyone to do the things he is capable of doing."

He took issue with people who describe the United States as "the most violent country in the world," saying there is hardly a country in the world that hasn't been violent at some time or other in its history. "There is criticism, but they don't really look at history," he said.

On young people, he said he hoped they become aware they aren't self-sufficient, or as smart or as much in control of their destiny as they would like to think.

"I would like to see them become cognizant of the vastness of creation, and, in whatever form, of certain power beyond ours."

Two Youths Injured On Bicycles

Two youths, ages 12 and 16, were injured yesterday in separate bicycle-car accidents, according to the California Highway Patrol.

Officers said Jared L. McFerrin, 16, of 330 Shoreline Highway, Tamalpais Valley, was treated at Marin General Hospital for multiple scrapes and bruises suffered when his bicycle ran into the rear of a parked car on College Avenue near the College of Marin.

The patrol said McFerrin told them he was northbound on College Avenue at 9:45 a.m. when his attention was diverted, causing him to strike a car owned by Gloria Guevara of San Francisco.

Officers reported his bicycle collided with a car driven by George J. Vlahakis, 26, of San Francisco, on Bear Valley Road one-half mile north of Shoreline Highway in Point Reyes National Seashore.

The patrol said Vlahakis told them he was attempting to pass Dutro at 3 p.m. when the youth's bicycle swerved into his path.

Team Teaching Plan Due Kentfield Airing

A program reorganization plan for seventh and eighth grades at Adaline E. Kent School in Kentfield will be outlined tonight for the district board.

The plan, drafted during the last six months by staff and faculty, calls for grouping teachers in four teaching teams.

Three teams would handle the basic education courses such as math and English while the fourth would handle special classes such as shop, art and music.

According to Supt. Anthony G. Bacich, the move will provide greater coordination between subjects being taught.

The team teaching special classes as well as one team teaching basic courses will have mixed seventh and eighth grade classes while the other two will teach on a single class level.

Currently the school's 16 junior high teachers teach a single subject for both grade levels.

Meeting at 8 o'clock at Wolfe Grade School, the board also will receive a 6 per cent salary increase request from non-teaching employees and will study maintenance and capital outlay costs over the last 10 years.

Fairfax Council Session Postponed

The Fairfax City Council has postponed tonight's regular meeting to next Monday, because councilmen Robert R. Sousa and Lee Nelder will be in Sacramento for a legislative seminar.

The councilmen will attend the League of California Cities seminar at their own expense, the city council have refused to subsidize attendance.

Lusinchi Heads Retired Group

Marcel Lusinchi of San Rafael has been elected president of the Marin County Retired Employees Association.

Mansfield Lewis of San Rafael, was elected vice president; Mae Lusinchi of San Rafael, secretary; and Teresa Ronan of San Rafael, treasurer.

The group meets the first Monday of each month at 1 p.m. at the Pepperwood restaurant, San Anselmo, and is open to all retired Marin County personnel.

Federal Funds Set For Hilarita Housing

Long-awaited federal funding of 112 moderate income units at the Hilarita Housing Project in Tiburon has been approved by the Department of Housing and Urban Development.

Approval of the first $8,000 seed money loan was "almost tantamount to appro,al of the entire project," according to E. G. Weed, president of the Tiburon Ecumenical Association. The association is planning the $2.5 million project.

Rep. William S. Mailliard, R-Sixth District, announced approval of the first increment of the seed money. The total federal loan for architectural and engineering work will be $50,000, and an additional $20,000 must be raised locally by the association to complete the work.

Weed said that the approval could move the groundbreaking date to Oct. 1. The original date had been Sept. 15, but was set back to Jan. 15 next year when the loan was delayed early this year.

The 88 units of existing housing are scheduled to be demolished by October, 1972, under state law. The County Housing Authority asked Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, to introduce legislation keeping the units open until 1975.

Bagley, however, said state law allows the county supervisors to keep the units open until 1975, and new legislation is unnecessary.

The existing housing was built in 1943.

Weed said that the rest of the $50,000 loan would probably come in five more increments, and that the association had "almost total assurance" from HUD that no more delays would occur.

The project would be financed privately, but the federal government would subsidize its interest costs by paying the lending institution the difference between 1 per cent and 8 per cent interest.

Construction would take 12 to 18 months, Weed said.

Tip Leads To Dope Arrest

Robert Wayne Fraser, 19, of 1136 Adrienne Court, Santa Rosa, was arrested by Novato police yesterday on suspicion of possession of dangerous drugs and narcotics paraphernalia following a tip from a customer at a service station.

Officers said a customer at the station at 7300 Redwood Highway told the attendant to call police because two men appeared to be taking narcotics in the rest room at 1:35 a.m.

There was narcotics paraphernalia in Fraser's car and half a balloon with powder in it in the restroom, and a search of Fraser revealed he was carrying two hypodermic needles and syringes, police reported.

Fraser posted $625 bail and was scheduled to appear in Marin Municipal Court Wednesday.

Novato Police Plan Open House

The Novato Police Department will have open house Thursday and Friday in observance of National Police Week.

Aside from a tour of police facilities there will be films shown in the parks and recreation building, adjacent to the police station, Chief Allen V. Klemme reported.

The films scheduled: 7:30 p.m., ''Every Hour, Every Day;" 8 p.m., "Speed Scene;" 8:30 p.m., "Marijuana;" and 9 p.m., ''Every Hour, Every Day."

Patrol Car Hurts Hand Of Woman

Hilda M. Surles, 56, of 66 Shell Road, was treated at Marin General Hospital for a bruised right hand suffered in the mishap at 10:31 p.m.

Police said officer Martin Nielsen, 23, was patroling downtown Mill Valley in his squad car when he thought he spotted a lost 5-year-old boy.

He backed his car into a parking place in front of 75 Throckmorton Avenue, police said, and the rear of the vehicle grazed Mrs. Surle's hand.

Her companion, Elsie M. Texiera, 30, of 78 Buena Vista Avenue, Mill Valley, was uninjured. The child, who had been missing two hours, was found unharmed minutes later on Ethel Avenue.

Dissolution Of Brindel Marriage

The 26-year marriage of Paul F. and Mabel Marie Brindel has been ended in Marin Superior Court.

Judge Henry J. Broderick granted an interlocutory judgment of dissolution Friday.

Brindel 76, now living in Rome, is a writer for Roman Catholic publications and a former subdivider and builder. He retired from the Hearst newspapers in 1945 and after that built homes in Novato and wrote for several magazines.

Mrs. Brindel still lives in Novato.

According to the petition for dissolution the couple was married in San Rafael in 1945 and separated last year. They have no children.

MAY-10

ALMANAC

Today is Monday, May 10, the 130th day of 1971.

The moon is full. The morning stars are Venus, Mars, Jupiter and Mercury. The evening star is Saturn.

Those born on this day are under the sign of Taurus.

American actor-dancer Fred Astaire was born May 10, 1899.

On this day in history:

In 1865 Confederate President Jefferson Davis was captured as he fled Irwinville, Ga. He spent the next two years in prison.

In 1940 Nazi Germany invaded the Lowlands Belgium, Luxembourg, and the Netherlands with 89 army divisions.

In 1963 Pope John XXVIII received the Balzan Peace Prize, the first pontiff to be so honored.

In 1970 Walter Reuther, president of the United Auto Workers, was killed in a Michigan plane crash.

A thought for today: Writer Henry L. Mencken said, "It is the dull man who is always sure: and the sure man who is always dull."

Thieves Tie Up Phone Operation

DJAKARTA (UPI)—Thieves who make off with about 100,000 pounds of copper wire a year are partly responsible for the shortage of telephones in Indonesia, says Sutanggar Tengker, director of the government communications company.

There are only 190,000 operable telephones in this nation of 120 million people. Djakarta, the capital, has 35,000 operating telephone sets and needs at least 200,000 more.

HOW TO PLAY

WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Sometimes Thinking Is Curse Of The Best Of Bridge Players

Bridge columnists are always telling you to think before you play, and readers of bridge columns spend their waking hours shivering with terror because they're afraid they don't think enough. Relax. Deliverance is at hand. In a certain common situation, you're not supposed to think. Play first and think later.

Opening lead — ♠ 7

LOW SPADE

West opens the seven of spades and declarer shrewdly plays low from both hands. East wins the first trick with the jack of spades and returns the five of spades to dummy's ace.

Now declarer leads a low diamond from dummy and tries a finesse with the queen. This is where West must play his lowest diamond without thinking. South must be convinced that his finesse has succeeded, and he won't be convinced of this if West goes into a long trance before playing a low diamond.

We all know that South should lead the ace of diamonds next — if the game is rubber bridge, or if his heart is pure. But if the game is tournament bridge, or if South is just a little greedy, South will lead a club and try a finesse with dummy's queen.

WINS AT ONCE

East wins at once and returns his last spade to declarer's king. When the clubs fail to break favorably, declarer must try another diamond finesse. This time West wins with the king of diamonds and defeats the contract with the rest of the spades.

Whenever declarer has a finesse that he can repeat, don't be in a hurry to win your defensive trick at your first opportunity. Play a low card without thinking. If you give declarer enough rope, he may hang himself.

Why doesn't this new rule apply to East's king of clubs as well as to West's king of diamonds? There are exceptions to all rules. You have to think carefully about when you're not going to think.

Partner opens with one heart, and the next player passes.

What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid two diamonds. You cannot jump to two notrump without a stopper in the unbid club suit. Bid your own suit and await developments.

Flight From Farm Up In W. Germany

From April 1969 to April 1970, the latest period for which figures are complete, the number of men and women employed in agriculture, forestry, animal husbandry and fishing was reduced by 6.9 per cent although the total number of employed persons rose by 0.8 per cent, the Federal Statistical Office reported.

GOLDEN GATE BRIDGE, HIGHWAY AND TRANSPORTATION DISTRICT
NOTICE OF INTENT TO HOLD PUBLIC HEARING ON URBAN MASS TRANSPORTATION ADMINISTRATION CAPITAL GRANT PROJECT OF GOLDEN GATE BRIDGE, HIGHWAY AND TRANSPORTATION DISTRICT

Notice is hereby given that the Board of Directors of Golden Gate Bridge, Highway and Transportation District intends to hold a public hearing on its Urban Mass Transportation Administration Capital Grant Project, adopted April 9, 1971, at 10:00 AM on the 21st day of May, 1971 in the Board Room, Administration Building, Golden Gate Bridge Toll Plaza, San Francisco, California.

The intent to hold said public hearing is given and this notice is published pursuant to the requirements of the Urban Mass Transportation Administration of the United States. The purpose of a public hearing would be to consider the District's Urban Mass Transportation Capital Grant Project adopted by the District on April 9, 1971, proposing to purchase between 112 and 152 transit and suburban type motor coaches, equipped with Environmental Improvement Package, radio, air conditioning, and fare collection boxes, approximately ten (10) acres of land in Marin County for a central bus storage and service area and administrative offices, land improvements, buildings and equipment necessary for bus servicing and maintenance and administrative offices, six (6) automobiles and three (3) trucks, including a recovery vehicle, all equipped with radios, a radio base station, and one bus washing unit. In addition, the District proposes to purchase and develop two parcels approximately two acres each, as satellite bus stations in the Novato and Santa Rosa areas.

The estimated cost is $9,464,000, which will be financed by a 66-⅔% Federal Capital Grant of $6,309,000 under Section 3 of the Urban Mass Transportation Act of 1964, as amended in 1970, and the remaining 33-⅓%, in the amount of $3,155,000, by the District from monies reserved from Bridge revenues in accordance with State Assembly Bill 584.

It is intended by the District and Greyhound Lines-West, present operator in the counties, that the Golden Gate Transit system will replace the present Greyhound operation between the counties of Sonoma, Marin and San Francisco, and within the counties of Marin and Sonoma. It is also the intent of both organizations that present Greyhound employees whose work will in effect be transferred to the District will be given the option and first choice of working for the District.

The project conforms to the proposed comprehensive land use and transportation planning program of the urban area and has been approved by the Association of Bay Area Governments. The project is to replace the existing transit system with an all-new system, with a service designed explicitly to meet the present needs of the residents and workers of the three counties. The resulting improved service will have positive effects on economic, social and environmental conditions.

The District will make available to the public in the office of the District Secretary, Administration Building, Golden Gate Bridge Toll Plaza, San Francisco, on a reasonable basis its preliminary application, draft environmental statement, and its transit development program to the extent developed at this time, and of which this project is a part.

All Federal, State or local agencies with jurisdiction by law, or special expertise, and authorized to develop and enforce environmental standards, have been notified of the application, will be provided a copy of the draft environmental statement upon request, and are invited to participate in, or supply, statements for the public hearing. A list of such Federal agencies and their areas of environmental concern was obtained from the Urban Mass Transportation Administration.

All persons and official bodies, and other organizations interested in appearing at a hearing will be heard at such time.

GOLDEN GATE BRIDGE, HIGHWAY AND TRANSPORTATION DISTRICT
NOTICE OF INTENT TO HOLD PUBLIC HEARING ON URBAN MASS TRANSPORTATION ADMINISTRATION CAPITAL GRANT PROJECT OF GOLDEN GATE BRIDGE, HIGHWAY AND TRANSPORTATION DISTRICT

Notice is hereby given that the Board of Directors of Golden Gate Bridge, Highway and Transportation District intends to hold a public hearing on its Urban Mass Transportation Administration Capital Grant Project, adopted April 9, 1971, at 10:30 a.m. on the 21st day of May, 1971 in the Board Room, Administration Building, Golden Gate Bridge Toll Plaza, San Francisco, California.

The intent to hold said public hearing is given and this notice is published pursuant to the requirements of the Urban Mass Transportation Administration of the United States. The purpose of a public hearing would be to consider the District's Urban Mass Transportation Administration Capital Grant Project adopted by the District on April 9, 1971, proposing to purchase six (6) 165 foot, 25 knot, gas turbine-powered, aluminum hull ferryboats, and sufficient land, floats, piers, boarding floats, and necessary dredging and breakwater to develop ferry terminals in the Corte Madera/Larkspur area, Sausalito, and San Francisco, and also service floats, warehouse and shops for vessel maintenance.

The estimated cost is $18,956,000, which will be financed by a 66-⅔% Federal Capital Grant of $12,637,000 under Section 3 of the Urban Mass Transportation Act of 1964, as amended in 1970, and the remaining 33-⅓%, in the amount of $6,319,000, by the District from monies reserved from Bridge revenues, in accordance with State Assembly Bill 584.

No families or businesses will be displaced by the project. No significant adverse environmental effects are anticipated as a result of the project. The project conforms to the proposed comprehensive land use and transportation planning program of the urban area and is under review of the Association of Bay Area Governments.

The project is to expand the present Sausalito/San Francisco ferry service operated by the District and to provide service between Corte Madera/Larkspur and San Francisco. The service was designed to compliment and coordinate with the automobile and bus transit systems in the area. No aspect of the project will adversely raise any significant economic, social or environmental conditions.

The District will make available to the public in the office of the District Secretary, Administration Building, Golden Gate Bridge Toll Plaza, San Francisco, on a reasonable basis its preliminary application, draft environmental statement, and its transit development program to the extent developed at this time, and of which this project is a part.

All Federal, State or local agencies with jurisdiction by law, or special expertise, and authorized to develop and enforce environmental standards, have been notified of the application, will be provided a copy of the draft environmental statement upon request, and are invited to participate in, or supply, statements for the public hearing. A list of such Federal agencies and their areas of environmental concern was obtained from the Urban Mass Transportation Administration.

All persons and official bodies, and other organizations interested in appearing at a hearing will be heard at such time.

Fairfax Man In Drugs Arrest

A 21-year-old Fairfax man was arrested at 5:25 p.m. Saturday on suspicion of possession of dangerous drugs, Novato police reported.

Henry Frank Mile of 197 Bolinas Avenue, Fairfax, was held in Marin County jail in lieu of $1,250 bail to appear this afternoon in Marin Municipal Court.

Mile was a passenger in a car driven by John Lee Amato of 1812 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, Fairfax, and stopped by police when it went in an erratic manner on Highway 101 south of Atherton Avenue.

Woman, 32, Arrested In Forgery

A 32-year-old Petaluma woman was arrested on suspicion of forged prescriptions, reckless driving and resisting arrest following a chase with police cars down Highway 101.

Jody Catline of 5500 North Redwood Highway, was held in Marin County Jail in lieu of $1,250 bail. She was to appear this afternoon in Marin Municipal Court.

The chase began, according to police, shortly after she attempted to fill two prescriptions at about 10:50 p.m. Saturday at Northgate Drugs in the Northgate Shopping Center. A check with the physician on the prescription brought denial of filling them out and the clerk called police. Mrs. Catline fled in a red Volkswagen.

A patrol car went in pursuit and the chase continued down Highway 101 until two more patrol cars joined at the Second Street on ramp. She eluded the three patrol cars as they boxed her in. She stopped once, and when the patrol cars stopped, she sped away in her car. She was boxed in again and forced against the center divider fence. Again, police said, she attempted to drive her car out until a patrol car rammed it against the fence.

Nixon Flies Over New York Site

NEWARK, N.J. (UPI)—President Nixon flew by helicopter today over 23,000 acres at the mouth of New York Harbor which he proposes to turn into the Gateway National Recreation Area.

Accompanied by Govs. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York and William T. Cahill of New Jersey and Mayors John V. Lindsay of New York City and Kenneth Gibson of Newark, the president got a first hand look at the 7,000 acres of land and 16,800 acres of marsh he asked Congress to put under the control of the National Park Service.

Soledad Murder Trial Nears

SALINAS (UPI)—Jury selection began today in the trial of three black convicts charged with the fatal stabbing of a white guard at Soledad Prison last year.

The three are Jesse Phillips, 19, Roosevelt Williams and James Watner, both 24. They are the first convicts to come to trial since the start 16 months ago of violent episodes at the prison that have left three white guards, two white inmates and four black prisoners dead.

Four other inmates, including the so-called Soledad Brothers, await trial for murder.

Phillips, Williams and Wagner are charged with the "reprisal" stabbing of guard William C. Schull, 45.

Wreckage Found Of Old Plane

AUBURN (UPI)—Wreckage of a light plane found in American River Canyon about 20 miles east of this Placer County community was that of an "old military plane," the sheriff's office reported today.

A ground crew sent into the canyon after the wreckage was sighted from the air located the old wreckage near the north fork of the American River.

Two light planes have been listed as missing for nearly one week on flights from California to Nevada. One of the aircraft was piloted by William Crawford of Hopland, Calif., and the other by P. S. Burton of the Rio King Ranch near Orovada, Nev.

Continent-Hopping Search For Mono Virus Is Intriguing Tale

MONONUCLEOSIS usually strikes older children and young adults. The disease is manifested by sore throat, fever, fatigue and enlarged glands in the neck. Since these symptoms are similar to those seen in many respiratory infections, a blood test is done to confirm the diagnosis. Mono has all the characteristics of a viral infection but until recently, the causative agent escaped detection. How the virus was uncovered is an intriguing story.

AN ENGLISH surgeon, Denis Burkitt was studying cancerous growths found in the neck glands of East African children. He identified the growth and in his honor it was called Burkitt's lymphoma. Due to the geographic area in which the victims lived, the physician suspected that the tumor might be viral in nature and passed along via mosquitoes.

Several of the lymphomas were sent to Doctors Epstein and Barr in England who found a virus in some of the tumor cells. The organism resembled a herpes virus similar to the culprits responsible for fever blisters, shingles, and chicken pox.

THE PROJECT was then taken up by Doctors Werner and Gertrude Henle and Volker Kiehl of Philadelphia. These researchers perfected a technique for detecting protective antibodies in the blood of people with viral lesions. They were interested in what the Epstein-Barr (EB) viruses were capable of doing. (Their goal was to develop a vaccine.) At any rate, they found that the blood serum of all victims of Burkitt's tumor contained protective antibodies.

The same antibodies also were found in a few people with cancer of the nasal sinuses and in 50 per cent of all healthy African children and in many American youngsters. This meant that a cancer-producing virus also was capable of causing a common, nonfatal disease.

The breakthrough came when one of the laboratory technicians developed mononucleosis. The victim's blood had always been negative for EB antibodies, but suddenly during the height of the illness the result became positive. More tests were conducted on people known to have or who had mono and all were positive.

Questions on medical topics will be answered by mail if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to the Independent-Journal.)

SENSITIVE TO MONEY

H. T. writes: Can a person be allergic to money? Since working at my present job as a cashier, my face and hands have broken out and my fingertips have split open.

REPLY

What — no itch? Allergy is possible, but skin tests would be needed to determine the exact cause. Perhaps, it might be easier to change jobs, more so if you cannot wear golves or use a silicone ointment to protect the skin.

SWOLLEN ANKLE

G. F. writes: My right foot is in bad shape. It swells at the ankle and I can't get my shoe on. Please advise.

REPLY

Sudden swelling of an ankle may stem from sprain, arthritis, gout, or inflammation of a vein. X-ray will help in making the diagnosis and your physician has good remedies for most of the possibilities mentioned.

VEGETABLES AND SCURVY

R. G. P. writes: Is scurvy caused by a lack of vegetables in the diet?

REPLY

Scurvy results from a deficiency of vitamin C, which is found in fruits and vegetables. If orange juice and fruits are taken, omitting vegetables will not cause scurvy.

McCloskey Challenge To Nixon Predicted

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (UPI)—Rep. Ogden R. Reid, R-N.Y., said Sunday he saw a "pretty strong" possibility that Rep. Paul N. McCloskey Jr., R-Calif., would challenge President Nixon in the New Hampshire primary.

Reid's remark followed a report during the weekend that McCloskey will meet privately in Washington next Sunday with a group of other Republican dissidents including Rep. Donald W. Riegle Jr., of Michigan and former Rep. Charles E. Goodell of New York, major GOP contributors and state party leaders to lay the groundwork for a national "Dump Nixon" campaign. McCloskey, it was learned, plans to visit New Hampshire early next month to lay the groundowrk for his entry into the state's first-in-the-nation primary next March.

LAW IN ACTION

From the State Bar Of California

Drug Laws Shift Seen

The legislature has adopted new laws to deal with drug abuse.

The new laws place more emphasis on the schools. Existing laws allow a school to suspend or expel a student who uses, sells, or has drugs on school grounds. The student has a right to a hearing by the school board or principal.

Under the new laws, the sheriff or chief of police must report to the school superintendent all drug arrests of students in public schools, through grade 12.

The superintendent must receive notice as soon as a juvenile proceeding is commenced or as soon as a complaint is filed in any court which charges that a youngster has used, sold or possessed narcotics or drugs.

The new laws state that the legislature "recognizes that drug abuse should be viewed and treated as a public health problem as well as a public law enforcement problem." Accordingly, in counties of over 40,000 persons, the board of supervisors must designate a county officer to develop a community drug abuse control plan. Such plans will be sent to the State Human Relations Agency, although the county board of supervisors may modify a plan in such manner as it deems proper.

The new laws seek to bring together the diverse elements of the community — law enforcement, health agencies, social and educational institutions. The goal: education and prevention, treatment, rehabilitation, research, and evaluation with respect to drug abuse.

Finally, the new laws also expand the powers of government agencies to hold drug abusers for evaluation and treatment, where those persons are dangerous to themselves or others. Such persons may be committed to a hospital or institution for treatment. Further, the laws expand the power of a court or probation office to require attendance at educational programs and clinics. Failure to attend may violate probation, resulting in an automatic jail sentence.(California lawyers offer this column so you may know about our laws.)

Two Car Crash Injures Three In San Rafael

One man was hospitalized and two others injured in a head-on crash at 2:20 p.m. yesterday on Francisco Boulevard east of Harbor Street, San Rafael, police reported.

Joseph F. Penders, 65, of Sonoma, was reported in poor condition today at Marin General Hospital with cut scalp, and elbow and knee injuries.

He was a passenger in a westbound car driven by Joseph W. Penders, 37, of 93 Buena Vista Avenue, Mill Valley, who was to see his own doctor for a cut upper lip.

Their car collided headon with an eastbound car driven by Joseph D. Smith, 16, 20 Greenwood Avenue, San Rafael. Smith was to see his own doctor for a scraped right arm, according to police.

Dope Suspect, 15, Is Cited

A 15-year-old Larkspur youth was cited to the Corte Madera juvenile officer Saturday after officers discovered a dube of suspected hashish in his back pocket.

Officers said the boy was cited at 6:35 p.m. after he was observed acting suspiciously at the intersection of Redwood and Edison avenues. They found the suspected hash wrapped in tinfoil during a search.

LONDON LONG

You are looking at Robert Musel, UPI correspondent for the I-J, who is looking at the familiar London scene. London today has been called the "swinging-est" city in the world. But it also swings with significant news which is Musel's forte as a correspondent.

Musel owns London

BUT HE'S MORE THAN WILLING TO SHARE IT

Robert Musel, our man in London, seems to have a mortgage on everything that happens of great moment in Britain's mother city. Which means not much will happen which you, in turn, won't know about by reading the I-J.

As UPI's senior editor there he has covered three wars. He was one of the first World War II correspondents to ride into combat with fighter pilots. He came under fire in two Arab-Israeli wars.

Inquisitive, aggressive, Musel has reported from every European country and most of the Middle East and Africa. He covered the German blitz of London in World War II, war crimes trials at Darmstadt, the Berlin airlift, the death of King George, the coronation of Queen Elizabeth. He has interviewed George Bernard Shaw and Albert Einstein, even the stripteasers of the Folies Bergere.

A confidante of entertainment personalities, Musel is also a top song writer. His "Band of Gold" ballad sold over one million records, and he did the background music of "To Paris With Love," starring Alex Guinness.

A man of many sides, Musel has unerring direction in homing in on matters of interest and concern to our readers. For news "Made in London", we suggest you turn to the I-J.

GOLDEN GATE BRIDGE, HIGHWAY AND TRANSPORTATION DISTRICT
NOTICE OF INTENT TO HOLD PUBLIC HEARING ON URBAN MASS TRANSPORTATION ADMINISTRATION CAPITAL GRANT PROJECT OF GOLDEN GATE BRIDGE, HIGHWAY AND TRANSPORTATION DISTRICT

Notice is hereby given that the Board of Directors of Golden Gate Bridge, Highway and Transportation District intends to hold a public hearing on its Urban Mass Transportation Administration Capital Grant Project, adopted April 9, 1971, at 10:00 AM on the 21st day of May, 1971 in the Board Room, Administration Building, Golden Gate Bridge Toll Plaza, San Francisco, California.

The intent to hold said public hearing is given and this notice is published pursuant to the requirements of the Urban Mass Transportation Administration of the United States. The purpose of a public hearing would be to consider the District's Urban Mass Transportation Capital Grant Project adopted by the District on April 9, 1971, proposing to purchase between 112 and 152 transit and suburban type motor coaches, equipped with Environmental Improvement Package, radio, air conditioning, and fare collection boxes, approximately ten (10) acres of land in Marin County for a central bus storage and service area and administrative offices, land improvements, buildings and equipment necessary for bus servicing and maintenance and administrative offices, six (6) automobiles and three (3) trucks, including a recovery vehicle, all equipped with radios, a radio base station, and one bus washing unit. In addition, the District proposes to purchase and develop two parcels approximately two acres each, as satellite bus stations in the Novato and Santa Rosa areas.

The estimated cost is $9,464,000, which will be financed by a 66-⅔% Federal Capital Grant of $6,309,000 under Section 3 of the Urban Mass Transportation Act of 1964, as amended in 1970, and the remaining 33-⅓%, in the amount of $3,155,000, by the District from monies reserved from Bridge revenues in accordance with State Assembly Bill 584.

It is intended by the District and Greyhound Lines-West, present operator in the counties, that the Golden Gate Transit system will replace the present Greyhound operation between the counties of Sonoma, Marin and San Francisco, and within the counties of Marin and Sonoma. It is also the intent of both organizations that present Greyhound employees whose work will in effect be transferred to the District will be given the option and first choice of working for the District.

The project conforms to the proposed comprehensive land use and transportation planning program of the urban area and has been approved by the Association of Bay Area Governments. The project is to replace the existing transit system with an all-new system, with a service designed explicitly to meet the present needs of the residents and workers of the three counties. The resulting improved service will have positive effects on economic, social and environmental conditions.

The District will make available to the public in the office of the District Secretary, Administration Building, Golden Gate Bridge Toll Plaza, San Francisco, on a reasonable basis its preliminary application, draft environmental statement, and its transit development program to the extent developed at this time, and of which this project is a part.

All Federal, State or local agencies with jurisdiction by law, or special expertise, and authorized to develop and enforce environmental standards, have been notified of the application, will be provided a copy of the draft environmental statement upon request, and are invited to participate in, or supply, statements for the public hearing. A list of such Federal agencies and their areas of environmental concern was obtained from the Urban Mass Transportation Administration.

All persons and official bodies, and other organizations interested in appearing at a hearing will be heard at such time.

GOLDEN GATE BRIDGE, HIGHWAY AND TRANSPORTATION DISTRICT
NOTICE OF INTENT TO HOLD PUBLIC HEARING ON URBAN MASS TRANSPORTATION ADMINISTRATION CAPITAL GRANT PROJECT OF GOLDEN GATE BRIDGE, HIGHWAY AND TRANSPORTATION DISTRICT

Notice is hereby given that the Board of Directors of Golden Gate Bridge, Highway and Transportation District intends to hold a public hearing on its Urban Mass Transportation Administration Capital Grant Project, adopted April 9, 1971, at 10:30 a.m. on the 21st day of May, 1971 in the Board Room, Administration Building, Golden Gate Bridge Toll Plaza, San Francisco, California.

The intent to hold said public hearing is given and this notice is published pursuant to the requirements of the Urban Mass Transportation Administration of the United States. The purpose of a public hearing would be to consider the District's Urban Mass Transportation Administration Capital Grant Project adopted by the District on April 9, 1971, proposing to purchase six (6) 165 foot, 25 knot, gas turbine-powered, aluminum hull ferryboats, and sufficient land, floats, piers, boarding floats, and necessary dredging and breakwater to develop ferry terminals in the Corte Madera/Larkspur area, Sausalito, and San Francisco, and also service floats, warehouse and shops for vessel maintenance.

The estimated cost is $18,956,000, which will be financed by a 66-⅔% Federal Capital Grant of $12,637,000 under Section 3 of the Urban Mass Transportation Act of 1964, as amended in 1970, and the remaining 33-⅓%, in the amount of $6,319,000, by the District from monies reserved from Bridge revenues, in accordance with State Assembly Bill 584.

No families or businesses will be displaced by the project. No significant adverse environmental effects are anticipated as a result of the project. The project conforms to the proposed comprehensive land use and transportation planning program of the urban area and is under review of the Association of Bay Area Governments.

The project is to expand the present Sausalito/San Francisco ferry service operated by the District and to provide service between Corte Madera/Larkspur and San Francisco. The service was designed to compliment and coordinate with the automobile and bus transit systems in the area. No aspect of the project will adversely raise any significant economic, social or environmental conditions.

The District will make available to the public in the office of the District Secretary, Administration Building, Golden Gate Bridge Toll Plaza, San Francisco, on a reasonable basis its preliminary application, draft environmental statement, and its transit development program to the extent developed at this time, and of which this project is a part.

All Federal, State or local agencies with jurisdiction by law, or special expertise, and authorized to develop and enforce environmental standards, have been notified of the application, will be provided a copy of the draft environmental statement upon request, and are invited to participate in, or supply, statements for the public hearing. A list of such Federal agencies and their areas of environmental concern was obtained from the Urban Mass Transportation Administration.

All persons and official bodies, and other organizations interested in appearing at a hearing will be heard at such time.

LA PUENTE (UPI)—Fire believed set by vandals caused an estimated $80,000 damage to a La Puente school Sunday, authorities reported.

Officials said the fire was contained to a classroom in the Sierra Vista School. The high damage estimate resulted when it was discovered that the school's video equipment had been stored in the classroom.

Two other classrooms also had been vandalized.

Funds For Hilarita Approved

The first installment of federal funds to rebuild dilapidated housing at the Hilarita projects in Tiburon has been approved by the federal Department of Housing and Urban Development.

The loan is an indication that full funding of the $2.7 million project will be approved by HUD, according to Ned Weed, chairman of the Tiburon Ecumenical Association.

Weed said HUD seldom approves preliminary planning money without later approving the entire loan. His association is composed of representatives of Tiburon churches, formed to encourage low and moderate income housing in the area.

The first installment is part of a $50,000 seed money loan requested by the ecumenical association. Seed money will be used for architects fees and planning for the 112-unit project, to be built on eight acres off of Tiburon Boulevard near Reed School.

Architect Ellis Kaplan of the firm Kaplan & McLaughlin has been interviewing residents on the needs of the housing project and the social planning committee of the ecumenical association has been gathering information on relocation needs.

The association is planning an all-day work session June 12 for Hilarita residents and the architect to discuss project details.

Frost & Meglio, civil engineering firm, have been working on soils drainage and topographical study during the last few weeks.

Four Hurt In Weekend Accidents

One person was hospitalized and three others treated for injuries received in three accidents over the weekend, California Highway Patrol reported.

Eugene Curran, 29, of San Mateo, was reported in good condition today at Marin General Hospital with head injuries. He received them at 4:30 p.m. Saturday in a motorcycle accident at Sir Francis Drake Boulevard and San Geronimo Valley Road, according to patrolmen.

Susan E. Christensen, 24, of Point Arena, was treated at Marin General Hospital for a cut forehead. Her six-months-old daughter, Shelly, was treated at Marin General Hospital for scrapes of the scalp.

The Christensen car, southbound on Highway 101 north of Spencer Avenue at 7:15 p.m. Friday, hit a stopped car driven by Susan C. Davis, 19, of 515 D Street San Rafael. It was being worked on by Paul Debenardis, 50, of 200 Eden Rock Drive, Sausalito, patrolmen reported.

Albert Meeuwsen, 49, of 345 Cascade Drive, Fairfax, was treated at Marin General Hospital for a cut forehead. His car hit the center divider at 2:10 a.m., Saturday, on the Greenbrae off ramp of Highway 101, patrolmen reported.

Fairfax Man In Drugs Arrest

A 21-year-old Fairfax man was arrested at 5:25 p.m. Saturday on suspicion of possession of dangerous drugs, Novato police reported.

Henry Frank Mile of 197 Bolinas Avenue, Fairfax, was held in Marin County jail in lieu of $1,250 bail to appear this afternoon in Marin Municipal Court.

Mile was a passenger in a car driven by John Lee Amato of 1812 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, Fairfax, and stopped by police when it went in an erratic manner on Highway 101 south of Atherton Avenue.

Woman, 32, Arrested In Forgery

A 32-year-old Petaluma woman was arrested on suspicion of forged prescriptions, reckless driving and resisting arrest following a chase with police cars down Highway 101.

Jody Catline of 5500 North Redwood Highway, was held in Marin County Jail in lieu of $1,250 bail. She was to appear this afternoon in Marin Municipal Court.

The chase began, according to police, shortly after she attempted to fill two prescriptions at about 10:50 p.m. Saturday at Northgate Drugs in the Northgate Shopping Center. A check with the physician on the prescription brought denial of filling them out and the clerk called police. Mrs. Catline fled in a red Volkswagen.

A patrol car went in pursuit and the chase continued down Highway 101 until two more patrol cars joined at the Second Street on ramp. She eluded the three patrol cars as they boxed her in. She stopped once, and when the patrol cars stopped, she sped away in her car. She was boxed in again and forced against the center divider fence. Again, police said, she attempted to drive her car out until a patrol car rammed it against the fence.

Soledad Murder Trial Nears

SALINAS (UPI)—Jury selection began today in the trial of three black convicts charged with the fatal stabbing of a white guard at Soledad Prison last year.

The three are Jesse Phillips, 19, Roosevelt Williams and James Watner, both 24. They are the first convicts to come to trial since the start 16 months ago of violent episodes at the prison that have left three white guards, two white inmates and four black prisoners dead.

Four other inmates, including the so-called Soledad Brothers, await trial for murder.

Phillips, Williams and Wagner are charged with the "reprisal" stabbing of guard William C. Schull, 45.

Wreckage Found Of Old Plane

AUBURN (UPI)—Wreckage of a light plane found in American River Canyon about 20 miles east of this Placer County community was that of an "old military plane," the sheriff's office reported today.

A ground crew sent into the canyon after the wreckage was sighted from the air located the old wreckage near the north fork of the American River.

Two light planes have been listed as missing for nearly one week on flights from California to Nevada. One of the aircraft was piloted by William Crawford of Hopland, Calif., and the other by P. S. Burton of the Rio King Ranch near Orovada, Nev.

Continent-Hopping Search For Mono Virus Is Intriguing Tale

MONONUCLEOSIS usually strikes older children and young adults. The disease is manifested by sore throat, fever, fatigue and enlarged glands in the neck. Since these symptoms are similar to those seen in many respiratory infections, a blood test is done to confirm the diagnosis. Mono has all the characteristics of a viral infection but until recently, the causative agent escaped detection. How the virus was uncovered is an intriguing story.

AN ENGLISH surgeon, Denis Burkitt was studying cancerous growths found in the neck glands of East African children. He identified the growth and in his honor it was called Burkitt's lymphoma. Due to the geographic area in which the victims lived, the physician suspected that the tumor might be viral in nature and passed along via mosquitoes.

Several of the lymphomas were sent to Doctors Epstein and Barr in England who found a virus in some of the tumor cells. The organism resembled a herpes virus similar to the culprits responsible for fever blisters, shingles, and chicken pox.

THE PROJECT was then taken up by Doctors Werner and Gertrude Henle and Volker Kiehl of Philadelphia. These researchers perfected a technique for detecting protective antibodies in the blood of people with viral lesions. They were interested in what the Epstein-Barr (EB) viruses were capable of doing. (Their goal was to develop a vaccine.) At any rate, they found that the blood serum of all victims of Burkitt's tumor contained protective antibodies.

The same antibodies also were found in a few people with cancer of the nasal sinuses and in 50 per cent of all healthy African children and in many American youngsters. This meant that a cancer-producing virus also was capable of causing a common, nonfatal disease.

The breakthrough came when one of the laboratory technicians developed mononucleosis. The victim's blood had always been negative for EB antibodies, but suddenly during the height of the illness the result became positive. More tests were conducted on people known to have or who had mono and all were positive.

SENSITIVE TO MONEY

H. T. writes: Can a person be allergic to money? Since working at my present job as a cashier, my face and hands have broken out and my fingertips have split open.

REPLY

What — no itch? Allergy is possible, but skin tests would be needed to determine the exact cause. Perhaps, it might be easier to change jobs, more so if you cannot wear golves or use a silicone ointment to protect the skin.

SWOLLEN ANKLE

G. F. writes: My right foot is in bad shape. It swells at the ankle and I can't get my shoe on. Please advise.

REPLY

Sudden swelling of an ankle may stem from sprain, arthritis, gout, or inflammation of a vein. X-ray will help in making the diagnosis and your physician has good remedies for most of the possibilities mentioned.

VEGETABLES AND SCURVY

R. G. P. writes: Is scurvy caused by a lack of vegetables in the diet?

REPLY

Scurvy results from a deficiency of vitamin C, which is found in fruits and vegetables. If orange juice and fruits are taken, omitting vegetables will not cause scurvy.

McCloskey Challenge To Nixon Predicted

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (UPI)—Rep. Ogden R. Reid, R-N.Y., said Sunday he saw a "pretty strong" possibility that Rep. Paul N. McCloskey Jr., R-Calif., would challenge President Nixon in the New Hampshire primary.

Reid's remark followed a report during the weekend that McCloskey will meet privately in Washington next Sunday with a group of other Republican dissidents including Rep. Donald W. Riegle Jr., of Michigan and former Rep. Charles E. Goodell of New York, major GOP contributors and state party leaders to lay the groundwork for a national "Dump Nixon" campaign. McCloskey, it was learned, plans to visit New Hampshire early next month to lay the groundowrk for his entry into the state's first-in-the-nation primary next March.

LAW IN ACTION

From the State Bar Of California

Drug Laws Shift Seen

The legislature has adopted new laws to deal with drug abuse.

The new laws place more emphasis on the schools. Existing laws allow a school to suspend or expel a student who uses, sells, or has drugs on school grounds. The student has a right to a hearing by the school board or principal.

Under the new laws, the sheriff or chief of police must report to the school superintendent all drug arrests of students in public schools, through grade 12.

The superintendent must receive notice as soon as a juvenile proceeding is commenced or as soon as a complaint is filed in any court which charges that a youngster has used, sold or possessed narcotics or drugs.

The new laws state that the legislature "recognizes that drug abuse should be viewed and treated as a public health problem as well as a public law enforcement problem." Accordingly, in counties of over 40,000 persons, the board of supervisors must designate a county officer to develop a community drug abuse control plan. Such plans will be sent to the State Human Relations Agency, although the county board of supervisors may modify a plan in such manner as it deems proper.

The new laws seek to bring together the diverse elements of the community — law enforcement, health agencies, social and educational institutions. The goal: education and prevention, treatment, rehabilitation, research, and evaluation with respect to drug abuse.

Finally, the new laws also expand the powers of government agencies to hold drug abusers for evaluation and treatment, where those persons are dangerous to themselves or others. Such persons may be committed to a hospital or institution for treatment. Further, the laws expand the power of a court or probation office to require attendance at educational programs and clinics. Failure to attend may violate probation, resulting in an automatic jail sentence.(California lawyers offer this column so you may know about our laws.)

Their car collided headon with an eastbound car driven by Joseph D. Smith, 16, 20 Greenwood Avenue, San Rafael. Smith was to see his own doctor for a scraped right arm, according to police.

Dope Suspect, 15, Is Cited

A 15-year-old Larkspur youth was cited to the Corte Madera juvenile officer Saturday after officers discovered a dube of suspected hashish in his back pocket.

Officers said the boy was cited at 6:35 p.m. after he was observed acting suspiciously at the intersection of Redwood and Edison avenues. They found the suspected hash wrapped in tinfoil during a search.

Exclusive Group Of Seafarers Pilot Ships Through The Bar

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Captain Archibald M. Simenstad of San Rafael skippers about 340 ships a year.

Simenstad, 60, is head of the San Francisco Bar Pilots Association whose 25 members are carrying on a sea-going tradition here that dates back to 1849.

Simenstad, who commanded an attack transport during World War II, said a pilot "takes over the duties of the Captain" when he goes aboard.

"Only he is doing it in restricted waters."

"The captain is still responsible for his ship," said the veteran of sea service since 1926.

"However, in case of a grounding the pilot would be responsible."

Simenstad, who has been a pilot here for 11 years since serving as a skipper with American President Lines, says the men in the association each pilot about 340 ships a year.

The association's boats are stationed 12 miles outside the Golden Gate, relieving each other every Wednesday.

There are nine crewmen on each boat, the Golden Gate and the California, and the pilot taking a ship out stays aboard until he catches another ship in.

"But we have a rule among ourselves that you don't have to stay out there more than 12 hours," Simenstad said. Then the shuttle boat Drake would get the pilot.

Simenstad said he and his men are saddened by the passing of another sea-going tradition, the San Francisco lightship. The Coast Guard replaced the lightship with a large navigational buoy late last month.

The lightship was anchored near the Golden Gate and "we had built up a mutual understanding with the Coast Guardsmen," Simenstad said.

"We do feel a kind of lonely without them, especially during bad weather. But in an emergency we can take refuge on the buoy."

The association is so exclusive that a decade may pass before death or retirement creates a vacancy.

It was formed in 1849 by the state's first legislature and the law decrees that all incoming and outgoing foreign vessels take a bar pilot aboard. The fees depend on tonnage and range up to several hundred dollars. Simenstad and his men guide the ships through a 49-foot deep corridor that stretches between a silty, crescent-shaped bar which protrudes from the mainland.

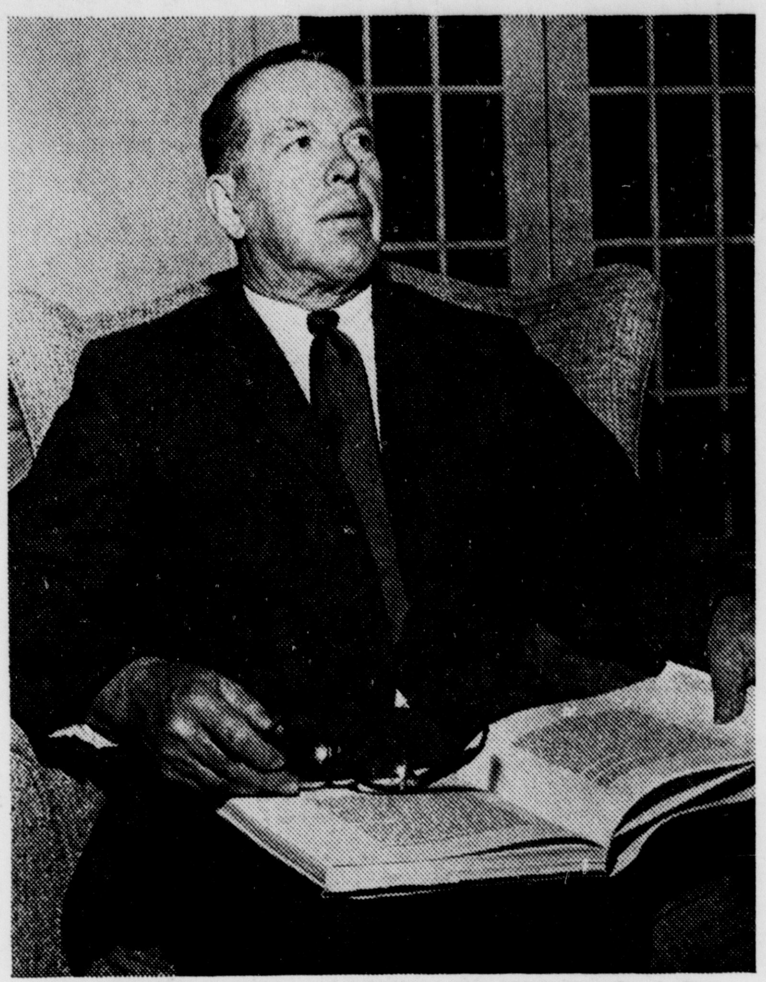
Only twice has the pilot ship strayed from its position and both moves were caused by storms.

The only major accident occurred when fierce waves whipped a pilot schooner to sea in 1867. Three pilots and four sailors were washed overboard and never found.



BAR PILOT — Capt. Archibald M. Simestad of San Rafael, head of the San Francisco Bar Pilots Association, has been a pilot for 11 years. He says each of the 25 pilots in the exclusive association skipper about 340 ships a year through the treacherous 11-mile channel into San Francisco Bay.

Bomb Scare At The Old Courthouse

A woman's purse on a lower window ledge at the old Marin County Courthouse in San Rafael created a bomb scare Saturday.

Ernest G. Lopes, a former caretaker at the courthouse, saw the purse and notified police, who called an Army bomb disposal team from the Presidio of San Francisco.

Police explained that bombs are being camouflaged in containers such as purses. This one, on a ledge on the east side just below the stairway and behind a hedge, appeared to have been placed there, bringing suspicion.

Officers kept the public a safe distance away and a crew from the San Rafael Fire Cepartment was standing by. The two-man bomb disposal team, using ropes, gathered in the purse, which was empty except for a lipstick.

Eagle Deaths Spur Fear Of Extinction

MOOSE, Wyo. (UPI) — A Wyoming conservationist, alarmed about the recent discovery of 15 dead eagles in rugged and desolate canyon area near Casper, warned Sunday the nation's national bird may be extinct by the end of the century.

"I feel we have a good chance of losing the bald eagle," said John F. Turner of Moose. "We are losing the young birds and when the older ones give out, there are none to replace them.

"And the sad thing is, I don't see any reversing trend." Eleven of the 15 eagles found in Jackson Canyon last week were bald eagles and the other four were golden eagles. Both species are protected by federal law. Turner said they may have eaten poisoned bait left by sheep ranchers for predators.

Twenty-five golden eagles were found shot to death 90 miles to the Southwest near Rawlins two months ago and Turner believes they may have been shot down from planes.

The remains of the eagles found in Jackson Canyon have been sent to the federal Fish and Wildlife Service Laboratory in Laurel, Md., for study.

"I am worried about losing the eagles to irresponsible people, to power lines, to pesticides and other poisons and to loss of habitat," Turner state. "There are not too many places left where they can nest and reproduce."

Turner, a Wyoming state representative who is working on his doctorate in wildlife ecology at the University of Michigan, said there were less than 200 pairs of bald eagles in the country today.

Wyoming is one of the few states that has a dozen or more pairs, Turner said.

Turner, who has specialized in eagle conservation, said he was particularly worried about the blame placed on eagles for the loss of sheep and lamb.

The U.S. Agriculture Department said eagles killed 8,600 sheep and lamb in 1970. Turner questioned the figure, saying the sources were unreliable and that it was difficult to determine whether sheep had been killed by eagles or other causes.

"A lot of people perhaps have been brought up under the misconception the eagles are taking a significant source of livestock," he said.

Ross Schedules Bicycle Path Talk By Joske

Pierre W. Joske, Marin County parks and recreation director, will discuss the possibilities for bicycle paths through Ross at the Ross Town Council meeting at 8 p.m. Thursday at Town Hall.

At the April 8 council session Mayor Frederick S. Allen said he felt there was no safe route for bicycles through the town, and the council sent an invitation for Joske to speak on the matter.

The council also will take up a request from Dr. J. R. Utley to discuss the Corte Madera Creek Flood Control Project, upstream from Lagunitas Bridge.

There also will be a discussion on the proposed budget for streets, parks and storm drains.

Funds For Hilarita Approved

The first installment of federal funds to rebuild dilapidated housing at the Hilarita projects in Tiburon has been approved by the federal Department of Housing and Urban Development.

The Washington office of Rep. William S. Mailliard, R-First District, and moderate income housing that will replace World War II construction on the site.

The loan is an indication that full funding of the $2.7 million project will be approved by HUD, according to Ned Weed, chairman of the Tiburon Ecumenical Association.

Weed said HUD seldom approves preliminary planning money without later approving the entire loan. His association is composed of representatives of Tiburon churches, formed to encourage low and moderate income housing in the area.

The first installment is part of a $50,000 seed money loan requested by the ecumenical association. Seed money will be used for architects fees and planning for the 112-unit project, to be built on eight acres off of Tiburon Boulevard near Reed School.

Architect Ellis Kaplan of the firm Kaplan & McLaughlin has been interviewing residents on the needs of the housing project and the social planning committee of the ecumenical association has been gathering information on relocation needs.

The association is planning an all-day work session June 12 for Hilarita residents and the architect to discuss project details.

Frost & Meglio, civil engineering firm, have been working on soils drainage and topographical study during the last few weeks.

Four Hurt In Weekend Accidents

One person was hospitalized and three others treated for injuries received in three accidents over the weekend, California Highway Patrol reported.

Eugene Curran, 29, of San Mateo, was reported in good condition today at Marin General Hospital with head injuries. He received them at 4:30 p.m. Saturday in a motorcycle accident at Sir Francis Drake Boulevard and San Geronimo Valley Road, according to patrolmen.

Susan E. Christensen, 24, of Point Arena, was treated at Marin General Hospital for a cut forehead. Her six-months-old daughter, Shelly, was treated at Marin General Hospital for scrapes of the scalp.

The Christensen car, southbound on Highway 101 north of Spencer Avenue at 7:15 p.m. Friday, hit a stopped car driven by Susan C. Davis, 19, of 515 D Street San Rafael. It was being worked on by Paul Debenardis, 50, of 200 Eden Rock Drive, Sausalito, patrolmen reported.

Albert Meeuwsen, 49, of 345 Cascade Drive, Fairfax, was treated at Marin General Hospital for a cut forehead. His car hit the center divider at 2:10 a.m., Saturday, on the Greenbrae off ramp of Highway 101, patrolmen reported.

Blue, Hunter Beat Orioles; Indians Next

The A's, who rest today before meeting the Cleveland Indians Tuesday night, whipped the defending World Champion Orioles twice Sunday, 6-2 and 2-1, behind four-hit pitching performances by Blue and Hunter.

The double victory lengthened Oakland's first place lead to 4 1-2 games over Kansas City in the American League Western Division.

Blue recorded his eighth consecutive complete game victory in winning the second game. Hunter took the first game for his fifth win against two losses. The two hurlers have combined for 13 of the Athletics' 21 victories this season.

Sloppy fielding by the Orioles gave the A's the second game victory as Baltimore's Jim Palmer suffered his first loss after five victories.

The A's Joe Rudi and Reggie Jackson opened the seventh with back-to-back singles with Rudi going to third. Palmer then let go with a wild pitch, scoring Rudi, and catcher Andy Etchebarren's throw to Palmer at home went wild, too, and Jackson came all the way in for the lead run.

In the first game, Rudi doubled home one run in the third. And the A's erupted for four runs in the sixth on Angel Mangual's leadoff double, Hunter's single, a walk to Rudi with the bases loaded, a sacrifice fly by Reggie Jackson and an error by shortstop Chico Salmon.

After a two-game series with Cleveland, the A's move on to Kansas City for five games.

Nicklaus Earns His Three-Week Rest

DALLAS (UPI)—Jack Nicklaus has won the last two tournaments in which he has played, he has won three of the past six and so far this year he has picked up $131,775 in prize money.

So Jack figures he has earned a little vacation.

"I'm going to take the next three weeks off," Nicklaus said Sunday after turning what had been an afternoon of drama into a one-man show and running off with the Byron Nelson Golf Classic by two shots over Frank Beard and little Jerry McGee.

"I told my wife last night that if I could win I would take the time off," he said. "And, she said that was fine."

So as long as the vote was unanimous in the Nicklaus household, this year's first three-time winner will not hit the tour again until Atlanta early next month.

There was some doubt Sunday that Nicklaus would get his rest.

He earned it with a final round of four-under-par 34-32—66 for a 274 and $25,000 prize money. That was the same score with which he won here last year.

McGee, the 27-year-old who led after the first round of the tournament, jumped from nowhere Sunday to fire a five-under-par 65 over the 7,031-yard, par 35-35—70 Preston Trail Golf Club course.

McGee finished at four-under-par 276 well before Nicklaus, Beard, Charles Coody and other contenders. At that point McGee was a shot in front of both Beard and Nicklaus.

"I don't think it will stand up," said McGee. He was right.

Nicklaus, whose putter had been sending the ball past the cup most of the week, finally turned to his liking. In succession, he rapped in putts of 20, 12 and 20 feet on the 15th, 16th and 17th holes and then left a last birdie attempt short of the hole by two inches.

"Sooner or later you have to make some," said Nicklaus.

After McGee and Beard, who won $11,575 for their sharing of second and third, came thirdround leader Charles Coody, who stumbled to a one-over-par 71 Sunday for a 278 total, worth $5,850.

Bert Yancey, Bobby Nichols and Lee Trevino were the only other golfers to break par for four rounds, winding up at one-under-par 279, and taking away $4,541.67.

It was the second straight year Nicklaus had won this tournament, the first time since he captured the 1967 and 1968 Western Opens that he had successfully defended a championship.

And that's another reason to take a rest.

"I probably won't touch a club the first week," said Nicklaus. "My boys have three baseball games coming up next week and that will keep me busy.

"The second week I will probably hit a few shots at home, and then the third week I plan to go and play some rounds at Merion (the site in Philadelphia of this year's U.S. Open.)

"I'll probably wind up playing some rounds at home during that time though. My oldest son (Jack R., 10) has become a golf nut. He will probably drag me out for a few rounds. How many strokes do I give him? Fewer every time we play."

Russell Is Happy At Chance To Play

MIAMI (UPI)—Cazzie Russell, traded this weekend by the New York Knicks to the San Francisco Warriors for Jerry Lucas, says his first reaction was, "How could anybody trade a great player like Lucas for me?"

But the veteran National Basketball Association player said San Francisco coach Al Attles already was trying to talk him out of that attitude by calling him "one of the most spectacular shooters in basketball."

"I think what he means is that I can go in for 10 minutes and hit nine of 11 shots," The 6-6 Russell said in Miami where he is sharpening up his golf game.

"He said he wants to see what I can do in an entire game," Russell said.

"I have to consider this a break for me," Russell said of the trade for the 6-8 Lucas, a former Ohio State and Cincinnati Royal star. "Of all the teams I could have selected, the Warriors would be my first choice.

"They are a rebuilding team and when I look at a guy like Nate Thurmond, who is right up there with the all-time great centers, it makes me want to do a good job," the former Michigan All-America said. "If the season started tomorrow, I'd be anxious to play."

Russell was the sixth man for the Knicks in the 1969-70 season and saw only limited action after midseason this year even after his broken wrist healed.

"There's no ill feeling on my part," Russell said of the Knicks and coach Red Holzman. "I liked the Knicks, but I didn't enjoy sitting on the bench."

MCAL CHAMPIONSHIPS

Tam's Robertson Scores Triple Track-Field Win

By PAUL CANE

Tamalpais High School's jumping and hurdling superstar Gerald Robertson took three wins, Chakra Chappell of San Marin took two, and 11 Marin County Athletic League 1971 best times were eclipsed Saturday in the MCAL championship meet at the College of Marin.

Robertson won the high jump, triple jump, and the 120-yard high hurdles in pacing Marin County qualifiers to the North Coast Section (NCS) Divisional meet to be held next Saturday also at the college. Robertson's triple jump and hurdle marks (43-2½ and 15.0) are Marin's best this spring.

Chappell, San Marin's middle-distance specialist, won the 440 and 880 yard runs in 50.0 and 1:56.1, both the MCAL's best times for the season.

Tam's duo of distance specialists, Vian Collier and Mike Arago set MCAL meet records in the mile and 2-mile runs, respectively, with times of 4:19 and 9:27.

STANLEY CUP PLAYOFFS

A Big Win For Canadiens

MONTREAL (UPI) — Montreal coach Al Macneil knew his team wasn't out of the game despite its 2-0 deficit and after the first period his Canadien players justified their coach's faith.

The Canadiens overcame that two goal deficit with two goals in the second period and two more in the final session Sunday to defeat the Chicago Black Hawks 4-2 and post their first triumph in the Stanley Cup finals. The best-of-seven series resumes here Tuesday night with Chicago holding a 2-1 edge.

"We were on top of them from the start and we outshot them in that first period so I knew the game wasn't over" Macneil said.

Chicago had taken its 2-0 lead on goals by Cliff Koroll and Bobby Hull, who scored his 11th of the current playoffs.

Macneil added, "We were getting a lot of chances and the way we were playing I knew we would take advantage of them. That second period goal by Peter Mahovlich really gave us a lift. From then on they couldn't stop us. At the pace we were hitting I knew we were going to turn that game around."

Frank Mahovlich scored the first of his two goals in the second period to tie the score 22. His total of 13 goals in the current playoffs equals the all-time record set last season by Phil Esposito of Boston.

Right winger Yvan Cournoyer, however, scored what proved to be the winning goal at 6:23 of the final period. Cournoyer said, "Terry Harper made a fantastic play. He carried the puck along the boards and behind the Chicago net. When they (the Black Hawks) went to check him, I saw that John Ferguson and I were along in front of the net, unguarded. It was easy for me to score that goal."

Harper, who was booed by the crowd when he lost the puck in the first period and Hull eventually scored, received a standing ovation from the crowd after Cournoyer's goal.

"At first I wasn't aware of the crowd being on me," admitted Harper, "but you know I guess it does bother my playing. At least when I'm on the road the crowd doesn't bother me and I can play a lot better."

Chicago coach Billy Reay had little comment about the poor offensive showing of his club. They managed only 18 shots and gave Montreal rookie Goalie Ken Dryden the easiest time in any of the 16 games he has played so far in this year's playoffs.

Reay stated, however, "That first goal by Mahovlich should never have counted. He hooked Keith Magnuson before getting the puck away from him and then scored. As a matter of fact, I didn't agree with all the penalties that were called against us and they certainly did not help our game."

Move By Fox Has Them All Guessing

Reds Invade Candlestick For Three

With the score of Sunday's second game with the Atlanta Braves tied at 5-5, the Giants up with one out and no one on, Fox, The San Francisco Giants Manager, sent pitcher Gaylord Perry, a man with two hits in 25 previous at-bats, up to hit for pitcher Don McMahon.

Even while Perry was being announced, most of those among a crowd of 28,844 let out a groan. It seemed they along with many writers in the press box figured Fox had lost his mind.

As it turned out, Perry was the only man left to hit outside of Dick Dietz. But what about Fran Healy, some asked? Healy it developed came down with a sore back just before the start of Sunday's long doubleheader and was lost completely.

Perry, as might be expected, went out harmlessly and in the 10th Earl Williams scored Ralph Garr from second with the run that gave the Braves a 6-5 victory and a split. The Giants won the opener, 5-2, behind some nice pitching by Steve Stone and Willie Mays' 635th career homer.

"McMahon had gone as far as he could." Fox said of his maneuvering in the ninth of the nightcap. "I only had Dietz left and I wanted to save him for a spot where we had the tieing or winning run in scoring position."

The split enabled the Braves to climb into second place in the National League West, 6 1-2 games behind the Giants, who gained a half game on Houston (seven games back), Los Angeles (7 1-2) and Cincinnati (9 1-2). The Reds are in town today for the first game of a three-game series with Wayne Simpson (1-0) pitching against Juan Marichal (4-2).

Down the drain in Sunday's second game went a four-for-four performance by Willie McCovey. Among big Mac's hits was his sixth homer, a three-run drive in the fourth when the Giants scored five runs to take a 5-4 lead. Russ Gibson added a two-run triple to the inning.

Orlando Cepeda and Garr were the hitting heroes for the Braves. Cepeda drove in five runs in the second game with a grand-slam homer in the third and a bases-empty blast in the sixth, while Garr had four hits in five at-bats to improve his N.L. leading batting average to .416.

"You know me," said Cepeda, "I always like to hit in Candlestick. It's still one of my favorite parks."

Garr said he can't explain his hot hitting.

"I'm just swinging the way I always have," said the young outfielder, "only I seem to be making contact all the time. I hope it doesn't stop."

Mays had a double and his seventh homer in the opener when five different players each drove in a run and Stone pitched a five-hitter until he ran out of gas in the ninth.

Ken Henderson, Dietz, Chris Speier and Tito Fuentes were the other opening game RBI men. Speier's second inning single scored Hal Lanier with what proved to be the winning run.

When Stone, now 3-1, walked Cepeda leading off the ninth, Fox brought McMahon in and the 41-year-old fireman retired the Braves without incident to pick up the save.

Pat Jarvis (0-4) was the opening game loser for the Braves, who moved onto Los Angeles for a series with the Dodgers, while Bob Priddy, with two innings of shutout relief, won the nightcap (1-1). Jerry Johnson was the second game loser as the Braves reached him for three hits in the 10th. It was Jerry's first loss after four victories.

Tars End Season On Losing Side

The Camino Norte Conference baseball season came to an end Saturday, thereby putting a merciful stop to the downslide of the College of Marin Tars.

The Kentfield team finished with five straight losses, including a 13-1 drubbing by Canada Junior College Saturday in Redwood City. That left the Tars with a final, 11-10 league record, rather disappointing for a team that less than two weeks ago was fighting for first place.

So desperate was Marin's situation against Canada that when the supply of pitchers was exhausted in the seventh inning, second baseman Mike Parnow was called to the mound. He pitched as well or better than Jerry Goodrick, Stu Kneeland and Chris Rowland, who worked before him.

The game was virtually over in the first inning, when the home team teed off for five runs. By the end of the third, they had nine to Marin's one. When it was over, they had collected 17 hits, to just three for the Tars.

Schallock, Bohne Divide Honors

Artie Schallock, former New York Yankee pitcher now a San Rafael businessman, and Roger Bohne of Kentfield shared top honors in the annual Marin County Board of Realtors' golf tournament Friday at Marin Country Club in Novato.

Schallock took low gross honors in the 140-man field by shooting a three-over-par 75 while Bohne, a 9 handicap player, scored the first hole-in one in the 15-year history of the tournament.

Following Schallock in the low gross division were Hall Aguirre with a 78 and Paul O'Pizzi with an 80.

Exclusive Group Of Seafarers Pilot Ships Through The Bar

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Captain Archibald M. Simenstad of San Rafael skippers about 340 ships a year.

Simenstad, 60, is head of the San Francisco Bar Pilots Association whose 25 members are carrying on a sea-going tradition here that dates back to 1849.

Simenstad, who commanded an attack transport during World War II, said a pilot "takes over the duties of the Captain" when he goes aboard.

"Only he is doing it in restricted waters."

"The captain is still responsible for his ship," said the veteran of sea service since 1926.

"However, in case of a grounding the pilot would be responsible."

Simenstad, who has been a pilot here for 11 years since serving as a skipper with American President Lines, says the men in the association each pilot about 340 ships a year.

The association's boats are stationed 12 miles outside the Golden Gate, relieving each other every Wednesday.

There are nine crewmen on each boat, the Golden Gate and the California, and the pilot taking a ship out stays aboard until he catches another ship in.

"But we have a rule among ourselves that you don't have to stay out there more than 12 hours," Simenstad said. Then the shuttle boat Drake would get the pilot.

Simenstad said he and his men are saddened by the passing of another sea-going tradition, the San Francisco lightship. The Coast Guard replaced the lightship with a large navigational buoy late last month.

The lightship was anchored near the Golden Gate and "we had built up a mutual understanding with the Coast Guardsmen," Simenstad said.

"We do feel a kind of lonely without them, especially during bad weather. But in an emergency we can take refuge on the buoy."

The association is so exclusive that a decade may pass before death or retirement creates a vacancy.

It was formed in 1849 by the state's first legislature and the law decrees that all incoming and outgoing foreign vessels take a bar pilot aboard. The fees depend on tonnage and range up to several hundred dollars. Simenstad and his men guide the ships through a 49-foot deep corridor that stretches between a silty, crescent-shaped bar which protrudes from the mainland.

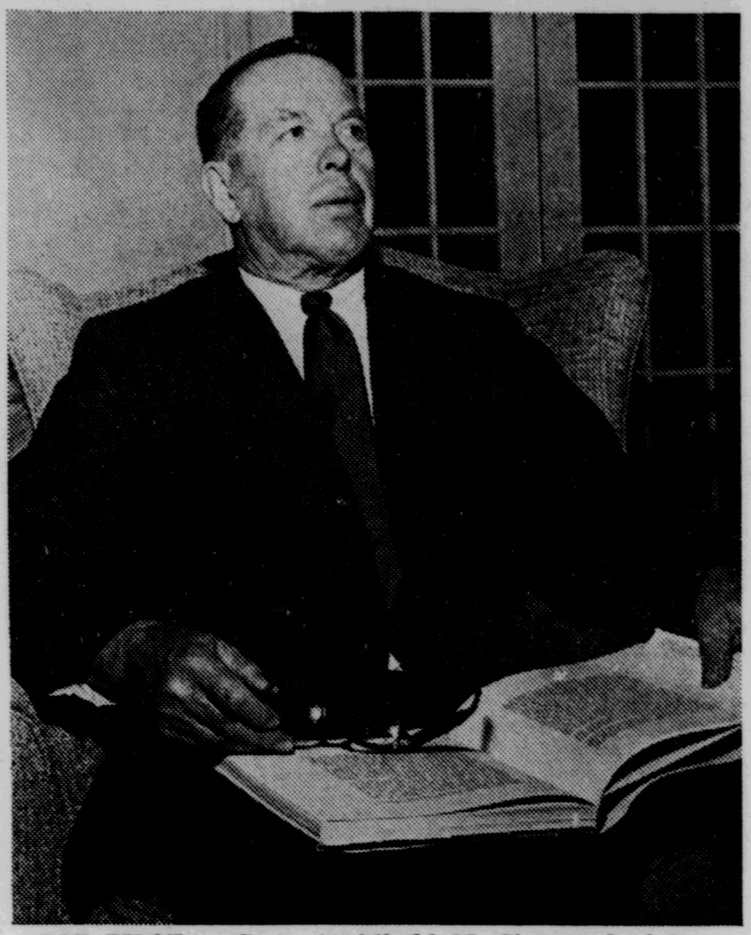
Only twice has the pilot ship strayed from its position and both moves were caused by storms.

The only major accident occurred when fierce waves whipped a pilot schooner to sea in 1867. Three pilots and four sailors were washed overboard and never found.



BAR PILOT — Capt. Archibald M. Simestad of San Rafael, head of the San Francisco Bar Pilots Association, has been a pilot for 11 years. He says each of the 25 pilots in the exclusive association skipper about 340 ships a year through the treacherous 11-mile channel into San Francisco Bay.

Bomb Scare At The Old Courthouse

A woman's purse on a lower window ledge at the old Marin County Courthouse in San Rafael created a bomb scare Saturday.

Ernest G. Lopes, a former caretaker at the courthouse, saw the purse and notified police, who called an Army bomb disposal team from the Presidio of San Francisco.

Police explained that bombs are being camouflaged in containers such as purses. This one, on a ledge on the east side just below the stairway and behind a hedge, appeared to have been placed there, bringing suspicion.

Officers kept the public a safe distance away and a crew from the San Rafael Fire Cepartment was standing by. The two-man bomb disposal team, using ropes, gathered in the purse, which was empty except for a lipstick.

An open house and hobby exhibit by first through fourth graders at Valley Christian School of Marin will be held at 7:30 p.m. Thursday at the school at 3 North San Pedro Road in San Rafael.

Eagle Deaths Spur Fear Of Extinction

MOOSE, Wyo. (UPI) — A Wyoming conservationist, alarmed about the recent discovery of 15 dead eagles in rugged and desolate canyon area near Casper, warned Sunday the nation's national bird may be extinct by the end of the century.

"I feel we have a good chance of losing the bald eagle," said John F. Turner of Moose. "We are losing the young birds and when the older ones give out, there are none to replace them.

"And the sad thing is, I don't see any reversing trend." Eleven of the 15 eagles found in Jackson Canyon last week were bald eagles and the other four were golden eagles. Both species are protected by federal law. Turner said they may have eaten poisoned bait left by sheep ranchers for predators.

Twenty-five golden eagles were found shot to death 90 miles to the Southwest near Rawlins two months ago and Turner believes they may have been shot down from planes.

The remains of the eagles found in Jackson Canyon have been sent to the federal Fish and Wildlife Service Laboratory in Laurel, Md., for study.

"I am worried about losing the eagles to irresponsible people, to power lines, to pesticides and other poisons and to loss of habitat," Turner state. "There are not too many places left where they can nest and reproduce."

Turner, a Wyoming state representative who is working on his doctorate in wildlife ecology at the University of Michigan, said there were less than 200 pairs of bald eagles in the country today.

Wyoming is one of the few states that has a dozen or more pairs, Turner said.

Turner, who has specialized in eagle conservation, said he was particularly worried about the blame placed on eagles for the loss of sheep and lamb.

The U.S. Agriculture Department said eagles killed 8,600 sheep and lamb in 1970. Turner questioned the figure, saying the sources were unreliable and that it was difficult to determine whether sheep had been killed by eagles or other causes.

"A lot of people perhaps have been brought up under the misconception the eagles are taking a significant source of livestock," he said.

The United Kingdom with 13.9 million telephones, ranks third behind the U.S. and Japan.

Ross Schedules Bicycle Path Talk By Joske

Pierre W. Joske, Marin County parks and recreation director, will discuss the possibilities for bicycle paths through Ross at the Ross Town Council meeting at 8 p.m. Thursday at Town Hall.

At the April 8 council session Mayor Frederick S. Allen said he felt there was no safe route for bicycles through the town, and the council sent an invitation for Joske to speak on the matter.

The council also will take up a request from Dr. J. R. Utley to discuss the Corte Madera Creek Flood Control Project, upstream from Lagunitas Bridge.

There also will be a discussion on the proposed budget for streets, parks and storm drains.

MacKay Reaches Net Semi-Finals

Top-seeded Barry MacKay of Ross waltzed but a half dozen other Marin County players were sidelined during the first two days of the annual Bay Counties Invitational tennis tournament at the Tiburon Peninsula Club over the weekend.

MacKay, former U.S. Davis Cupper, won three straight-set victories to move into the tourney's semi-finals, which will be played next Saturday. Also surviving the first rounds were the third and fourth seeds, Whitney Reed and Bobby Siska. Second seed Tom Brown was the victim of an upset in the third round at the hand of former Ivy League champ, Charles Hoeveler.

Only two Marin players besides MacKay, Terry Moor of Sausalito, and Larry Axtell of Ross, made it past the first round in either the men's or women's competition. Moor took straight sets from Bill Strei, but died in three second round sets to Mark Elliot.

Axtell got by Don Jacobus in three sets, but ran up against Hoeveler in the second round and lost, 6-3, 6-3.

Mark Rodnick of Tiburon and Andy Moffat of Mill Valley both dropped first round decisions, as did Leslie Airola of Tiburon and Jennifer Gobershock of Mill Valley.

Rodnick did team with another Tiburon player, Bill Kinser, for an opening round win in the men's doubles, but they were defeated by Hoeveler and Levin in the second round.

The tournament will finish up with finals next Sunday.

San Rafael Team Divides A Pair

Larkspur's Mike Martin rammed four hits and Joe Nystrom tossed a five-hit shutout to give Suburban Auto of San Rafael a split in a Golden Gate Travel League doubleheader with Petaluma Saturday night in Petaluma.

The San Rafael team won the opener 2-0 but lost the nightcap 6-5 on a pair of overthrows in the bottom of the seventh.

Back-to-back singles by Martin and Rich Matueffel drove in the runs needed for the 2-0 win but the nightcap was a different story.

Suburban Auto took a 4-0 lead into the fourth inning but a two-run homer closed the gap to 4-2. Petaluma then exploded for three more runs in the sixth inning for a 5-4 bulge but Suburban tied it up in the top of the seventh on singles by Ron Reagan and Mantueffel.

But in the bottom of the seventh Martin threw wildly into centerfield trying to cut down a stealing baserunner and the winning run came home when Bill Baxter's throw to third base went through to the screen.

winning toss of 157-0. In the other weight event, Tam Indian Terry Rutledge put the shot 52-1½ for the victory.

The sprints were won by Paul Crovo of San Rafael with a league-best 9.8 100 yard dash, and by Frank Demby of Terra Linda, who sprinted 22.9 for the 220, another season-best time.

The 180 low hurdles was won by Dave Johnson of Terra Linda, 21.2, somewhat off Crovo's league-leading best of 20.2. Cause for the off times was the fact that the hurdles were run around a curve instead of on a 280 straight as is customary.

San Rafael won the 440 relay in 43.8, and the other relay — the mile — went to Terra Linda, 3:28.9.

Joe Powell of Novato took a triple win in Class B competition, as did Mark Lowey of Terra Linda. A top performance was Ron Aguila's 11-6 pole vault, also for Terra Linda.

AIRBORNE WINNER — Al Schlette of Tamalpais High School strained for every inch he could get Saturday in the long jump event during the Marin County Athletic League championship track and field meet at College of Marin. Schlette won with a leap of 22 feet.

BOWLING TIPS

Keeping the head down is just as important on the bowling lane as it is in golf. If you have a tendency to look too quickly at the pins after releasing the ball, you'll probably miss your spot and you'll come up too quickly.

Marin Swimmers Await NCS Finals

Terra Linda High School placed swimmers in 17 events, including two victories in Class B by sophomore sensation Rick DeMont, to lead Marin County qualifiers to the North Coast Section (NCS) Championships this weekend.

The meet, held Saturday at College of Marin, drew the top swimmers from most of the North Bay area in qualifying for the finals next week in Santa Rosa.

Redwood High School was next Marin team on the list with qualifiers in 13 events, including varsity double placings by Brian Hennessy and Paul Cane.

DeMont blasted meet records in the 200 and 400-yard freestyle races, with times 4 and 12 seconds faster than his nearest challenger. His 400 time would have placed him first even in varsity competition.

Guthrie landed finals' spots in the 50 and 100 free races, placing third and fourth, respectively. Hennessy and Cane were both ranked twice in the top eight.

In varsity diving, Novato's John Summerfield was far and away the best, with a new meet record of 488.45 points.

In Class B, Terra Linda's medley relay team set a new record, with a 1:50.1 clocking.

Marin Iron-Man Softball Show

An iron-man pitching performance and a 16-inning marathon highlighted the action Saturday night as Sohner Tree Service of San Anselmo and Guanella Floors of Santa Rosa split a pair of Golden Gate Softball League thrillers at Albert Park, San Rafael.

Morey Swarm tossed a no-hitter and Doug Wilson doubled home Ron Blum in the bottom of the sixth to give Sohner a 2-1 victory in the opener.

But the Santa Rosa club rebounded to score two runs in the top of 16th inning of the nightcap and then held off a Sohner rally in the bottom half to gain a 5-4 verdict.

Swarm returned to the mound in the fifth inning of the nightcap to relieve Jess Munyon and hurled the final 11 2/3 innings.

Blue, Hunter Beat Orioles; Indians Next

The A's, who rest today before meeting the Cleveland Indians Tuesday night, whipped the defending World Champion Orioles twice Sunday, 6-2 and 2-1, behind four-hit pitching performances by Blue and Hunter.

The double victory lengthened Oakland's first place lead to 4 1-2 games over Kansas City in the American League Western Division.

Blue recorded his eighth consecutive complete game victory in winning the second game. Hunter took the first game for his fifth win against two losses. The two hurlers have combined for 13 of the Athletics' 21 victories this season.

Sloppy fielding by the Orioles gave the A's the second game victory as Baltimore's Jim Palmer suffered his first loss after five victories.

The A's Joe Rudi and Reggie Jackson opened the seventh with back-to-back singles with Rudi going to third. Palmer then let go with a wild pitch, scoring Rudi, and catcher Andy Etchebarren's throw to Palmer at home went wild, too, and Jackson came all the way in for the lead run.

In the first game, Rudi doubled home one run in the third. And the A's erupted for four runs in the sixth on Angel Mangual's leadoff double, Hunter's single, a walk to Rudi with the bases loaded, a sacrifice fly by Reggie Jackson and an error by shortstop Chico Salmon.

After a two-game series with Cleveland, the A's move on to Kansas City for five games.

Nicklaus Earns His Three-Week Rest

DALLAS (UPI)—Jack Nicklaus has won the last two tournaments in which he has played, he has won three of the past six and so far this year he has picked up $131,775 in prize money.

So Jack figures he has earned a little vacation.

"I'm going to take the next three weeks off," Nicklaus said Sunday after turning what had been an afternoon of drama into a one-man show and running off with the Byron Nelson Golf Classic by two shots over Frank Beard and little Jerry McGee.

"I told my wife last night that if I could win I would take the time off," he said. "And, she said that was fine."

So as long as the vote was unanimous in the Nicklaus household, this year's first three-time winner will not hit the tour again until Atlanta early next month.

There was some doubt Sunday that Nicklaus would get his rest.

He earned it with a final round of four-under-par 34-32—66 for a 274 and $25,000 prize money. That was the same score with which he won here last year.

McGee, the 27-year-old who led after the first round of the tournament, jumped from nowhere Sunday to fire a five-under-par 65 over the 7,031-yard, par 35-35—70 Preston Trail Golf Club course.

McGee finished at four-under-par 276 well before Nicklaus, Beard, Charles Coody and other contenders. At that point McGee was a shot in front of both Beard and Nicklaus.

"I don't think it will stand up," said McGee. He was right.

Nicklaus, whose putter had been sending the ball past the cup most of the week, finally turned to his liking. In succession, he rapped in putts of 20, 12 and 20 feet on the 15th, 16th and 17th holes and then left a last birdie attempt short of the hole by two inches.

"Sooner or later you have to make some," said Nicklaus.

After McGee and Beard, who won $11,575 for their sharing of second and third, came thirdround leader Charles Coody, who stumbled to a one-over-par 71 Sunday for a 278 total, worth $5,850.

Bert Yancey, Bobby Nichols and Lee Trevino were the only other golfers to break par for four rounds, winding up at one-under-par 279, and taking away $4,541.67.

It was the second straight year Nicklaus had won this tournament, the first time since he captured the 1967 and 1968 Western Opens that he had successfully defended a championship.

And that's another reason to take a rest.

"I probably won't touch a club the first week," said Nicklaus. "My boys have three baseball games coming up next week and that will keep me busy.

"The second week I will probably hit a few shots at home, and then the third week I plan to go and play some rounds at Merion (the site in Philadelphia of this year's U.S. Open.)

"I'll probably wind up playing some rounds at home during that time though. My oldest son (Jack R., 10) has become a golf nut. He will probably drag me out for a few rounds. How many strokes do I give him? Fewer every time we play."

Russell Is Happy At Chance To Play

MIAMI (UPI)—Cazzie Russell, traded this weekend by the New York Knicks to the San Francisco Warriors for Jerry Lucas, says his first reaction was, "How could anybody trade a great player like Lucas for me?"

But the veteran National Basketball Association player said San Francisco coach Al Attles already was trying to talk him out of that attitude by calling him "one of the most spectacular shooters in basketball."

"I think what he means is that I can go in for 10 minutes and hit nine of 11 shots," The 6-6 Russell said in Miami where he is sharpening up his golf game.

"He said he wants to see what I can do in an entire game," Russell said.

"I have to consider this a break for me," Russell said of the trade for the 6-8 Lucas, a former Ohio State and Cincinnati Royal star. "Of all the teams I could have selected, the Warriors would be my first choice.

"They are a rebuilding team and when I look at a guy like Nate Thurmond, who is right up there with the all-time great centers, it makes me want to do a good job," the former Michigan All-America said. "If the season started tomorrow, I'd be anxious to play."

Russell was the sixth man for the Knicks in the 1969-70 season and saw only limited action after midseason this year even after his broken wrist healed.

"There's no ill feeling on my part," Russell said of the Knicks and coach Red Holzman. "I liked the Knicks, but I didn't enjoy sitting on the bench."

MCAL CHAMPIONSHIPS

Tam's Robertson Scores Triple Track-Field Win

By PAUL CANE

Tamalpais High School's jumping and hurdling superstar Gerald Robertson took three wins, Chakra Chappell of San Marin took two, and 11 Marin County Athletic League 1971 best times were eclipsed Saturday in the MCAL championship meet at the College of Marin.

Robertson won the high jump, triple jump, and the 120-yard high hurdles in pacing Marin County qualifiers to the North Coast Section (NCS) Divisional meet to be held next Saturday also at the college. Robertson's triple jump and hurdle marks (43-2½ and 15.0) are Marin's best this spring.

Chappell, San Marin's middle-distance specialist, won the 440 and 880 yard runs in 50.0 and 1:56.1, both the MCAL's best times for the season.

Tam's duo of distance specialists, Vian Collier and Mike Arago set MCAL meet records in the mile and 2-mile runs, respectively, with times of 4:19 and 9:27.

Doug Puskar of San Rafael defeated all competition in the discus by nearly 20 feet, with a

STANLEY CUP PLAYOFFS

A Big Win For Canadiens

The Canadiens overcame that two goal deficit with two goals in the second period and two more in the final session Sunday to defeat the Chicago Black Hawks 4-2 and post their first triumph in the Stanley Cup finals. The best-of-seven series resumes here Tuesday night with Chicago holding a 2-1 edge.

"We were on top of them from the start and we outshot them in that first period so I knew the game wasn't over" Macneil said.

Chicago had taken its 2-0 lead on goals by Cliff Koroll and Bobby Hull, who scored his 11th of the current playoffs.

Macneil added, "We were getting a lot of chances and the way we were playing I knew we would take advantage of them. That second period goal by Peter Mahovlich really gave us a lift. From then on they couldn't stop us. At the pace we were hitting I knew we were going to turn that game around."

Frank Mahovlich scored the first of his two goals in the second period to tie the score 22. His total of 13 goals in the current playoffs equals the all-time record set last season by Phil Esposito of Boston.

Right winger Yvan Cournoyer, however, scored what proved to be the winning goal at 6:23 of the final period. Cournoyer said, "Terry Harper made a fantastic play. He carried the puck along the boards and behind the Chicago net. When they (the Black Hawks) went to check him, I saw that John Ferguson and I were along in front of the net, unguarded. It was easy for me to score that goal."

Harper, who was booed by the crowd when he lost the puck in the first period and Hull eventually scored, received a standing ovation from the crowd after Cournoyer's goal.

"At first I wasn't aware of the crowd being on me," admitted Harper, "but you know I guess it does bother my playing. At least when I'm on the road the crowd doesn't bother me and I can play a lot better."

Chicago coach Billy Reay had little comment about the poor offensive showing of his club. They managed only 18 shots and gave Montreal rookie Goalie Ken Dryden the easiest time in any of the 16 games he has played so far in this year's playoffs.

Reay stated, however, "That first goal by Mahovlich should never have counted. He hooked Keith Magnuson before getting the puck away from him and then scored. As a matter of fact, I didn't agree with all the penalties that were called against us and they certainly did not help our game."

Move By Fox Has Them All Guessing

Reds Invade Candlestick For Three

With the score of Sunday's second game with the Atlanta Braves tied at 5-5, the Giants up with one out and no one on, Fox, The San Francisco Giants Manager, sent pitcher Gaylord Perry, a man with two hits in 25 previous at-bats, up to hit for pitcher Don McMahon.

Even while Perry was being announced, most of those among a crowd of 28,844 let out a groan. It seemed they along with many writers in the press box figured Fox had lost his mind.

As it turned out, Perry was the only man left to hit outside of Dick Dietz. But what about Fran Healy, some asked? Healy it developed came down with a sore back just before the start of Sunday's long doubleheader and was lost completely.

Perry, as might be expected, went out harmlessly and in the 10th Earl Williams scored Ralph Garr from second with the run that gave the Braves a 6-5 victory and a split. The Giants won the opener, 5-2, behind some nice pitching by Steve Stone and Willie Mays' 635th career homer.

"McMahon had gone as far as he could." Fox said of his maneuvering in the ninth of the nightcap. "I only had Dietz left and I wanted to save him for a spot where we had the tieing or winning run in scoring position."

The split enabled the Braves to climb into second place in the National League West, 6 1-2 games behind the Giants, who gained a half game on Houston (seven games back), Los Angeles (7 1-2) and Cincinnati (9 1-2). The Reds are in town today for the first game of a three-game series with Wayne Simpson (1-0) pitching against Juan Marichal (4-2).

Down the drain in Sunday's second game went a four-for-four performance by Willie McCovey. Among big Mac's hits was his sixth homer, a three-run drive in the fourth when the Giants scored five runs to take a 5-4 lead. Russ Gibson added a two-run triple to the inning.

Orlando Cepeda and Garr were the hitting heroes for the Braves. Cepeda drove in five runs in the second game with a grand-slam homer in the third and a bases-empty blast in the sixth, while Garr had four hits in five at-bats to improve his N.L. leading batting average to .416.

"You know me," said Cepeda, "I always like to hit in Candlestick. It's still one of my favorite parks."

Garr said he can't explain his hot hitting.

"I'm just swinging the way I always have," said the young outfielder, "only I seem to be making contact all the time. I hope it doesn't stop."

Mays had a double and his seventh homer in the opener when five different players each drove in a run and Stone pitched a five-hitter until he ran out of gas in the ninth.

Ken Henderson, Dietz, Chris Speier and Tito Fuentes were the other opening game RBI men. Speier's second inning single scored Hal Lanier with what proved to be the winning run.

When Stone, now 3-1, walked Cepeda leading off the ninth, Fox brought McMahon in and the 41-year-old fireman retired the Braves without incident to pick up the save.

Pat Jarvis (0-4) was the opening game loser for the Braves, who moved onto Los Angeles for a series with the Dodgers, while Bob Priddy, with two innings of shutout relief, won the nightcap (1-1). Jerry Johnson was the second game loser as the Braves reached him for three hits in the 10th. It was Jerry's first loss after four victories.

Tars End Season On Losing Side

The Camino Norte Conference baseball season came to an end Saturday, thereby putting a merciful stop to the downslide of the College of Marin Tars.

The Kentfield team finished with five straight losses, including a 13-1 drubbing by Canada Junior College Saturday in Redwood City. That left the Tars with a final, 11-10 league record, rather disappointing for a team that less than two weeks ago was fighting for first place.

So desperate was Marin's situation against Canada that when the supply of pitchers was exhausted in the seventh inning, second baseman Mike Parnow was called to the mound. He pitched as well or better than Jerry Goodrick, Stu Kneeland and Chris Rowland, who worked before him.

The game was virtually over in the first inning, when the home team teed off for five runs. By the end of the third, they had nine to Marin's one. When it was over, they had collected 17 hits, to just three for the Tars.

Schallock, Bohne Divide Honors

Artie Schallock, former New York Yankee pitcher now a San Rafael businessman, and Roger Bohne of Kentfield shared top honors in the annual Marin County Board of Realtors' golf tournament Friday at Marin Country Club in Novato.

Schallock took low gross honors in the 140-man field by shooting a three-over-par 75 while Bohne, a 9 handicap player, scored the first hole-in one in the 15-year history of the tournament.

He aced the 135-yard 15th hole with a pitching wedge.

Following Schallock in the low gross division were Hall Aguirre with a 78 and Paul O'Pizzi with an 80.

That Old Mets' Magic Turning Up New Heroes

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

That old Met Magic of 1969 seems to be working again and turning up heroes like —are you ready for this name —Tim Foli.

You remember 1969, of course, when the meek Mets inherited the baseball earth with the most startling World Series upset of all time. Then, there was 1970, when it all didn't work again and the heroes of 1969 finished the season exchanging churlish remarks about each other.

But now it's 1971 and the Mets are rolling again —up front in the National League's Eastern Division race by a half game —and producing a hero a day to keep the other contenders away.

Foli, who considers himself a shortstop but is an all-purpose inflielder in Met Manager Gil Hodges' own little world of baseball strategy, drove in four runs with a triple and a single Sunday to lead New York toa 9-5 victory over Steve Carlton and the St. Louis Cardinals.

"I have to stay sharp to get a game," said Foli. "I twitch a lot when I'm not playing so the guys on the bench tell me to go sit in a corner. They used to call me Crazy Horse but now they call me Wappoho. I think it's a promotion."

Foli tripled in a run in the first inning and hit a three-run double in the second and Bob Aspromonte drove in two more runs with a single in the fourth, a homer in the sixth as Jerry Koosman won his second game of the season. Koosman went 6-1-3 innings with Ron Taylor and Danny Frisella finishing up. Donn Clendenon also homered for the Mets.

The Montreal Expos defeated the Chicago Cubs, 7-3, the Philadelphia Phillies shaded the Houston Astros, 2-1, the Pittsburgh Pirates downed the Los Angeles Dodgers, 11-5, the San Diego Padres topped the Cincinnati Reds 7-2, and the Atlanta Braves beat the San Francisco Giants, 6-5 in 10 innings, after a 5-2 loss in other National League games.

In the American League, it was Oakland over Baltimore, 6-2 and 2-1, Kansas City 6 Detroit 2, Cleveland 4 California 1, Minnesota 6 Washington 5, New York 6 Chicago 1 and Milwaukee 6 Boston 1.

Foli is a young player of great talent who could suddenly develop into a star. His 3-for-4 day Sunday lifted his batting average to .300 but, more important, he could be the cure-all for the Mets' platooning problems at either third or second base.

Mack Jones drove in five runs with a two-run homer in the fourth and a three-run homer in the fifth as Bill Stoneman pitched a seven-hitter and struck out 11 for his fourth victory for the Expos. Bob Bailey also homered for the Expos while Jim Hickman connected for the Cubs. Milt Pappas, rapped for eight hits and six runs in 4 2-3 innings, lost his fourth game.

Barry Lersch won his third game with a five-hitter when Tim McCarver singled home Willie Montanez, who had doubled, with two out in the ninth inning. Houston's Jack Billingham was tagged with his third loss against one victory.

Rookie pinch-hitter Charlie Sands capped an eight-run rally in the eighth inning with a three-run double as the Pirates rallied for their triumph over the Dodgers. Bob Veale, who pitched 1 2-3 innings of shutout relief, won his first game although Jim Grant finished up while Pete Mikkelsen lost for the Dodgers.

Junior Lacrosse

Novato's Parks and Recreation Department downed its counterpart from San Rafael, 9-6, and Corte Madera fell to San Francisco, 12-0 Saturday in Northern California Lacrosse Association junior division games.

Donohue Still Unmatched

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (UPI) —The Media, Pa., rabbit, Mark Donohue, returns to the Indianapolis Motor Speedway today after giving other drivers the weekend to chase speeds he chalked up in practice for the 500-mile race May 29.

Seven drivers took up the speed challenge Sunday, but none matched or topped the sizzling 177.901 miles per hour Donohue registered last Friday.

The weekend also featured the first serious crash at the speedway and four spins on the 2 1-2-mile speedway oval.

Lee Roy Yarbrough, Columbia, S.C., suffered minor burns Sunday when he crashed his -Dan Gurney Eagle-Offenhauser against the outside wall in the first turn. The car was damaged extensively in the wreck and resulting fire.

Golf

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (UPI)—Sandra Haynie in 1971 is doing to the Ladies Professional Golf Association tour what Jack Nicklaus is doing to the men's tour.

Haynie cruised to a two-under-par 71 Sumday in the final round of the Alamo Open Golf tournament to win by six strokes her third consecutive tournament and shoot her sixth consecutive below par round.

Basketball

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (UPI) — The Kentucky Colonels tied the American Basketball Association at two wins apiece Saturday when, led by guard Louis Dampier's clutch performance, they defeated the Utah Stars, 129-125 in an overtime period. Dampier pumped in his team's last five points, and had 33 for the game.

The series continues Wednesday night in Salt Lake City.

Boxing

OAKLAND (UPI) — George Foreman, the youngest of six heavyweights fighting in three locations tonight, is a 10-7 favorite to beat old Gregorio Peralta of Argentina in their 15-round bout at the Oakland Coliseum Arena.

Earlier in the evening, trial horse George Chuvalo fights former World Boxing Association champion Jimmy Ellis at Toronto and Ernie Terrell, who has fought for the title before without much success, takes on Luis Pires at Chicago.

MONTE CARLO, Monaco (UPI)—Carlos Monzon, who quite probably ended Nino Benvenuti's boxing career Saturday night, says he'll defend his world middleweight title next against Emile Griffith.

Monzon, a chunky Argentinian, won the title by knocking out Benvenuti on Nov. 8 and defended it successfully Saturday night.

Tennis

Laver, who suffered a back injury in Dallas last week, showed no ill effects in crushing Arthur Ashe of Gum Spring, Va., 6-3, 6-2, 6-2 Sunday to move into the finals of the $50,000 Rome International Tennis Tournament.

Laver will meet Jan Kodes, who qualified by beating Tom Okker of the Netherlands, 4-6, 6-3, 7-5, 6-4, in today's final round.

MacKay Reaches Net Semi-Finals

Top-seeded Barry MacKay of Ross waltzed but a half dozen other Marin County players were sidelined during the first two days of the annual Bay Counties Invitational tennis tournament at the Tiburon Peninsula Club over the weekend.

MacKay, former U.S. Davis Cupper, won three straight-set victories to move into the tourney's semi-finals, which will be played next Saturday. Also surviving the first rounds were the third and fourth seeds, Whitney Reed and Bobby Siska. Second seed Tom Brown was the victim of an upset in the third round at the hand of former Ivy League champ, Charles Hoeveler.

Only two Marin players besides MacKay, Terry Moor of Sausalito, and Larry Axtell of Ross, made it past the first round in either the men's or women's competition. Moor took straight sets from Bill Strei, but died in three second round sets to Mark Elliot.

Axtell got by Don Jacobus in three sets, but ran up against Hoeveler in the second round and lost, 6-3, 6-3.

Mark Rodnick of Tiburon and Andy Moffat of Mill Valley both dropped first round decisions, as did Leslie Airola of Tiburon and Jennifer Gobershock of Mill Valley.

Rodnick did team with another Tiburon player, Bill Kinser, for an opening round win in the men's doubles, but they were defeated by Hoeveler and Levin in the second round.

The tournament will finish up with finals next Sunday.

San Rafael Team Divides A Pair

Larkspur's Mike Martin rammed four hits and Joe Nystrom tossed a five-hit shutout to give Suburban Auto of San Rafael a split in a Golden Gate Travel League doubleheader with Petaluma Saturday night in Petaluma.

The San Rafael team won the opener 2-0 but lost the nightcap 6-5 on a pair of overthrows in the bottom of the seventh.

Back-to-back singles by Martin and Rich Matueffel drove in the runs needed for the 2-0 win but the nightcap was a different story.

Suburban Auto took a 4-0 lead into the fourth inning but a two-run homer closed the gap to 4-2. Petaluma then exploded for three more runs in the sixth inning for a 5-4 bulge but Suburban tied it up in the top of the seventh on singles by Ron Reagan and Mantueffel.

But in the bottom of the seventh Martin threw wildly into centerfield trying to cut down a stealing baserunner and the winning run came home when Bill Baxter's throw to third base went through to the screen.

winning toss of 157-0. In the other weight event, Tam Indian Terry Rutledge put the shot 52-1½ for the victory.

The sprints were won by Paul Crovo of San Rafael with a league-best 9.8 100 yard dash, and by Frank Demby of Terra Linda, who sprinted 22.9 for the 220, another season-best time.

The 180 low hurdles was won by Dave Johnson of Terra Linda, 21.2, somewhat off Crovo's league-leading best of 20.2. Cause for the off times was the fact that the hurdles were run around a curve instead of on a 280 straight as is customary.

San Rafael won the 440 relay in 43.8, and the other relay — the mile — went to Terra Linda, 3:28.9.

Joe Powell of Novato took a triple win in Class B competition, as did Mark Lowey of Terra Linda. A top performance was Ron Aguila's 11-6 pole vault, also for Terra Linda.

AIRBORNE WINNER — Al Schlette of Tamalpais High School strained for every inch he could get Saturday in the long jump event during the Marin County Athletic League championship track and field meet at College of Marin. Schlette won with a leap of 22 feet.

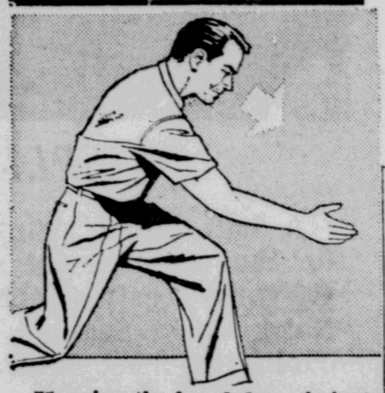
BOWLING TIPS

By DON CARTER



Keeping the head down is just as important on the bowling lane as it is in golf. If you have a tendency to look too quickly at the pins after releasing the ball, you'll probably miss your spot and you'll come up too quickly.

Marin Swimmers Await NCS Finals

Terra Linda High School placed swimmers in 17 events, including two victories in Class B by sophomore sensation Rick DeMont, to lead Marin County qualifiers to the North Coast Section (NCS) Championships this weekend.

The meet, held Saturday at College of Marin, drew the top swimmers from most of the North Bay area in qualifying for the finals next week in Santa Rosa.

Redwood High School was next Marin team on the list with qualifiers in 13 events, including varsity double placings by Brian Hennessy and Paul Cane.

DeMont blasted meet records in the 200 and 400-yard freestyle races, with times 4 and 12 seconds faster than his nearest challenger. His 400 time would have placed him first even in varsity competition.

Guthrie landed finals' spots in the 50 and 100 free races, placing third and fourth, respectively. Hennessy and Cane were both ranked twice in the top eight.

In varsity diving, Novato's John Summerfield was far and away the best, with a new meet record of 488.45 points.

In Class B, Terra Linda's medley relay team set a new record, with a 1:50.1 clocking.

Marin Iron-Man Softball Show

An iron-man pitching performance and a 16-inning marathon highlighted the action Saturday night as Sohner Tree Service of San Anselmo and Guanella Floors of Santa Rosa split a pair of Golden Gate Softball League thrillers at Albert Park, San Rafael.

Morey Swarm tossed a no-hitter and Doug Wilson doubled home Ron Blum in the bottom of the sixth to give Sohner a 2-1 victory in the opener.

But the Santa Rosa club rebounded to score two runs in the top of 16th inning of the nightcap and then held off a Sohner rally in the bottom half to gain a 5-4 verdict.

Swarm returned to the mound in the fifth inning of the nightcap to relieve Jess Munyon and hurled the final 11 2/3 innings.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Expert Tax Advice Should Be Heeded

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. We have 25 shares of General Electric bought at $65 in 1961. Should we take this profit to offset a $2,000 real estate transaction? Our CPA has suggested we do this and then buy GE back after the split. — L.W.

A. You have an approximate $1,400 long term capital gain which can be offset by $1,400 of your real estate capital loss. The remaining $600 of the loss may be applied toward ordinary income, in part or in full depending on whether the loss is long or short term. Remember, your tax consultant is an expert in his field and his advice is based on this knowledge.

General Electric shareholders have approved a 2-for-1 split payable in June. The run-up in these shares not only reflects the split but also the outstanding gains in operating results and an anticipated contract from Japan. Rebounding strongly in the last nine months of 1970 following a prolonged strike, earnings gained 18 per cent for the year. Furthermore, earnings set a first quarter record this year of $1.01 a share.

After such an extended advance, a sell-off following the split would be a normal expectation and would present an excellent opportunity for you to reestablish your position in General Electric.

Q. I am in college and own 150 shares of Standard Oil of California. I am looking for at least a 5 per cent return and good growth. Should I hold or replace my shares? — J. N.

A. Your investment objectives should be modified since a high return is not usually consistent with good growth. In order for growth to qualify as "good" it must moderately outpace the 4-5 per cent annual increment of inflation. Socal shares have grown at an average of 6.2 per cent annually over the last decade, while returning an average of 4 per cent. Yield was highest when price/earnings ratio was lowest and vice versa.

Recent strong recovery in Socal shares indicates investor reappraisal of the company's growth potential, which in my opinion should be more important to you than a high dividend return. Hold.

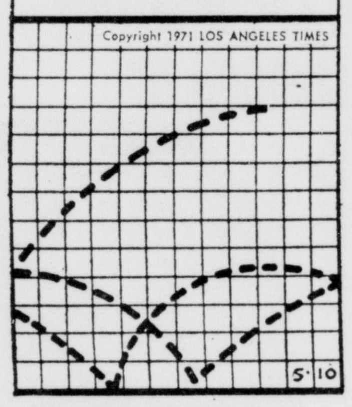
Safeway Ends Pay Difference On Men, Women

OAKLAND (UPI)—Safeway Stores, Inc., one of the nation's largest supermarket chains, has announced it was ending pay discrimination between men and women clerks.

W.S. Mitchell, president of Safeway, said woman clerks would be boosted to the same pay as male clerks where they have been paid less.

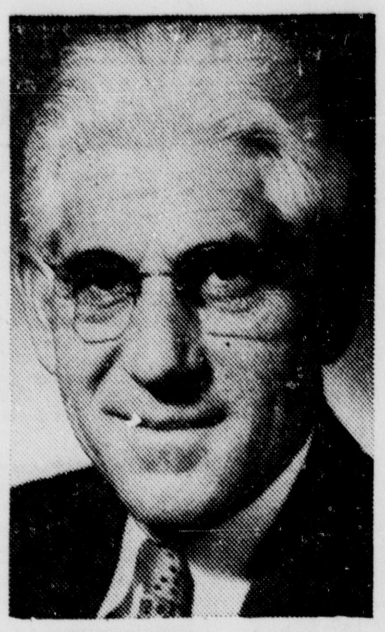
The company said it made an efficiency study on the subject. But the results of the study were not disclosed.

SMART CHART
by Stansbury



"Our Ping-Pong strategy is paying off."

STEPS UP — Frank J. Keaton has taken on the presidency of Cal-Marin Title Co., San Rafael in place of Peter J. Bertoni. He has been a director of the company and is head of the Keaton Mortuaries of Marin County.



STEPS DOWN — Peter J. Bertoni has given up the presidency of Cal-Marin Title Co., San Rafael, of which he was a co-founder, to devote more time to the company's new computerized escrow accounting system. He will become vice president and continue as senior escrow officer. He has been almost 50 years in the title insurance business in Marin County.

Paperwork Explosion Seen In Past Decade

NEW YORK (UPI)—"Paperwork explosion" is a good description of the massive increase in record-keeping activities in business and industry during the last decade. The Framingham Trust of Framingham, Mass., recently used a Honeywell computer to learn exactly how the phenomenon has affected its own business.

Between the end of 1963 and the fall of 1970, bank resources had increased 78 per cent, bank deposits had increased 73 per cent and number of accounts had increased 63 per cent. However, number of items processed had increased 315 per cent to more than 1.5 million per month.

Nicholas Daphne Issued Permit For Mortuary In Corte Madera

A permit has been issued for the construction of a new $150,000 mortuary at 601 Tamalpais Drive, Corte Madera in the name of Nicholas Daphne.

A resident of Hillsboro, Daphne heads Daphne Funeral Services at 1 Church Street, San Francisco as well as the Cathay Mortuary at 1213 Powell Street and Wing Sun Mortuary at 17 Brenham Place, also in San Francisco.

AN APPLICATION has been made by First Federal Savings and Loan Association of San Rafael to the Federal Home Loan Bank for permission to open a branch office at the intersection of San Bruno Avenue and Burrows Street in San Francisco. If allowed, this will be First Federal's first branch, but probably 120 days will go by before definite plans can be made.

The association is now finishing up its eighth year and since Dec. 31 has increased its assets by $1 million to a total of $13 million.

Newly added to the San Rafael staff are Paul Simmons in the loan department and Mrs. Chris Maddux as a teller. Simmons was formerly with Bank of America and plans to move from Napa to Marin. Mrs. Maddux, formerly with Santa Barbara Savings and Loan Association, replaces Mrs. Diane Riordan, who is leaving First Federal to be with her family.

STANLEY W. McDONALD of Petaluma, assistant vice president and assistant manager of Bank of Marin's office in that city, has been appointed a director of the Fourth District Agricultural Association, the sponsoring organization for the Sonoma-Marin Fair held annually in Petaluma. That Old Mets' Magic Turning Up New Heroes

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

That old Met Magic of 1969 seems to be working again and turning up heroes like —are you ready for this name —Tim Foli.

You remember 1969, of course, when the meek Mets inherited the baseball earth with the most startling World Series upset of all time. Then, there was 1970, when it all didn't work again and the heroes of 1969 finished the season exchanging churlish remarks about each other.

But now it's 1971 and the Mets are rolling again —up front in the National League's Eastern Division race by a half game —and producing a hero a day to keep the other contenders away.

Foli, who considers himself a shortstop but is an all-purpose inflielder in Met Manager Gil Hodges' own little world of baseball strategy, drove in four runs with a triple and a single Sunday to lead New York toa 9-5 victory over Steve Carlton and the St. Louis Cardinals.

"I have to stay sharp to get a game," said Foli. "I twitch a lot when I'm not playing so the guys on the bench tell me to go sit in a corner. They used to call me Crazy Horse but now they call me Wappoho. I think it's a promotion."

Foli tripled in a run in the first inning and hit a three-run double in the second and Bob Aspromonte drove in two more runs with a single in the fourth, a homer in the sixth as Jerry Koosman won his second game of the season. Koosman went 6-1-3 innings with Ron Taylor and Danny Frisella finishing up. Donn Clendenon also homered for the Mets.

The Montreal Expos defeated the Chicago Cubs, 7-3, the Philadelphia Phillies shaded the Houston Astros, 2-1, the Pittsburgh Pirates downed the Los Angeles Dodgers, 11-5, the San Diego Padres topped the Cincinnati Reds 7-2, and the Atlanta Braves beat the San Francisco Giants, 6-5 in 10 innings, after a 5-2 loss in other National League games.

In the American League, it was Oakland over Baltimore, 6-2 and 2-1, Kansas City 6 Detroit 2, Cleveland 4 California 1, Minnesota 6 Washington 5, New York 6 Chicago 1 and Milwaukee 6 Boston 1.

Foli is a young player of great talent who could suddenly develop into a star. His 3-for-4 day Sunday lifted his batting average to .300 but, more important, he could be the cure-all for the Mets' platooning problems at either third or second base.

Mack Jones drove in five runs with a two-run homer in the fourth and a three-run homer in the fifth as Bill Stoneman pitched a seven-hitter and struck out 11 for his fourth victory for the Expos. Bob Bailey also homered for the Expos while Jim Hickman connected for the Cubs. Milt Pappas, rapped for eight hits and six runs in 4 2-3 innings, lost his fourth game.

Barry Lersch won his third game with a five-hitter when Tim McCarver singled home Willie Montanez, who had doubled, with two out in the ninth inning. Houston's Jack Billingham was tagged with his third loss against one victory.

Rookie pinch-hitter Charlie Sands capped an eight-run rally in the eighth inning with a three-run double as the Pirates rallied for their triumph over the Dodgers. Bob Veale, who pitched 1 2-3 innings of shutout relief, won his first game although Jim Grant finished up while Pete Mikkelsen lost for the Dodgers.

Junior Lacrosse

Novato's Parks and Recreation Department downed its counterpart from San Rafael, 9-6, and Corte Madera fell to San Francisco, 12-0 Saturday in Northern California Lacrosse Association junior division games.

SPORT SHORTS

Donohue Still Unmatched

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (UPI) —The Media, Pa., rabbit, Mark Donohue, returns to the Indianapolis Motor Speedway today after giving other drivers the weekend to chase speeds he chalked up in practice for the 500-mile race May 29.

Seven drivers took up the speed challenge Sunday, but none matched or topped the sizzling 177.901 miles per hour Donohue registered last Friday.

The weekend also featured the first serious crash at the speedway and four spins on the 2 1-2-mile speedway oval.

Lee Roy Yarbrough, Columbia, S.C., suffered minor burns Sunday when he crashed his -Dan Gurney Eagle-Offenhauser against the outside wall in the first turn. The car was damaged extensively in the wreck and resulting fire.

Golf

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (UPI)—Sandra Haynie in 1971 is doing to the Ladies Professional Golf Association tour what Jack Nicklaus is doing to the men's tour.

Haynie cruised to a two-under-par 71 Sumday in the final round of the Alamo Open Golf tournament to win by six strokes her third consecutive tournament and shoot her sixth consecutive below par round.

Basketball

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (UPI) — The Kentucky Colonels tied the American Basketball Association at two wins apiece Saturday when, led by guard Louis Dampier's clutch performance, they defeated the Utah Stars, 129-125 in an overtime period. Dampier pumped in his team's last five points, and had 33 for the game.

The series continues Wednesday night in Salt Lake City.

Boxing

OAKLAND (UPI) — George Foreman, the youngest of six heavyweights fighting in three locations tonight, is a 10-7 favorite to beat old Gregorio Peralta of Argentina in their 15-round bout at the Oakland Coliseum Arena.

Earlier in the evening, trial horse George Chuvalo fights former World Boxing Association champion Jimmy Ellis at Toronto and Ernie Terrell, who has fought for the title before without much success, takes on Luis Pires at Chicago.

MONTE CARLO, Monaco (UPI)—Carlos Monzon, who quite probably ended Nino Benvenuti's boxing career Saturday night, says he'll defend his world middleweight title next against Emile Griffith.

Monzon, a chunky Argentinian, won the title by knocking out Benvenuti on Nov. 8 and defended it successfully Saturday night.

Tennis

Laver, who suffered a back injury in Dallas last week, showed no ill effects in crushing Arthur Ashe of Gum Spring, Va., 6-3, 6-2, 6-2 Sunday to move into the finals of the $50,000 Rome International Tennis Tournament.

Laver will meet Jan Kodes, who qualified by beating Tom Okker of the Netherlands, 4-6, 6-3, 7-5, 6-4, in today's final round.

TOWN MEETING

Citizens Ready For Hub Change

By M. STREET BROOKS

San Anselmo tapped its grass roots Saturday and sprung a wealth of ideas for change.

Change is inevitable, about 200 residents who met at Sir Francis Drake High School were told at the start of the sixth annual town meeting by chairman Martin G. Blinder.

And the 14 discussion groups proved they were prepared to call for changes.

They recommended changes in city government, suggested ways to solve environmental and drug problems, called for stricter zoning enforcement to retain the beauty of their community, and even discussed their dogs' habits.

Young and old, hip and straight worked together formulating problems and hammering out solutions to city problems. Two fourth graders worked with those old enough to be their grandparents for improved recreation programs and a pony-tailed young man in levis discussed the drug problem with Lt. G. Albert Howenstein, the latter in his blue blazer with the patch of the San Anselmo Police Department.

They were planning for the future. Not just for the coming year, but for the day Blinder described — perhaps 30 years from now — when San Anselmo might have about 17,000 more residents, eight times as many cars using several hundred more miles of streets, stingily shaded by several hundred less trees, and about five times as many students.

Jack H. Olive, who with Barbara Skerpan led a group to preserve San Anselmo's unique character, reported at a summary session following the two-hour discussions that his group will recommend to the city zoning commission the strict enforcement of zoning for the city's scenic slopes and insurance that new structures "correspond to the city as it is."

Some of the new apartment projects being constructed are not in character, Olive said.

San Anselmo is unique, the group reported, because of diversities in housing, age, and income groups and because the city still has some wide open spaces.

Olive said his group also decided that "communes should not be discouraged," and welcomed them — sans noise and with a couple of other minor adjustments — as an alternative way of life.

Other group actions included:

TRANSPORTATION

The transportation group's recommendations called for a freely interchangeable transportation ticket which would allow travel around the county and throughout the Bay area on more than one mode of transportation.

Getting closer to home, the group recommended that no parking be allowed during the morning and evening rush

Another Judge Is Ousted By Magee

Lindsay Rules Convict Incapable Of Defense

By MARY LEYDECKER

The latest judge in the Angela Davis-Ruchell Magee case stepped down from the bench today when the 31-year-old San Quentin convict was allowed to use his one peremptory challenge.

Before leaving the bench, Judge Alan A. Lindsay of Alameda County also agreed with all the previous judges in the case that Magee, who wants to act as his own attorney, is not competent to do so.

Magee had said last week he "would spend anything" to get rid of Lindsay when asked by the judge if he wanted to use his one peremptory challenge at that time.

His latest court-appointed lawyer, Ernest L. Graves of Los Angeles, reluctantly presented the challenge for Magee and agreed that he and Magee had used their one challenge. He added, however, that as counsel, he would not have used it at this stage in the proceedings.

Magee and Miss Davis, charged with murder, kidnapping and conspiracy stemming from the August shoot-out at the Civic Center in which Judge Harold J. Haley was killed, are still awaiting hearings on pretrial motions.

Miss Davis's attorneys, who unsuccessfully challenged Judge Lindsay for cause, have been trying for weeks to have her motions, including one that she be released on bail, ruled on.

Magee has repeatedly stalled the case through his refusal to cooperate with his court-appointed lawyers and by challenging judges.

Today, Judge Lindsay said that he "would have withdrawn at the earliest opportunity" if he had had any bias toward either defendant.

He went on to say, however, that the law provides for a peremptory challenge of judges, "which I interpret as meaning a challenge to . . . intellectual integrity."

He said that "it provides for automatic disqualification without any proof of cause."

Even after he had withdrawn from the case, the judge was interrupted by Magee as he was announcing that the case was recessed until the state Judicial Council sends another judge. (This took about two weeks last time.)

"I am the attorney," Magee shouted when Judge Lindsay mentioned Graves.

Lindsay had earlier said that "the record discloses ample basis in fact for the conclusion . . . that Magee is not capable of representing himself."

"Nearly all the documents presented by him are confused, ineffective and do not present any tangible showing in support of his various motions . . ." Lindsay said.

He added that Magee "in all probability . . . would harm his own defense if he were allowed to proceed as his own counsel."

The judge also ruled today that the oft-presented petitions filed by Magee in attempts to get the case transferred to federal court have not deprived the state court of jurisdiction.

He said furthermore, that Magee's challenge of Marin Judge E. Warren McGuire last December did not count as his one peremptory challenge because the convict did not have an attorney at that time.

Another visiting judge, John P. McMurray of Inyo County, withdrew from the case when challenged for cause by Magee.

Left undecided today was whether Miss Davis still has a peremptory challenge or whether Magee has used their only one. The courts have held that there is only one challenge to a side unless a decided conflict between the defendants is shown.

Hoover In Vow To Stay At FBI

WASHINGTON (UPI) —J. Edgar Hoover observed his 47th anniversary as FBI director today, with a vow to stay on as long as wanted.

In the Senate, Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana said Hoover "has done an outstanding job" in running the FBI since taking over a weak organization in 1924 and turning it into a tough, 8,000-man crime fighting force.

One of Hoover's chief critics, Sen. George S. McGovern, D-S.D., marked the beginning of the director's 48th year on the job with a new attack accusing him of violating individual rights.

McGovern and some other critics have been demanding that Hoover resign. But Hoover told UPI he has no intention of doing so, and plans to remain on the job "as long as I can be of service to the country and my health permits."

President Nixon has indicated he wants Hoover to stay on, and Hoover's health apparently is excellent.

As for his leadership of the FBI, Mansfield said of Hoover that he had made mistakes "but Mr. Hoover has done an outstanding job." He said if there are those who have complaints" they should make them to appropriate congressional committees and ask that they be investigated.

McGovern claimed today to have uncovered documentary evidence that Hoover violated the U.S. Constitution by trying to discredit an airline pilot who criticized the FBI's handling of a hijacking case.

McGovern, the only announced Democratic presidential candidate, said he sent the evidence to Sam J. Ervin Jr., D-N.C., with a request that Ervin's subcommittee on Constitutional Rights investigate the incident.

The TWA pilot, Donald C. Cook Jr., had criticized the way the FBI handled a hijacking in which he was involved in New York in November, saying it was "a prescription for getting the entire crew killed and the plane destroyed."

McGovern, D-S.D., previously had accused Hoover of writing to Cook's boss, TWA Board Chairman Charles C. Tillinghast Jr., complaining about Cook and including confidential information from Cook's Air Force file in the letter.

McGovern said Tillinghast now has confirmed receipt of Hoover's letter, telling McGovern "following the incident in question, we received a communication from Hoover

Would Vote To Impeach Nixon

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Rep. Ronald V. Dellums, D-Calif., said today he would vote to impeach President Nixon because of his Vietnam war policies and that he will decide soon whether to introduce an impeachment resolution in the House.

Dellums thus becomes the first member of Congress to say publicly he would vote to impeach the President.

However, he said that because of the seriousness of the step he will consult other members of Congress before introducing an impeachment resolution.

Dollar Falls On Money Markets But Panicky Selling Has Halted

BONN (UPI)—The U.S. dollar fell in value when the European money markets reopened today after a five-day emergency closure to cope with the world monetary crisis. Dollars in Austria were at their lowest value since World War II, but the panicky selling of dollars halted.

The West German mark, freed to float to its true value, rose about 3 3-4 per cent above its official dollar rate in Frankfurt today. This meant a devaluation of the dollar amounting to 3.7 per cent and an upward revaluation of the mark by 3.85 per cent. Speculation in financial circles was that the mark might rise as much as 5 per cent eventually.

The Netherlands and Belgium allowed their currencies to float in the German manner. Switzerland revalued its franc 7.07 per cent upward and Austria revalued its schilling upward 5.05 per cent, taking the dollar to the lowest point since the war. Britain, France and Italy made no changes.

The range over which the dollar dropped was from 3.7 per cent in West Germany to 7.07 per cent in Switzerland. However the dollar price in Zurich settled down to a level slightly above the value established by Sunday's revaluation of the Swiss franc. A national bank official said market demands had established a level of 4.09 to 4.10 francs to the dollar by afternoon; the official rate was 4.08.

The dollar was steady on the Paris and London markets where the government still supported it.

Frankfurt's official foreign exchange market set the day's rate at 3.5250 marks per dollar compared to an official rate of 3.66, and a price of 3.63 when the Central Bank stopped buying dollars and closed the markets on Wednesday.

West German Central Bank officials refused to intervene today in the trading, disappointing speculators who had hoped the bank might sell limited amounts of dollars for less than it bought them during last week's dollar rush.

The U. S. Treasury issued a three-sentence statement which said conditions appeared to be improving and that the United States planned no immediate action.

"The markets appear to be adjusting in orderly fashion to the various decisions of several European countries with respect to their exchange rate policies," the Washington statement said.

"No immediate action by the United States is called for," it continued. "The Treasury will continue to review with foreign authorities their investment needs arising out of recent dollar inflows."

Here is the situation on some of the markets:

Austria, which revalued the schilling upward by 5.05 per cent to keep inflationary American dollars out of the country, resumed the exchange of foreign currencies with the dollar traded at its lowest postwar rate. The official rate had been 26 schillings but it was traded last week at 25.82. Today it nosedived to 24.75.

—The dollar dropped in value against the floating guilder on the Amsterdam exchange market and in private dealings in Belgium but there was little eagerness to buy dollars. The Amsterdam market said small quantities of dollars were changing hands at a rate of 3.51 to 3.53 guilders compared with the earlier official parity of 3.5925 guilders. In Belgium dollars were at a rate of 48 or 49 francs, 2 to 4 per cent down.

—Major Swiss banks resumed currency tradings following a 7.07 revaluation upward of the Swiss franc—and a corresponding devaluation of the dollar. Major banks posted provisional buying rates of 4.00 and selling rates of 4.20 francs to the dollar.

—In London the West German mark fluctuated slightly and there was speculation in financial circles that it might eventually find its level at 5 per cent higher instead of the current rise of about 3.5 per cent. U.S. tourists found the pound sterling slightly lower in relation to the dollar and the rate which reached $2.43 on Friday dropped to $2.4185 today.

—On the Scandinavian foreign currency markets the West German mark floated upwards one to 3 per cent, but the U.S. dollar, which played a key role in the crisis, was unchanged both in Sweden and Denmark.

The crisis began early last week when speculators began selling billions of dollars on the European money markets to buy what they considered more "solid" currencies — mainly the West German mark, the Swiss franc, the Dutch guilder and even the French franc.

There will be little immediate effect for most Americans. In the long run, it will mean higher prices for imported German, Swiss , Dutch and Austrian goods. It also will cost more for Americans touring Europe to visit those countries since the exchange rate for local currency to dollars is less favorable.

For example, a Swiss watch that used to cost $50 now will cost $53.50, and a hotel room in Austria that cost $20 a night

Judge Denied A Hoffa Motion

CHICAGO (UPI) — U.S.District Court Judge Richard B. Austin today denied a motion by attorneys for James R. Hoffa, to allow him to serve a five-year sentence for mail fraud concurrently with the eight-year term he now is serving on a charge of jury tampering. Austin in 1967 resentenced Hoffa, the imprisoned Teamsters Union president, to these terms, and ruled that they were to run consecutively.

Britain To Support Lockheed Project

LONDON (UPI)—The government said today it is putting up $240 million to finance completion of Rolls-Royce's RB211 jet engine for the Lockheed Tristar jetliner.

It said it will keep the project going in expectation of a satisfactory agreement with Lockheed and the U.S. government.

Sharp Critique Of U.S. By Civil Rights Group

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The chairman of the U.S. Civil Rights Commission said today America will degenerate into a "divided nation with all kinds of civil disorder" unless there is a new commitment to civil rights from everyone including President Nixon.

The Rev. Theodore M. Hesburgh made the statement in making public a commission report accusing the Nixon administration of failure to make any major civil rights improvements in the eight months since the commission first accused the government of inertia and hostility that threatened to nullify civil rights laws.

The commission said the administration had frustrated the hopes of minority groups with "the mere palliative of tinkering and promises" instead of aggressive action. It said only "strong executive leadership" from the White House could help.

Hesburgh and other commissioners refused at a news conference to put all the blame on Nixon or any other of the past four Presidents because the "lack of moral commitment is with the American people, the government, and the total bureaucracy."

Summarizing the situation, Hesburgh said: "I see happening a divided nation. I see happening all kinds of civil disorder, hypocrisy because we say one thing and do another, frustration because the government doesn't follow the law.

"We're not talking about just a dream but laws that exist."

Commissioner Frankie M. Freeman, the only woman and only Negro member, said, "This country as a people is in pretty bad shape. There is a gap between what we say and what we do."

The commission report said: "Many have lost faith that government has the will or the capacity to redeem its pledge as contained in the laws it has enacted to fulfill the provisions of our Constitution and Bill of Rights. It is too late for promises."

From the failure of the White House to set any "goals, timetables and priorities" on down, the commission said it found little change from the dangers it cited on Oct. 12, 1970, "that the great effort made by public and private groups to obtain the civil rights laws now will be nullified through ineffective enforcement."

It was particularly harsh on the department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) which the commission said, "appears to have regressed in the vigor with which it approaches its fair housing responsibilities."

It also accused the Justice Department of failing to initiate any suits protesting zoning or other land use controls by suburban communities trying to keep lower-income families, minority families in particular, from moving in.

The commission, is an independent, bipartisan agency established by Congress in 1957 to investigate discrimination complaints and appraise federal laws and policies.

The report today covered equal employment, in and out of government and in government-contracted jobs and federally financed housing projects. It also dealt with the overall civil rights policy of the White House.

Last year's report did not blame policy makers or any particular administration but said civil rights laws never had been effectively enforced by the "federal bureaucracy." Forty agencies were examined originally and 27 of them reviewed.

While the White House staff has engaged in "a large number of worthwhile ad hoc activities," the commission said, "nonetheless, no specific program of civil rights, timetables and priorities has been adopted by the White House."

HUD said seven months ago that its fair housing activities were governed by an "open

Mitchell Hits Antiwar Group

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— Attorney General John N. Mitchell today called last week's violent antiwar demonstrations in the nation's capital "an organized attempt by thousands of lawbreakers to deny other Americans their civil rights."

Mitchell said "the extremist practice of running roughshod over the rights of others" will end if other cities follow Washington's example of "decisive opposition to mob force."

"Robbing the rights of others should not be permitted under any circumstances," Mitchell said in remarks prepared for the 51st annual conference of the California Peace Officers' Association.

Q. We have 25 shares of General Electric bought at $65 in 1961. Should we take this profit to offset a $2,000 real estate transaction? Our CPA has suggested we do this and then buy GE back after the split. — L.W.

A. You have an approximate $1,400 long term capital gain which can be offset by $1,400 of your real estate capital loss. The remaining $600 of the loss may be applied toward ordinary income, in part or in full depending on whether the loss is long or short term. Remember, your tax consultant is an expert in his field and his advice is based on this knowledge.

General Electric shareholders have approved a 2-for-1 split payable in June. The runup in these shares not only reflects the split but also the outstanding gains in operating results and an anticipated contract from Japan. Rebounding strongly in the last nine months of 1970 following a prolonged strike, earnings gained 18 per cent for the year. Furthermore, earnings set a first quarter record this year of $1.01 a share.

After such an extended advance, a sell-off following the split would be a normal expectation and would present an excellent opportunity for you to reestablish your position in General Electric.

Q. I am in college and own 150 shares of Standard Oil of California. I am looking for at least a 5 per cent return and good growth. Should I hold or replace my shares? — J. N.

A. Your investment objectives should be modified since a high return is not usually consistent with good growth. In order for growth to qualify as "good" it must moderately outpace the 4-5 per cent annual increment of inflation. Socal shares have grown at an average of 6.2 per cent annually over the last decade, while returning an average of 4 per cent. Yield was highest when price/earnings ratio was lowest and vice versa.

Recent strong recovery in Socal shares indicates investor reappraisal of the company's growth potential, which in my opinion should be more important to you than a high dividend return. Hold.

Safeway Ends Pay Difference On Men, Women

OAKLAND (UPI)—Safeway Stores, Inc., one of the nation's largest supermarket chains, has announced it was ending pay discrimination between men and women clerks.

W.S. Mitchell, president of Safeway, said woman clerks would be boosted to the same pay as male clerks where they have been paid less.

The company said it made an efficiency study on the subject. But the results of the study were not disclosed.

Paperwork Explosion Seen In Past Decade

NEW YORK (UPI)—"Paperwork explosion" is a good description of the massive increase in record-keeping activities in business and industry during the last decade. The Framingham Trust of Framingham, Mass., recently used a Honeywell computer to learn exactly how the phenomenon has affected its own business.

Between the end of 1963 and the fall of 1970, bank resources had increased 78 per cent, bank deposits had increased 73 per cent and number of accounts had increased 63 per cent. However, number of items processed had increased 315 per cent to more than 1.5 million per month.

A permit has been issued for the construction of a new $150,000 mortuary at 601 Tamalpais Drive, Corte Madera in the name of Nicholas Daphne.

A resident of Hillsboro, Daphne heads Daphne Funeral Services at 1 Church Street, San Francisco as well as the Cathay Mortuary at 1213 Powell Street and Wing Sun Mortuary at 17 Brenham Place, also in San Francisco.

AN APPLICATION has been made by First Federal Savings and Loan Association of San Rafael to the Federal Home Loan Bank for permission to open a branch office at the intersection of San Bruno Avenue and Burrows Street in San Francisco. If allowed, this will be First Federal's first branch, but probably 120 days will go by before definite plans can be made.

The association is now finishing up its eighth year and since Dec. 31 has increased its assets by $1 million to a total of $13 million.

Newly added to the San Rafael staff are Paul Simmons in the loan department and Mrs. Chris Maddux as a teller. Simmons was formerly with Bank of America and plans to move from Napa to Marin. Mrs. Maddux, formerly with Santa Barbara Savings and Loan Association, replaces Mrs. Diane Riordan, who is leaving First Federal to be with her family.

STANLEY W. McDONALD of Petaluma, assistant vice president and assistant manager of Bank of Marin's office in that city, has been appointed a director of the Fourth District Agricultural Association, the sponsoring organization for the Sonoma-Marin Fair held annually in Petaluma. He has been manager of the bank's farm service department since its inception in 1963.

A GRAND OPENING is now being held by the new Free Car Wash located at 2901 Bridgeway in Sausalito, across from the new Bank of Marin office.

A project of Peter Di Francesca of that city, customers receive a free car wash when they fill their tanks with gasoline from Di Francesca's Mobilgas pumps. During his grand opening through Wednesday, he is offering the free wash to all comers — with or without a gasoline purchase.

Di Francesca acquired the property here through Langsam Realty. The facility was designed by Donald Keith Olsen and constructed by James Smith Construction. He is a member of the staff of W. Bruce Shafer and Co. real estate staff in Sausalito.

EARL J. AURELIUS of Novato has been promoted from assistant vice president to vice president in charge of employee relations and benefits in the personnel division of Wells Fargo Bank, San Francisco. He has been with the department since he joined the bank in 1963 with eight years of previous business experience.

DR. DALLAS L. TUCK of Novato has been appointed vice chancellor for academic affairs for the University of California in San Francisco. He has been a member of the School of Pharmacy on the San Francisco campus since 1948. He is professor of physical chemistry and pharmaceutical chemistry.

REAL ESTATE: M. J. Hank Greenberg of Terra Linda has joined the staff of Grubb and Ellis Co. at the new branch office at 178 Northgate Shopping Center. Originally he was a top salesman for Kenney Homes and most recently has been with Gallagher-Sturiale, Realtors.

Stocks Fall In Early Trading

NEW YORK (UPI) —Stock prices dropped in active trading through the first two hours today.

Observers felt the lower prices generally reflected an extension of the consolidation which set in last week, but they conceded some investors were jittery over the effect of the international monetary problems on domestic policies.

Among the 1,472 issues crossing the tape, 773 declined and 357 advanced. The Dow Jones Industrial Average of 30 selected blue chips was lower.

American Hospital Supply, off 5-8, was high on the active list. Plessy, unchanged, also attracted attention. Lockheed down 1, J. P. Stevens off 1-8, Bausch & Lomb off 2 1-2 and International Nickel of Canada off 1-8 also were active.

Kinney Services, which announced higher six months earnings, fell 1 1-8. Getty Oil lost 1 3-8, Louisville & Nashville 1 1-4, Control Data 1 1-4, Memorex 1 1-8, Corning Glass 4 1-4 and KLM 2 1-2.

Du Pont eased 1 1-4 and Dow 1 1-2 in the generally soft chemicals. General Motors lost 1 1-8, Ford 3-8 Chrysler 1-8. American Motors tacked on 1-8.

U. S. Steel eased 3-8, Bethlehem 1-2, Armco 1-2. Republic gained 1-4.

Cinerama with 40,500 shares traded was off 3-8 at 4 7-8 in active trading on the American Stock Exchange. Prices on the American Stock Exchange fell in brisk trading.

WORLD NEWS IN BRIEF

Fighting Resumes

SAIGON (UPI)—U.S. and Communist forces resumed fighting today following a weekend cease-fire to mark Buddha's birthday. B52s dumped 1,000 tons of bombs along the Demilitarized Zone and North Vietnamese ambushed an American patrol in the A Shau Valley.

American and South Vietnamese officals charged the Communists violated the cease-fire a number of times. The 24-hour stand-down observed by allied fgrces ended at noon Sunday while the Communist truce lasted another 24 hours.

U.S. headquarters in Saigon said today there were "21 enemy-initiated actions reported against U.S. forces" during the 24-hour truce. Two Americans were killed and six wounded during that period, it said.

Rocket Fault Probe

CAPE KENNEDY (UPI)—While engineers readied a second Mariner Mars television scout for launch May 18, rocket specialists across the country raced the clock today to pinpoint the flaw that ruined America's first attempt to orbit the Red Planet.

The problem must be solved before the substitute Mariner spacecraft can be launched in an attempt to salvage part of the unprecedented $153.6 million Martian reconnaissance mission.

Mars will move out of range for a shot from earth June 16 and the United States will not have another opportunity to explore the puzzling planet until 1976.

The cause of Saturday night's launch failure was quickly narrowed to some electrical component in the autopilot control system of the Centaur upper stage rocket. Engineers here, at the Lewis Research Center at Cleveland, Ohio, and at the General Dynamics Corp., plant at San Diego, Calif., today sought to pinpoint that fault.

Mills Attacks Sharing Plan

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (UPI) — Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., said today President Nixon's revenue sharing plan has the potential for destroying the federal system, and he predicted Congress will not pass it.

Mills

In his strongest speech yet on Nixon's plan to give states and localities $5 billion without strings, Mills said in remarks prepared for a joint session of the Tennessee Legislature:

"It is very bad in principle. It would be capricious in its results. It assumes existence of a nonexistent surplus of revenues. It has a dangerous potential — indeed, probability . . . for destroying rather than strengthening our federal system and independence of state and local governments," Mills said.

Mills plans to hold hearings of his House Ways and Means Committee on revenue sharing with the purpose of killing the legislation, and said it will not be approved by the "committee or the Congress."

Buddhist Deaths

HUE, South Vietnam (UPI)—U.S. military police manned roadblocks near American base camps today in hopes of preventing any incidents stemming from the suicides of a young Buddhist nun and a monk who burned themselves to death in peace demonstrations.

U.S. authorities ordered American soldiers off the streets of this old imperial capital Sunday night and set up the roadblocks, turning back civilians without passes.

Nguyen Thi Co, 17, a Buddhist nun, burned herself to death in a pagoda in the village of Cam Lo, eight miles south of the Demilitarized Zone (DMZ) early Sunday after dousing herself with gasoline. She left letters to her parents and other nuns saying her suicide was for the cause of peace, police said.

Negotiator Returns

VIENNA (UPI)—Gerard C. Smith, Chief U.S. negotiator at the Strategic Arms Limitation Talks (SALT), flew to Washington today for meetings with President Nixon and other administration officials.

Officials said Smith might stay as long as a week. They said there probably would be no full SALT sessions until he returns, although Soviet and American experts will continued to meet daily in lower-level technical groups.

Diplomatic sources had said last week Smith would leave soon for Washington, but his actual departure was not announced by the U.S. delegation until he was in the air.

Radio Captured

NEW DELHI (UPI)—The Pakistan government said today its troops in East Pakistan have captured a radio transmitter used to direct "Indian armed infiltrators" in their operations to assist East Pakistani rebels.

Radio Pakistan broadcast an official statement from Dacca saying army troops captured the transmitter during mopping up operations in the Khulna area, 100 miles southwest of Dacca, East Pakistan. The statement said the set was operated by Indians.

Seizure of the transmitter, which was linked to 24 substations, brought the cessation of activities by "infiltrators and saboteurs" in the Khulna area, Radio Pakistan said.

Scientist Warns Of Bay Poison

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—A deadly layer of mercury washed down from Sierra mining operations may lurk under the floor of San Francisco Bay.

Prof. Fred H. Tarp, biology department chairman at Contra Costa College, told a symposium on the effects of wastes on the marine environment that the extent of any such mercury residue should be investigated before large-scale dredging begins for the proposed Baldwin ship channel and the central bay water sewer outfall.

Tarp said the Baldwin channel, which would enlarge the present channel from the Golden Gate to Stockton, would cut through some of the estimated 1.1 billion cubic yards of sediments containing substantial amounts of mercury washed into the bay from hydraulic gold mining operations in the Sierra.

A huge, unspecified amount of mercury was used in the gold mining process, Tarp said, then poured into the rivers that flow into the bay.

He said if the mercury were disturbed, bacteria living on the bottom of the bay would go to work on it, turning it into methyl mercury, the compound that has contaminated swordfish and tuna.

Tarp said creating a massive sewer channel to carry wastes out the Golden Gate could accelerate such harmful mercury reactions.

He said the wastes stimulate anerobic bacteria, causing them to change less harmful forms of mercury into the more toxic variety.

Donald W. Aitken, chairman of the environmental studies department at San Jose State College, told the Saturday symposium that the idea of the oceans providing an unlimited supply of food is a myth.

He said it will never be possible for man to secure more than a fraction of his food from the seas.

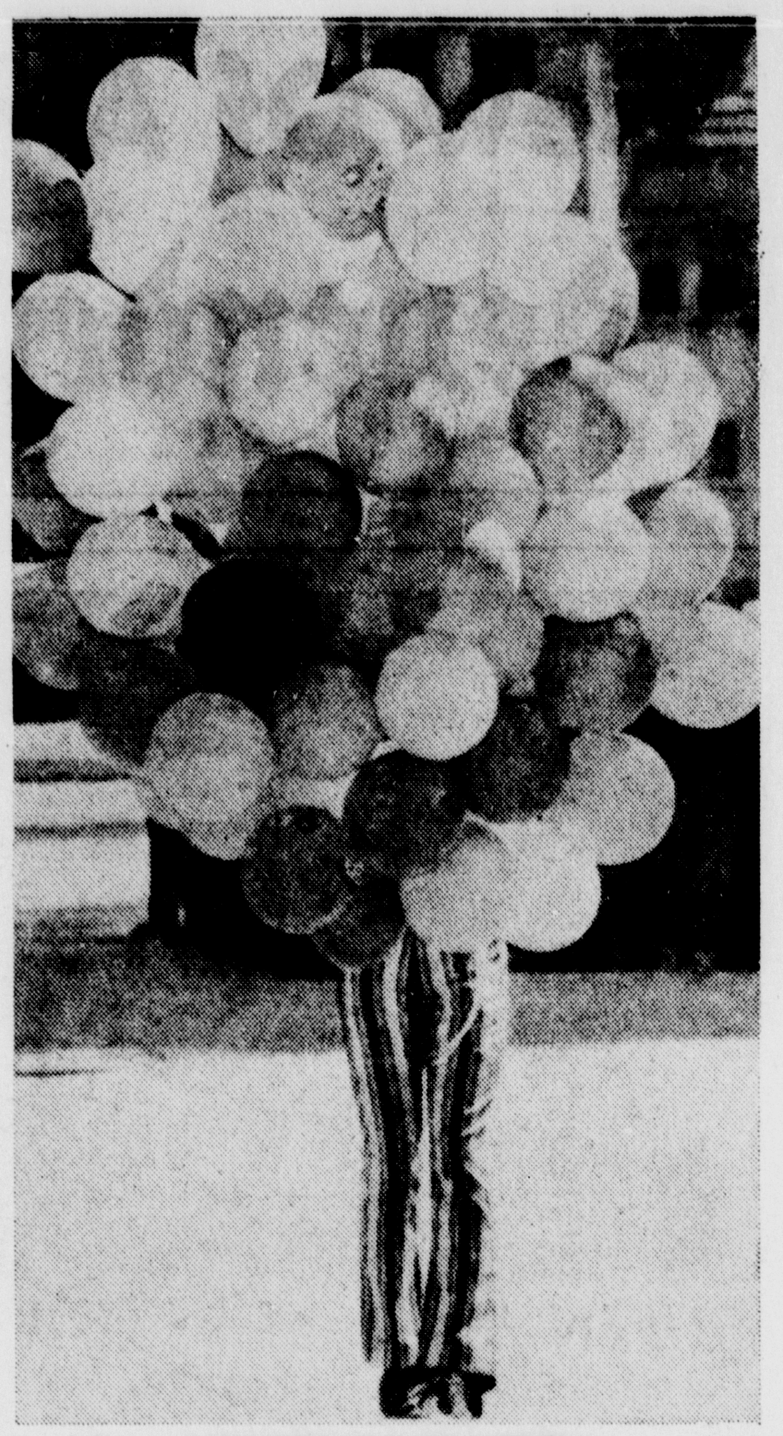
Ninety per cent of the world's marine resources are taken from the 10 per cent of the oceans' surface which is biologically productive, he said.

These areas lie along the coast where phyto-plankton — the key to 90 per cent of marine life —can bask in sunlight and at the same time derive food from the upwelling of nutrients from the continental shelves.

Aitken was also pessimistic about the economics of recovering dissolved minerals from the ocean.

"The present market value of the dissolved minerals in a cubic mile of ocean water is less than $1 million, while the cost of processing it is considerably greater and will probably remain so," he said.

Retailers say about 70 per cent of all men's clothing is purchased by women.



WELCOME INFLATION

Hidden by ballooning inflation, this street vendor peeks out at the passing throngs on Chicago's Michigan Avenue on a warm spring day, all but concealed by his gaily colored balloons. Once a familiar sight along the Windy City's avenues, the balloon man now is a rare but welcome sight on the street corners of the Midwestern metropolis. (UPI Telephoto)

Business Leaders Expect Steel Strike In Summer

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Nixon administration and many of the nation's business leaders expect a steel strike this summer but they doubt it will do much damage to the economy.

In contrast to the General Motors strike which probably delayed for at least six months the recovery from last year's recession, a steel strike is considered to be little more than a minor inconvenience for persons not directly involved.

The steel situation was discussed with interest —but without alarm —by both business and Nixon administration officials during the weekend meeting of the business council, a semi-official organization of many of the nation's top corporate officials, at Hot Springs, Va.

R.V. Hansberger, president of Bois e-Cascade Corp. and chairman of the council's economic committee, said the organization's economic consultants were convinced a steel strike "wouldn't make very much of a difference" unless it was an extremely long one.

Hansberger, said most steel users have stockpiled the metal in anticipation of a strike when the United Steelworkers Union contract with the major producers expires this summer.

He said steel customers will use up those inventories later this year whether there is a strike or not. He said if the workers are not on the picket line many of them will face layoffs anyway as orders decline sharply for a while.

Best Time To Buy Home, Expert Says

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The government's top mortgage money man today said now is the time to buy a home, since interest rates have bottomed out from their record highs of a year ago and are not likely to drop further.

Martin, whose agency supervises some 4,500 savings and loan institutions which supply much of the home mortgage money for consumers, said a nationwide survey showed mortgage rates are about 7 1-4 per cent for a house, varying a half-point or so on either side depending on the section of the country.

A year ago, home mortgage loans carried record interest rates of 8 1-2 per cent or more.

Martin said in an interview the interest rates will remain at the present level for awhile. He withheld a prediction as to how long.

But he did not think the rates would rise in the near future because of the tremendous inflow of money into savings institutions between January and March of this year.

During that period, he said, savings and loans received a record $7.4 billion gain in their accounts.

"They've got money to lend," Martin said. "That's one reason why we feel rates won't go up."

Martin said many people have been waiting for money costs to drop before buying a home. He said that period has arrived and "now's the time to buy."

He said the Home Loan Bank Board intends to keep pumping money into savings and loans to keep money rates low. The board makes money available through various loan mechanisms.

Fussy Waitress Delays Martha's Filet Mignon

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Regardless whether Martha Mitchell is a "newsmaker" or a cabinet member's wife, a hotel waitress demanded a ticket before serving her at the White House Correspondents Association dinner.

Mrs. Mitchell attended the Saturday night function, making her the first cabinet wife in the association's 57-year history to qualify as a guest. The club's rules say only women who are working reporters, news executives or personalities prominent in the news are eligible for invitations.

Despite the breakthrough, a waitress refused the serve Mrs. Mitchell and the UPI reporter who invited her because neither had the required dinner tickets. The two missing tickets were in the pocket of an FBI agent, assigned to guard Mrs. Mitchell and her husband, Attorney General John N. Mitchell.

In a whisper, the Sheraton-Park Hotel waitress was told "The attorney general's FBI agent has the tickets. Just serve dinner and we'll get them later".

"I can't serve dinner without a ticket," she answered loudly.

The problem was again explained. The same answer was given.

"The funny thing is I know the people who own this place," Mrs. Mitchell laughed. "I wonder if the President could get me dinner."

The FBI agent eventually was found, the tickets recovered and the two filet mignon dinners served.

Miracle Coating Replaces House Paint for 15 Years

Los Angeles, Calif.

Another boon of the space age has been accomplished for the home owner . . . an exterior wall coating so tough and durable that it is guaranteed to totally eliminate exterior house painting for over 15 years. This remarkable textured coating is asbestos KENITEX.

The Atomic Energy Commission has used KENITEX texture Coating for several years at Los Alamos, New Mexico, atomic plant. Thousands of gallons of this remarkable exterior surfacing have been applied to provide weatherproofing and beauty, far outlasting ordinary paint.

Over 1,000,000 KENITEX applications on homes, commercial and industrial buildings throughout the world, 10,000 in Southern California alone, remain in perfect condition after more than 15 years exposure in all weather extremes.

The Veterans' Administration, Sawtelle, in Los Angeles, has applied KENITEX to the exteriors of their buildings. The Kenitex coating is applied in one quick spray application without muss, fuss or odor — at a thickness 20 times that of ordinary paint. It fills holes, cracks and hides building defects, yet does not conceal the original architectural lines.

Homes and Guided Missiles
Unique among KENITEX applications is the use on guided missiles where its insulating properties shield the missile from extreme temperatures. KENITEX obtains these qualities from its basic components of asbestos, mica and perlite, which are noted for their insulation and durability.

Shot From a Gun
KENITEX is guaranteed for 15 years against chipping, flaking or peeling . . . it is extremely flexible and withstands all normal building expansion and contraction. Actually, "Shot from a Gun" KENITEX fuses to the sidewalls in a variety of beautiful decorator colors.

Mrs. Joyce Owens of Oxnard reported her husband and son departed from Channel Islands Harbor Sunday and failed to return aboard their 17-foot vessel.

Farmers Needed In Peace Corps

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The Peace Corps is looking for experienced farmers to join its "green revolution," Rep. Bob Mathias, R-Calif., reports.

Mathias said more than 40 nations have urgently requested the Peace Corps to send modern farming techniques to their countries.

The congressman said critical needs exist in irrigation and grain and vegetable farming in India, Nepal, Ethiopia, Upper Volta, Chad and Venezuela.

Sausalitan Arrested In Dope Smuggling

PHOENIX, Ariz. (UPI)—Two men were arrested Sunday night by sheriff's deputies and charged with smuggling 1,000 pounds of marijuana into the United States from Mexico.

They identified themselves as Thomas Bishop Wheeler, 34, Sun Valley, Idaho, and Don Joseph Brooks, 33, Sausalito, Calif. They were booked on charges of possession of marijuana for sale and import transport (smuggling).

Capt. Ralph McMillan of the sheriff's office said the marijuana had a potential value on the illicit market of $160,000.

"We got about a thousand pounds of grass, a bunch of property —maps and stuff — that we have to sort through," said McMillan.

McMillan said Wheeler and Brooks rented a Piper Cherokee 6 in the Phoenix area Friday and flew to Culiacan, Sinaloa, Mexico.

The plane landed Sunday at a deserted air strip east of Falcon Field near Mesa, Ariz., where the marijuana was transferred to a pickup-camper, said McMillan.

Wheeler took off in the plane and Brooks drove to Phoenix Harbor International Airport, where he was later joined by Wheeler at a motel room.

McMillan said Wheeler was arrested as he prepared to board a commercial airliner bound for Twin Falls, Idaho.

McMillan said the arrests climaxed an investigation that had lasted about two weeks.

Apocryphal Tale Of Woman Driver

CHICAGO (UPI)—It's all in how you define the terms.

When a woman whose parked car rolled into another in a California community was asked by a policeman: "Why didn't you set your emergency brake?" she answered: "Emergency? Since when is mailing a letter an emergency?" Family Safety magazine records the story.

BIGGEST BIRD HOUSE?

hours on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard between the Redhill Shopping Center and Fairfax. And, to "preserve the rural atmosphere which exists here now," the group opposed Highway 17 going through the Ross Valley.

DRUGS

"Give me a place where I don't have to be secretive — where I can be in the open and look at why I do what I do," a member of the drug problem task force asked during work session in behalf of drug users. The group named John Ryan to set up neighborhood meetings toward that goal and also decided to write to the major manufacturer of drugs and the legislature asking stricter controls on the amount of legal drugs produced in the United States.

GOVERNMENT PARTICIPATION

If councilmen were elected by districts, a committee for more participation in government reported, they would be able to answer directly to the area they represented. Group leader Gerald A. DeVore also reported the group recommended open meetings be held with councilmen every two months for discussion rather than action.

ENVIRONMENT

The environmental control group, leader Thomas J. Peacock reported, recommended city council take a leadership position in determining how to best handle problems of pesticides, garbage disposal, product packaging and elimination of human waste.

In their discussions, the group decided that although San Anselmo cannot compete with anti-environmentalist forces lobbying in Washington, the city can give local guidelines. These include encouragement and education toward such things as purchase of returnable containers, reuse of paper and plastic bags, and conservation of water by putting bricks in toilets or bending the flush rod.

SCHOOLS

Let students go to schools which can best meet their needs, urged a group studying more efficient use of school dollars. The group, headed by Keith McPherson and Mary Jane Chetelat, recommended the school board set up a committee to study education on different high school campuses to determine what programs are being offered.

DAY CARE

A group studying day care facilities recommended seeking funds for a one-year experimental program at the Fairfax-San Anselmo Day Care Center. The federally funded program would operate with 35 children from six-months to six-years-old. Such a proposal is now being discussed by county officials.

ANIMALS

Sterility programs to curb the growing number of stray dogs were discussed in work session by a group working to control animals. The group also considered a dog park setup such as is being used in Chicago where dogs have their own place for their morning constitutional and what goes with it. However, some of the group members indicated they didn't believe there should be any control over dogs in residential areas.

The group recommended the mayor appoint a committee "to determine if there is an overpopulation of dogs."

Following their day of civic thought, residents were welcomed to the town meeting, because, as Blinder put it: "It is not over, it has just begun."

Stolen Auto In Car Crash

Investigating a one-car, non-injury accident at Hazel Court and Irwin Street, San Rafael, at 1:30 a.m. yesterday, police found that the car had been stolen.

Robert Carl Maier, 18, no known address, was held in Marin County Jail in lieu of $1,200 bail, on suspicion of car theft. He was scheduled to appear this afternoon in Marin Municipal Court.

The 1971 Porsche belonged to Sherman Ellison of 120 Miramar Avenue, San Rafael, according to police. Ellison was unaware that his car had been stolen, police reported.

communities" policy aimed at increasing housing options for low income and minority families, the commission said.

"Since that time, the department appears to have narrowed the scope of this policy to rule out any activity aimed at facilitating economic integration," it said.

"In view of the fact that minority families are disproportionately represented among the nation's lower income families, HUD's adherence to a policy against economic integration will severely limit the scope of its activities and is likely to result in even greater reliance on the processing of individual complaints," it said.

Minority groups remain under-represented in government professional jobs, the commission found; construction industry compliance with equal employment plans such as were developed in Philadelphia and Washington, D.C. "has been ineffective and limited;" and the Office of Federal Contract Compliance has failed to impose sanctions against the non complying government contractors.

Housing Units Ground Broken

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— Ground has been broken for the first 101 units of a low to moderate income housing project at Hunters Point, near Candlestick Park.

When completed the 631-unit project will cost $2 million and will replace "temporary" structures built by the government during World War II.

The first units in the city Redevelopment Agency's program are sponsored by the Ridgepoint United Methodist Church and a non-profit corporation.

Studio apartments are to rent from $41 to $121 depending on the tenants' ability to pay. Four bedroom units will rent from $59 to $224.

goes up to $21.10 under the revaluation.

Just what the increase for German and Dutch goods will be remains to be seen since it may take some time —even months —for the mark and the guilder to find their level on a money market determined mostly by supply and demand.

The reason for the lack of faith in the once-almighty dollar — the standards against which all European currencies are measured — appeared to be the outlay for the Vietnam War and the increasingly bad balance of payments in the United States.

West Germany closed down its money markets Wednesday until today and a number of other nations followed suit to give the various governments time to decide what action to take.

On Sunday German Chancellor Willy Brandt and Economics minister Karl Schiller decided to allow the mark to "float" — findits parity with the dollar by means of supply and demand. The official rate currently is 3.66 marks to a dollar, but the tremendous buying of marks in exchange for dollars has pushed the mark's price up. The government hoped the decision to "float" the mark would reverse the flow of dollars and they were determined to allow the action to continue for months if necessary.

McGovern said Hoover's action in the Cook case "constitutes a violation of the Civil Rights Act, the First Amendment right of free speech and the Ninth Amendment right to privacy," and he asked Erwin for an investigation.

Hoover is 76. His 47th anniversary on the job was today but UPI wrote him on April 27 requesting an interview and asking specifically that he give his side of the recent wiretap controversy and talk about his plans for the future. On April 29 he replied in a personal note saying:

"I regret that the pressure of official business precludes me from complying with these requests. Also, I have no thought of leaving my present position and intend to remain as director of the FBI as long as I can be of service to the country and my health permits."

Hoover has stayed on past the mandatory federal retirement age because of the intervention of several presidents.

PEACE MARCH WINS PAPAL BLESSING

Members of the "Outstretched Hands" movement marched through St. Peter's Square yesterday with a large banner which said, "Armies kill, not feed." The 16-mile march around Rome ended with an ecumenical service at the ancient Roman baths near the Colosseum. At Vatican City, Pope Paul VI saluted the movement for its "positive, constructive and altruistic action."

Rogers 'Satisfied' With Mission

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Secretary of State William P. Rogers, "quite satisfied" with a two-week Mideast peace mission, said Sunday night the prospects for peace between Egypt and Israel have improved.

His trip to Saudi Arabia, Jordan, Lebanon, Egypt and Israel was the first Middle East tour by a U.S. secretary of state since John Foster Dulles visited the area in 1953.

Rogers also disclosed at a planeside news conference following his landing Sunday night at Andrews Air Force base that a top aide had just reported "useful" meetings with Egyptian President Anwar Sadat.

Rogers said he would tell President Nixon the 18,000 mile, eight-nation tour was "worthwhile" when he briefs Nixon in a private meeting late today.

Rogers also visited Italy, Turkey and France. He left Rome Sunday after asking Pope Paul VI to help secure the release of American prisoners of war in Indochina.

The secretary concentrated on the Middle East in the tour, trying to promote an interim settlement between Egypt and Israel with regard to reopening the blocked Suez Canal. He said Sunday night that gaining the agreement would still be difficult.

"But I think the differences have been narrowed," Rogers said. "I think the prospect for peace is somewhat better."

Rogers sent Assistant Secretary of State Joseph J. Sisco back to Cairo Saturday to clarify with Sadat new positions discussed with Israeli leaders during a two-day stay at Tel Aviv.

Rogers said Sisco reported Sunday night that Sadat was carefully studying the views of the United States and Israel as provided by Sisco.

The secretary and other officials declined to identify any areas of possible agreement, but there appeared to be progress towards a compromise on a first stage Israeli withdrawal across the occupied Sinai Peninsula, followed by an Egyptian "presence" on the East Bank of the canal.

Rogers said there was general agreement between Egypt and Israel the waterway should be reopened, that Egypt should administer it and that fighting between both sides should not resume.

U.S. diplomats assessed Rogers' tour as useful in keeping up momentum toward a final peace settlement, but they conceded that great difficulties still divide Egypt and Israel.

U.S. Sees Mideast Progress, But Israel, Egypt Skeptical

By U. P. INTERNATIONAL

U. S. Assistant Secretary of State Jospeh J. Sisco said today progress had been made in his talks with Egyptian leaders but that more difficulties must be resolved before an agreement is reached to reopen the Suez Canal. Israel voiced skepticism.

Sisco spoke to newsmen in London en route to Washington from Cairo where he conferred for four hours Sunday with Egyptian President Anwar Sadat. He had accompanied Secretary of State William P. Rogers on his missions to Cairo and Tel Aviv and flew to Cairo after talks with the Israelis.

Rogers said Sunday night he was "quite satisfied", with his two-week Mideast peace mission and that prospects for peace between Egypt and Israel have improved. But Israeli leaders were far less optimistic and Prime Minister Golda Meir called in her closest advisers today to study the situation.

Sisco, who delivered Israel's lastest proposal to the Egyptians, described his talks with Sadat as "useful," but added that no interim settlement over the canal issue is imminent.

"In our judgment," Sisco said, "both sides are interested in finding an answer to an interim settlement."

However Egyptian Foreign Minister Mahomoud Riad said after the Sisco-Sadat meeting there are still large gaps between Egypt and Israel on the Middle East conflict and that there had been no change in the situation following the Rogers' and Sisco visits.

Israeli Foreign Minister Abba Eban told a television audience: "Our American friends say that despite these differences, there should be no despair. I would say that the bridging of the gap is not so near."

Eban said reopening of the canal "is not a lost prospect, but it is not a matter of a day or two."

The Israeli leadership's initial enthusiasm following the Rogers visit faded after Sunday's regular cabinet meeting in Jerusalem, where the sessions with the American officials were discussed.

Scott Wins Television's Emmy; His 'Andersonville Trial' Cited

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—George C. Scott won—and accepted—television's Emmy for best single performance by an actor Sunday night as the Hallmark Hall of Fame series captured top honors with eight awards.

Actor Jack Cassidy accepted the Emmy for Scott, who last month refused to recognize the Oscar he was awarded for his role in "Patton."

Lee Grant won the Emmy for best actress in a single performance in "The Neon Ceiling," a movie made for NBC.

Outstanding single program of the season was "The Andersonville Trial," broadcast over the Public Broadcasting System and directed by Scott.

In Emmys for continuing series, Hal Holbrook was named best actor for his performance in "The Senator," a segment of NBC's "The Bold Ones," and Susan Hampshire was voted best actress for "The First Churchills" over PBS.

"The Senator," which won a total of five Emmys, was cancelled.

"All in the Family," the CBS satire on American bigotry, was named best comedy series of the season, and Jean Stapleton, costar of the program, won the Emmy for best comedy actress. The show also was named outstanding new television series in preliminary awards Friday night.

It introduced to television certain blunt, slang expressions of prejudice and dealt earthily with the sex life of a young couple living with their in-laws.

Best actor in a comedy series went to Jack Klugman of ABC's "The Odd Couple."

"The Mary Tyler Moore Show," on CBS, edged by "All in the Family" for top comedy honors, took four awards including best comedy actor and actress in supporting roles for Edward Asner and Valerie Harper.

Emmys for supporting roles in dramas went to the late David Burns for "The Price" and Margaret Leighton for "Hamlet."

The eight Hallmark Hall of Fame awards came for two NBC shows: "Hamlet" with five and "The Price" with three.

Three Rescued In Tillamook Bay

SEATTLE (UPI) —Three persons were rescued early Sunday after their 19-foot pleasure craft capsized near Tillamook Bay, Ore., a Coast Guard spokesman said.

The three were identified as Patrick Lowe, Steve Brown and Ron Yount, all of Portland, Ore.

The Coast Guard said their boat overturned while trying to cross the bar at Tillamook Bay.

A Coast Guard motor lifeboat spotted the three in distress and picked them out of the water. They were later reported in good condition.

Time Bombs Deactivated

NEW YORK (UPI)—Three time bombs found under seats at the Radio City Music Hall Sunday were quickly deactivated by Bomb Squad detectives.

Cleaning women found two of the bombs at 12:30 a.m. when they began working in the huge theater shortly after it closed for the night. A police sergeant later found the third bomb.

Detectives did not say when the bombs were timed to explode.

Cave Operator Asks Room Like Home

NEW YORK (UPI) — No claustrophobia so far as Lester B. Dill is concerned.

When Dill, who operates the Meramec Caverns in Stanton, Mo., checked into New York's Henry Hudson Hotel he asked owner Irving Schatz for a room with a low ceiling. The cave impresario wanted to feel more at home.

Household safety: four things you should do. And a couple you shouldn't.

1. Have your gas appliances thoroughly checked once a year by your appliance or furnace man or your plumber. While he's there ask him to make sure safety pilots are operating properly, air openings on burners are clean and set for a blue flame.

2. Get rid of any rusted or loose-fitting vent and flue pipes. Have them checked annually. If you ever should smell a gas leak call PG&E immediately.

3. Make sure that burners and controls on your gas furnace, wall or floor heater are clean at all times. And be sure to clean or replace dirty furnace filters periodically.

4. When you disconnect appliances, pull plug first from the outlet. Also make sure electric tools are properly grounded, and frayed or broken electric cords are replaced.

Never connect too many appliances to one outlet or circuit. And never let youngsters tamper with cords or outlets.

Don't place furniture or drapes over or close to any heater. Or let gas accumulate before lighting a gas pilot. Be sure that gas range burners are off completely when not in use.

And remember, too, that we're always ready to help. If you call for a PG&E service man to check-out any gas leak or gas service problem, ask him to show you where your gas pilots are located and how to go about relighting them. If repairs or parts are needed, call an appliance or furnace service man or your plumber.

Supervisors Will Funding Problems To Sacramento

Marin County Board of Supervisors will zip through tomorrow's agenda in a half day, then head for Sacramento in the afternoon to urge the state officials to assist Marin with the cost of San Quentin trials and increased cost of welfare and Medi-Cal.

Supervisors will meet at 3 p.m. in the state capitol with Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, and State Sen. Peter H. Behr, R-San Rafael.

Supervisors will meet at 9 a.m. with the Marin County Planning Commission to discuss the future of the county's rural areas, the relationship of the county with the Bay Conservation and Development Commission and planning in general.

Other agenda items include:

COURTROOM REPAIR — Bids will be submitted for repair of a courtroom damaged by a bomb last October. Low bid is $85,300 as compared with an estimate of $140,000. Other bids will be presented for completion of an adjoining courtroom that is unfinished and for the acoustical shell and an air conditioning unit for the new auditorium.

FIRE CHIEF — Chief Louis J. Bloom will reach mandatory retirement age of 60 on June 1 and the county administrator has recommended that a successor be picked from among the nine men in the county fire department who are eligible for the top job.

WELFARE — Betty L. Presley, director of public social services, will report that the county may be able to save $11,000 because the state has agreed to raise its contribution to the Aid to Families With Dependent Children.

AGRICULTURE PRESERVE — Several landowners in West Marin will ask for agricultural preserve contracts that will give them reduced taxes in exchange for keeping their properties undeveloped for 10 years.

The reaper was invented in 1831 by Cyrus Hall McCormick.

Hearing On Health Education

A public hearing on the San Anselmo School District's soon-to-be-completed health education program — including controversial sex education elements — has been tentatively set for 7:30 p.m. June 8 at Red Hill School.

The public hearing arises out of a difference in views between the district superintendent and a trustee.

That difference, Trustee Eugene E. Jacks says, is over the way in which the new program will be reviewed before adoption. He charged the superintendent with attempting to slip the program by the public.

However, Supt. W. Kenneth Lowry maintains the conflict between Jacks and him is due to the trustee's attempt to bog down the program at the urging of those opposed to sex education.

Under the review procedures established by the board, a three-member parents committee is working with the district staff in developing the health program.

The program, due for completion the end of this month, was to be presented to the board June 1 for adoption.

Jacks charged this procedure bypasses "the community" since the parents' committee does not represent a cross-section of opinion.

With such a short time between completion and adoption, he said, other parents would not have had time to review the program.

And those opposing it, he continued, have repeatedly been promised they would have an opportunity to review program material before action by the board.

"The superintendent was proposing not to give them their day in court," he continued, adding the parents' committee is made up of members who "want an aggressive sex education program."

Lowry said he does not disagree with the idea of a public hearing.

"My argument with Jacks came about because this is the third time he has changed the board's direction 180 degrees," he said, adding he felt Jacks "was serving his own ends and not those of the district."

Lowry was referring to Tuesday's meeting when the disagreement flared as Jacks and five residents — including Sarah Nome and Judith Emis, both outspoken critics of sex education — called for the public hearing.

"He (Jacks) has had the procedures schedule (calling for adoption June 1) since March 15," he continued. "Why didn't he say something earlier; why did he wait until Tuesday?"

The superintendent answered his own questions by saying it appeared to be simply a move to provide a public platform for those opposed to sex education.

"I don't disagree with the idea of a public hearing," he said, "just the timing he (Jacks) used."

He charged Jacks, supported by Trustee Marv H. Olive, has frustrated the board "to a point where the board is not functioning as a board."

He accused Jacks of bogging down the board on matters such as the budget and the summer school program.

The public hearing was approved by Jacks and Mrs. Olive when Trustees Basil Hugh Scalabrini and Franklin C. Latcham were absent. Board president Elmer A. Weden Jr. did not vote.

Fairfax, Friend Silent 2 Weeks

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Two weeks ago today British adventurer John Fairfax and his girl friend, Sylvia Cook, rowed out of San Francisco Bay for Australia. They have not been heard from since.

"I'm naturally worried," said Ivan Sharpe, the couple's shoreside radio contact, "but I don't think he's in any danger."

The Coast Guard sent a message for all ships to report any sighting of Fairfax's 35-foot orange rowboat, "Britannia II." It was thought to be about 100 miles west of Los Angeles.

A RETURN TO THE SEA

Cowboy, a 300 pound sea lion drydocked since October 24 by a kidney and urinary tract disease which killed about 300 of his friends and relatives at Bolinas and along the peninsula coast, was a little impatient Friday as volunteers and workers from the Louis A. Boyd Museum took him back to sea at Bolinas. Thanks to care given him at the home of curator Lloyd B. Smalley Jr. and at laboratories at Stanford University, Cowboy was ready for his first good swim in more than six months, although he did hesitate a bit (right) as though pondering the water temperature.

MUSIC REVIEW

Virtuoso Concert By Young People

By MAYBELLE SPECKMANN

The Marin Youth Orchestra and pianist Carol Ann Miller, an 18-year-old black girl, who despite superb musical talent plans to become a criminal lawyer, shared honors yesterday afternoon at San Rafael High School in a virtuoso concert that closed the orchestra's 17th season.

Through some kind of magic — actually excellent musicianship and a gift for dealing with children — director Hugo Rinaldi manages every year to weld some 75 young people from 16 schools in Marin into a ensemble that is no mere high school orchestra but a finely-honed symphonic instrument.

Though he manages this every year despite the loss of many of the most experienced musicians through graduation, I think this was a banner year with an unusual number of highly gifted performers in each of the choirs of the orchestra, especially the strings. Their precision would match that of many an adult group. Though the woodwinds, brasses and percussion were all very good, the unusual strength of the strings upset slightly the balance of the whole occasionally.

Nor was the high level of performance due to programming of works without too much challenge, for even the first number, "Meditation on Orpheus," by Alan Hovhaness required subtle handling of all orchestral colors to recreate the mood of the famous Orpheus myth.

The major work of the afternoon for orchestra, Dvorak's symphony No. 5 in E Minor (From The New World) was a symphonic tour de force. The familiar English horn theme in the largo movement was beautifully played, and climaxes were built to a spine-tingling sonority.

Playing the first movement of Beethoven's Concerto No. 1 in C Major — from the period in which the composer was displaying his own stature as a virtuoso pianist — Carol Ann Miller revealed a major talent. Totally involved in the music, she played with great technical facility and a firm assurance and power that was far from what expects from a young girl. Yet she had a fine feeling for lyrical values and sensitivity of phrasing. It was in true Beethoven style.

On graduation from San Domenico School this year she plans to attend Mills College with the intention of becoming a criminal lawyer. It will be a loss to music.

The concert opened with a demonstration under the direction of Robert Jacobson by the workshop for strings, a group of about 38 youngsters who form the training section for the youth orchestra's string section. This is perhaps part of the explanation of the unusual strength of the orchestra's strings. Some of the young people have played with the orchestra for six years.

The youngsters in the workshop for strings played creditably — concentrating on pitch, smooth rhythm and clean attacks and releases — not mere exercises but a Rondeau by Purchell and Concerto Grosso by Handel.

The concert was taped by station KKHI for broadcast May 29.

Bill Seeks Funds For Bridge Area

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — The Golden Gate Bridge District could pick up several hundred thousands of dollars a year for transit under a sales tax on gasoline.

The original version of AB 544 by Assemblyman Wadie P. Deddeh, D-Chula Vista, did not include the bridge district among its beneficiaries, but it was amended Friday to do so at the request of Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael.

The bill would remove the existing exemption of gasoline from the 5 per cent sales tax to raise new money, most of it for transit purposes. One per cent of the sales tax still would go to local government for general fund purposes, but 4 per cent would be for transit.

The bridge district has six counties, but Sacramento sources said that only that new revenue going to Marin — and possibly Sonoma — could be expected to be available to the bridge district. San Francisco's own needs were too great to leave money for the district, and other counties in the district would not benefit directly from its transit operations.

Marin would get about $1.4 million a year and Sonoma would get about $1.3 million for transit, according to estimates by legislative staff. The bill is awaiting hearing in the ways and means committee.

Proposed Vessel Dumping Ban Worries Shippers

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — A proposed ban of all sewage discharges from vessels in San Francisco Bay could drive out the shipping industry, according to the American Institute of Merchant Shipping.

The ban was proposed in a plan due to be adopted this month by the Regional Water Quality Control Board. The institute's objections came in a statement to be presented at the board's first hearing on the plan at 9:30 a.m. tomorrow in Kaiser Center Auditorium, Oakland.

Philip Steinberg, regional vice president of the institute, warned in the statement that the ban would mean "serious doubts as the ability of all vessels to carry out unimpeded interstate or foreign commerce" in the bay. He declared "it would be uneconomical to operate vessels in this water region" if the ban were imposed.

The ban would require vessels to remain hooked up to an umbilical sewage line to shoreside treatment facilities while in port. Steinberg said this would interfere with the need to shift berths to take on cargo and fuel while also providing for ships' sewage wastes.

The plan, to be enforced by $6,000-a-day fines and bans on new construction, calls for $8.47 million in new sewage facilities in the next five years, including $87 million in Marin and Southern Sonoma.

The Institute assured the regonal board it would do what it could, but urged "a balanced view" and "the preservation of all vital uses of water resources without the erosion of any one use," such as maritime commerce.

Steinberg objected also to the plan's assumption that shipboard sewage treatment would not work. Such equipment in use for over two years had proven satisfactory, he said.

A 1970 federal law probably preempted the regional board and state from regulating sewage discharges from vessels, he added. The Environmental Protection Agency is drafting regulations to require either shipborad treatment or facilities to tie into shoreside treatment plants, he noted.

(The law, however, allows states to petition the federal government to waive federal standards in favor of stricter state standards.)

Steinberg also took exception to the plan's proposed limit on coliform bacteria. The plan's limit of 23 parts per 100 milliliters, he said, could not be met and was unnecessarily low.

Ocean commerce provides over $1 billion a year to Californians in jobs, payrolls and revenues, Steinberg said, and provides "the life line for the transportation of goods, people and ideas."

REFUELING — Student Andrea Tuffanelli of Ross pauses during one leg of the 20-mile Marin March Against Hunger. She didn't have a cup with her on the five-hour walk Saturday, so the refreshment had to come directly from the tap.

Walkers Net $8,000 To Fight Hunger

More than 250 persons trudged 20 miles yesterday to raise about $8,000 as Marin's contribution to the international Walk Against Hunger.

According to Robert Morgan, a junior at Sir Francis Drake High School and coordinator of Marin's walk, the turnout was considerably less than expected.

He said about 1,000 persons had been expected to join the march from Redwood High School in Larkspur through the communities of Greenbrae, San Rafael, San Anselmo, Fairfax and Ross.

Morgan said the walk's contribution, raised from sponsors who pledged to pay a certain amount for each mile walked by participant, should be sent to the Crocker Citizens Bank in San Anselmo before May 21.

Fifteen per cent of the money will go to the American Freedom From Hunger Foundation, a national organization which promotes the walks. The Marin Economic Opportunity Council and the Meals for Millions will split the remaining 85 per cent.

The Marin EOC money has been designated for school lunch programs and the Meals for Millions will go for a "self help" project in Ecuador to aid starving families in the growing of high protein foods.

Morgan said the largest amount in pledges, which was raised by Drake High School teacher, Jackie Moskowitz, grossed nearly $200 walking the 20 miles.

Morgan blamed the lack of advance publicity for this year's light turnout of 260 marchers.

Marin's 260 were part of a nationwide total of 639,000, accoridng to United Press International.

About $5 million was raised during the weekend, the American Freedom from Hunger Committee said in Washington.

The estimated total is about five times that announced as a goal.

Half-Acre Minimum Lots Voted

Marin County planning commissioners today refused to set a two-acre minimum lot size for agricultural and settled instead for a half-acre minimum lot.

The recommendation for half-acre minimum came on a motion by George P. Leonard and a second by Eugene P. Trombley. They were backed by Walter F. Freitas and Edward Hageman.

Margaret B. Azevedo and Jack G. Nixon voted "no" holding out for a two-acre minimum. John F. West, who had stepped out for a few minutes, missed the voting, but he, too, had earlier held out for the two-acre minimum.

Under the present zoning code, agricultural land in Marin can be divided into 7,500 square foot lots. The half-acre minimum boosts that to 21,780 square feet. Two acres contain 87,120 square feet.

County planning director Werner Von Gundell argued that without the two-acre minimum, the county would be unprotected against developers chopping up the open lands in West Marin into small lots.

He acknowledged that the two-acre minimum would work a hardship on about 10 or 20 per cent of the agricultural areas adjacent to urban communities. But these inequities would be corrected by subsequent rezoning, said Von Gundell.

Summer Rec Plan Wins Wide Support

A questionnaire distributed to 2,500 parents in the Reed School District has indicated overwhelming support for a joint Tiburon-school district summer recreation program.

Tiburon Assistant City Mgr. Robert L. Kleinert said about 500 of the questionnaires were returned, with all but eight voicing support for a formal recreation program.

The city and school district have cooperated on such activities in the past, Kleinert said, but not in recent years because of a lack of interest. The questionnaire appears to indicate a reversal of feeling.

Kleinert said the city parks and recreation commission will ask the city council to consider entering a joint program but may not have time to establish one for this summer.

In other business Thursday the parks and recreation commission called for citizens to serve on a committee planning the third annual Ayala Day, to be held Sept. 25 on Angel Island.

Two-Way Financial Disclosure Law Needed

Is the public entitled to know the sources of income of those who aspire to public office? Is the public entitled to know if these candidates are in fact insolvent?

Majorities in both houses of the California Legislature answered "yes" to the first question two years ago by passing a bill by then — Assemblyman Jesse M. Unruh which required office holders and candidates for public office to file disclosures of all their investments exceeding $10,000.

UNRUH'S POSITION — concurred in by a majority of legislators — was that this should be public information to help guard against conflicts of interest on the part of elective officials. For instance, if a person receives a major share of his income from rentals of slum property, he might have a personal interest in any measure for slum clearance. Or if oil stocks keep him wealthy, he might for personal reasons be averse to legislation to reduce the oil depletion allowance.

Unruh's financial disclosure act, however, produced a storm of outrage from elected public officials. The cities of Chico and Carmel challenged its constitutionality. And last March, before the first deadline for filing statements under the law, the California Supreme Court declared it unconstitutional.

The Independent-Journal's position on the law was stated on this page at the height of the controversy: "If there's nothing to hide, why balk at disclosure?"

The legislature has never come to grips with the second question: Is the public entitled to know if candidates are in fact insolvent?

Perhaps it should.

IT HAS BEEN LEARNED reliably that the wife of a candidate for San Rafael city office was drawing welfare from the county at the same time her husband was campaigning for office prior to the April 20 municipal election.

There should be no onus to being on welfare, any more than there should be an onus to owning oil stocks. But should not the public be entitled to know when a candidate for public office — which involves management of money collected by taxation — is unable to support his family?

We think it should.

There may be as much potential conflict of interest involved in drawing welfare as there is in owning slum property, oil stocks, or whatever.

AS THE LAW stands, not only is the public denied information of the financial status of candidates, but, in the case of welfare, its very disclosure is against the law.

When the California Supreme Court by 5-2 vote declared Unruh's financial disclosure law unconstitutional, it said:

"Nothing we say here should be deemed to preclude the legislature in a properly drawn statute from providing for a broad disclosure of assets, income or receipts relevant to public officer or employe."

That being the case, the legislature should get busy on drawing up a new financial disclosure law for public officials and candidates — one which covers impecuniosity as well as wealth.

How Misinformation Gets Broadcast: A Case in Point

By PAUL E. PETERZELL

The painless birth of misinformation is a wonder to behold.

And the San Francisco Chronicle proved again last week that it is the Bay Area's leading midwife in such births.

The victim this time was the truth about air pollution. The Chronicle version faithfully followed the gospel as related by the staff of the Bay Area Air Pollution Control District — utterly missing the correct story, which was completely contrary to the staff gospel.

The staff presented its annual self-congratulatory state-of-the-air report late Wednesday morning at the monthly meeting of district directors. The report glowingly cited a 17 per cent cut in emmissions from all sources of air contamination in the district.

A LUNCH BREAK, however, came before the directors had time to react to the report, so anyone leaving the meeting at that point could have swallowed the staff's claims. The Chronicle reporter left and did not return.

When the directors returned after a quick lunch, the picture changed. The directors spent most of the afternoon session shredding the claims and concluding they did not believe them.

The quality of the air simply did not reflect any such generous claim, the disbelieving directors agreed.

The Chronicle's reporter may have been assigned elsewhere in the afternoon. Or perhaps he had had his fill by lunch.

This reporter and one for the San Jose Mercury stayed for the afternoon, and consequently wrote stories for their Thursday editions about the directors' challenge to the staff report.

But the Chronicle came out first with its version — repeating the staff claims without a hint of dissent — and quickly was picked up by Associated Press and United Press International, feeding news clients throughout the region. All day Thursday the good news was on radio and television and in other newspapers relying on the wires — the air was "getting cleaner."

Many persons presumably greeted this "news" with disbelief, a response that erodes confidence in media. Not that confidence was deserved in this case. Unfortunately, it was not an isolated case.

RELATIONS BETWEEN Marin's two state legislators never have warmed. Sen. Peter H. Behr, R-San Rafael, will hold a fund-raising dinner this month, but Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, is not on the dinner committee of 56 prominent citizens.

"I didn't want to get in the middle of a prospective conflict between two friends," Bagley told us. He explained he had in mind his long acquaintance in the Legislature with Sen. Milton Marks, R-San Francisco, who may face Behr for reelection next year because of reapportionment.

Bagley was the only person to refuse to be on the dinner committee, according to Behr's staff.

Welfare Plan Effect On County Questioned

The Independent-Journal would perform a needed public service by printing an in-depth, factual analysis, showing how Governor Reagon's so-called "welfare reform" proposals will increase local property taxes substantially, because of the transfer of costs from the state to county government.

In this article, omit the pros and cons of the welfare problem per se, and focus strictly on who will pick up the tab that the state will drop under Reagan's proposals.

I believe your subscribers deserve and will appreciate this non-partisan report.

MARY M. LeHANE

(According to the figures in a cost analysis prepared by the governor's office, the SAVING to Marin County through Reagan's welfare reform would be $679,454, for next fiscal year. However, these figures have been challenged. — Editor.

North Bay Yacht Club Missing From Edition

On April 24, you did an excellent job in your magazine on boating —except for one glaring mistake, and one minor one. Being a past commodore of the North Bay Yacht Club, I was dumbfounded, when reading your article on the various yacht clubs located in Marin that were going to compete on opening day, to find that North Bay Yacht Club was not mentioned.

In past years, we have won first place; we three times won the most attendance trophy; and many times won second or third place, or honorable mention. To top them all, this year we not only won first place, but it was the first time that a sailboat has ever won it —and this boat, as you now know, flew the North Bay Yacht Club burgee.

. . . I might also add that under the listings of yacht club, you showed the commodore of North Bay Yacht Club as S. E. Behrens. We do not have any member by that name; our present commodore is Matt Savasta.

Let's hope you don't forget us next year.

Destruction Breeds Further Destruction

To the group or groups responsible for the bombings and consequent destruction of schools, banks and public buildings:

I as an individual cannot condone these destructive acts on the "establishment," nor can I condemn the principle of thought behind your actions.

However, I should like to point out something so obvious that it's incredible that it could be overlooked, and that is — violence breeds violence, and in turn begets anarchy. The ultimate end is the death of individual freedom. I am not suggesting that dissent should be stifled, for without dissent, politicians become fat and complaisant, and the nation suffers as it has in my generation. The seed of destruction you sow now will surely be inherited by the succeeding generation, just as the complaisancy of my generation was inherited.

The power of the people, all of the people, is brought about not by explosive destruction, but rather by the voice of the people through concerted and concentrated efforts at the polls, through telegrams, phone calls and letters to our elected representatives. For in this way you truly have dissent that is productive and meaningful.

Earth Day Propaganda Shocking To Parent

I strongly resent my schools being used to advertise the killing of babies, the use of contraceptives, sterilization, abortion counseling etc. all of which information we are told is strictly confidential to anyone under the age of 18. I am sure you know I am referring to the paper my little girls brought home from Yolandsdale School last week advertising Earth Day at Isabel Cook School May 1.

Between the Planned Parenthood and Population Zero's propaganda that was passed out it looks as though they are trying to make young people feel guilty for having any children . . .

One piece of literature which was handed out indiscriminately to young and old alike had a picture of a new-born baby the caption reading, "Every 7½ seconds a new American is born. He is a disarming little thing, but he begins to scream loudly in a voice that can be heard for seventy years. He is screaming for 26,000,000 tons of water, 21,000 gallons of gasoline, 10,150 pounds of meat, 28,000 pounds of milk and cream, 9,000 pounds of wheat and great storehouses of all other foods, drinks, and tobaccos. These are his lifetime demands of his country and its economy."

A young child of 9 or 10 reading this might believe that this baby is a threat to his very existence . . .

Our superintendent was genuinely shocked at this and has assured us this will never happen again in our elementary schools.

Facts On Results Of Marijuana Use

In your series of "Rap Sessions" on April 30 attorney Michael Metzger made a statement that is untrue and grossly misleading. I quote: "Marijuana, which has been used for 5,000 years, is a harmless weed." The present facts are quite the contrary.

1. Dr. Vincent De Paul of St. John's University has proven that the equivalent of one marijuana cigarette a day given to pregnant rats for 10 days produced serious genetic defects in the offspring.

2. The World Health Organization states that prolonged usage causes brain lesions which may be responsible for the problems of apathy, loss of ambition, and abulia found in marijuana users. The National Institute of Mental Health has also made similar statements.

3. Dr. Harold Kolansky of the Philadelphia Association of Psychoanalysis tested 38 patients all of whom had used no other drug than marijuana and found that four of the patients attempted suicide, eight became psychotic, and the remainder showed severe distrubances ranging from paranoid delusions of grandeur to excessive sexual promiscuity . . .

4. Marijuana is possibly the only drug out of approximately 600 drugs currently used in medical practice that shows the property of "reverse" tolerance. In other words, the more you smoke of it — the less it takes to produce an effect . . .

5. Marijuana causes dilation of the blood vessels . . .

6. Dilation of the brain vessels causes headaches, often severe . . .

7. There are numerous cases in the medical literature of Far East countries (India, Egypt, etc.), where marijuana has been used for long periods of time, of complete personality breakdowns directly attributable to marijuana use . . .

'China Lobby' Loses Its Power Because of Changed Circumstances

And the handouts from the "Committee of One Million," once a powerful voice of public opinion against admitting mainland China into the United Nations, now usually fall into the wastebasket.

But there are Americans who still believe deeply that it is as wrong and unwise and dangerous as ever to put the People's Republic of China into the United Nations.

Their view needs to be understood if for no other reason than to insure that we don't expect too much to be written on that "new page" of improved United States- China relations which Prime Minister Chou En-lai talked about.

My own conviction is that circumstances have radically changed since the Communists successfully seized power on the mainland and drove Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek to Taiwan. It is because of these changes that President Nixon's initiative to normalize relations seems to me timely and well-conceived.

CRITICS HOLD that closer United States-China relations and membership in the United Nations would give Peking a forum which its past record shows it would use destructively.

The record to which the critics refer is this:

The Chinese Communists came to power at the "barrel of a gun." They gave the people no more opportunity to decide whether they wanted Communist rule than did Castro.

The Mao government joined in North Korea's aggression against South Korea and was branded the aggressor by the United Nations. It concluded the Korean war with a truce which was supposed to be a prelude to a peace treaty and has refused to accept any settlement of the Korean war.

The Chinese army liquidated the independence of Tibet and seized by force many thousands of square miles of Indian territory after having assured Prime Minister Nehru that Peking had "no territorial dispute" with India.

China has provided much of the arms to help North Vietnam in its efforts to conquer South Vietnam.

DOES THIS RECORD, the critics ask, indicate that Communist China is likely to be a force for peace in the United Nations or anywhere else?

If not, why is President Nixon moving in that direction? The reasons:

In the early years it was uncertain whether the Mao regime would be able to rule China for long.

By now two things are evident. The Communist regime is in secure control. The Chinese Nationalists on Taiwan have no prospect whatsoever of overthrowing the regime.

Isolation does not make a nation more peaceful. It is better that the rulers of the Chinese participate in the deliberations of the world at the United Nations than to act outside it.

Mr. Nixon believes that no long-term, stable peace can be achieved without China's participation. And from our own standpoint he believes that it is well to have closer and continuous contact with both of the principal Communist powers, not with Moscow alone.

IT IS IN LIGHT of these conditions that Henry Cabot Lodge, who fought against Peking's entry into the United Nations, now favors inviting mainland China to become a member as long as this does not mean the expulsion of Taiwan.

On this point it seems to me Communist China and Taiwan can make their own decision. If Peking wants to accept China's seat on the Security Council with Taiwan remaining in the General Assembly, it can do so or keep itself out by rejecting it. If Taiwan does not wish to remain in the United Nations with Peking on the Security Council, it is free to make that choice. There is, however, no basis whatsoever for expelling Taiwan.

BY NO MEANS NEUTRAL

'California Strategy' Just Part Of Nixon's Grand Plan

By ERNEST B. FURGURSON

WASHINGTON — Sargent Shriver combined foresight and hindsight when he predicted Mr. Nixon was going to move to scrap the controversial OEO legal services department because it offended Ronald Reagan — and called it part of a "California strategy" for his 1972 re-election.

The move itself came through on schedule, confirming Shriver's foresight. As he said at Stanford University, the President asked Congress to replace the OEO section with an independent legal services corporation. Mr. Nixon maintained the change would make the operation "immune to political pressures," which is a laugh, considering that the whole switch was forced by pressure from Reagan.

As Shriver put it, the bill the President sent to Congress would "under the seemingly neutral guise of a reorganization to achieve better administration. . . make a mockery of everything that has made poor people believe they could secure redress of grievance through the legal system." Of course, Shriver has some paternal interest in the OEO as it used to be, which might give him more cause for complaint than even your normally partisan Democrat. But let him proceed:

"JUST AS WE HAVE SEEN evidence in the last two years of a 'southern strategy,' by which the administration was willing to pack the Supreme Court, so too there is a 'California strategy' emerging which is all the more sinister to observe. It is a strategy in which the legal rights and lives of poor people of this state are being compromised in return for crass political deals."

That's where his hindsight comes in.

There is nothing new about the California strategy. It has not replaced the southern strategy. It has been there all along, along with the Texas strategy. The fact that the whole thing is so widespread is what lent a modicum of truth to the protestations by Agnew and others that by trying to pack the Supreme Court and otherwise out-Wallace George Wallace the administration was not either exercising any southern strategy. Right. It was bigger than that, coast-to-coast in fact.

It just so happens that California will be the heaviest single delegation at next year's Republican national convention, and its members will be fingerprinted friends of Reagan. It also happens that California has more electoral votes — 45 — than any other state, and retaining them is key to any Nixon ambitions to stay in office another four years. And the repeatedly demonstrated fact is that most elections in California are won south of the Tehachapi Mountains, where Reagan is most popular.

THUS, WHEN REAGAN is in a fight with the OEO legal services department over the activist young lawyers' pro-poor initiatives in California, a President who wants the support of the California delegation at next year's convention and wants after that to be re-elected is not likely to get into that fight against Reagan. Not if the President is named Nixon. What he does instead is take just the step Reagan has been urging for months to get the OEO-supported legal aid outfit out of his hair.

What he does also is make frequent visits to his western White House in Southern California, sometimes taking the whole operation across the country and back just for the week end. What he does in addition to that is volunteer for a second press conference in less than three days to make sure his cheery economic analyses are issued there in recession-groggy Southern California. And beyond that what he does is support a quarter-billion-dollar federal loan guarantee to bail out Lockheed Aircraft Corp., paving the way for that move by stating at San Clemente: "We need a strong airframe producer like Lockheed in Southern California. And if we can save the company, and frankly help it toward better management, we will do so."

Of course there's a California strategy. But putting activist lawyers out of business is going to raise cheers throughout the South, too. Keeping Lockheed alive with public monies is just as popular in Georgia as it is in California. Giving John Connally room to operate at the Treasury Department and stir rumors that he will be your vice presidential colleague on next year's ticket goes down as palatably as medium-hot Jalapena sauce in Austin. So does winging down to pretend to pay homage to L.B.J. at the dedication of his library at the University of Texas later this month. Texas has 26 electoral votes, after all.

So there is a California strategy, a southern strategy, a Texas strategy — and so on. You're dealing with a politician, and any politician ambitious to survive has a strategy for every precinct in his district. Some precincts are just bigger than others.

I-J REPORTER'S NOTEBOOK

Angela Now 'Forgotten Defendant' As Case Winds Its Weary Way

San Quentin convict Ruchell Magee has been termed "the forgotten man" or "the other defendant" by some reporters writing about the Angela Davis case.

The wiry convict, however, a black man from Louisiana with a grade school education, has managed to bog down the state's judicial system as well as boggle six attorneys who represent Miss Davis, three from the attorney general's office, and all six who have been appointed to represent him.

Far from being forgotten or just the other person, Magee has so upstaged Miss Davis (who has not spoken aloud since pleading innocent several months ago) that the judge appeared last week to have forgotten her name.

Judge Alan A. Lindsay, an Alameda County jurist assigned to the case, referred to her as "Miss Moore" early in Wednesday's proceedings. Her chief counsel, Howard Moore, smiled the first time this happened, but when the judge a half-hour later called her "Miss Moore" again, the lawyer rose to his feet.

"It's Miss Davis," he said firmly.

An attorney who represented two other attorneys (the case is full of things like that) said that his clients were appointed for Magee at a time when they were out of the county on a case involving "that San Rafael newspaper — the News-Call-Bulletin."

Judge Lindsay, a resident of the East Bay who could scarcely be expected to be an I-J reader, had done his homework on the Marin scene, however, and quickly told the lawyer, "It's the Independent-Journal."

The first court appearances of the two were marked by a feeling of tension that was highly dramatic. The militant supporters of the pair who shouted out slogans like "Power to the people" crowded the courtroom.

It was news when Miss Davis walked regally into the courtroom and raised her clenched fist in salute to her followers.

The sessions now, however, have slipped into a kindergarten atmosphere in which one expects the judge to announce that milk and graham crackers will be served during the recess.

The only non-nursery school feature about the whole thing is the lack of restroom facilities.

For awhile, man were permitted to use the restroom near the courtroom set aside for their sex. Women (both reporters and militants) were totally out of luck since the ladies' room nearest the courtroom has been out of commission since the October bombing.

Apparently, some sort of a women's lib triumph was reached recently when the men's room was also declared out of bounds and was locked during Davis-Magee proceedings.

All we can hope for is that if we raise our hands nicely, the judge will give permission for trips to the bathroom.

Atlanta Newspaper On Reagan: Phooey

ATLANTA (UPI) —The Atlanta Journal-Constitution Sunday denounced California Gov. Ronald Reagan's claim that his privacy was violated because it was reported he did not pay a state income tax last year.

"Phooey," said an editorial in metropolitan Atlanta's only Sunday newspaper. "The price of public service is no privacy."

WASHINGTON WINDOW

Congress Isn't Stalled, It's Just Moving Slowly

BY FRANK ELEAZER

WASHINGTON (UPI) —When war protesters threatened to close down the Congress this week Rep. Edward I. Koch, D-N.Y., predicted correctly they couldn't do it.

"It's hard to bring to a grinding halt a machine that isn't moving," Koch told the House.

This is not to deny all the other unkind things you have heard about Congress. It is to concede most of them and to say that some other week's Washington Window will be adding more to the list.

But at the risk of standing accused of spreading good news, we feel compelled to report that what Koch said isn't fair. Actually the 92nd Congress to date has been plodding right along with its work.

YOU MAY HAVE read that the Democratic House leaders aren't the best pals in the world and don't always consult with each other; that the Senate sill prefers talking to acting; that the House doesn't talk much but still likes to work only three days a week.

Okay. And anybody can see furthermore that House and Senate come December will be rushing as usual to try to get done with their work.

But the record shows that since Jan. 21, when it got off to a late start due to the late windup of the 91st Congress, a lot has been done by the 92nd. Most of what has been done won't hurt anybody and some of it may actually help.

SOCIAL SECURITY benefits, for instance, have been raised 10 per cent, retroactive to Jan. 1. Now the House Ways and Means committee has in the works another increase for next year.

A constitutional amendment was passed and sent to the states to let 18-year-olds vote in state and local elections (as they already can in election of federal officials).

The House passed a bill to continue the draft, end automatic college deferments, and raise pay and allowances of the military by $2.7 billion a year in the hope that nobody much will have to be drafted. A similar bill is under debate in the Senate.

Ways and Means has drafted a bill to reform welfare, catch chiselers and put loafers to work, while assuring the needy at least $200 a month for a family of four. Both liberals and conservatives so far seem pleased about this.

THE SENATE HAS approved a $1.75 billion two-year program of federal subsidies to create 150,000 new public service jobs in schools, hospitals, police and fire forces, and other overworked and understaffed places. A similar bill is ready for House action next week.

The House has approved another job-building bill, a $5.5 billion measure to speed up public works projects. That bill is in conference now with the Senate, which approved a narrower version.

Both House and Senate faced up to the supersonic transport issue again, and decided finally we can get along without a plane that will get us from New York to London in three hours instead of the six hours and 40 minutes now needed.

Standby wage and price controls were extended a year although President Nixon insists he won't use them.

Naturally, along with all this, the national debt limit has been raised once again, this time from $395 billion to $430 billion. Maybe if the Congress doesn't work too hard the rest of the year, we can make that one stick for awhile.

Tricia Chooses China, Silver

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Tricia Nixon has selected American-made china and silver ware for her wedding but she reverted to her Irish ancestors for her crystal pattern, it was learned today.

The president's 25-year-old daughter chose the dainty "Blue Tree" pattern in Lenox China and Lunt sterling silver in the ornate "Eloquence" pattern. Her goblets and wine glasses were chosen from Ireland's Waterford crystal in the blown diamond cut "Lismore" design.

Tricia and her mother went on several shopping tours before she made up her mind.

$130 Million Expansion Plan Set By Kaiser

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The Kaiser medical care program is undertaking a $130 million expansion program over the next four years.

New hospitals in San Jose, West Los Angeles, San Diego and Portland, Ore., are tentatively included in the expansion program announced Sunday.

Major addition are plans for Kaiser medical centers at Oakland, Walnut Creek, San Rafael, Los Angeles, Bellflower, Harbor City, Panorama City and Fontana, Calif., and Parma and Cleveland, Ohio.

The Kaiser Foundation, with 2.2 million members is the largest non-governmental health care organization in the United States.

To carry out the four-year program, Kaiser will borrow $80 million from a group of insurance companies.

'Six Characters And Me' Slated

A drama, "Six Characters Plus Me," will be presented at 9 p.m., Saturday at the Marin Fellowship of Unitarians, 240 Channing Way, San Rafael.

It will be preceded by a social hour at 7:30. Marjorie Casebier of the Festival Theater will be featured in the play and will conduct a group discussion afterward.

TAKE A QUIET RIDE WITH THE QUIET MEN OF OLDS

The Quiet Men—your Bay Area Olds Dealers—believe a Delta 88 is its own best salesman.

So they invite you to come in and take a "Quiet Ride"—a test drive in a Delta 88 with "G-Ride". They'll let the car do all the talking.

"G-Ride" is a combination of advances that make every ride more enjoyable. ☐ Tuned body mounts to soak up vibration. ☐ Coil springs computer-matched to the weight of the car and the equipment you order. ☐ New molded-foam front seat, six inches thick, to resist sagging. ☐ Plus exclusive Olds Supershocks that smooth out the roughest roads.

And there's a lot more to enjoy in a Delta 88. Power steering and power front disc brakes for greater ease and handling. Both standard. So is a power ventilation system for extra comfort. A pollution-fighting Rocket V-8 engine. And all the GM safety features—from side-marker lights on each fender to side-guard beams inside each door.

So see your Bay Area Olds Dealer for a "Quiet Ride" in a new Delta 88. He'll see that you get "something extra" for giving him the opportunity.

Marin Women

HAPPY over the completion of "Ecological Hangups" are Mrs. Charles Cutting, left, chairman of the project for the conservation section of the Mill Valley Branch of the American Association Women, and Mrs. James Schock, one of the committee. The Hangups will be distributed in some schools on May 17.

'THE HANGUP'

A Household Ecological Guide

By MAYBELLE SPECKMANN

Ready for distribution in schools are 3,000 copies of the "Ecological Hangup," the result of many hours of work by the conservation section of the Mill Valley Branch of the American Association of University Women.

The Hangup — so called because the 14" x 8½" sheet is readily hung on a cupboard door or any other convenient place for quick reference — lists on the front many specific ways in which a family can contribute to the improvement of the environment through general and household practices. On the back is a similar list for gardens, with locations, hours and telephone numbers for collection and recycling centers and information sources.

The front page gives tips on such things as recycling; saving water and electricity; changing of cooking habits; how to handle junk mail and excess coat hangers and magazines; methods of travel; and avoidance of no-pest strips and aerosol containers.

On the back of the Hangup garden tips are given, such as the use of beer, vaseline and ashes and planting of garlic and chives to deter insects, together with a list of the worst pesticides to avoid, and timing of watering with a kitchen timer.

THE HANGUP will be distributed free next week in the fourth through eighth grades in the Mill Valley, Sausalito and Reed School Districts.

If there is a large public demand by other school districts and organizations, more of the Hangups will be printed and sold at a cost of $10 per hundred in bulk lots, with proceeds going to the Mill Valley Branch's fellowships program.

Mrs. Charles Cutting, chairman for the project, explained how it developed.

"The section wanted to do something in ecology," she said, "and after hearing that branches elsewhere in the country had done something of the sort, we made up a committee to work on the project.

"Believing that pamplets and booklets just get tossed in drawers, the group selected a hangup format that would be attractive and sturdy enough to keep and consult easily without too much effort.

"We didn't want it to be just another throwaway," Jane said.

CONSERVATION SECTION members suggested the topics to be included and did the research on them. Editing, composition and distribution were done by Jane and Mrs. James Schock, assisted by Mmes. Theodore Knight, Kreig Vezie and Walter Stoeckenius.

"The project would not have been possible financially," Jane noted, "without the Tamalpais High School print shop doing the printing for just the cost of the paper."

Any schools or organizations wishing to purchase the Hangups in bulk lots may order them by calling Mrs. Cutting, who lives at 24 Midhill Drive, Mill Valley.

New P-TA Leader Says Marin Cares

MRS. KENNETH L. POOL
Calls for parent aid

Mrs. Kenneth L. Pool, new president of Hill Junior High School Parent-Teacher Association, says "we moved here (Novato) from Maryland five years ago. We all have fallen in love with Marin County and I have enjoyed working in the P-TA. I have found most parents really care what is going on in the community.

"I feel that even though we, as parents, have many problems to face, such as drugs, we must keep the lines of communication open and we will be able to solve the problems. I have found there are many of our educators who really care and will help, but they can not do it if we parents don't follow through and take the time to help."

Irene and her husband, a captain in the public health service, milk and food branch, are the parents of Janet, 18, Katherine, 13, Richard, 10, and Christopher, 4 years old. She enjoys sewing, cooking and camping with the family.

She served as president of Lu Sutton P-TA for two years and as vice president of Hill last year. She is also a member of the Presbyterian Church of Novato.

Serving with Mrs. Pool are Mrs. E. C. Leigon, first vice president; Harry J. Moore, second vice president; Mrs. David Matson, secretary; Mrs. William George, treasurer; Mrs. Le Roy Bouchey, historian; and Duane Moeller, auditor.

Reason For Aging Some Cuts Of Beef

High Quality beef ribs and loins are aged to develop additional tenderness and characteristic flavor. There are several ways to age beef and this is done before beef is offered for sale in food stores.

When the dry aging method is used for beef, it is held at a constant temperature of 34 to 36 degrees with controlled humidy for a period of three to six weeks.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

New, Rich Widow Doesn't Need Retiring Spinster To Boss Her

DEAR HELEN:

My friend, a young 60, lost her husband two months ago. She is lonely and unsettled. My husband and I had her as a house guest for a while but she wanted to move into an apartment, which was fine — except that another friend, a very domineering spinster has decided she should not be alone.

This second woman will soon retire from an executive position. Her income will drop, therefore she's looking for cheap rent. She has never been a housekeeper or a cook, is the type to leave a trail of cigarette ashes, clothes, coffee cups and cocktail glasses behind her. In other words, she is sloppy, whereas my widowed friend is meticulous, a great cook and a real homemaker. You can guess who will do most of the work, while being bossed to distraction. Also she'll assume the greater financial burden, as she is well-off.

Now you'd think the widow could see this combination won't work, but she is easily swayed. She sees the spinster as "salvation" — someone who will take over, for she was always very dependent on her husband. And she has this self-effacing hero worship of career women, so she's ripe for browbeating. Once moved in, "Miss Bossy" won't be eradicated without more gumption than "Mrs. Softy" has.

DEAR CON:

Why not suggest a long cruise or a European tour? Several months on her own should convince your friend that she isn't limited to "bossy spinsters" the rest of her life. — H.

DEAR HELEN:

My 17-year-old daughter lies, then accuses me of spying on her. How could I spy when she has her room so boobytrapped that I'm almost afraid to walk in the door? I never know what might jump out at me from a drawer, or go off with a bang when I open a box (if I ever did, that is).

She runs with a rowdy crowd of girls who have been sent home after curfew many times. She saves her lunch money to buy beer on weekends — I've heard her plans on the telephone.

She was picked up by the police for possession of alcoholic beverages and, of course, she cried and denied, so got off with a warning, but I know she drinks to excess. I've tried to keep this from her father. I've covered up for her but now I'm sick inside, for she won't confide in me, calls me dirty names and, if I try to help her, gets hysterical, then won't speak for days.

The last straw was when a highway man I know asked me, "How's your daughter, she must be stiff and sore?" He was shocked to learn I knew nothing of the accident. Seems she and another girl had rolled a pickup truck into a ravine, and the road crew pulled them out. She told me she was babysitting!

Is this all my fault for overprotecting and lying for her? I was married — quite disastrously — very young, and had my family before I was 18. My husband and I have separated several times, are now together but not happy. I feel alone and helpless. I want to be a well-loved mother of a GOOD daughter, but I've turned into what she calls a "nosey witch," with no control. Is there any hope? — BEWILDERED AND HURT

DEAR B AND H:

If your daughter reads HHU every day, then maybe she'll see this request: Dear Daughter of B and H: Send me YOUR version together with a stamped envelope addressed to BOTH of you. When I hear each side (it might be good to get your father's viewpoint here, too) I can at least make an educated guess about what's wrong and how to right it.

Meanwhile, Mrs. B and H: Make an appointment with your family service agency — for the whole family! — H.

This column is dedicated to family living, so if you're having kid trouble or just plain trouble, let Helen help you. She will also welcome your own amusing experiences. Address Helen Bottel in care of the Independent-Journal.

Five Prescriptions The Yearly Average

The average American uses four to five prescriptions a year and the average family uses 14 to 16 according to the Health Insurance Association of America.

At the same time Americans spend three to four billion dollars on prescribed drugs. According to the Pharmaceutical Association about 60 per cent of these drugs available today were not available 10 years ago.

Gobbleygook Is Agency's Byword

By ARTHUR E. ROWSE

WASHINGTON—The late great James Thurber must have had the U.S. Department of Agriculture in mind when he wrote that delightful little fable, "The Weaver and the Worm."

"Where do you get that stuff?" asked the weaver as he spotted a silkworm spinning a cocoon. "Do you want to make something of it?" replied the worm. Whereupon, said Thurber, each went his own way, thinking the other had insulted him.

The point, said Thurber, is that much of what we say and hear is gobbledygook. He wound up his story with a moral:

"A word to the wise is not sufficient if it doesn't make any sense."

THE TROUBLE is that Thurber's message has not penetrated many of the walls and craniums at the Department of Agriculture. That sprawling monstrosity produces more tons of gobbledygook per capita each year than any other government division except Congress.

Americans have learned to expect plenty of nonsense along with advertising messages. But they may not realize the full amount of marshmellow fluff that comes from the USDA. Citizens deserve the truth about food from their government, but they don't always get it.

For example, take the recent speech themes of USDA Secretary Clifford M. Hardin. He has been stressing figures showing that average food prices went up 22 per cent in the past decade while the average for all living costs rose 30 per cent.

HE CALLS this "one of the great success stories of the age — the fact that food is a better buy than ever before in this or any other country." He then compares the proportion of income spent on food — 16.5 per cent — with higher figures in other developing countries.

What he doesn't say is how little such averages and comparisons mean. There is a limit on what people will eat each day but no limit on income, so the portion of income spent on food is likely to decline even if food prices rise just as fast as income and total expenditures do.

These figures also don't tell much about the great variations between income and age groups. Many people with limited incomes spend as much as half of their total incomes on food. Price increases hurt them most.

THE FIGURES also don't tell much about the great differences in conditions between this country and others, differences so huge that valid comparisons are virtually impossible to make.

The figures also don't tell much about what the USDA has been doing about food prices. Its policies and programs are chiefly designed to raise prices by limiting supplies through import and crop restrictions. Yet farmers generally have been getting a declining share of retail prices.

If this is a great success story, then gobbledygook has taken over, and it may be more than a coincidence that the latest Home and Garden Bulletin (No. 176) of the USDA is entitled: "Nuts in Family Meals: A Guide for Consumers."

Not everything the USDA does is so nutty, but the proportion of it seems to be rising at least as fast as food prices are.

'The Alumnae,' A New Cartoon, Characterizes Suburban Wife

CARTOONIST MARY Flanigan Gauerke of New Jersey draws a panel for her syndicated "The Alumnae," which begins today in the I-J Women's Section. The daily panel features four stereotyped women whose contrasting personalities keep in situations of sophisticated humor.

Mary Flanigan Gauerke, whose cartoon "The Alumnae" begins today in the Independent-Journal Women's Section, didn't realize that cartooning was a man's field when she began putting brush to India ink in 1947.

Since that time the career cartoonist and housewife has sold her humor panels to top national magazines and newspapers including the New York Times, Chicago Tribune, Wall Street Journal and the National Observer.

AFTER MORE than 20 years of depicting humor for the magazines she created her six-a-week panel "The Alumnae" with its four stereotype characters, Magda, Helen, DeEtte and Myra. Magda, she says, is avant-garde and keeps her ear to the ground for current fads in the arts, politics and social problems. Helen is the "calico-kitchen housewife" engaged in a losing battle with a self-indulgent appetite, while DeEtte is a caricature of youthful frivolity, living only to be dressed up. Myra, on the other hand, is the club woman, organizer and leader of the group.

"The theme of the panel," explains Mary, "revolves around the diverse activities of the four women with contrasting personalities." She believes it has a contemporary flavor and has its greatest appeal to suburban housewives, although the humor is universal, she hopes.

Ideas for her cartoons are "exclusively mine," says Mary, who skims magazines and newspapers to see what's new in the world and then draws the panels, three or four months prior to publication. Her husband, Carl, "picks the ones he thinks are best," and then the syndicate gives them a final test for their humor.

HER STUDIO is now the biggest room in their three-bedroom home in Tenafly, N.J. Their son, Carl Jr., is away at college.

Mary studied art at Stephens College in Columbia, Mo., before her marriage, and it has assisted her into the almost-exclusively male world of cartooning.

Aside from her career, she puts in time on her daily "addiction," — the crossword puzzle and is reputed to be one of the few able to complete the New York Times crossword puzzle.

Short-Shorts

The revival of short-shorts, this time for street as well as sportswear, has expanded the whole vocabulary of the fashion industry. So far, these terms have appeared: shortipants, smartipants, minipants, hot pants, short cuts and city pants.

Bra-Burning Myth Is Put Down

STANFORD (BW) — Bra-Burning, long associated with women's liberation, is a myth that "never happened anywhere," Aileen Hernandez, President of the National Organization for Women, told a Stanford audience.

Several years ago, protesters at a Miss America Pageant in Atlantic City threatened such an act. But when fire officials said it would be a hazard to the Boardwalk, they called it off.

The symbol stuck, though the event never happened.

"We're nothing if not law abiding," Miss Hernandez said Thursday.

NOW has lodged complaints of sex discrimination in employment against 1,300 business firms through the office of federal contract compliance, she reported.

And women who serve as the door-to-door collectors for United Fund and other charities are starting to take a local look at where the gifts finally go — often finding that boys' and men's groups are heavily favored over those of the opposite sex.

Recently asked if the drive for equal treatment should extend to the draft, she said "yes," opposing the drafting of young fathers just as strongly as young mothers.

"War is not in the public interest," she explained.

Changes in the job market and child rearing both point toward a major redefinition of individual roles in society, she said.

The fastest growing segment of employment is in service and clerical work traditionally performed by women, she explained. Moreover, as desired family size diminishes, women no longer will spend as much time rearing children at home.

Expanded and improved child care is one of several "vast areas for new employment" which could be realized in a more humanistically oriented society, she added.

"I don't want to denigrate anyone's idea of what she wants to be, so long as it's her free choice," Miss Hernandez said.

Sportswear Is A City Fashion

Sportswear is now a city fashion. Women have opted for the more casual look. Stovepipe pants, straighter and with less flare, are wardrobe necessities.

Skirts split either on the side or in front — and can be worn with just a blouse, or with a long vest to create a total look. Sportswear has been "citified" — and can be seen in every place from the park to the office.

Breakfast Beef

Beef up your breakfast with a ground beef patty — broiled or pan fried to your taste. Serve with fruit, milk and toast for a nutritionally balanced meal for young or not so young.

Stick-Roasted Beef For Fun

Roasting beef on a long stick is great fun for children. Place bit size pieces of boneless chuck on the end of a long stick or roasting fork.

Each one cooks his own over the barbecue coals to his personal liking. Beef is soon ready to eat from the stock or to pop into a bun. Dress with the trimmings that go with hot dogs or hamburgers.

Other cast members include Bob Van Peer, Karen Matulich, Peggy Eggers, Joanne Damazio, Kristen Diekmann, Mary Fomasi, Annette Bunce, Dixie Mann, Joan McClure, Katie Omundson, William Re, Thomas Kirkland, and Michael Deenihan.

Music will be provided by Karl Zoeller, banjo; Dennis Brown, violin; and Chris Bratt, guitar.

Balladeers Plan Benefit For CHILD

Balladeers Joseph Marais and his wife, Miranda, will present a performance for the benefit of the CHILD Center of Marin at 8 p.m. May 21 at the Fine Arts Theater of the College of Marin, Kentfield.

The couple will use a variety of instruments, sing in five languages and create their own music from ancient and modern sources, according to Sandra Beates, publicity chairman.

Some of the songs they have become associated with are "Zulu Warrior," "A-Round the Corner" and "Sugarbush."

The CHILD (Childhood Help in Learning and Development) Center in Kentfield is a facility to provide help for children with problems in learning and development.

Ticket information can be obtained at the center, 1030 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, or at the Book Store at the College of Marin or by writing the center, P. O. Box 144, Kentfield.

Also on the agenda will be an application by Christine Ghilotti for a warehouse, office and showroom at 50 Belvedere Street.

Peruvian Trip Set For Marin Youth

The YMCA of Marin, in cooperation with the Pacific Region YMCA and California Partners of the Americas, will offer a Peruvian Work Camp for students, 16 through 21 years of age, July 30-Sept. 2, James Looney, executive director, announced today.

The work camp project will be reconstruction and development in the area of Peru hit by devastating earthquakes last year, Looney said.

Participants will live with Peruvian families, tour sites of interest and talk with both Peruvian governmental officials and U.S. Embassy staff members.

Students applying for the program must have had at least one semester of Spanish language instruction or the equivalent, Looney said. The cost of the trip for participants is $795. Further details can be obtained through the YMCA of Marin, 241 North San Pedro Road.

Great Britain has asked cigarette manufacturers to print a health warning on packages.

Tryouts Slated For 'Streetcar'

Park: 10 To 20 Years More Turmoil In U.S.

By FRANK FARRARA

The U.S. "is in a period of severe turmoil" connected with change which began about 10 years ago and probably will continue another 10 to 20 years.

This is the view of James W. L. Park, 48-year-old associate warden at San Quentin Prison, formerly a clinical psychologist with the State Department of Corrections.

Change is uncomfortable for "those over 30" because they "see the accepted way of doing things upset," and uncomfortable for younger people because "things are not so structured" as they once were. "Where they (young people) plug in, is not so clear," he said.

The turmoil contains the potential for a "really fine society," but there is a danger that the turmoil will be so upsetting that "it will come down clamped in a rigid mold, right or left," Park said.

He hoped that the "good parts" of American society are retained and the "bad points" eliminated during the period of change. "I tend to be optimistic in the long range, and pessimistic on the short haul," he commented.

Of changing morals, Park felt some changes were "in a favorable direction," such as the "view that sex is a normal function; a great advantage over our generation."

Trial marriages in many cases have saved couples "from getting into a real bad situation," he said. However, the people living together should "have a real relationship and care about each other," not live together as a purely sexual arrangement, he said.

Yet, at some point, there has to be a "degree of stability," and the couple should think before having children, he said. "Kids need to be raised by families."

Park said he hoped future generations would be "devoted to the concept of a healthy family," which he felt was a mainstay of society.

"The basic moral fiber is okay," he said, but there are things such as pornographic movies, which he described as "sick and exploitive." These films would perish in a "healthy sexual climate," he contended.

Concerning education, Park said: "I think schools will have to change radically where they are less of a sentence for 16 years, and become a place where people can develop their potential."

This generation, which has grown up with television, "is much better informed than we were at that age," and "the schools are going to have to cope with it. Schools can't do business as usual."

Park felt youth should "insofar as possible" be free to follow its creative bent and interest. He said he would like to see young people have enough time to explore until they find themselves.

The question is whether society can provide the basic economic security that would allow them to develop their interests, he said. "I think we'll have to come to some version of the guaranteed annual income or negative income tax as the only way to allow them to do this."

Less and less labor is needed to produce necessities and the assumption that "everybody has to work like a beaver to make this country go, is not so now," he said.

Many youths reject the idea of working just for the sake of making money, but will "work like beavers on something they feel is relevant," Park said.

However, he commented, the young overlook the fact that not all people will be able to "do their own thing," and that not everyone "has the motivation or the makeup for creative work."

On religion, Park agreed that the church should be relevant to life today, and felt "it doesn't need to follow a rigid pattern."

On criticism of religion by youth, Parks remarked: "Young people tend to be more intolerant than older people. The young have a hard time accepting the fact that people aren't perfect, and that a church isn't perfect."

"To me the basic ethic is non-interference with the rights of others," Park said.

On racial turmoil, he said the problem is not going to end "until there is truly equal opportunity for everyone to do the things he is capable of doing."

He took issue with people who describe the United States as "the most violent country in the world," saying there is hardly a country in the world that hasn't been violent at some time or other in its history. "There is criticism, but they don't really look at history," he said.

On young people, he said he hoped they become aware they aren't self-sufficient, or as smart or as much in control of their destiny as they would like to think.

"I would like to see them become cognizant of the vastness of creation, and, in whatever form, of certain power beyond ours."

Two Youths Injured On Bicycles

Two youths, ages 12 and 16, were injured yesterday in separate bicycle-car accidents, according to the California Highway Patrol.

Officers said Jared L. McFerrin, 16, of 330 Shoreline Highway, Tamalpais Valley, was treated at Marin General Hospital for multiple scrapes and bruises suffered when his bicycle ran into the rear of a parked car on College Avenue near the College of Marin.

The patrol said McFerrin told them he was northbound on College Avenue at 9:45 a.m. when his attention was diverted, causing him to strike a car owned by Gloria Guevara of San Francisco.

Officers reported his bicycle collided with a car driven by George J. Vlahakis, 26, of San Francisco, on Bear Valley Road one-half mile north of Shoreline Highway in Point Reyes National Seashore.

The patrol said Vlahakis told them he was attempting to pass Dutro at 3 p.m. when the youth's bicycle swerved into his path.

Team Teaching Plan Due Kentfield Airing

A program reorganization plan for seventh and eighth grades at Adaline E. Kent School in Kentfield will be outlined tonight for the district board.

The plan, drafted during the last six months by staff and faculty, calls for grouping teachers in four teaching teams.

Three teams would handle the basic education courses such as math and English while the fourth would handle special classes such as shop, art and music.

According to Supt. Anthony G. Bacich, the move will provide greater coordination between subjects being taught.

The team teaching special classes as well as one team teaching basic courses will have mixed seventh and eighth grade classes while the other two will teach on a single class level.

Currently the school's 16 junior high teachers teach a single subject for both grade levels.

Meeting at 8 o'clock at Wolfe Grade School, the board also will receive a 6 per cent salary increase request from non-teaching employees and will study maintenance and capital outlay costs over the last 10 years.

Fairfax Council Session Postponed

The Fairfax City Council has postponed tonight's regular meeting to next Monday, because councilmen Robert R. Sousa and Lee Nelder will be in Sacramento for a legislative seminar.

The councilmen will attend the League of California Cities seminar at their own expense, the city council have refused to subsidize attendance.

Lusinchi Heads Retired Group

Marcel Lusinchi of San Rafael has been elected president of the Marin County Retired Employees Association.

Mansfield Lewis of San Rafael, was elected vice president; Mae Lusinchi of San Rafael, secretary; and Teresa Ronan of San Rafael, treasurer.

The group meets the first Monday of each month at 1 p.m. at the Pepperwood restaurant, San Anselmo, and is open to all retired Marin County personnel.

Federal Funds Set For Hilarita Housing

Long-awaited federal funding of 112 moderate income units at the Hilarita Housing Project in Tiburon has been approved by the Department of Housing and Urban Development.

Approval of the first $8,000 seed money loan was "almost tantamount to approval of the entire project," according to E. G. Weed, president of the Tiburon Ecumenical Association. The association is planning the $2.5 million project.

Rep. William S. Mailliard, R-Sixth District, announced approval of the first increment of the seed money. The total federal loan for architectural and engineering work will be $50,000, and an additional $20,000 must be raised locally by the association to complete the work.

Weed said that the approval could move the groundbreaking date to Oct. 1. The original date had been Sept. 15, but was set back to Jan. 15 next year when the loan was delayed early this year.

The 88 units of existing housing are scheduled to be demolished by October, 1972, under state law. The County Housing Authority asked Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, to introduce legislation keeping the units open until 1975.

Bagley, however, said state law allows the county supervisors to keep the units open until 1975, and new legislation is unnecessary.

The existing housing was built in 1943.

Weed said that the rest of the $50,000 loan would probably come in five more increments, and that the association had "almost total assurance" from HUD that no more delays would occur.

The project would be financed privately, but the federal government would subsidize its interest costs by paying the lending institution the difference between 1 per cent and 8 per cent interest.

Construction would take 12 to 18 months, Weed said.

Tip Leads To Dope Arrest

Robert Wayne Fraser, 19, of 1136 Adrienne Court, Santa Rosa, was arrested by Novato police yesterday on suspicion of possession of dangerous drugs and narcotics paraphernalia following a tip from a customer at a service station.

Officers said a customer at the station at 7300 Redwood Highway told the attendant to call police because two men appeared to be taking narcotics in the rest room at 1:35 a.m.

There was narcotics paraphernalia in Fraser's car and half a balloon with powder in it in the restroom, and a search of Fraser revealed he was carrying two hypodermic needles and syringes, police reported.

Fraser posted $625 bail and was scheduled to appear in Marin Municipal Court Wednesday.

Novato Police Plan Open House

The Novato Police Department will have open house Thursday and Friday in observance of National Police Week.

Aside from a tour of police facilities there will be films shown in the parks and recreation building, adjacent to the police station, Chief Allen V. Klemme reported.

Patrol Car Hurts Hand Of Woman

Hilda M. Surles, 56, of 66 Shell Road, was treated at Marin General Hospital for a bruised right hand suffered in the mishap at 10:31 p.m.

Police said officer Martin Nielsen, .23, was patroling downtown Mill Valley in his squad car when he thought he spotted a lost 5-year-old boy.

He backed his car into a parking place in front of 75 Throckmorton Avenue, police said, and the rear of the vehicle grazed Mrs. Surle's hand.

Her companion, Elsie M. Texiera, 30, of 78 Buena Vista Avenue, Mill Valley, was uninjured. The child, who had been missing two hours, was found unharmed minutes later on Ethel Avenue.

Dissolution Of Brindel Marriage

The 26-year marriage of Paul F. and Mabel Marie Brindel has been ended in Marin Superior Court.

Judge Henry J. Broderick granted an interlocutory judgment of dissolution Friday.

Brindel 76, now living in Rome, is a writer for Roman Catholic publications and a former subdivider and builder. He retired from the Hearst newspapers in 1945 and after that built homes in Novato and wrote for several magazines.

Mrs. Brindel still lives in Novato.

According to the petition for dissolution the couple was married in San Rafael in 1945 and separated last year. They have no children.

ALMANAC

Today is Monday, May 10, the 130th day of 1971.

The moon is full. The morning stars are Venus, Mars, Jupiter and Mercury. The evening star is Saturn.

Those born on this day are under the sign of Taurus.

American actor-dancer Fred Astaire was born May 10, 1899.

On this day in history:

In 1865 Confederate President Jefferson Davis was captured as he fled Irwinville, Ga. He spent the next two years in prison.

In 1940 Nazi Germany invaded the Lowlands Belgium, Luxembourg, and the Netherlands with 89 army divisions.

In 1963 Pope John XXVIII received the Balzan Peace Prize, the first pontiff to be so honored.

In 1970 Walter Reuther, president of the United Auto Workers, was killed in a Michigan plane crash.

A thought for today: Writer Henry L. Mencken said, "It is the dull man who is always sure: and the sure man who is always dull."

Thieves Tie Up Phone Operation

DJAKARTA (UPI)—Thieves who make off with about 100,000 pounds of copper wire a year are partly responsible for the shortage of telephones in Indonesia, says Sutanggar Tengker, director of the government communications company.

There are only 190,000 operable telephones in this nation of 120 million people. Djakarta, the capital, has 35,000 operating telephone sets and needs at least 200,000 more.

HOW TO PLAY

WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Sometimes Thinking Is Curse Of The Best Of Bridge Players

Bridge columnists are always telling you to think before you play, and readers of bridge columns spend their waking hours shivering with terror because they're afraid they don't think enough. Relax. Deliverance is at hand. In a certain common situation, you're not supposed to think. Play first and think later.

LOW SPADE

West opens the seven of spades and declarer shrewdly plays low from both hands. East wins the first trick with the jack of spades and returns the five of spades to dummy's ace.

Now declarer leads a low diamond from dummy and tries a finesse with the queen. This is where West must play his lowest diamond without thinking. South must be convinced that his finesse has succeeded, and he won't be convinced of this if West goes into a long trance before playing a low diamond.

We all know that South should lead the ace of diamonds next — if the game is rubber bridge, or if his heart is pure. But if the game is tournament bridge, or if South is just a little greedy, South will lead a club and try a finesse with dummy's queen.

WINS AT ONCE

East wins at once and returns his last spade to declarer's king. When the clubs fail to break favorably, declarer must try another diamond finesse. This time West wins with the king of diamonds and defeats the contract with the rest of the spades.

Whenever declarer has a finesse that he can repeat, don't be in a hurry to win your defensive trick at your first opportunity. Play a low card without thinking. If you give declarer enough rope, he may hang himself.

Why doesn't this new rule apply to East's king of clubs as well as to West's king of diamonds? There are exceptions to all rules. You have to think carefully about when you're not going to think.

Flight From Farm Up In W. Germany

From April 1969 to April 1970, the latest period for which figures are complete, the number of men and women employed in agriculture, forestry, animal husbandry and fishing was reduced by 6.9 per cent although the total number of employed persons rose by 0.8 per cent, the Federal Statistical Office reported.

GOLDEN GATE BRIDGE, HIGHWAY AND TRANSPORTATION DISTRICT
NOTICE OF INTENT TO HOLD PUBLIC HEARING ON URBAN MASS TRANSPORTATION ADMINISTRATION CAPITAL GRANT PROJECT OF GOLDEN GATE BRIDGE, HIGHWAY AND TRANSPORTATION DISTRICT

Notice is hereby given that the Board of Directors of Golden Gate Bridge, Highway and Transportation District intends to hold a public hearing on its Urban Mass Transportation Administration Capital Grant Project, adopted April 9, 1971, at 10:00 AM on the 21st day of May, 1971 in the Board Room, Administration Building, Golden Gate Bridge Toll Plaza, San Francisco, California.

The intent to hold said public hearing is given and this notice is published pursuant to the requirements of the Urban Mass Transportation Administration of the United States. The purpose of a public hearing would be to consider the District's Urban Mass Transportation Capital Grant Project adopted by the District on April 9, 1971, proposing to purchase between 112 and 152 transit and suburban type motor coaches, equipped with Environmental Improvement Package, radio, air conditioning, and fare collection boxes, approximately ten (10) acres of land in Marin County for a central bus storage and service area and administrative offices, land improvements, buildings and equipment necessary for bus servicing and maintenance and administrative offices, six (6) automobiles and three (3) trucks, including a recovery vehicle, all equipped with radios, a radio base station, and one bus washing unit. In addition, the District proposes to purchase and develop two parcels approximately two acres each, as satellite bus stations in the Novato and Santa Rosa areas.

The estimated cost is $9,464,000, which will be financed by a 66-⅔% Federal Capital Grant of $6,309,000 under Section 3 of the Urban Mass Transportation Act of 1964, as amended in 1970, and the remaining 33-⅓%, in the amount of $3,155,000, by the District from monies reserved from Bridge revenues in accordance with State Assembly Bill 584.

It is intended by the District and Greyhound Lines-West, present operator in the counties, that the Golden Gate Transit system will replace the present Greyhound operation between the counties of Sonoma, Marin and San Francisco, and within the counties of Marin and Sonoma. It is also the intent of both organizations that present Greyhound employees whose work will in effect be transferred to the District will be given the option and first choice of working for the District.

The project conforms to the proposed comprehensive land use and transportation planning program of the urban area and has been approved by the Association of Bay Area Governments. The project is to replace the existing transit system with an all-new system, with a service designed explicitly to meet the present needs of the residents and workers of the three counties. The resulting improved service will have positive effects on economic, social and environmental conditions.

The District will make available to the public in the office of the District Secretary, Administration Building, Golden Gate Bridge Toll Plaza, San Francisco, on a reasonable basis its preliminary application, draft environmental statement, and its transit development program to the extent developed at this time, and of which this project is a part.

All Federal, State or local agencies with jurisdiction by law, or special expertise, and authorized to develop and enforce environmental standards, have been notified of the application, will be provided a copy of the draft environmental statement upon request, and are invited to participate in, or supply, statements for the public hearing. A list of such Federal agencies and their areas of environmental concern was obtained from the Urban Mass Transportation Administration.

All persons and official bodies, and other organizations interested in appearing at a hearing will be heard at such time.

GOLDEN GATE BRIDGE, HIGHWAY AND TRANSPORTATION DISTRICT NOTICE OF INTENT TO HOLD PUBLIC HEARING ON URBAN MASS TRANSPORTATION ADMINISTRATION CAPITAL GRANT PROJECT OF GOLDEN GATE BRIDGE, HIGHWAY AND TRANSPORTATION DISTRICT

Notice is hereby given that the Board of Directors of Golden Gate Bridge, Highway and Transportation District intends to hold a public hearing on its Urban Mass Transportation Administration Capital Grant Project, adopted April 9, 1971, at 10:30 a.m. on the 21st day of May, 1971 in the Board Room, Administration Building, Golden Gate Bridge Toll Plaza, San Francisco, California.

The intent to hold said public hearing is given and this notice is published pursuant to the requirements of the Urban Mass Transportation Administration of the United States. The purpose of a public hearing would be to consider the District's Urban Mass Transportation Administration Capital Grant Project adopted by the District on April 9, 1971, proposing to purchase six (6) 165 foot, 25 knot, gas turbine-powered, aluminum hull ferryboats, and sufficient land, floats, piers, boarding floats, and necessary dredging and breakwater to develop ferry terminals in the Corte Madera/Larkspur area, Sausalito, and San Francisco, and also service floats, warehouse and shops for vessel maintenance.

The estimated cost is $18,956,000, which will be financed by a 66-⅔% Federal Capital Grant of $12,637,000 under Section 3 of the Urban Mass Transportation Act of 1964, as amended in 1970, and the remaining 33-⅓%, in the amount of $6,319,000, by the District from monies reserved from Bridge revenues, in accordance with State Assembly Bill 584.

No families or businesses will be displaced by the project. No significant adverse environmental effects are anticipated as a result of the project. The project conforms to the proposed comprehensive land use and transportation planning program of the urban area and is under review of the Association of Bay Area Governments.

The project is to expand the present Sausalito/San Francisco ferry service operated by the District and to provide service between Corte Madera/Larkspur and San Francisco. The service was designed to compliment and coordinate with the automobile and bus transit systems in the area. No aspect of the project will adversely raise any significant economic, social or environmental conditions.

The District will make available to the public in the office of the District Secretary, Administration Building, Golden Gate Bridge Toll Plaza, San Francisco, on a reasonable basis its preliminary application, draft environmental statement, and its transit development program to the extent developed at this time, and of which this project is a part.

All Federal, State or local agencies with jurisdiction by law, or special expertise, and authorized to develop and enforce environmental standards, have been notified of the application, will be provided a copy of the draft environmental statement upon request, and are invited to participate in, or supply, statements for the public hearing. Fairfax Man In Drugs Arrest

A 21-year-old Fairfax man was arrested at 5:25 p.m. Saturday on suspicion of possession of dangerous drugs, Novato police reported.

Henry Frank Mile of 197 Bolinas Avenue, Fairfax, was held in Marin County jail in lieu of $1,250 bail to appear this afternoon in Marin Municipal Court.

Mile was a passenger in a car driven by John Lee Amato of 1812 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, Fairfax, and stopped by police when it went in an erratic manner on Highway 101 south of Atherton Avenue.

Woman, 32, Arrested In Forgery

A 32-year-old Petaluma woman was arrested on suspicion of forged prescriptions, reckless driving and resisting arrest following a chase with police cars down Highway 101.

Jody Catline of 5500 North Redwood Highway, was held in Marin County Jail in lieu of $1,250 bail. She was to appear this afternoon in Marin Municipal Court.

The chase began, according to police, shortly after she attempted to fill two prescriptions at about 10:50 p.m. Saturday at Northgate Drugs in the Northgate Shopping Center. A check with the physician on the prescription brought denial of filling them out and the clerk called police. Mrs. Catline fled in a red Volkswagen.

A patrol car went in pursuit and the chase continued down Highway 101 until two more patrol cars joined at the Second Street on ramp. She eluded the three patrol cars as they boxed her in. She stopped once, and when the patrol cars stopped, she sped away in her car. She was boxed in again and forced against the center divider fence. Again, police said, she attempted to drive her car out until a patrol car rammed it against the fence.

Accompanied by Govs. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York and William T. Cahill of New Jersey and Mayors John V. Lindsay of New York City and Kenneth Gibson of Newark, the president got a first hand look at the 7,000 acres of land and 16,800 acres of marsh he asked Congress to put under the control of the National Park Service.

Soledad Murder Trial Nears

SALINAS (UPI)—Jury selection began today in the trial of three black convicts charged with the fatal stabbing of a white guard at Soledad Prison last year.

The three are Jesse Phillips, 19, Roosevelt Williams and James Watner, both 24. They are the first convicts to come to trial since the start 16 months ago of violent episodes at the prison that have left three white guards, two white inmates and four black prisoners dead.

Four other inmates, including the so-called Soledad Brothers, await trial for murder.

Phillips, Williams and Wagner are charged with the "reprisal" stabbing of guard William C. Schull, 45.

Wreckage Found Of Old Plane

AUBURN (UPI)—Wreckage of a light plane found in American River Canyon about 20 miles east of this Placer County community was that of an "old military plane," the sheriff's office reported today.

A ground crew sent into the canyon after the wreckage was sighted from the air located the old wreckage near the north fork of the American River.

Two light planes have been listed as missing for nearly one week on flights from California to Nevada. One of the aircraft was piloted by William Crawford of Hopland, Calif., and the other by P. S. Burton of the Rio King Ranch near Orovada, Nev.

Continent-Hopping Search For Mono Virus Is Intriguing Tale

MONONUCLEOSIS usually strikes older children and young adults. The disease is manifested by sore throat, fever, fatigue and enlarged glands in the neck. Since these symptoms are similar to those seen in many respiratory infections, a blood test is done to confirm the diagnosis. Mono has all the characteristics of a viral infection but until recently, the causative agent escaped detection. How the virus was uncovered is an intriguing story.

AN ENGLISH surgeon, Denis Burkitt was studying cancerous growths found in the neck glands of East African children. He identified the growth and in his honor it was called Burkitt's lymphoma. Due to the geographic area in which the victims lived, the physician suspected that the tumor might be viral in nature and passed along via mosquitoes.

Several of the lymphomas were sent to Doctors Epstein and Barr in England who found a virus in some of the tumor cells. The organism resembled a herpes virus similar to the culprits responsible for fever blisters, shingles, and chicken pox.

THE PROJECT was then taken up by Doctors Werner and Gertrude Henle and Volker Kiehl of Philadelphia. These researchers perfected a technique for detecting protective antibodies in the blood of people with viral lesions. They were interested in what the Epstein-Barr (EB) viruses were capable of doing. (Their goal was to develop a vaccine.) At any rate, they found that the blood serum of all victims of Burkitt's tumor contained protective antibodies.

The same antibodies also were found in a few people with cancer of the nasal sinuses and in 50 per cent of all healthy African children and in many American youngsters. This meant that a cancer-producing virus also was capable of causing a common, nonfatal disease.

The breakthrough came when one of the laboratory technicians developed mononucleosis. The victim's blood had always been negative for EB antibodies, but suddenly during the height of the illness the result became positive. More tests were conducted on people known to have or who had mono and all were positive.

Questions on medical topics will be answered by mail if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to the Independent-Journal.)

SENSITIVE TO MONEY

H. T. writes: Can a person be allergic to money? Since working at my present job as a cashier, my face and hands have broken out and my fingertips have split open.

REPLY

What — no itch? Allergy is possible, but skin tests would be needed to determine the exact cause. Perhaps, it might be easier to change jobs, more so if you cannot wear golves or use a silicone ointment to protect the skin.

SWOLLEN ANKLE

G. F. writes: My right foot is in bad shape. It swells at the ankle and I can't get my shoe on. Please advise.

REPLY

Sudden swelling of an ankle may stem from sprain, arthritis, gout, or inflammation of a vein. X-ray will help in making the diagnosis and your physician has good remedies for most of the possibilities mentioned.

VEGETABLES AND SCURVY

R. G. P. writes: Is scurvy caused by a lack of vegetables in the diet?

REPLY

Scurvy results from a deficiency of vitamin C, which is found in fruits and vegetables. If orange juice and fruits are taken, omitting vegetables will not cause scurvy.

McCloskey Challenge To Nixon Predicted

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (UPI)—Rep. Ogden R. Reid, R-N.Y., said Sunday he saw a "pretty strong" possibility that Rep. Paul N. McCloskey Jr., R-Calif., would challenge President Nixon in the New Hampshire primary.

Reid's remark followed a report during the weekend that McCloskey will meet privately in Washington next Sunday with a group of other Republican dissidents including Rep. Donald W. Riegle Jr., of Michigan and former Rep. Charles E. Goodell of New York, major GOP contributors and state party leaders to lay the groundwork for a national "Dump Nixon" campaign. McCloskey, it was learned, plans to visit New Hampshire early next month to lay the groundowrk for his entry into the state's first-in-the-nation primary next March.

LAW IN ACTION

From the State Bar Of California

Drug Laws Shift Seen

The legislature has adopted new laws to deal with drug abuse.

The new laws place more emphasis on the schools. Existing laws allow a school to suspend or expel a student who uses, sells, or has drugs on school grounds. The student has a right to a hearing by the school board or principal.

Under the new laws, the sheriff or chief of police must report to the school superintendent all drug arrests of students in public schools, through grade 12.

The superintendent must receive notice as soon as a juvenile proceeding is commenced or as soon as a complaint is filed in any court which charges that a youngster has used, sold or possessed narcotics or drugs.

The new laws state that the legislature "recognizes that drug abuse should be viewed and treated as a public health problem as well as a public law enforcement problem." Accordingly, in counties of over 40,000 persons, the board of supervisors must designate a county officer to develop a community drug abuse control plan. Such plans will be sent to the State Human Relations Agency, although the county board of supervisors may modify a plan in such manner as it deems proper.

The new laws seek to bring together the diverse elements of the community — law enforcement, health agencies, social and educational institutions. The goal: education and prevention, treatment, rehabilitation, research, and evaluation with respect to drug abuse.

Finally, the new laws also expand the powers of government agencies to hold drug abusers for evaluation and treatment, where those persons are dangerous to themselves or others. Such persons may be committed to a hospital or institution for treatment. Further, the laws expand the power of a court or probation office to require attendance at educational programs and clinics. Failure to attend may violate probation, resulting in an automatic jail sentence.(California lawyers offer this column so you may know about our laws.)

Two Car Crash Injures Three In San Rafael

One man was hospitalized and two others injured in a head-on crash at 2:20 p.m. yesterday on Francisco Boulevard east of Harbor Street, San Rafael, police reported.

Joseph F. Penders, 65, of Sonoma, was reported in poor condition today at Marin General Hospital with cut scalp, and elbow and knee injuries.

He was a passenger in a westbound car driven by Joseph W. Penders, 37, of 93 Buena Vista Avenue, Mill Valley, who was to see his own doctor for a cut upper lip.

Their car collided headon with an eastbound car driven by Joseph D. Smith, 16, 20 Greenwood Avenue, San Rafael. Smith was to see his own doctor for a scraped right arm, according to police.

Dope Suspect, 15, Is Cited

A 15-year-old Larkspur youth was cited to the Corte Madera juvenile officer Saturday after officers discovered a dube of suspected hashish in his back pocket.

Officers said the boy was cited at 6:35 p.m. after he was observed acting suspiciously at the intersection of Redwood and Edison avenues. They found the suspected hash wrapped in tinfoil during a search.

Inquisitive, aggressive, Musel has reported from every European country and most of the Middle East and Africa. He covered the German blitz of London in World War II, war crimes trials at Darmstadt, the Berlin airlift, the death of King George, the coronation of Queen Elizabeth. He has interviewed George Bernard Shaw and Albert Einstein, even the stripteasers of the Folies Bergere.

A confidante of entertainment personalities, Musel is also a top song writer. His "Band of Gold" ballad sold over one million records, and he did the background music of "To Paris With Love," starring Alex Guinness.

Funds For Hilarita Approved

The first installment of federal funds to rebuild dilapidated housing at the Hilarita projects in Tiburon has been approved by the federal Department of Housing and Urban Development.

The Washington office of Rep. William S. Mailliard, R-First District, and moderate income housing that will replace World War II construction on the site.

The loan is an indication that full funding of the $2.7 million project will be approved by HUD, according to Ned Weed, chairman of the Tiburon Ecumenical Association.

Weed said HUD seldom approves preliminary planning money without later approving the entire loan. His association is composed of representatives of Tiburon churches, formed to encourage low and moderate income housing in the area.

The first installment is part of a $50,000 seed money loan requested by the ecumenical association. Seed money will be used for architects fees and planning for the 112-unit project, to be built on eight acres off of Tiburon Boulevard near Reed School.

Architect Ellis Kaplan of the firm Kaplan & McLaughlin has been interviewing residents on the needs of the housing project and the social planning committee of the ecumenical association has been gathering information on relocation needs.

The association is planning an all-day work session June 12 for Hilarita residents and the architect to discuss project details.

Frost & Meglio, civil engineering firm, have been working on soils drainage and topographical study during the last few weeks.

Four Hurt In Weekend Accidents

One person was hospitalized and three others treated for injuries received in three accidents over the weekend, California Highway Patrol reported.

Eugene Curran, 29, of San Mateo, was reported in good condition today at Marin General Hospital with head injuries. He received them at 4:30 p.m. Saturday in a motorcycle accident at Sir Francis Drake Boulevard and San Geronimo Valley Road, according to patrolmen.

Susan E. Christensen, 24, of Point Arena, was treated at Marin General Hospital for a cut forehead. Her six-months-old daughter, Shelly, was treated at Marin General Hospital for scrapes of the scalp.

The Christensen car, southbound on Highway 101 north of Spencer Avenue at 7:15 p.m. Friday, hit a stopped car driven by Susan C. Davis, 19, of 515 D Street San Rafael. It was being worked on by Paul Debenardis, 50, of 200 Eden Rock Drive, Sausalito, patrolmen reported.

Albert Meeuwsen, 49, of 345 Cascade Drive, Fairfax, was treated at Marin General Hospital for a cut forehead. His car hit the center divider at 2:10 a.m., Saturday, on the Greenbrae off ramp of Highway 101, patrolmen reported.

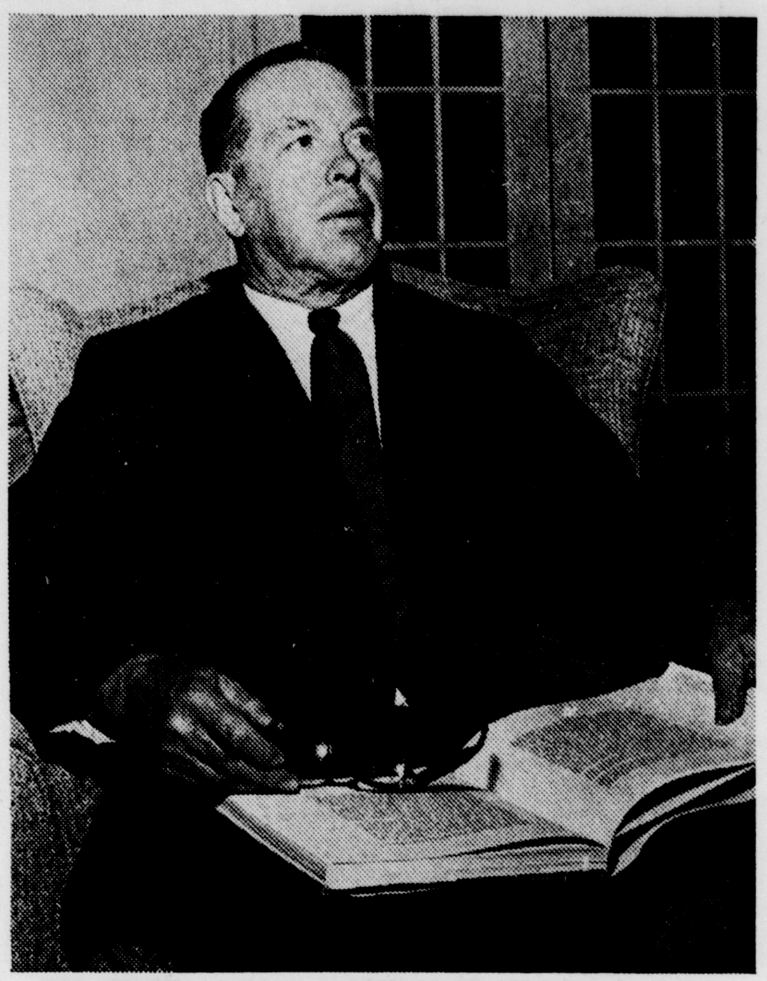
Exclusive Group Of Seafarers Pilot Ships Through The Bar



BAR PILOT — Capt. Archibald M. Simestad of San Rafael, head of the San Francisco Bar Pilots Association, has been a pilot for 11 years. He says each of the 25 pilots in the exclusive association skipper about 340 ships a year through the treacherous 11-mile channel into San Francisco Bay.

(Independent-Journal Photo)

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Captain Archibald M. Simenstad of San Rafael skippers about 340 ships a year.

Simenstad, 60, is head of the San Francisco Bar Pilots Association whose 25 members are carrying on a sea-going tradition here that dates back to 1849.

Simenstad, who commanded an attack transport during World War II, said a pilot "takes over the duties of the Captain" when he goes aboard.

"Only he is doing it in restricted waters."

"The captain is still responsible for his ship," said the veteran of sea service since 1926.

"However, in case of a grounding the pilot would be responsible."

Simenstad, who has been a pilot here for 11 years since serving as a skipper with American President Lines, says the men in the association each pilot about 340 ships a year.

The association's boats are stationed 12 miles outside the Golden Gate, relieving each other every Wednesday.

There are nine crewmen on each boat, the Golden Gate and the California, and the pilot taking a ship out stays aboard until he catches another ship in.

"But we have a rule among ourselves that you don't have to stay out there more than 12 hours," Simenstad said. Then the shuttle boat Drake would get the pilot.

Simenstad said he and his men are saddened by the passing of another sea-going tradition, the San Francisco lightship. The Coast Guard replaced the lightship with a large navigational buoy late last month.

The lightship was anchored near the Golden Gate and "we had built up a mutual understanding with the Coast Guardsmen," Simenstad said.

"We do feel a kind of lonely without them, especially during bad weather. But in an emergency we can take refuge on the buoy."

The association is so exclusive that a decade may pass before death or retirement creates a vacancy.

It was formed in 1849 by the state's first legislature and the law decrees that all incoming and outgoing foreign vessels take a bar pilot aboard. The fees depend on tonnage and range up to several hundred dollars. Simenstad and his men guide the ships through a 49-foot deep corridor that stretches between a silty, crescent-shaped bar which protrudes from the mainland.

Only twice has the pilot ship strayed from its position and both moves were caused by storms.

The only major accident occurred when fierce waves whipped a pilot schooner to sea in 1867. Three pilots and four sailors were washed overboard and never found.

Bomb Scare At The Old Courthouse

A woman's purse on a lower window ledge at the old Marin County Courthouse in San Rafael created a bomb scare Saturday.

Ernest G. Lopes, a former caretaker at the courthouse, saw the purse and notified police, who called an Army bomb disposal team from the Presidio of San Francisco.

Police explained that bombs are being camouflaged in containers such as purses. This one, on a ledge on the east side just below the stairway and behind a hedge, appeared to have been placed there, bringing suspicion.

Officers kept the public a safe distance away and a crew from the San Rafael Fire Cepartment was standing by. The two-man bomb disposal team, using ropes, gathered in the purse, which was empty except for a lipstick.

School Open House

An open house and hobby exhibit by first through fourth graders at Valley Christian School of Marin will be held at 7:30 p.m. Thursday at the school at 3 North San Pedro Road in San Rafael.

Eagle Deaths Spur Fear Of Extinction

MOOSE, Wyo. (UPI) — A Wyoming conservationist, alarmed about the recent discovery of 15 dead eagles in rugged and desolate canyon area near Casper, warned Sunday the nation's national bird may be extinct by the end of the century.

"I feel we have a good chance of losing the bald eagle," said John F. Turner of Moose. "We are losing the young birds and when the older ones give out, there are none to replace them.

"And the sad thing is, I don't see any reversing trend." Eleven of the 15 eagles found in Jackson Canyon last week were bald eagles and the other four were golden eagles. Both species are protected by federal law. Turner said they may have eaten poisoned bait left by sheep ranchers for predators.

Twenty-five golden eagles were found shot to death 90 miles to the Southwest near Rawlins two months ago and Turner believes they may have been shot down from planes.

The remains of the eagles found in Jackson Canyon have been sent to the federal Fish and Wildlife Service Laboratory in Laurel, Md., for study.

"I am worried about losing the eagles to irresponsible people, to power lines, to pesticides and other poisons and to loss of habitat," Turner state. "There are not too many places left where they can nest and reproduce."

Turner, a Wyoming state representative who is working on his doctorate in wildlife ecology at the University of Michigan, said there were less than 200 pairs of bald eagles in the country today.

Wyoming is one of the few states that has a dozen or more pairs, Turner said.

Turner, who has specialized in eagle conservation, said he was particularly worried about the blame placed on eagles for the loss of sheep and lamb.

The U.S. Agriculture Department said eagles killed 8,600 sheep and lamb in 1970. Turner questioned the figure, saying the sources were unreliable and that it was difficult to determine whether sheep had been killed by eagles or other causes.

"A lot of people perhaps have been brought up under the misconception the eagles are taking a significant source of livestock," he said.

The United Kingdom with 13.9 million telephones, ranks third behind the U.S. and Japan.

Ross Schedules Bicycle Path Talk By Joske

Pierre W. Joske, Marin County parks and recreation director, will discuss the possibilities for bicycle paths through Ross at the Ross Town Council meeting at 8 p.m. Thursday at Town Hall.

At the April 8 council session Mayor Frederick S. Allen said he felt there was no safe route for bicycles through the town, and the council sent an invitation for Joske to speak on the matter.

The council also will take up a request from Dr. J. R. Utley to discuss the Corte Madera Creek Flood Control Project, upstream from Lagunitas Bridge.

There also will be a discussion on the proposed budget for streets, parks and storm drains.

Blue, Hunter Beat Orioles; Indians Next

The A's, who rest today before meeting the Cleveland Indians Tuesday night, whipped the defending World Champion Orioles twice Sunday, 6-2 and 2-1, behind four-hit pitching performances by Blue and Hunter.

The double victory lengthened Oakland's first place lead to 4 1-2 games over Kansas City in the American League Western Division.

Blue recorded his eighth consecutive complete game victory in winning the second game. Hunter took the first game for his fifth win against two losses. The two hurlers have combined for 13 of the Athletics' 21 victories this season.

Sloppy fielding by the Orioles gave the A's the second game victory as Baltimore's Jim Palmer suffered his first loss after five victories.

The A's Joe Rudi and Reggie Jackson opened the seventh with back-to-back singles with Rudi going to third. Palmer then let go with a wild pitch, scoring Rudi, and catcher Andy Etchebarren's throw to Palmer at home went wild, too, and Jackson came all the way in for the lead run.

In the first game, Rudi doubled home one run in the third. And the A's erupted for four runs in the sixth on Angel Mangual's leadoff double, Hunter's single, a walk to Rudi with the bases loaded, a sacrifice fly by Reggie Jackson and an error by shortstop Chico Salmon.

After a two-game series with Cleveland, the A's move on to Kansas City for five games.

Nicklaus Earns His Three-Week Rest

DALLAS (UPI)—Jack Nicklaus has won the last two tournaments in which he has played, he has won three of the past six and so far this year he has picked up $131,775 in prize money.

So Jack figures he has earned a little vacation.

"I'm going to take the next three weeks off," Nicklaus said Sunday after turning what had been an afternoon of drama into a one-man show and running off with the Byron Nelson Golf Classic by two shots over Frank Beard and little Jerry McGee.

"I told my wife last night that if I could win I would take the time off," he said. "And, she said that was fine."

So as long as the vote was unanimous in the Nicklaus household, this year's first three-time winner will not hit the tour again until Atlanta early next month.

There was some doubt Sunday that Nicklaus would get his rest.

He earned it with a final round of four-under-par 34-32—66 for a 274 and $25,000 prize money. That was the same score with which he won here last year.

McGee, the 27-year-old who led after the first round of the tournament, jumped from nowhere Sunday to fire a five-under-par 65 over the 7,031-yard, par 35-35—70 Preston Trail Golf Club course.

McGee finished at four-under-par 276 well before Nicklaus, Beard, Charles Coody and other contenders. At that point McGee was a shot in front of both Beard and Nicklaus.

"I don't think it will stand up," said McGee. He was right.

Nicklaus, whose putter had been sending the ball past the cup most of the week, finally turned to his liking. In succession, he rapped in putts of 20, 12 and 20 feet on the 15th, 16th and 17th holes and then left a last birdie attempt short of the hole by two inches.

"Sooner or later you have to make some," said Nicklaus.

After McGee and Beard, who won $11,575 for their sharing of second and third, came thirdround leader Charles Coody, who stumbled to a one-over-par 71 Sunday for a 278 total, worth $5,850.

Bert Yancey, Bobby Nichols and Lee Trevino were the only other golfers to break par for four rounds, winding up at one-under-par 279, and taking away $4,541.67.

It was the second straight year Nicklaus had won this tournament, the first time since he captured the 1967 and 1968 Western Opens that he had successfully defended a championship.

And that's another reason to take a rest.

"I probably won't touch a club the first week," said Nicklaus. "My boys have three baseball games coming up next week and that will keep me busy.

"The second week I will probably hit a few shots at home, and then the third week I plan to go and play some rounds at Merion (the site in Philadelphia of this year's U.S. Open.)

"I'll probably wind up playing some rounds at home during that time though. My oldest son (Jack R., 10) has become a golf nut. He will probably drag me out for a few rounds. How many strokes do I give him? Fewer every time we play."

Russell Is Happy At Chance To Play

MIAMI (UPI)—Cazzie Russell, traded this weekend by the New York Knicks to the San Francisco Warriors for Jerry Lucas, says his first reaction was, "How could anybody trade a great player like Lucas for me?"

But the veteran National Basketball Association player said San Francisco coach Al Attles already was trying to talk him out of that attitude by calling him "one of the most spectacular shooters in basketball."

"I think what he means is that I can go in for 10 minutes and hit nine of 11 shots," The 6-6 Russell said in Miami where he is sharpening up his golf game.

"He said he wants to see what I can do in an entire game," Russell said.

"I have to consider this a break for me," Russell said of the trade for the 6-8 Lucas, a former Ohio State and Cincinnati Royal star. "Of all the teams I could have selected, the Warriors would be my first choice.

"They are a rebuilding team and when I look at a guy like Nate Thurmond, who is right up there with the all-time great centers, it makes me want to do a good job," the former Michigan All-America said. "If the season started tomorrow, I'd be anxious to play."

Russell was the sixth man for the Knicks in the 1969-70 season and saw only limited action after midseason this year even after his broken wrist healed.

"There's no ill feeling on my part," Russell said of the Knicks and coach Red Holzman. "I liked the Knicks, but I didn't enjoy sitting on the bench."

Tam's Robertson Scores Triple Track-Field Win

By PAUL CANE

Tamalpais High School's jumping and hurdling superstar Gerald Robertson took three wins, Chakra Chappell of San Marin took two, and 11 Marin County Athletic League 1971 best times were eclipsed Saturday in the MCAL championship meet at the College of Marin.

Robertson won the high jump, triple jump, and the 120-yard high hurdles in pacing Marin County qualifiers to the North Coast Section (NCS) Divisional meet to be held next Saturday also at the college. Robertson's triple jump and hurdle marks (43-2½ and 15.0) are Marin's best this spring.

Chappell, San Marin's middle-distance specialist, won the 440 and 880 yard runs in 50.0 and 1:56.1, both the MCAL's best times for the season.

Tam's duo of distance specialists, Vian Collier and Mike Arago set MCAL meet records in the mile and 2-mile runs, respectively, with times of 4:19 and 9:27.

STANLEY CUP PLAYOFFS

A Big Win For Canadiens

MONTREAL (UPI) — Montreal coach Al Macneil knew his team wasn't out of the game despite its 2-0 deficit and after the first period his Canadien players justified their coach's faith.

The Canadiens overcame that two goal deficit with two goals in the second period and two more in the final session Sunday to defeat the Chicago Black Hawks 4-2 and post their first triumph in the Stanley Cup finals. The best-of-seven series resumes here Tuesday night with Chicago holding a 2-1 edge.

"We were on top of them from the start and we outshot them in that first period so I knew the game wasn't over" Macneil said.

Chicago had taken its 2-0 lead on goals by Cliff Koroll and Bobby Hull, who scored his 11th of the current playoffs.

Macneil added, "We were getting a lot of chances and the way we were playing I knew we would take advantage of them. That second period goal by Peter Mahovlich really gave us a lift. From then on they couldn't stop us. At the pace we were hitting I knew we were going to turn that game around."

Frank Mahovlich scored the first of his two goals in the second period to tie the score 22. His total of 13 goals in the current playoffs equals the all-time record set last season by Phil Esposito of Boston.

Right winger Yvan Cournoyer, however, scored what proved to be the winning goal at 6:23 of the final period. Cournoyer said, "Terry Harper made a fantastic play. He carried the puck along the boards and behind the Chicago net. When they (the Black Hawks) went to check him, I saw that John Ferguson and I were along in front of the net, unguarded. It was easy for me to score that goal."

Harper, who was booed by the crowd when he lost the puck in the first period and Hull eventually scored, received a standing ovation from the crowd after Cournoyer's goal.

"At first I wasn't aware of the crowd being on me," admitted Harper, "but you know I guess it does bother my playing. At least when I'm on the road the crowd doesn't bother me and I can play a lot better."

Chicago coach Billy Reay had little comment about the poor offensive showing of his club. They managed only 18 shots and gave Montreal rookie Goalie Ken Dryden the easiest time in any of the 16 games he has played so far in this year's playoffs.

Reay stated, however, "That first goal by Mahovlich should never have counted. He hooked Keith Magnuson before getting the puck away from him and then scored. As a matter of fact, I didn't agree with all the penalties that were called against us and they certainly did not help our game."

Move By Fox Has Them All Guessing

Reds Invade Candlestick For Three

With the score of Sunday's second game with the Atlanta Braves tied at 5-5, the Giants up with one out and no one on, Fox, The San Francisco Giants Manager, sent pitcher Gaylord Perry, a man with two hits in 25 previous at-bats, up to hit for pitcher Don McMahon.

Even while Perry was being announced, most of those among a crowd of 28,844 let out a groan. It seemed they along with many writers in the press box figured Fox had lost his mind.

As it turned out, Perry was the only man left to hit outside of Dick Dietz. But what about Fran Healy, some asked? Healy it developed came down with a sore back just before the start of Sunday's long doubleheader and was lost completely.

Perry, as might be expected, went out harmlessly and in the 10th Earl Williams scored Ralph Garr from second with the run that gave the Braves a 6-5 victory and a split. The Giants won the opener, 5-2, behind some nice pitching by Steve Stone and Willie Mays' 635th career homer.

"McMahon had gone as far as he could." Fox said of his maneuvering in the ninth of the nightcap. "I only had Dietz left and I wanted to save him for a spot where we had the tieing or winning run in scoring position."

The split enabled the Braves to climb into second place in the National League West, 6 1-2 games behind the Giants, who gained a half game on Houston (seven games back), Los Angeles (7 1-2) and Cincinnati (9 1-2). The Reds are in town today for the first game of a three-game series with Wayne Simpson (1-0) pitching against Juan Marichal (4-2).

Down the drain in Sunday's second game went a four-for-four performance by Willie McCovey. Among big Mac's hits was his sixth homer, a three-run drive in the fourth when the Giants scored five runs to take a 5-4 lead. Russ Gibson added a two-run triple to the inning.

Orlando Cepeda and Garr were the hitting heroes for the Braves. Cepeda drove in five runs in the second game with a grand-slam homer in the third and a bases-empty blast in the sixth, while Garr had four hits in five at-bats to improve his N.L. leading batting average to .416.

"You know me," said Cepeda, "I always like to hit in Candlestick. It's still one of my favorite parks."

Garr said he can't explain his hot hitting.

"I'm just swinging the way I always have," said the young outfielder, "only I seem to be making contact all the time. I hope it doesn't stop."

Mays had a double and his seventh homer in the opener when five different players each drove in a run and Stone pitched a five-hitter until he ran out of gas in the ninth.

Ken Henderson, Dietz, Chris Speier and Tito Fuentes were the other opening game RBI men. Speier's second inning single scored Hal Lanier with what proved to be the winning run.

When Stone, now 3-1, walked Cepeda leading off the ninth, Fox brought McMahon in and the 41-year-old fireman retired the Braves without incident to pick up the save.

Pat Jarvis (0-4) was the opening game loser for the Braves, who moved onto Los Angeles for a series with the Dodgers, while Bob Priddy, with two innings of shutout relief, won the nightcap (1-1). Jerry Johnson was the second game loser as the Braves reached him for three hits in the 10th. It was Jerry's first loss after four victories.

Tars End Season On Losing Side

The Camino Norte Conference baseball season came to an end Saturday, thereby putting a merciful stop to the downslide of the College of Marin Tars.

The Kentfield team finished with five straight losses, including a 13-1 drubbing by Canada Junior College Saturday in Redwood City. That left the Tars with a final, 11-10 league record, rather disappointing for a team that less than two weeks ago was fighting for first place.

So desperate was Marin's situation against Canada that when the supply of pitchers was exhausted in the seventh inning, second baseman Mike Parnow was called to the mound. He pitched as well or better than Jerry Goodrick, Stu Kneeland and Chris Rowland, who worked before him.

The game was virtually over in the first inning, when the home team teed off for five runs. By the end of the third, they had nine to Marin's one. When it was over, they had collected 17 hits, to just three for the Tars.

Schallock, Bohne Divide Honors

Artie Schallock, former New York Yankee pitcher now a San Rafael businessman, and Roger Bohne of Kentfield shared top honors in the annual Marin County Board of Realtors' golf tournament Friday at Marin Country Club in Novato.

Schallock took low gross honors in the 140-man field by shooting a three-over-par 75 while Bohne, a 9 handicap player, scored the first hole-in one in the 15-year history of the tournament.

He aced the 135-yard 15th hole with a pitching wedge.

Following Schallock in the low gross division were Hall Aguirre with a 78 and Paul O'Pizzi with an 80.

MacKay Reaches Net Semi-Finals

Top-seeded Barry MacKay of Ross waltzed but a half dozen other Marin County players were sidelined during the first two days of the annual Bay Counties Invitational tennis tournament at the Tiburon Peninsula Club over the weekend.

MacKay, former U.S. Davis Cupper, won three straight-set victories to move into the tourney's semi-finals, which will be played next Saturday. Also surviving the first rounds were the third and fourth seeds, Whitney Reed and Bobby Siska. Second seed Tom Brown was the victim of an upset in the third round at the hand of former Ivy League champ, Charles Hoeveler.

Only two Marin players besides MacKay, Terry Moor of Sausalito, and Larry Axtell of Ross, made it past the first round in either the men's or women's competition. Moor took straight sets from Bill Strei, but died in three second round sets to Mark Elliot.

Axtell got by Don Jacobus in three sets, but ran up against Hoeveler in the second round and lost, 6-3, 6-3.

Mark Rodnick of Tiburon and Andy Moffat of Mill Valley both dropped first round decisions, as did Leslie Airola of Tiburon and Jennifer Gobershock of Mill Valley.

Rodnick did team with another Tiburon player, Bill Kinser, for an opening round win in the men's doubles, but they were defeated by Hoeveler and Levin in the second round.

The tournament will finish up with finals next Sunday.

San Rafael Team Divides A Pair

Larkspur's Mike Martin rammed four hits and Joe Nystrom tossed a five-hit shutout to give Suburban Auto of San Rafael a split in a Golden Gate Travel League doubleheader with Petaluma Saturday night in Petaluma.

. The San Rafael team won the opener 2-0 but lost the nightcap 6-5 on a pair of overthrows in the bottom of the seventh.

Back-to-back singles by Martin and Rich Matueffel drove in the runs needed for the 2-0 win but the nightcap was a different story.

Suburban Auto took a 4-0 lead into the fourth inning but a two-run homer closed the gap to 4-2. Petaluma then exploded for three more runs in the sixth inning for a 5-4 bulge but Suburban tied it up in the top of the seventh on singles by Ron Reagan and Mantueffel.

But in the bottom of the seventh Martin threw wildly into centerfield trying to cut down a stealing baserunner and the winning run came home when Bill Baxter's throw to third base went through to the screen.

winning toss of 157-0. In the other weight event, Tam Indian Terry Rutledge put the shot 52-1½ for the victory.

The sprints were won by Paul Crovo of San Rafael with a league-best 9.8 100 yard dash, and by Frank Demby of Terra Linda, who sprinted 22.9 for the 220, another season-best time.

The 180 low hurdles was won by Dave Johnson of Terra Linda, 21.2, somewhat off Crovo's league-leading best of 20.2. Cause for the off times was the fact that the hurdles were run around a curve instead of on a 280 straight as is customary.

San Rafael won the 440 relay in 43.8, and the other relay — the mile — went to Terra Linda, 3:28.9.

Joe Powell of Novato took a triple win in Class B competition, as did Mark Lowey of Terra Linda. A top performance was Ron Aguila's 11-6 pole vault, also for Terra Linda.

AIRBORNE WINNER — Al Schlette of Tamalpais High School strained for every inch he could get Saturday in the long jump event during the Marin County Athletic League championship track and field meet at College of Marin. Schlette won with a leap of 22 feet.

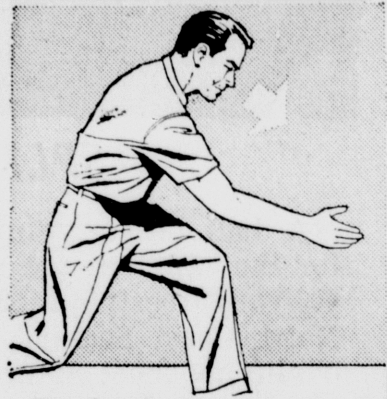
BOWLING TIPS

By DON CARTER



Keeping the head down is just as important on the bowling lane as it is in golf. If you have a tendency to look too quickly at the pins after releasing the ball, you'll probably miss your spot and you'll come up too quickly.

Marin Swimmers Await NCS Finals

Terra Linda High School placed swimmers in 17 events, including two victories in Class B by sophomore sensation Rick DeMont, to lead Marin County qualifiers to the North Coast Section (NCS) Championships this weekend.

The meet, held Saturday at College of Marin, drew the top swimmers from most of the North Bay area in qualifying for the finals next week in Santa Rosa.

Redwood High School was next Marin team on the list with qualifiers in 13 events, including varsity double placings by Brian Hennessy and Paul Cane.

DeMont blasted meet records in the 200 and 400-yard freestyle races, with times 4 and 12 seconds faster than his nearest challenger. His 400 time would have placed him first even in varsity competition.

Guthrie landed finals' spots in the 50 and 100 free races, placing third and fourth, respectively. Hennessy and Cane were both ranked twice in the top eight.

In varsity diving, Novato's John Summerfield was far and away the best, with a new meet record of 488.45 points.

In Class B, Terra Linda's medley relay team set a new record, with a 1:50.1 clocking.

Marin Iron-Man Softball Show

An iron-man pitching performance and a 16-inning marathon highlighted the action Saturday night as Sohner Tree Service of San Anselmo and Guanella Floors of Santa Rosa split a pair of Golden Gate Softball League thrillers at Albert Park, San Rafael.

Morey Swarm tossed a no-hitter and Doug Wilson doubled home Ron Blum in the bottom of the sixth to give Sohner a 2-1 victory in the opener.

But the Santa Rosa club rebounded to score two runs in the top of 16th inning of the nightcap and then held off a Sohner rally in the bottom half to gain a 5-4 verdict.

Swarm returned to the mound in the fifth inning of the nightcap to relieve Jess Munyon and hurled the final 11 2/3 innings.

Show us a tavern and we'll show you a team. A softball team. A bowling team. A touch football team.
Show us a team and we'll show you a Most Valuable Player. A bartender who played pretty good ball in school. But plays now just for the fun of going out and getting winded with a group of guys he likes.

Which is one of the things that makes him a pretty likeable guy himself. And makes the bar at your local tavern a warmer, nicer place to be.
May is National Tavern Month.
A perfect time for you to stop by and get to know the M.V.P. behind your bar. Join us in a toast to this remarkable man. We think you'll find he's in a league by himself.

That Old Mets' Magic Turning Up New Heroes

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

That old Met Magic of 1969 seems to be working again and turning up heroes like —are you ready for this name —Tim Foli.

You remember 1969, of course, when the meek Mets inherited the baseball earth with the most startling World Series upset of all time. Then, there was 1970, when it all didn't work again and the heroes of 1969 finished the season exchanging churlish remarks about each other.

But now it's 1971 and the Mets are rolling again —up front in the National League's Eastern Division race by a half game —and producing a hero a day to keep the other contenders away.

Foli, who considers himself a shortstop but is an all-purpose inflielder in Met Manager Gil Hodges' own little world of baseball strategy, drove in four runs with a triple and a single Sunday to lead New York toa 9-5 victory over Steve Carlton and the St. Louis Cardinals.

"I have to stay sharp to get a game," said Foli. "I twitch a lot when I'm not playing so the guys on the bench tell me to go sit in a corner. They used to call me Crazy Horse but now they call me Wappoho. I think it's a promotion."

Foli tripled in a run in the first inning and hit a three-run double in the second and Bob Aspromonte drove in two more runs with a single in the fourth, a homer in the sixth as Jerry Koosman won his second game of the season. Koosman went 6-1-3 innings with Ron Taylor and Danny Frisella finishing up. Donn Clendenon also homered for the Mets.

The Montreal Expos defeated the Chicago Cubs, 7-3, the Philadelphia Phillies shaded the Houston Astros, 2-1, the Pittsburgh Pirates downed the Los Angeles Dodgers, 11-5, the San Diego Padres topped the Cincinnati Reds 7-2, and the Atlanta Braves beat the San Francisco Giants, 6-5 in 10 innings, after a 5-2 loss in other National League games.

In the American League, it was Oakland over Baltimore, 6-2 and 2-1, Kansas City 6 Detroit 2, Cleveland 4 California 1, Minnesota 6 Washington 5, New York 6 Chicago 1 and Milwaukee 6 Boston 1.

Foli is a young player of great talent who could suddenly develop into a star. His 3-for-4 day Sunday lifted his batting average to .300 but, more important, he could be the cure-all for the Mets' platooning problems at either third or second base.

Mack Jones drove in five runs with a two-run homer in the fourth and a three-run homer in the fifth as Bill Stoneman pitched a seven-hitter and struck out 11 for his fourth victory for the Expos. Bob Bailey also homered for the Expos while Jim Hickman connected for the Cubs. Milt Pappas, rapped for eight hits and six runs in 4 2-3 innings, lost his fourth game.

Barry Lersch won his third game with a five-hitter when Tim McCarver singled home Willie Montanez, who had doubled, with two out in the ninth inning. Houston's Jack Billingham was tagged with his third loss against one victory.

Rookie pinch-hitter Charlie Sands capped an eight-run rally in the eighth inning with a three-run double as the Pirates rallied for their triumph over the Dodgers. Bob Veale, who pitched 1 2-3 innings of shutout relief, won his first game although Jim Grant finished up while Pete Mikkelsen lost for the Dodgers.

Junior Lacrosse

Novato's Parks and Recreation Department downed its counterpart from San Rafael, 9-6, and Corte Madera fell to San Francisco, 12-0 Saturday in Northern California Lacrosse Association junior division games.

Donohue Still Unmatched

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (UPI) —The Media, Pa., rabbit, Mark Donohue, returns to the Indianapolis Motor Speedway today after giving other drivers the weekend to chase speeds he chalked up in practice for the 500-mile race May 29.

Seven drivers took up the speed challenge Sunday, but none matched or topped the sizzling 177.901 miles per hour Donohue registered last Friday.

The weekend also featured the first serious crash at the speedway and four spins on the 2 1-2-mile speedway oval.

Lee Roy Yarbrough, Columbia, S.C., suffered minor burns Sunday when he crashed his Dan Gurney Eagle-Offenhauser against the outside wall in the first turn. The car was damaged extensively in the wreck and resulting fire.

Golf

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (UPI)—Sandra Haynie in 1971 is doing to the Ladies Professional Golf Association tour what Jack Nicklaus is doing to the men's tour.

Haynie cruised to a two-under-par 71 Sumday in the final round of the Alamo Open Golf tournament to win by six strokes her third consecutive tournament and shoot her sixth consecutive below par round.

Basketball

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (UPI) — The Kentucky Colonels tied the American Basketball Association at two wins apiece Saturday when, led by guard Louis Dampier's clutch performance, they defeated the Utah Stars, 129-125 in an overtime period. Dampier pumped in his team's last five points, and had 33 for the game.

The series continues Wednesday night in Salt Lake City.

Boxing

OAKLAND (UPI) — George Foreman, the youngest of six heavyweights fighting in three locations tonight, is a 10-7 favorite to beat old Gregorio Peralta of Argentina in their 15-round bout at the Oakland Coliseum Arena.

Earlier in the evening, trial horse George Chuvalo fights former World Boxing Association champion Jimmy Ellis at Toronto and Ernie Terrell, who has fought for the title before without much success, takes on Luis Pires at Chicago.

MONTE CARLO, Monaco (UPI)—Carlos Monzon, who quite probably ended Nino Benvenuti's boxing career Saturday night, says he'll defend his world middleweight title next against Emile Griffith.

Monzon, a chunky Argentinian, won the title by knocking out Benvenuti on Nov. 8 and defended it successfully Saturday night.

Tennis

Laver, who suffered a back injury in Dallas last week, showed no ill effects in crushing Arthur Ashe of Gum Spring, Va., 6-3, 6-2, 6-2 Sunday to move into the finals of the $50,000 Rome International Tennis Tournament.

Laver will meet Jan Kodes, who qualified by beating Tom Okker of the Netherlands, 4-6, 6-3, 7-5, 6-4, in today's final round.

Expert Tax Advice Should Be Heeded

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. We have 25 shares of General Electric bought at $65 in 1961. Should we take this profit to offset a $2,000 real estate transaction? Our CPA has suggested we do this and then buy GE back after the split. — L.W.

A. You have an approximate $1,400 long term capital gain which can be offset by $1,400 of your real estate capital loss. The remaining $600 of the loss may be applied toward ordinary income, in part or in full depending on whether the loss is long or short term. Remember, your tax consultant is an expert in his field and his advice is based on this knowledge.

General Electric shareholders have approved a 2-for-1 split payable in June. The run-up in these shares not only reflects the split but also the outstanding gains in operating results and an anticipated contract from Japan. Rebounding strongly in the last nine months of 1970 following a prolonged strike, earnings gained 18 per cent for the year. Furthermore, earnings set a first quarter record this year of $1.01 a share.

After such an extended advance, a sell-off following the split would be a normal expectation and would present an excellent opportunity for you to reestablish your position in General Electric.

Q. I am in college and own 150 shares of Standard Oil of California. I am looking for at least a 5 per cent return and good growth. Should I hold or replace my shares? — J. N.

A. Your investment objectives should be modified since a high return is not usually consistent with good growth. In order for growth to qualify as "good" it must moderately outpace the 4-5 per cent annual increment of inflation. Socal shares have grown at an average of 6.2 per cent annually over the last decade, while returning an average of 4 per cent. Yield was highest when price/earnings ratio was lowest and vice versa.

Recent strong recovery in Socal shares indicates investor reappraisal of the company's growth potential, which in my opinion should be more important to you than a high dividend return. Hold.

(Roger Spear's 52-page Guide to Successful Investing (recently revised and in its 12th printing) is available to all readers of this column. For your copy, send $1 with name and address to Roger E. Spear, Independent-Journal, Box 1618, Grand Central Station, New York, N.Y. 10017).

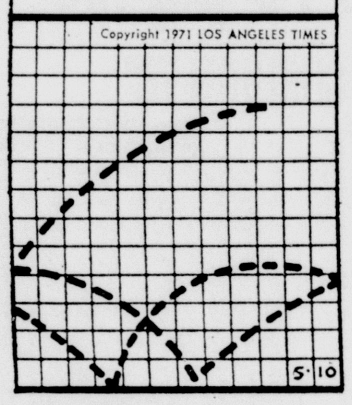
Safeway Ends Pay Difference On Men, Women

OAKLAND (UPI)—Safeway Stores, Inc., one of the nation's largest supermarket chains, has announced it was ending pay discrimination between men and women clerks.

W.S. Mitchell, president of Safeway, said woman clerks would be boosted to the same pay as male clerks where they have been paid less.

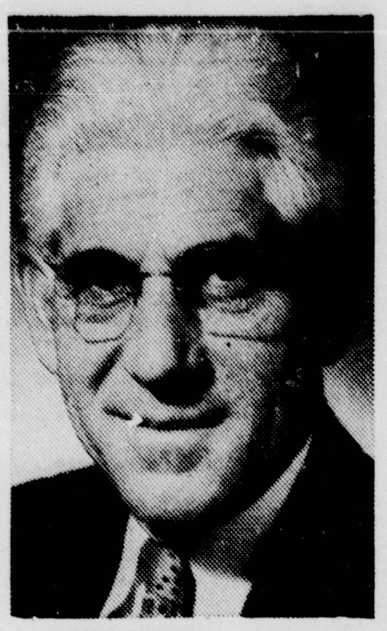
The company said it made an efficiency study on the subject. But the results of the study were not disclosed.

SMART CHART
by Stansbury



"Our Ping-Pong strategy is paying off."

STEPS UP — Frank J. Keaton has taken on the presidency of Cal-Marin Title Co., San Rafael in place of Peter J. Bertoni. He has been a director of the company and is head of the Keaton Mortuaries of Marin County.



STEPS DOWN — Peter J. Bertoni has given up the presidency of Cal-Marin Title Co., San Rafael, of which he was a co-founder, to devote more time to the company's new computerized escrow accounting system. He will become vice president and continue as senior escrow officer. He has been almost 50 years in the title insurance business in Marin County.

Paperwork Explosion Seen In Past Decade

NEW YORK (UPI)—"Paperwork explosion" is a good description of the massive increase in record-keeping activities in business and industry during the last decade. The Framingham Trust of Framingham, Mass., recently used a Honeywell computer to learn exactly how the phenomenon has affected its own business.

Between the end of 1963 and the fall of 1970, bank resources had increased 78 per cent, bank deposits had increased 73 per cent and number of accounts had increased 63 per cent. However, number of items processed had increased 315 per cent to more than 1.5 million per month.

Nicholas Daphne Issued Permit For Mortuary In Corte Madera

A permit has been issued for the construction of a new $150,000 mortuary at 601 Tamalpais Drive, Corte Madera in the name of Nicholas Daphne.

A resident of Hillsboro, Daphne heads Daphne Funeral Services at 1 Church Street, San Francisco as well as the Cathay Mortuary at 1213 Powell Street and Wing Sun Mortuary at 17 Brenham Place, also in San Francisco.

AN APPLICATION has been made by First Federal Savings and Loan Association of San Rafael to the Federal Home Loan Bank for permission to open a branch office at the intersection of San Bruno Avenue and Burrows Street in San Francisco. If allowed, this will be First Federal's first branch, but probably 120 days will go by before definite plans can be made.

The association is now finishing up its eighth year and since Dec. 31 has increased its assets by $1 million to a total of $13 million.

Newly added to the San Rafael staff are Paul Simmons in the loan department and Mrs. Chris Maddux as a teller. Simmons was formerly with Bank of America and plans to move from Napa to Marin. Mrs. Maddux, formerly with Santa Barbara Savings and Loan Association, replaces Mrs. Diane Riordan, who is leaving First Federal to be with her family.

STANLEY W. McDONALD of Petaluma, assistant vice president and assistant manager of Bank of Marin's office in that city, has been appointed a director of the Fourth District Agricultural Association, the sponsoring organization for the Sonoma-Marin Fair held annually in Petaluma. He has been manager of the bank's farm service department since its inception in 1963.

A GRAND OPENING is now being held by the new Free Car Wash located at 2901 Bridgeway in Sausalito, across from the new Bank of Marin office.

A project of Peter Di Francesca of that city, customers receive a free car wash when they fill their tanks with gasoline from Di Francesca's Mobilgas pumps. During his grand opening through Wednesday, he is offering the free wash to all comers — with or without a gasoline purchase.

Di Francesca acquired the property here through Langsam Realty. The facility was designed by Donald Keith Olsen and constructed by James Smith Construction. He is a member of the staff of W. Bruce Shafer and Co. real estate staff in Sausalito.

EARL J. AURELIUS of Novato has been promoted from assistant vice president to vice president in charge of employee relations and benefits in the personnel division of Wells Fargo Bank, San Francisco. He has been with the department since he joined the bank in 1963 with eight years of previous business experience.

Dr. Tuck

DR. DALLAS L. TUCK of Novato has been appointed vice chancellor for academic affairs for the University of California in San Francisco. He has been a member of the School of Pharmacy on the San Francisco campus since 1948. He is professor of physical chemistry and pharmaceutical chemistry.

REAL ESTATE: M. J. Hank Greenberg of Terra Linda has joined the staff of Grubb and Ellis Co. at the new branch office at 178 Northgate Shopping Center. Originally he was a top salesman for Kenney Homes and most recently has been with Gallagher-Sturiale, Realtors.

M B A resources were directed toward the successful and profitable introduction, during the later part of the year, of the proprietary Stun-Gun. Stocks Fall In Early Trading

NEW YORK (UPI) —Stock prices dropped in active trading through the first two hours today.

Observers felt the lower prices generally reflected an extension of the consolidation which set in last week, but they conceded some investors were jittery over the effect of the international monetary problems on domestic policies.

Among the 1,472 issues crossing the tape, 773 declined and 357 advanced. The Dow Jones Industrial Average of 30 selected blue chips was lower.

American Hospital Supply, off 5-8, was high on the active list. Plessy, unchanged, also attracted attention. Lockheed down 1, J. P. Stevens off 1-8, Bausch & Lomb off 2 1-2 and International Nickel of Canada off 1-8 also were active.

Kinney Services, which announced higher six months earnings, fell 1 1-8. Getty Oil lost 1 3-8, Louisville & Nashville 1 1-4, Control Data 1 1-4, Memorex 1 1-8, Corning Glass 4 1-4 and KLM 2 1-2.

Du Pont eased 1 1-4 and Dow 1 1-2 in the generally soft chemicals. General Motors lost 1 1-8, Ford 3-8 Chrysler 1-8. American Motors tacked on 1-8.

U. S. Steel eased 3-8, Bethlehem 1-2, Armco 1-2. Republic gained 1-4.

Cinerama with 40,500 shares traded was off 3-8 at 4 7-8 in active trading on the American Stock Exchange. Prices on the American Stock Exchange fell in brisk trading.
